TALK THAT TALKS.

EVERYBODY who knows the grocery trade of St. John, knows that W. A. Magee has one of the handsomest retail grocery establishments in the city, and that his trade is of character that will not tolerate poor goods. Here is a word from Mr. Magee:

ST. JOHN, April 6th, 1908.

We carry 28 lines of Biscuits manufactured by the Queen Biscuit Co., and the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT is the quickest seller of them all. All their goods give excellent satisfaction to our customers. The sales of the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT have greatly increased with us. We think most highly of them.

W. A. MAGEE

Mr. Magee believes in patronizing lower province industries if they produce good goods. So do you all. Give us a chance to prove our claim that BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT, of which we are the sole manufacturers in Canada, possess the same unsurpassed qualities that have sent the annual production in the United States up to 30,000,000 lbs.

We have given you just one testimonial. We could fill pages with them, from pleased customers as well as from merchants.

Remember—A delicious Lunch Biscuit at a popular price. Only the best materials go into our goods.

Drifting ?

No wind to fill the business sails? You can sit down and whistle for it but it won't come—perhaps you are satisfied to drift along with the tide. The more you drift the easier it is to reconcile yourself with the backward progress you make.

Please remember one thing—there are business wrecks on the rocks ahead. A little effort at the oars would have carried them safely by. Get out the oars and pull, if you are simply drifting—here are two good oars to use.

Greig's Crown Brand Flavoring Extracts

Wanted, because so economical to use. Strong, rich, pure, "true to Nature" in their 40 different fruit, flower and spice flavors.

And put up in most attractive cartons, with business-bringing cards and leaflets and first-class testimonials.

We have a helpful plan to assist you in introducing them where their virtues are not known.

TANGLEFOOT

Sealed Sticky Fly Paper.

The principal requirement of sticky fly paper is stability, while in your stock as well as after it is opened for use.

Stability Tanglefoot possesses in the highest degree; constant and well directed experimenting have developed a paper very nearly perfect and not approached by anything in the line.

Sell Tanglefoot and you will know that you are supplying the latest ideas and improvements as soon as they are out.

ELIJAH ADAMS MORSE.

ELIJAH A. MORSE, ex-Congressman, died at his home, on Washington street, Canton, Mass., on June 5, surrounded by the members of his family. He had been a great sufferer from an aggravated disease for a long time, and very recently he had an attack of muscular rheumatism, which, coupled with his ailments, compelled him to take to his room, to which, except at rare intervals, he had been confined for the past three weeks.

No public man in Massachusetts, if indeed in New England, was better known than the late Elijah Adams Morse, of Canton, says an exchange. His career had been a remarkable one, and his success in life was the outcome of a persistent and earnest endeavor, which permeated his individuality even in his youthful days, to amass a fortune and to become distinguished among his fellow men. He attained both objects, and held many important public positions, filled them with all honor and integrity, and exerted a large influence for good in his day and generation.

Elijah was born at South Bend, Ind., May 25, 1841. Eleven years thereafter the Morse family returned to Massachusetts, and the boy was sent to the public schools of Sherborn and Holliston. Barefooted he went from house to house peddling the berries he had gathered in the pastures. This was but a precursor to his peddling of stove polish—for he began the great business of selling the polish from house to house. Later, he attended the Boylston school in Boston, and finished his education at the Onondaga academy near Syracuse, N.Y.

In May, 1861, when 20 years of age, he enlisted as private in Co. A, 4th Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers, for the period of three months, and was discharged at Long Island in August, 1861, by reason of expiration of term of service. He reenlisted in September, 1862, as private in Co. A, 4th Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers, and was discharged therefrom as corporal at Lakeville, Mass., in September, 1863, by reason of expiration of term of service. He was at the battle of Camp Bisland, La., and was taken prisoner at Brashear City, La., in June 1862, and subsequently paroled but never exchanged.

The foundation of his fortune was laid in the days when he was a schoolboy. In speaking of his early days, Mr. Morse once said, while in a confidential mood:

Among father's acquaintances was the learned Dr. Jackson, a prominent chemist of Boston. He was the one who first invented chloroform and ether, although the credit for these discoveries is given elsewhere. He and my father used to have long conferences, and frequently they spent the night together. On one of these visits we boys asked father to give us a recipe to make something that we could peddle during school vacations.

He brought home to us a recipe for making stove polish. I was then 15, and attending a public school in Boston. I bought $5 worth of the materials called for by the recipe. I made a small lot in a hand-mould and dried it on the stove. I sold it at retail from a carpet bag. My first sale was made in Hyannis on the Cape.

At that time I never thought of making a business out of the manufacture of blacking, but seemed to be successful, and the little 12 by 15 factory has grown to cover four acres, with a hundred men employed inside.

Very early in my experience I began spending portions of my profits in advertising, and at the present time have an advertisement in 4,000 of the newspapers of the United States.

My success, I think, is largely due to advertising. When a young man, before my marriage, I canvassed 22 States, selling my goods myself. I have never drank or used tobacco, and never worked or traveled for business on Sunday. I worked so hard I think I should have destroyed my health if I had.

It seems incredible that the present enormous business done by Morse Brothers could have had such a humble beginning. The first product was made in a little hand-mould, dried on a stove and sold by the boys from a carpet bag. The first factory was a building 12 x 15 feet; and Morse Bros.' first horse cost $10, with a wagon and harness to match, and the animal couldn't trot down hill. The limits of this sketch will not admit of any detailed account of the growth of the business since that time, in fact it is known to every retail grocer or housewife in the land; suffice it to say the small factory has been enlarged and increased from time to time, until it now covers four acres at Canton, Mass., and has a capacity of ten tons of stove polish per day, and the goods which had this humble and small beginning are now sold in every English-speaking country on the face of the earth. The Rising Sun stove polish, in cakes, has been a household word in every American home for nearly 40 years. It has an annual sale of over 3,000 tons. In his business Mr. Morse acquired a large fortune, and for the use of his trade mark in England he received $200,000.

His earlier political career Mr. Morse himself describes:

I was first nominated at a Republican caucus in Canton for member of the House of Representatives in 1875. I met with great opposition from the older members of the party, but I ran 98 votes ahead of my ticket in my own town, which naturally pleased me very much. Later I was elected a member of the Massachusetts Senate and served for two years in that body, during the years 1886 and 1887. In 1888 I was a member of Governor Ames' Council, and the same year was elected a member of the Fifty-first Congress. I always voted the Republican ticket except once, and that was the year when the Prohibition Party nominated me

Lieutenant-Governor, with Judge Pitman for Governor. The Prohibition party polled the largest vote it ever polled that year. It was in 1877. All we did, however, was to divide the temperance vote and elect a few rum-sellers to the Legislature, and so I returned to my first love, the Republican Party.

Mr. Morse was a member of the New England Historical Genealogical Society, of the Congregational and Norfolk clubs, of Post 94, G.A.R., of the Sons of the Revolution, and has been for many years a deacon of the Congregational church at Canton. He was also a member of the Blue Hill lodge, I.O.O.F.

He was a man of pleasant manners, quick in movement and somewhat nervous and rapid in utterance. When he made up his mind to take a certain course in an affair he was not easily moved from his determination, and his persistence and pluck were important factors in his success in life in a business way as well as politically.

THE CURRENT SITUATION.

DPASQUA, of Patras, under date of June 2, 1898, writes as follows regarding currants: "The past month has been unusually buoyant and active, and all the principal consuming markets have drawn further supplies from Greece. The holders of fruit have had the good sense of moderating their exactions and met buyers in a conciliatory spirit, actual quotations being: Provincial half-cases, 17s. 9d. c.i.f. London.

"The approaching crop, considered in its general aspect, is satisfactory so far. Considerable loss will undoubtedly result from 'peronosporos' and other diseases, but this drawback will have its favorable side, as it will tend to moderate the volume of the crop, and bring it within the compass of the consumptive demand. Our exports to date, with the comparative list of last year, are as follows:

	May 31, '98	May 31, '97	July 31, '97
	Tons.	Tons.	Tons.
England	56,795	54,144	54,700
United States and Canada	13,130	14,065	14,065
Australia	3,120	2,775	2,775
Holland, Belgium, Germany and Austria	25,310	42,200	42,200
France	1,668	5,470	6,223
Russia		19,321	19,321
Sundries	300	1,000	1,200
Totals	100,383	138,975	140,484

HIGH WHEAT PRICES AND SUPPLIES.

"THE truism that high prices attract supplies, is exemplified in a remarkable degree by the readiness with which the United States, Russia and, later, India, have responded to the call, and are sending us and 'the dear neighbors' enough and to spare," says Dornbusch. "It has been aptly said, by a merchant of many years' successful experience, that a rise of 5s. would almost produce another crop; anyway, it would turn a poor one into an average, and an average into a bumper crop. Russian officials and shippers admit that reserves in the interior were larger than anticipated; while rates ruled low the up-country dealer or farmer was unable to move his grain, but steady advance in value brought remuneration nearer to his door, and each rise of one shilling per quarter largely increased the area of comprehension, and set rolling toward the seaboard the flood of long stored grain, which will be welcomed in many a Mediterranean port, as the spring wheat from the bounteous northwestern States and white from the Pacific slope are eagerly awaited in this country and France. The persistent weakness in America has disrupted the futures market at this side, and prevented any rally in dealing with wheat near at hand, while millers, finding the demand for flour reduced to a minimum, are in no mood to buy grain on a steadily falling market. Some sanguine folks still hope for recuperation of value in July, but just now the expounder of statistics is crying in the wilderness, for the wants of the present being apparently satisfied, no general uneasiness is manifested as to supplies in the closing month of the cereal year. In some parts of the country, recent weather has caused anxiety. There can be no doubt that a wet summer would mean grave injury to the wheat crop. In the event of such a catastrophe, the market would easily become excited, and, it is quite possible, that retrocession of value is proceeding too rapidly for prudent trading. 'It is a way that they have in the market,' of overdoing the thing either in one direction or the other."

ADVERTISING.

I am an advertiser great!
In letters bold and big and round
The praises of my wares I sound—
Prosperity is my estate.
The people come,
The people go,
In one continuous,
Surging flow—
They buy my goods and come again,
And I'm the happiest of men;
And this the reason I relate—
I am an advertiser great.
There is a shop across the way,
Where ne'er is heard a human tread—
Where trade is paralyzed and dead—
With ne'er a customer a day.
The people come,
The people go,
But never there—
They do not know
There's such a shop beneath the skies,
Because he does not advertise;
While I with pleasure contemplate
That I'm an advertiser great!
The secret of my fortune lies
In one small fact which, I may state,
Too many tradesmen learn too late—
If I have goods, I advertise!
Then people come,
And people go,
In constant streams;
For people know
That he who has good wares to sell
Will surely advertise them well;
And proudly I reiterate,
I am an advertiser great.

—Eugene Field.

BANK OF HAMILTON.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Hamilton took place on the 20th. An excellent year's business was reported. The expansion of the bank's activities into the Province of Manitoba has proved successful, with still more brilliant prospects for the future. In Ontario, new agencies have been opened at Niagara Falls, Delhi, and Southampton. The following board was reelected: John Stuart, president; A. G. Ramsay, vice-president; John Proctor, Geo. Roach, A. G. Wood, M.P., A. B. Lee, and Wm. Gibson, M.P.

TRADE IN HALIBURTON AND VICINITY.

I HAD a pleasant five minutes' chat a few days ago with Mr. H. H. Clarke, of Haliburton. Mr. Clarke is manager of the general store in that town owned by Mrs. Bessie Anderson, and was in Toronto on business and, as he facetiously remarked, to "pay his debts."

"Trade in Haliburton," he said in reply to a query, "is not bad. But Haliburton is in a lumbering district, and, of course you know, the lumber trade is not good. Then the limits in our part of the country are becoming exhausted, and the lumbermen are moving further back into the country. The Gilmours, for instance, are now cutting away back in the Algonquin Park, the territory set apart by the Ontario Government as a National Park. There are now altogether from twelve to fifteen concerns cutting timber in that park, and each of these concerns employ, as a rule, from four to five hundred men."

"But," I interposed, "is not that a strange proceeding; it will be a queer natural park when it is deprived of its forests."

"Well, the people I have spoken to regarding the matter," continued Mr. Clarke, "say that the timber limits within the park were sold by the Government before the area comprising it as such was set aside as a park."

Then Mr. Clarke animadverted upon the raw fur trade. "At one time," he said, "at Haliburton, over $3,000 per day was sometimes paid out for furs during the season. The trappers would go out twice a year—in the spring and fall. Their chief hunting ground was the territory now known as the National Park. Since it became a park, however, it is unlawful for them to trap game there. And, as a result, the fur trade in Haliburton has been killed. This is a great loss to our town."

"What are they doing in your neighborhood in the way of mining?" I ventured.

"Well, they have been doing a good deal of prospecting for gold, and during the past few weeks men have been at work on the mountain behind the town. They have done a deal of blasting, and they claim that the ore being turned out is assaying $15 per ton. They are now trying to float a company and put in crushers."

"How are the farmers doing up your way?"

"Haliburton is not a good farming country, and our farmers used to raise perhaps $50 to $100 by going into the woods during the winter; but now they cannot do that. They are, however, devoting more attention to their farms. They are raising more live stock, for instance, while the butter of Haliburton is as good as any in the Dominion. While we cannot raise much grain, our lands are well adapted for grazing, being well watered."

Mr. Clarke has not been in Toronto for eight years, and he observed several improvements in the city.

OMAR.

THE U. S. APPLE CROP.

In all the New England States, except Rhode Island, the condition of apples is considerably above the June average for the last ten years. In New York it is 5 points above the ten year average, in North Carolina 8 points above, in Michigan 17 points, in Wisconsin 31 points, in Iowa 8 points, and in Nebraska 13 points. The average condition of the New York crop, June 1, was 93 points. On the other hand, the present early indications are less favorable than usual in the following States, and to the extent indicated: Rhode Island, 5 points; New Jersey, 4 points; Maryland, 8 points; Virginia, 4 points; Georgia, 3 points; Alabama, 3 points; Arkansas, 13 points; Tennessee, 11 points; West Virginia, 30 points; Kentucky, 12 points; Ohio, 7 points; Indiana, 15 points; Illinois, 6 points; Missouri, 11 points; Kansas, 1 point.

PRICES OF COMMODITIES.

MR. A. SAUERBECK furnishes the following index numbers of the prices of 45 commodities, the average of the 11 years, 1867-77, being 100:

	Average.		Average.
1878-87	79	December, 1893	67.0
1888-97	67	July, 1896	59.2
1889	72	December, 1896	62.0
1893	68	September, 1897	63.4
1894	63	December, 1897	62.4
1895	62	January, 1898	62.8
1896	61	February, 1898	63.4
1897	62	March, 1898	63.0
		April, 1898	65.5
		May, 1898	66.4

The index number is the highest since the end of 1893, and the advance during last month is mainly due to wheat, oats and Manila hemp. The price of English wheat in 1894 was much affected by the damp condition of the crop. Prices are now declining, and December futures are as low as 32 to 33s. for American. Manila hemp rose from £19 in March to £26 in April, and £37 ½ in May. Maize lost again the advance of the previous month. For most of the other articles there was not much change. Animal food products were a little lower, sugar somewhat higher. Iron and cotton remained unchanged; tin, tallow and petroleum advanced, and wool and copper declined to some extent. Taking articles of food and materials separately, the index numbers compare thus:

	July. 1896.	Sept. 1896.	Dec. 1897.	April. 1898.	May. 1898.
Food	60.0	67.5	66.5	70.7	71.5
Materials	58.6	60.4	59.4	61.7	62.7

Articles of food are now 2 points higher and materials 2 ½ points lower than at the end of 1893. As compared with the lowest period in 1896 there is a rise of 19 per cent. for the former and 7 per cent. for the latter. The prices and index numbers of silver were as follows (60.84d. per oz. being the parity of 1 gold to 15 ½ silver—100):

	Average.
End August, 1897, 23 ¾d	39.2
End December, 1897, 26 ¾d	43.8
End January, 1898, 26 3-16d	43.0
End February, 1898, 25 5/8d	42.1
End March, 1898, 25 11-16d	42.2
End April, 1898, 26 5-16d	43.2
End May, 1898, 26 7/8d	44.2

A GROCER'S USE OF IRON PILLARS.

L. Birs, who has a nicely arranged grocery store in Longueuil, P.Q., makes effective use of the iron pillars that run down the centre of his store to support the ceiling. He has built a rack about them four feet from the floor, on which he is able to make a very good display of samples of goods in tins and glass.

He has also had fitted-up by his instructions a revolving stand, similar to the ordinary revolving bookcases, but more conveniently arranged. On the four sides are five tiers of sample biscuit boxes with glass fronts. The corners are filled in with confectionery in glass jars.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

WARREN BROS. & CO. have a shipment of new season's Japan tea in stock this week.

"Swan" brand shelled almonds are in stock at H. P. Eckardt & Co.'s.

"Ice Castle" flat lobsters, ½-lb. cans, just arrived for W. H. Gillard & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have in stock some fine Amalies and Patras currants.

Armour's "Star" sliced ham is a new line which is in stock with Warren Bros. & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. say that the sale of "Diamond Crystal" salt is steadily increasing.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., note a specially active demand for shoulder hams and rolls this week.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have another car of Heinz's baked bean, pickles, sauces, etc., on the way.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have just at hand 1, 2, 3, and 5-gallon pails of extra choice domestic pickles.

"Sure Catch" sticky fly paper and safety poison plates is having ready sale with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

The demand increases daily for "Enameline," which is a full endorsement of all the manufacturers claim for it.

Montserrat lime juice and Stowers' lime juice and lime juice cordial are moving off freely with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

A full assortment of fruit jars in stock with W. H. Gillard & Co. The brand is "Beaver," which is well known to the trade.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. are putting up for customers so desiring their "Maple Leaf" brands of smoked meats wrapped in oil paper, specially prepared for this purpose.

A 16-oz. domestic pickle, well placed, in good vinegar, which can be retailed at 10c., is one of this week's specialties with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

A full supply of fancy and polished Patna, fancy and choice Japan, Imperial glaze, B, and granulated rices is in stock with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

The well known brands of cleaned and stemless currants, "Kalamos," "Morea," "Fancy Vonitsa," and "Star and Crescent," carried by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, were never more popular than at the present time, owing to their attractive quality and price, which is but a trifle over that of the uncleaned fruit.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report an active sale for their "Aurora" Ceylon tea, in ½ and 1-lb. packages. Already, several repeat orders have been received by this firm, retailers stating that the very attractive package and real merit of the tea make it a taker with the consumer.

JAPAN TEA.

Although, since the opening of the market, values in Japan teas have been fluctuating somewhat, yet a firmer tone now seems to prevail.

Toward the latter part of last week a cable was received stating that a further appreciation had taken place.

At the prices ruling, a good medium tea, which last year cost 16c. laid down, now costs something like 19.80c.

A gentleman, who quite recently returned from Japan, states that, owing to the low prices ruling on teas during the past few years, the owners of many of the plantations were pulling up the tea plants and putting in mulberry trees for silk cultivation, the latter industry being more profitable than tea raising.

The cable above referred to places the exports of Japan tea at 38,000,000 pounds, as against 43,000,000 pounds last year.

Our Travellers will be pleased to show you our "Special Design" Fancy 5-lb. Tea Canister. Lithographed in three colors and embossed in gold. Undoubtedly the handsomest package ever offered in Canada. Sells on sight.

OPENING CONTRACTS IN CANNED SALMON.

THE first important contracts in new pack canned goods were put through in Montreal the other day. The deals in question consisted of 4,000 cases of "Clover Leaf" salmon at $3.50 f.o.b. Coast, for future delivery. These prices are about the same as those ruling at the opening last year, but, since they were made, agents in Montreal have been notified that prices have advanced 15c. per case. In addition to the contracts in salmon, new pack strawberries were placed, 2,000 cases being closed at $1.35 to $1.40 for 2 lb. tins, and $2.40 for 3 lb. tins. Advices under date of June 15, from Vancouver, say: "Since writing last, we learn, that at a meeting of canners, while no definite action was taken to enforce any selling prices, the following minimum figures were agreed upon for the English markets: Liverpool or London, 1 lb. talls, sockeye fish, 17s. 6d. per case, c.i.f., equivalent to $3.80; 1 lb. flats, 18s. 6d. per case, which is equal to $4.10 f.o.b. Vancouver."

VISIT FROM A HALIGONIAN.

Mr. H. D. Romans, who has lately started business for himself in Halifax as broker and manufacturers' agent, has been in Toronto this week, partly with a view to acquiring new agencies, a few more of which he desires to secure. Mr. Romans reported business rather quiet in Nova Scotia just now on account of the war between the United States and Spain, which has naturally caused a curtailment of that Province's trade with the West Indies.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. John Lamb, formerly of Converse, Colson & Lamb, Montreal, is lying at the Toronto General Hospital seriously ill, but his friends hope he will ultimately recover.

J. F. Eby, of The Eby, Blain Co., Limited; W. Logan, secretary-treasurer of The Davidson & Hay, Limited, and Harvey S. Kinnear, of T. Kinnear & Co., sailed from New York on Saturday for Great Britain.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

THE CURRANT MARKET.

ALTHOUGH the demand from the dealers has been above what might fairly be expected, and certainly above what could be said to be the average for this time of the year, the market is again cheaper, more especially for the lower descriptions. The cause is by no means far to seek, and beyond all doubt is to be found in the fact that some of the holders have desired to realize somewhat faster than the fruit could be taken off. The legitimate holders are not so much to blame for this state of things, as their hands have been forced by the fact that from outside sources a considerable pressure to sell has been brought to bear upon the market, and what may be regarded as the nominal conditions of supply and demand have been interfered with and upset. Any market in which speculation is indulged in is, beyond all doubt, subject to disruptions of this kind, and it is probable that both the merchant and the dealer would be far better off if everything in the shape of speculation could be eliminated from it.—Produce Markets' Review.

CANNED TOMATOES IN LIVERPOOL.

A London, Eng., paper of June 18, in referring to the canned goods market in Liverpool, said: "Tomatoes for new season are inquired for, but there are very few packers who will offer for the English market at present, and those who do so are asking much above last year's opening prices. Some business has been done in Italian goods at last season's rates, but there are now no sellers under 1½d. per dozen in advance."

SALMON AND LOBSTER IN LONDON.

Although the demand for salmon continues dull, the action of the combination of Fraser River packers in fixing a much higher range of prices for the new pack, has increased the tendency to firmness which already existed. It has become generally recognized that the present low range of spot prices cannot long continue, and, given a few weeks of fine weather, important alterations in the market are probable. Lobsters are selling steadily, and, in consequence of the high prices asked for new pack, a fair quantity of last season's fish has been sold at full prices. The few parcels of new that have come to hand have not been choice quality.—Produce Markets' Review.

FLOUR IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Flour has gone down about 6s. to 7s. a sack on the week, so that prices are now about in the same position they occupied before the boom. The bursting of this great bubble demonstrates in a striking manner the truth of the contention we have always held, that high prices are bad for the retailer. They are bad for him because he does not know how and when to buy, they are bad because his custom falls off—the reduction has been about 25 per cent. in consumption of flour—and they are bad because when the break comes he is often left with a lot of stuff bought on the rise, and his customers expect him to lower his charges immediately, though he cannot do so save at a loss to himself. We sincerely trust that few of our readers have been caught, and that in the rush to meet the public demand for a drop they will not be too hasty and land themselves in difficulties.—Grocers' Journal, June 18.

CHEESE IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The season has not opened very well for cheese-making farmers. The stocks of last year's cheese have got cleared out at fairly good, though drooping prices, but there is little demand for new cheese, and the figures so far quoted are not encouraging. It is becoming more decisively proved every year that it is only in the production of the finest qualities of cheese that our home makers can hope to get remunerative prices. In all secondary and inferior qualities the competition of colonial and foreign cheese is so keen that only moderate prices can be hoped for. But the productions of our best dairies can always find a ready market.—Grocers' Journal, June 18.

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

Mail advices from San Francisco to the 18th inst. state that there are very few prunes left in the Santa Clara Valley, and that outside stocks are closely cleaned up. For the week ending June 11, but 1,500 pounds were shipped overland, the smallest for any week since the beginning of the season. Regarding the growing crop advices are that it is doing well, and the output promises to be as large as that of last season. There will be some shortage in certain sections, especially in the San Joaquin Valley.

TEA FIRM IN NEW YORK.

The general market showed a firm tone. The volume of business transacted, although not large, was of moderate proportions, as dealers generally were in the market as buyers of lines and were gradually absorbing the supplies offering, and they found it necessary to pay full quoted values. The retailer was a moderate buyer, as both the out-of-town and local trade continued taking supplies and were paying full figures,

The advices from primal points continued to report firm markets, with no business of importance, but sellers continued to hold for prices above buyers' views.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE SUGAR BOUNTIES.

There is no real news, says The Produce Markets' Review, about the progress of the Brussels negotiations for the abolition of the sugar bounties. The fall of the ultra-protectionist French Ministry may lead to further delay, but there are no signs of any general change of opinion in France on such matters. It is understood, however, that the leading French refiners, whose influence is so great in France, favor total abolition. Being men of wide information they do not take the petty views so common among their countrymen on trade matters, but see clearly that their interest lies in creating a sound and healthy market at home instead of having to force off their sugars artificially on unwilling markets abroad, which may at any moment be closed to them if the policy of the absolute exclusion of bounty-fed sugar be adopted, as seems possible in the case of England. The abolition of the French bounty would (with a small margin for increased consumption) enable the excise duty to be lowered 1d. per lb., or, say, 30 centimes per kilo, and this would materially stimulate the miserably small demand for sugar in France, and, later on, enable further reductions to be made. Opposition to the removal of bounties is feared from Russia, but this is probably only a reflection of French action, and if France saw any chance of the English market being closed, its great northern ally would probably at once alter its tone. The key to the situation is, therefore, to be found in France.

CANNED GOODS IN NEW YORK.

Demand remains about as last noted, namely, moderate in volume, with some descriptions, notably tomatoes, quite dull. Tomatoes have offered at 95c. for Maryland No. 3s, the regular quotation being $1. New Jersey brands held with some steadiness, but the general quotation of $1.05 is shaded by a few holders. Corn, like tomatoes, lacks demand, but there is no change in prices. Peas are quieter, the packing season at Baltimore being about at an end, marrows keeping the packers busy this week. New York State peas promise to be in only fair supply, the raw material not being plentiful, and some showing serious defects, due to unfavorable weather. California fruits for future delivery are now offered by nearly all the packers on the Coast, but owing to the crop shortage and the higher cost of rail transportation from the Coast, prices are 25 to 30c. above last season's opening prices. The demand for salmon is limited and quotations are nominal. Lobster is very scarce and firm.—Merchants' Review, June 24.

AN APOLOGY TO THE INLAND REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

SHORTLY before the House of Commons prorogued the Parliamentary reports published in the daily press stated that, according to amendments to the Weights and Measures Act, the legalized weight of a bag of potatoes would hereafter be eighty pounds. This was reproduced in THE CANADIAN GROCER. A subscriber, however, questioned the accuracy of this.

THE CANADIAN GROCER immediately began to investigate the matter. At the Toronto branch of the Inland Revenue Department no one could be found who was even aware amendments were being made to the Weights and Measures Act. They had not been notified, you know.

A letter was forthwith despatched to the Commissioner of Inland Revenue at Ottawa, asking for light upon the subject. A week passed and no reply was received. Fancying the Commissioner might have gone a hunting, or peradventure, was sleeping, or ill, another letter was despatched to the Department, this time to its head, Sir Henri Joly. Sir Henri happened to be away, but three days afterwards a reply came, nevertheless, and it came from Mr. Miall, the Commissioner of Inland Revenue. It read as follows:

SIR,—Your letter of 17th instant, addressed to the Minister, has, in the absence of Sir Henri Joly, been referred to me. I note that you complain therein that a previous communication, addressed to myself, has not been replied to. The fact is, the matter to which you refer was dealt with in committee by inserting an amendment of which, personally, I was unaware, except by hearsay, and, inasmuch as the bill has not yet been printed, I was unable to give you the information until now.

The bill, as passed by Parliament, by sub-section 2 of section 2, provides that, "in the Province of Quebec, when potatoes are sold or offered for sale by the bag, the bag shall contain at least eighty pounds"; in all the other Provinces the law remains as it was before, viz.: sixty pounds constitute a bushel of potatoes.

I remain, sir,

Your obedient servant,

EDWARD MIALL.

Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is sorry it put the Commissioner to any trouble. Had it known that "personally" he "was unaware, except by hearsay," that the amendments in question had been made, or that the bill had "not yet been printed," the editor of this paper would certainly have hesitated before acquainting him with the fact that he "wanted to know."

It is true the bill making the amendments was put through the House by the Minister of Inland Revenue, but it is too much to expect that the Commissioner should have asked his chief the nature of the amendments seeing the "bill was not printed." It might be all right for the head of a department in a business warehouse to ask questions of his chief, but it would not, of course, be etiquette in a circumlocution office, you know. Business rules may be all right in a commercial establishment, but they would never do for a department under a Government, either Federal or Provincial. They are too exacting.

The Commissioner must, like Mr. Tite Barnacle, jr., of Circumlocution office fame, have felt much annoyed by THE CANADIAN GROCER's wanting to know, and it herewith tenders its humble apology.

THE RETAILER BEARS THE COST.

The trading stamp scheme is educating consumers that they are getting something for nothing.

And the trouble is that the retailer, who assists in this wrong system of education, pays for the tuition.

YOUNG MEN AND SPARE TIME.

MANY young men are there to-day who would be filling better and more lucrative positions than they now are had they more zealously minded their "P's" and "Q's" at earlier periods in life.

Youths who spend their spare time either in doing nothing or in cultivating habits which weaken them physically and mentally, must necessarily be unfitted to fill the best places in business, or in any other calling.

Only when they are well utilized do moments become golden. Moments badly used are as lead which impede the progress of young men.

Time spent with good books, good trade papers, and good anything whatsoever which will improve the mind, and particularly help to qualify for the designed avocation in life, is time well spent, for it does not retard; it helps.

NEW SEASON'S LOBSTERS.

Shipments of new pack lobsters from factories have begun, and it is probable that by next week wholesalers will have them in their warehouses.

The pack is lighter than it was a year ago, and, as far as can be learned, wholesalers' purchases are, as a rule, about one-third smaller than they were at this time in 1897.

The prices being paid are about one dollar per case above the figures of a year ago, which means an advance of two dollars per case, compared with quotations ruling two years ago.

Canned lobster is, indeed, becoming a rich man's food.

LEGALIZED WEIGHT OF POTATOES

Some misunderstanding exists as to the recent amendments to the Weights and Measures Act, re the legalized weight of potatoes in bags and bushels.

Sub-section 2, of section 2, provides that in the Province of Quebec, when potatoes are sold or offered for sale by the bag, the bag shall contain at least eighty pounds. In all other Provinces the law remains as it before, viz, sixty pounds constitute a bushel of potatoes.

CANADIAN CANNED GOODS IN ENGLAND.

AN ENGLISHMAN engaged in mercantile pursuits is a good subject for interviewing provided you can induce him to talk, which you cannot always do. One day last week I accidentally came across Mr. S. Baylis, of Henry W. Peabody & Co., export and import merchants, London, England. He was on his way from New York to San Francisco, and was in Toronto a few hours merely awaiting railway connection (C.P.R. by the way) to take him on to the Coast. He was in a great hurry when I saw him, and when I began to question him it did not appear promising, for I noticed he kept pulling out his watch. At last, however, I got him settled down to a brief interview.

Knowing his firm handled canned goods of various descriptions, I began questioning him in regard to these lines, particularly as to the outlook for goods of Canadian pack on the English market.

"There is a good market in England for canned gallon apples, as long as they can be sold to the jobber at ten shillings per dozen or less. By selling to the jobber at ten shillings, gallon apples can get to the public at one shilling per tin. At present, trade in this line is increasing rapidly. We are very critical over there," continued Mr. Baylis, after a pause. "We want canned apples that are of good color and firm, without being hard. The landing rate in London, I might say, is five shillings per ton of 2,240 pounds, while the commission is usually 5 per cent. On barrel apples the commission is also 5 per cent., and the expense of selling one shilling per barrel. I should think the expense of sending gallon apples to London would not be more than ten shillings per ton of 2,240 pounds, or about 12c. per dozen."

"How about Canadian canned tomatoes in England?"

"You cannot, as a rule, compete with tomatoes put up in Baltimore. To-day, Baltimore tomatoes are selling at 3s. 3d., c.i.f., London. Then there are Italian tomatoes. They are selling at the same price as the Baltimore kind."

"Which country's canned tomatoes have the best sale in England?"

"Well, the sales are about equally divided between the United States and Italian products. The flavor of the Italian tomatoes is a little different from those produced in America. For one thing, the Italians are not so sweet. The Italian 3's are about three ounces heavier than the American, being about three pounds eleven ounces, against three pounds eight ounces of the tomatoes put up on this side of the Atlantic."

"In your opinion, how does the quality of Canadian canned tomatoes compare with those of Baltimore and Italy?" I asked, hoping, of course, that his reply would be favorable.

"Oh, the quality of the Canadian article is the better," replied Mr. Baylis, with emphasis. "Your tomatoes are what we call fancy, and there is no market in London for fancy tomatoes. Canned tomatoes in London are sold for a price."

"What can you say with regard to canned lobsters?"

"We have just sold half-pound lobsters at 51s. per case, c.i.f. London. That is about four shillings above the opening price of 1897. One-pound flats have been sold on the spot in London at 48s. per case. This is also much higher than last year. Half-pound talls have been sold at 48s. 6d., and one-pound talls at 43s. The advance in one-pound talls is only about 1s. above the figures of last year."

"How is that?" I asked.

"Well, you see, in England when the price of canned lobsters goes up materially the demand centres on the higher priced goods. It is peculiar, but it is so."

"The outlook for canned salmon is improving on the English market, is it not?" I ventured.

"Oh! yes, the outlook is improving. You know the statistical position is much better than it was a year ago." And then Mr. Baylis began turning over papers in his note book, and, when he had selected one, he opened it and continued: "For instance, the total quantity of canned salmon of 1897 pack held in London and Liverpool is only 83,250 cases, while last year, before the combination, which now controls the market, was formed, the quantity was in the neighborhood of 500,000 cases.

The present stock is very small for England," Mr. Baylis remarked in a sort of meditative tone.

Then it again dawned on Mr. Baylis that his time was limited, and I felt under the necessity of allowing him to take his departure without plying him with more questions.

Mr. Baylis is a pleasant, unassuming Englishman, and I really enjoyed the brief chat I had with him. Whether he enjoyed it or not I cannot say.

OMAR.

THE PRICE OF CANNED TOMATOES.

IN spite of the fact that the packers, a couple of weeks ago, fixed the price of canned tomatoes at 80c., none of those who are offering appear to be asking even approximately near that figure.

The price asked by some of the best packers is 70c., as far as THE CANADIAN GROCER can learn, while transactions have taken place beneath that figure.

When the packers fixed the price at 80c., no one took the matter seriously, and the experience of a couple of weeks has justified these sceptical ones.

If the packers did not intend to maintain the figure they agreed upon, it was a most unwise thing on their part to take the action they did, for, instead of strengthening their position, they have weakened it.

Some speculative holders of canned tomatoes in Eastern Ontario have been offering during the past week. They first asked $1.05, f.o.b., but sales were eventually made at 95c. per dozen delivered.

NEW PACK PEAS.

New pack canned peas will be in the hands of wholesalers next week. Wholesalers in Toronto had expected that they would have been forthcoming this week, but their expectations have not been realized.

We hear of no fresh transactions this week between packers and wholesalers, and as long as the former maintain their recent fixed price of 75c. per dozen, there are not likely to be any, at least for the present, especially in view of the fact that 75c. is the figure wholesalers are now, as a rule, quoting to retailers for new pack peas.

REVIVING A NEW BRUNSWICK INDUSTRY.

NEW possibilities in agriculture promise to be opening up for New Brunswick. As probably everyone knows, that Province's importance as a wheat producer is practically nil: Nearly all the wheat and flour it uses comes from Ontario and Manitoba.

It may surprise a good many people to know that it was not always thus, although it has been so for about half a century.

Prior to 1840, New Brunswick, it is estimated, raised something like 300,000 bushels per annum, which, according to population, was not considered bad. But, in 1841, the weevil began its ravages, and, by about five years later, wheat raising was practically discontinued in several counties. The ravages of the weevil extended to 1847 or 1848, and in the latter year the little wheat that was sown was largely decimated by rust.

Although wheat growing was never wholly discontinued in the Province, yet there was never, from that time to this, any material recovery from the damage done by the weevil between 1841 and 1848.

By 1847, oats began to be generally substituted for wheat, and from then until now have been a staple product in New Brunswick.

In spite of the disastrous experience of half a century ago, it seems strange wheat-raising has not been resumed to any great extent. Fall wheat the Province does not appear to be adapted for, but the spring wheat it produces is of an excellent quality. Mr. C. L. Smith, a member of the New Brunswick Legislature, declared a few months ago that it was equal to Manitoba wheat.

Away back in 1849 Prof. J. F. W. Johnston, F.R.S., made a special report upon the agricultural possibilities of New Brunswick, and he showed, based upon 62 independent returns, that the average production of wheat in the Province, per Imperial acre, was 20 bushels, against 15¼ bushels in New York State, and 14 bushels in Ohio. The yield in many parts of the Province was 30, 35 and even 40 bushels per acre.

As long as the minimum price of 40c. per bushel could be obtained for oats, the farmers were well paid, and, naturally, did not care whether they raised wheat or not, but, since that figure is no longer obtainable, they are just as naturally looking for some "better thing." And, towards the close of last year, a strong agitation in favor of increasing the wheat production had been developed, while the Provincial Government was importuned to lend its aid.

The agitation found a sympathizer in the Premier, and on March 18 last, the Legislature passed an Act according aid to not only the farmer, but to the miller as well, for the mills there had become unfit to grind wheat, many of them having for so many years none of that cereal to grind. The following is a copy of the bill:

Whereas, for the further encouragement of agriculture within the Province, it is desirable to stimulate the production of wheat for home consumption.

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor and Legislative Assembly as follows:

1. The Commissioner for Agriculture is hereby authorized to grant assistance, by way of bonus, to persons or companies erecting mills for the grinding of wheat, by the Hungarian or other roller process, in localities where no such mills are at present established, or, for the conversion of any existing mills into mills equipped with such roller process. The location, style and capacity of mills to be aided shall be approved of by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, who shall prescribe the amount of bonus in any case, and the conditions upon which the same may be granted.

2. The Commissioner for Agriculture may also, subject to such conditions as the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may prescribe, purchase such quantities of seed wheat and other seeds as he may think desirable, and place the same on sale at convenient points, in order to afford an opportunity to the farmers to obtain the best seed at reasonable prices.

3. The amount which the Commissioner of Agriculture is authorized to expend under the provisions of this Act shall not, in any one year, exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, and the same shall be paid by warrant by the Receiver-General out of the revenues of the Province.

5. This Act shall continue for five years from the passing hereof, and no longer.

The action of the New Brunswick Government is to be commended. If there is an intelligent and judicious carrying out of the provisions of the Act, good must undoubtedly result. And not only will the good results accrue to the farmer and miller, but the merchants and manufacturers will alike share in them. The more money the farmer and the miller earns, the more money is there to spend with the grocer, the hardwareman, and the dry goods merchant. And, indirectly, the whole country benefits therefrom. It is, therefore, obviously to their advantage that business men should encourage schemes of this kind, particularly when it is clearly a natural industry they are designed to build up.

Full many a gem of purest ray serene,
The dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear,
And many a rose is born to blush unseen.
And waste its sweetness on the desert air.

It may be a far cry to compare the retail grocer to a gem of purest ray serene, or to a rose that blushes unseen, but this comparison struck me a week or so ago when I strayed into a little grocery shop in a small New Jersey village. It was Sunday, and I was bicycling. I struck the place about noon, and the only place where I could get anything to eat was this little grocery store, which, besides groceries, sells dry goods, gents' furnishings (of the vintage of '86), and eatables of more or less savoriness.

This grocer was an original genius in lots of ways. As I shall explain, he kept his rural customers up to time in the matter of paying their debts, and if they didn't pay, he exposed them to the contumely of their neighbors by showing them up.

On the most conspicuous part of the back wall of this little store was a big placard, I suppose 12 x 18 inches, done in pen and ink. It bore the somewhat startling caption: "Rogues' Gallery." Underneath were several names, with figures opposite each. The highest figure was 35 and the lowest 5.

"Do you mind telling me what that is?" I asked, when my cabbage had been brought in.

"That's the Vincentown Rogues' Gallery" said the grocer, solemnly. "That's the roll of the people that like to cheat a hard-workin' man out of his money!"

"Is that the list of people who owe you?" I asked.

"That's what it is."

"You evidently don't let 'em get into you very far," I said. "The highest debt is 35c., and the smallest 5c., isn't it?"

"Yes," he said, "but you keep store in a country town and see whether you'd like to lose even a nickel."

"Well, there may be something in that," I confessed.

"But don't you know you're breaking the law?" I went on.

"Law, hey?" sniffed the grocer. "Huh! There ain't no law in this place. When I ask these skunks five and six times for 28 cents, and don't git it, ain't I got no right to show 'em up? It's little enough I'm a-gittin' out of it, seems to me!"

I secured permission to copy the card, and here it is :

Miller Hartshorn..	.12
A. K. Street	.05
Albert Horner.....	.28
John K. Richardson .	.17

"Do you find that any of these people ever pay you after you publish their names this way?" I asked.

"Once in a while," he answered. "When they pay I cross 'em off."

I noticed that none were crossed off this list, not even the 5c. man.

"Lots o' them names," said the grocer, "is Piney's that comes in from the pines on Satiddy nights. They get around seein' the sights (!!) and paintin' the town red, and when their money is all spent they remember that they wuz to get some supplies. Then they come here and expect to hold me up. I used to let 'em have things and trust 'em 'till next Satiddy night," but they never come. They never paid me, an' the sight o' their thievin' names in my rogues' gallery is all I'll ever get o' 'em."

This store was unique in other ways beside the rogues' gallery. The grocer was one of those rural humorists whose bent found expression in the shape of various signs. One of them was this :

ALL THOSE WANTING TRUST
PLEASE TAKE THE ELE-VATOR TO THE ROOF.

This mild exhibition of bucolic sarcasm was supplemented by a work of art on another card, evidently the work of the same genius who presided over the store and the rogues' gallery. It showed a picture of a cadaverous individual with a great big head and little stomach. The sign read: "I come to this through trust." The point of the inscription isn't exactly clear, but the picture was horrible enough to scare anybody off who came into the store expecting to get credit.

Another bright, pithy little observation in the shape of a sign was this :

PAY AS YOU GO AND NO FOE.

This is perfectly delicious. "Pay as you go and no foe." How clear! How pointed! I have no doubt that the strong philosophy of that sign, intelligible as it is to everybody, has kept many a name from the horror of the Vincentown Rogues' Gallery.

I hereby on my own responsibility offer a reward of $10,000 for the closest solution to this riddle, "Pay as you go and no foe." All solutions offered must be accompanied by a certified check for $5,000 to show that the participants in the contest are fit to receive the $10,000 prize. The $5,000 checks will only be used in case I need 'em.

How well this little grocer practices what he preaches can apparently be sized up by the necessity he finds for a rogues' gallery.

Now, take this gem of purest ray serene—this rose which now blushes unseen—and put it at the head of a department store. Let him put his little signs, like "Pay as you go and no foe," all over the store. Let him start a rogues' gallery for the Sara Browns and the "Jim" Smiths who forget to pay their bills. Let him paint beautiful visions with big heads and flat stomachs and label them "I come to this through trust."

Does anybody doubt that his place would be packed? I don't.—The Stroller, in Grocery World.

HELLO, HAMILTON !

Lucas, Steele & Bristol, please. Hello ! That Mr. Healy? Yes, thank you, trade is fairly good. Say, those muscatel raisins are O.K., and that "Uriba" Japan is a trade getter. How's sugar to-day? So? No change, eh? Well, send me a car of half Klondyke and half granulated, and ten half chests "Uriba" Japan. Can't do business without that, you know. Five cases "Empire" salmon; it's a good one; two sacks McDuff Japan rice. What's that? Half a cent higher? Well, all right. Send it on. Must have it. That's all now. Will save balance of order for friend Toby. Good-bye.

"PURE GOLD" REORGANIZED.

THE name of a new concern which makes its bow this week is The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., Limited. True, you have probably heard of it before. For sixteen years "Pure Gold" has been another name for the best of everything in the grocery line. Mr. A. Jardine, who is so well-known on the "Street" (we wonder who started calling Front street, Toronto, the "Street"?) commenced the manufacturing of specialties in 1882, and shortly after purchased the "Pure Gold" formula and business. This had been running in Toronto for about five years as a branch of a Rochester, N.Y., house. Ever since, the long suffering public has had to endure a perfect stream of advertising, pushing and crowding into nearly every paper and scheme in the country. Even the dead walls do not escape, and so well has the work been done that the greatest crank who says he won't buy and will see you hanged first, caves in when it's "Pure Gold." He has to have some no matter how small the quantity.

Well, all this valuable property has gone over to the new company. Mr. Jardine had felt for some time the necessity of giving his latter days some leisure and pleasure, and, in looking over his friends and acquaintances, he hit on Mr. Richard A. Donald as a possible co-adjutor in matters "Pure Gold." Now, "Donald's Tea Store" was nearly as well-known in Toronto and vicinity as was "Pure Gold," having for 33 years vigorously upheld the doctrine of pure goods at reasonable prices, at 134 King street east. When, therefore, Mr. Jardine made his proposition to Mr. Donald to come over and help him, it was alike to combining a valuable lot of experience along contiguous lines. Donald's strong point had always been fine coffee and tea, and these, when added to Mr. Jardine's shrewdness, combined to make one of the strongest combinations of latter days in the grocery trade. Mr. Donald's thorough knowledge of the retail trade will be especially valuable to the new company, and, when the preliminaries are all arranged, we look for some startling developments along the line of attractions, publicity and selling quality. Not that "Pure Gold" goods were not always so, but there is a constant desire for change which makes new friends, and which has to be met at the onset to secure some of the success which mainly waits the pushing man.

Mr. F. W. Fraser, who has been financial man for Mr. Jardine, will be secretary-treasurer for the new company.

The factory superintendent, Mr. James Litster, is well known in the Queen City as a diligent supervisor, a careful buyer of supplies and a prompt and reliable shipper of orders, once they are "vised" and handed over to his tender mercies.

Mr. Frank Gallow, who is well known all over Ontario, is chairman of the travelers' board. This board is composed of the round dozen representatives in the employ of the company. These cover the land from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as follows:

Ottawa, E. Ontario	H. H. Livingston	Ottawa
and Quebec	L. Glover	Toronto
Centre Ontario	Frank Gallow	Toronto
Toronto	Jos. French	Toronto
Toronto, suburbs	D. Munroe	Toronto
Northwest Ontario	L. Egan	Woodstock
Southwest Ontario	W. Purvis	Winnipeg
Manitoba and N.W.T.	Alex. Gartshore	Vancouver
British Columbia

A brighter and better lot of men do not travel for any house, and much of the success which has attended the "Pure Gold" people is due to earnest work on the road.

We paid a visit the other day to the warehouse, and, in the sample room and offices (which, by the way, have been noted as being among the handsomest in Canada), met Mr. Donald, who has been getting his sea legs for a month past, and, as he kindly volunteered to guide us through the factory, we consented, with the net result that now we believe that some things are possible which we did not believe to be so before.

Down in the basement we struck a genuine "Scotty" engineer, and as pretty an engine and room as we have ever seen. Near by is the roaster, and right in the next room are the various grinders, each under separate supervision. "We find," said Mr. Donald, "that a man who has certain work to do, and nothing else to distract his attention, becomes very proficient, and so we obtain such good results as our trade would indicate."

Upstairs, after going through hundreds of bales of spicy goods and green coffees, is to be found the extract room, with its delicious odors and busy appearance. The extract trade of this house makes one wonder whether the extract is not being used in Scott Act localities.

Upstairs again is the packing room, coffee room, catsup room and borax and soap and soap powder departments. While up another flat is the baking powder and jelly powder room and, through another sheet iron door is the spice and mustard department. Really one is very much surprised at the magnitude of this stock and the manipulations which it has to undergo before being finally presented to the discerning public. The quiet yet solid appearance of the block in Front street is quite different from the busy conglomeration of boxes, bags, bales, wagons and lorries which choke up the back shipping entrance. And it is all done in decent time too. Every day in the year they close at 5 p.m. and on Saturdays at 12 o'clock, noon. Truly, we can commend the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., Limited, 31 and 33 Front street east, Toronto.

A WORK OF BUSINESS MEN.

THERE is a good article in The News-Argus, Stirling, Ont., of June 23, on farm forestry, which is published below. As it points out, there are large areas of land, cleared of trees, unfit for cultivation which should be laid out in trees. The average farmer is not enterprising. He will never, of his own accord, try to improve his condition. The business centres are interested in the improvement of the farmers who buy from them. Replanting of these lands should be agitated and developed by local boards of trade in every part of Canada. The News-Argus says:

"For some years past agriculture has been in a depressed condition owing to the steady fall of prices of the staple articles of produce consequent upon greatly increased production and the opening up of new regions. An occasional favorable season, such as last year, when special causes operate to ensure better returns for the time being, does not invalidate the conclusion that the general tendency is towards a cheapening of agricultural products in the markets of the world, and, that no permanent improvement of the conditions of farming, based on a restoration of high prices is possible. The same thing is true with regard to other lines of productive industry. Everywhere vastly increased production, the expansion of manufacturing and of the commercial system, the competition for markets have resulted in lowering prices of the producer and rendering necessary a much greater volume of production on his part to secure equal returns to those formerly enjoyed.

"In the business world these new conditions have been met by new methods. The careless, easy-going systems which prevailed in the days of big profits have been abandoned. Foresight, close calculation and a careful adaptation of means to ends are essential requisites of business success. Profits being cut down, every industrial producer in order to maintain his position is obliged above all things to study economy in production to secure the largest possible output with the least possible expenditure of labor and capital, to take strict account of the various processes of manufacture so as to prevent unnecessary waste. Above all things he must see to it that the capital embarked in his business is kept profitably employed and not invested in stock and machinery which stands idle year after year, bringing in no return. Slackness in this respect on the part of the ordinary man of business would very soon result in bankruptcy.

THE BUSINESS VIEW.

"These conditions are just as imperative in the case of the farmer as with the manufacturer or merchant. In order to hold his own in the face of competition with wheat and stock raisers the world over, he must abandon slack, unsystematic methods of doing things, and utilize to the full extent all his resources, instead of allowing a large proportion of them to lie idle, as is too often done. The principal capital of the farmer is his land, and any part of the soil belonging to the farm, which is either wholly non-pro-comes impoverished, and sandy or rocky patches or hillsides, which, by reason of their steepness, are difficult of tillage. One can travel scarcely anywhere in the older settled parts of Ontario without noticing fields that have been cleared of trees, in which the land was found to be so poor that it was not thought worth while to remove the stumps, and they still remain. The field is supposed to furnish pasture, but of such a character as to provide little, if any, rent for the land. Again, there often partially cleared woodlands which have become grass-grown sufficiently to check the new forest growth, and are allowed to remain partly wooded, for the sake of fuel supply, and used for pasture. The value of the diminishing wood, which, under such conditions, cannot reproduce itself, falls far short of the yield that the land would return if either kept properly and completely under timber or cleared for cultivation.

"In Ontario the great development of the business of farming is and will be along the line of

DAIRYING AND FRUIT GROWING.

"In fruit growing it is obvious to even a casual observer that the idle land is useless and it is equally so in dairying. Modern scientific practice is more towards feeding the stock in the stable and abandoning the use of pasture land. Cows are milked all the year round and allowed out of the stable only for exercise. It is found cheaper and more profitable to grow fodder and prepare it for the cattle than to turn them out to hunt for a living. Pastures are playing a less prominent part in farm economy, certainly the stump pasture is a great mistake. The land that will not grow grain or roots will not pay rent as pasture, and should be used for the only purpose for which it is profitably adapted.

"It is by the utilization of the land which, whether classed as waste or not, is not at present in fully productive condition that the farmer must seek to supplement the diminished returns of his holding. The one thing which nearly all land, that, by reason of sterility or steepness, is uncultivable, will yield to advantage is timber.

PLANTING WITH TREES.

"Planting with trees the waste land, or the land which is so inferior that it does not pay to raise agricultural produce upon it at ductive or turned to a less profitable use than it might be, represents so much wasted capital.

"The great volume of idle capital possessed by farmers is indicated by the returns of the Provincial Bureau of Industries for 1896, according to which, out of a total of 23,172,408 acres embraced in the rural municipalities of the Province, 3,263,390 acres were classed as waste land. It is probable that the real area of land which could fairly be included under this heading is considerably in excess of these figures. There are comparatively few farms, even in the best agricultural districts, without more or less land which, owing either to the situation or inferiority of the soil, is left uncultivated, without being turned to any other profitable use. There are ridges or crests of land where the soil, by washing away, soon below prices, will not merely prove an ultimately profitable investment, yielding rich returns in the future, but the presence of the timber at an early stage of its growth will materially increase the fertility of the surrounding acres."

TRADE CHAT.

Caterpillars have done much damage in Ontario near Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.

F. T. Hill & Co., general merchants, Markdale, Ont., have improved the appearance of their store by repainting it.

E. H. M. McMillan, proprietor of the Ideal Grocery, Vancouver, has removed his stock to more commodious and central quarters on Hasting street.

The agitation for the erection of a pork-packing establishment in Middleton, N.S., has resulted in the incorporation of the Nova Scotia Pork-packing Co., Limited.

Six barrels of snapping turtles were shipped to Sandusky, Ohio, from Wallaceburg, Ont., last week. The shipment weighed nearly half a ton, and one of the turtles weighed over 25 pounds.

The pickle branch of the business of Chas. Denne, manufacturer of cured meats, etc., Newmarket, Ont., has increased to such an extent that he is erecting a new storehouse, 30 by 60 feet, for the accommodation of his business.

A "SCEPTICAL" DEALER.

A Scottish paper tells a story of an old Scottish woman who was "unco' drouthie," without the money to buy a "drappie." "Lassie," she said to her little granddaughter, "gang round to Donald McCallum and bring me a gill. Tell him I'll pay him i' the morning. Back came the child with a refusal. Donald declined to part with his whiskey without the cash. Eager and irritated, the old woman cast about for some means of "raising the wind," and her eye fell upon the family Bible. "Here, lassie," she said, "gie him this and tell him to keep it until I bring him the siller." Off went the little girl, but she soon returned still carrying the Bible. Donald was obdurate. "He says he maun hae the bawbees first, granny." In anger the disappointed grandmother threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Losh, did onybody ever hear the like o' that! The man will neither tak' my word nor the word o' God for a gill o' whusky!"—New Jersey Trade Review.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 30, 1898.

GROCERIES.

WHILE some complaints in regard to the volume of business are heard, there does not appear to be much real cause for them, when the season and all is taken into account. The demand for sugar is not what it should be, or at least what it might be expected to be, but even in this line the wholesalers have found business more active during the past four or five days, although the wholesalers have not yet begun to share in its benefits. Generally speaking, there is a fair demand for canned goods, although prices have an easier tendency in tomatoes, peas and corn. Quotations on new pack strawberries are irregular. There are no new and striking features in teas, and coffees are still quiet. The most interesting feature in connection with the current market is the weakness of prices in Greece.

CANNED GOODS.

The position of the canned goods market at the moment is not one that gives confidence. The price recently fixed by the packers for tomatoes, corn, and peas no one seems to treat seriously. New pack tomatoes have been contracted for at 65 and 70c., while wholesalers are quoting new pack peas to arrive at 75c. It is worthy of note, however, that some packers are refusing to quote tomatoes for future delivery. Strawberries, new pack, are somewhat irregular in quotations, which is, no doubt, to some extent due to difference in quality offered. Some packers are quoting $1.20 and others $1.35, while we hear of even $1.10 being asked; but the last named is held to be "watered stock." New pack lobster will probably be in wholesalers' hands next week; cost is about $1 per case higher than a year ago. Wholesalers report the demand fairly good for canned vegetables. The demand from the northern part of the Province continues to improve for canned fruits. Canned meats, excepting corned beef, are selling fairly well on picnic account. Canned salmon is still selling well.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There are no syrups offering and there are none wanted. Molasses are quiet and advices from New Orleans state that the market there is in a dropping condition with sales at fractionally lower figures.

SUGAR.

Wholesale houses report that they are experiencing a much better demand for sugar than they were a week ago. At the same time, however, the quantity going out is not altogether satisfactory. Refiners' agents, on the other hand, are complaining a great deal in regard to the smallness of the business falling to them. There have been a few transactions in foreign refined sugars during the week, but the price of the domestic article is not favorable to the imported article. The outside markets show further decline. Java sugars are down 6d., and Muscavadoes 3d., from the highest point. These declines are attributed to the dulness of the market. Cane supplies are extremely light. There is no pressure to sell, and holders are merely accepting the decline for arriving parcels rather than put them in store. Store parcels are all firmly held; the refiners are rather indifferent buyers at the moment. Raw sugars declined 1-16c. per lb. in New York last week. In regard to refined sugar Willett

Pages 34 and 35.

& Gray's Weekly Statistical says: "Under the guarantee of the American Sugar Refining Co. there can be no decline in refined sugars until at least July 23, notwithstanding that it is generally understood and expected that the Arbuckle house will start working July 5, and produce sugars for sale during the remainder of the month, to a moderate extent. Naturally, buyers are protected to the extent of carrying a thirty days' supply of sugars all the time."

NUTS.

The tendency of the Tarragona almond market is still upward. It is worthy of note that these nuts, 1897 growth, are offered from London, Eng., at lower figures than from the primary markets.

COFFEE.

While prices are still low, they do not attract buyers, the latter, not having confidence in the market. Advices from Brazil state that receipts at both Santos and Rio are light, with the indications that the free movement of the crop will be later than last year, owing to unfavorable weather conditions.

TEAS.

A few more lots of new season's Japan teas have reached this market during the past week, but the quantity is small. On the local market there is a little demand for Japan teas at from 16 to 17c., but holders will not accept these figures, their idea for a good cup quality tea being 19 to 21c. per lb. There has been a little buying, however, but wholesalers are only taking small lots. The Japan tea market at the moment appears to be firm.

Good liquoring Ceylon teas, at about 15 to 17c., are being taken by jobbers. Ceylons are about the only teas for which the demand can be said to be good.

A few small lots of China gunpowders changed hands during the week, but they are supposed to have been purchased on speculative account.

Mail advices from London, England, under date of June 17, say that amongst the small quantity of Indian tea brought forward were 1,509 packages of new season's growth, and they sold at satisfactory prices. In regard to Ceylon tea, the advices state that although the sale was comparatively heavy the market was animated, the chief demand running on good liquoring teas over 10d., and the lower grades of whole leaf teas.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Advices from Greece say the outlook is for good crop in both quantity and quality. Prices in the primary market have declined about equal to 1c. per lb. during the last month. Few, if any, orders are being given just now for shipment of old fruit from Greece. Since the last steamer arrived stocks here are fair, and, if buying should be necessary, supplies could be brought on from New York, there being fruit there suitable for the Canadian trade.

VALENCIA RAISINS—There have been some offers of new fruit, but it seems to be on speculative account. Shipments of Valencia raisins are likely to be later than last year, but it is estimated that the crop will be about the same as that of 1897.

PRUNES—Shippers in California are beginning to quote new season's prunes for October shipment, and, it is said, several cars have been purchased on Chicago account, but, generally speaking, the quotations do not attract buyers. It is said that California prunes of the large sizes will be short this season.

DRIED APRICOTS—According to The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, a private letter from Fresno states that the apricot crop is very short in that vicinity, probably not exceeding two or three cars, while reports from other parts of the State indicate a short crop in this fruit.

GREEN FRUITS.

Strawberries continue to arrive in abundant quantities. On Tuesday, this week, the receipts were the largest so far noted in one day. The price ranged from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{1}{2}$ c., a great number retailing at 4c. The quality of the berries is not as good as those which came in the previous week. Gooseberries and cherries are now plentiful this week, the former selling at 15 to 30c. per basket, and the latter at 60 to 80c. Red currants are now on the market, large ones selling at 75c., and small ones at 50c. per bushel. California fruits, such as peaches, apricots and plums, are expected in carload lots about the end of the week, but quotations cannot yet be given. Mississippi tomatoes are plentiful, and are selling at \$1 per case. The movement in pineapples is small, prices remaining unchanged. Bananas are rather scarce, and it is expected that the celebrations of the 1st of July in Canada and the 4th in the United States will absorb nearly all offering, creating a greater scarcity after these days. California oranges are in moderate demand, and are firm in price at from \$2.75 to \$3.25. The market for lemons is decidedly firm, and, though prices are unchanged, an advance will be necessary as soon as stocks now on hand are absorbed. The Canadian market is below the United States market, and as shipments from July on will come via New York it is evident that an advance will follow the absorption of present stocks in the city. Watermelons have begun to arrive, and sold at the beginning of the week at 40c. each. A reduction in prices is likely next week. Tennessee apples are arriving in small quantities, and are selling at 40c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The dairy butter market is quiet. As the amount selling locally is a mere bagatelle compared with the receipts, the bulk being cold stored, and as prices are above export values, and buying is entirely speculative, many dealers do not look with favor on such buying, considering a decline in prices more likely than an advance, because the production is so large. The market for creamery, on the other hand, is firm, the export demand being more active and prices from $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ c. higher than last week. At country points, 11 to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c. is paid for dairy tubs and prints; 16c. for creamery tubs and 17c. for creamery prints, f.o.b.

CHEESE—At factories there has been an advance of $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{8}$ c., and in the city $\frac{1}{4}$ c. advance. It is a question whether the market, with the enormous production, can stand the prices now paid at factories, from $7\frac{3}{4}$ to 8c., which is at present speculative. The price in Toronto is 8c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The receipts are not large, but are sufficient to meet requirements. As a large percentage of the eggs sent in are poor stock, a high price has to be received to make up for losses from stale eggs. Offerings outside are fair at from 9 to $9\frac{1}{2}$ c. The prices ruling in Toronto are $10\frac{1}{2}$ to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c., an advance of $\frac{1}{2}$ c. over last week.

POTATOES—The market is decidedly slumpy, as there seems to be quite a quantity of old stock on hand, and, as new Canadian potatoes have begun to arrive, and are selling at about $1.10 per bushel the demand for old ones in car lots is weak at anywhere from 25 to 40c. per bushel. On the street market, 40 to 45c. is paid.

VEGETABLES—The market is in much the same condition as last week. Receipts of butter beans, carrots and beets are somewhat freer, and are lower in price. Other goods are unchanged in price. We quote as follows: Rhubarb, 15 to 25c. per doz. bunches; onions, 5c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; radishes, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 40 to 60c. per doz.; long, $1 per doz.; watercress, 10 to 15c. per doz. bunches; garden cress, 10 to 15c. per doz. bunches; spinach, 25c. per bush.; asparagus, 40c. to 60c. per doz.; green peas, Canadian, 80c. per bag; Canadian butter beans, $1 per basket; beets, 15 to 20c. per doz.; carrots, 15 to 20c. per doz.

PROVISIONS.

There is an improvement in business this week. The collapse of the Leiter boom in wheat undoubtedly had an effect on the market for all provisions, and breadstuffs especially, in the United States, and buyers have been extremely cautious. The steadiness which has maintained in the provision market has created a more confident tone, and now buyers are purchasing more freely. The demand is general, all goods being in active demand.

FISH.

The demand is moderate, with prices unchanged, as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to $6\frac{1}{2}$ c.; steak trout,

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The decline in wheat has not yet let up, from 2 to 3c. being noted for all grades. We quote on cars outside as follows: Wheat, red winter, 79 to 80c.; white winter, 77 to 79c.; goose, 76 to 78c. The street market is quiet. We quote: Wheat, old white, 80c.; red, 79c.; goose, 78c.; peas, 51c.; oats, 31½ to 33c. No barley or rye is offered. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat has declined 3c., and is now quoted at $1.02 per bushel, Sarnia freights.

FLOUR—Decline of 25 to 30c. in Manitoba and 15c. in Ontario flours are noted this week. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.85; Ontario patents, $4.60 to $4.75; straight roller, $4.10 to $4.20, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is quiet. Rolled wheat has declined 10c.; other goods are unchanged. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $4.00 in bags and $4.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.90 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.75; split peas, $3.75; pot barley, $3.75.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The feeling is firm, with prices unchanged. We quote: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.; cured, 9½ to 10c.

CALFSKINS—The demand is weak, as dealers consider prices too high. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8 lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Nominal. The season is over. Lambskins, however, are in fair demand at 35c., and shearlings, at 20c.

WOOL—The market is slow, country dealers and jobbers differing regarding values. Unwashed is quoted at 10 to 11c. and fleece at 16 to 16½c.

SALT

Business is active, a good demand now being noted from farmers for putting down hay. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per

MARKET NOTES.

Sago is scarce in London, Eng.

Rolled wheat has declined 10c. this week.

Eggs are firm at $\frac{1}{2}$ c. higher than last week.

Watermelons are now on the market at 40c. each.

Creamery butter is $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ c. dearer than last week.

Red currants are on the market at 50 to 75c. per basket.

Cherries are offered in moderate quantities at about $1 per basket.

Cheese has advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{8}$ c. at factories, and $\frac{1}{4}$ c. in Toronto.

Manitoba flour has declined 25 to 30c., and Ontario flour 15c. this week.

Currants are about 1c. per lb. cheaper in Greece than they were four or five weeks ago.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co. have purchased three carloads of dairy and creamery butter this week.

Old potatoes are lower, at 25 to 40c. per bag in car lots. New Canadian potatoes are in at about $1.10 per bushel.

The price of "Clover Leaf" brand salmon, in tall tins, has been advanced to $3.65 f.o.b. the Coast, for 1898 pack.

Some opening orders for merchants who are starting business on the route of the Crow's Nest Pass railway have been received in Toronto this week.

W. C. Bevan & Co., of Malaga, Spain, have issued a circular to the trade denying they are going out of business. They will ship blue fruit and Valencia almonds as usual.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 30, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE have been few changes during the past week. Sugar, while easy in tone is not quotably altered, and teas and other staples have not contributed anything of a striking character. In fact, values all round are pretty much the same as they were last week. There has been some enquiry for new pack canned salmon, and some contracts have been placed at firm prices and still higher prices are looked for.

McLauchlan's Graham Crackers

J. McLauchlan & Sons, - - Owen Sound

CANNED GOODS.

Enquiry for new pack canned salmon has been the leading feature of the week in these goods, and sales of 3,000 to 4,000 cases of "Clover Leaf" brand have been made for future delivery on the basis of $3.50 per case, f.o.b. Coast. The tenor of the market is quite firm and prices are likely to be advanced. New pack strawberries have also been asked for, some 2,000 cases being placed at $1.35 to $1.40 for 2-lb. tins and $2.40 3-lb. tins. A fair jobbing demand is noted for vegetables at current prices.

SYRUPS.

This market is exceedingly quiet, there being little or no demand, and prices are steady at $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. for sugar, house grade, at the factory, in straight invoice lots.

MOLASSES.

This market continues strong. Locally, there has been some enquiry for spot stock, 1897 crop, and, as the offerings of such are small, holders maintain their firm views regarding values, especially as the quality is much superior to this season's receipts. Accordingly, bids of 30c. for these goods have been refused.

SUGAR.

The sugar market remains, in the main, much the same. Refiners here complain that demand has fallen off, a small hand-to-mouth demand being noted. The inference from this is that retailers must have plenty to get along with in the meantime. Values continue easy in tone, though not quotably changed from where they were a week ago.

COFFEE.

There has been very little change in this market, the only sales being a few small parcels of Maracaibo and Santos, the former at 12 to 16c. and the latter at 10 to 13c. for straight invoice lots.

TEAS.

The market is quiet, while prices remain very firm, and there is no change of importance to note. Some Pingsuey gunpowders changed hands at 23c. for shipment to the States, the best bid that was offered on the same lot locally being 15c.

SPICES.

Strength still rules the outside situation, but there is nothing special to report locally.

RICE.

There has been no special change in the local rice market. Some very fine new crop Patna and Japan are now being offered at $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 5c. for the former and at $5\frac{1}{2}$ to 6c. for the latter. Mail advices received by The Louisiana Planter, from Calcutta, to May 12, include a report from the Bengal Director of Agriculture, to May 5, in which he reports on the winter rice crop as follows: "The season generally was very unfavorable to the cultivation of the winter rice crops. The total area cultivated in 1897 amounted to 31,572,700 acres, against 29,143,200 acres cultivated in 1896. Two districts of these Provinces reported bumper crops, of 20 annas; 21 districts reported bumper crops, varying from above 16 annas to 19 annas; 11 districts reported average crops of 16 annas, and the remaining 11 districts returned crops varying from 14 to less than 16 annas. The crop for the Province, as a whole, was estimated by this Department at 18 annas, against an 8-anna crop for the previous year."

NUTS.

These continue much as they were reported last week.

DRIED FRUIT.

There have been some quiet operations in California raisins at firm figures.

Valencia raisins are firmly held locally, with nothing special elsewhere, except that the Spanish market is quite firm.

Currants continue quiet and steady, and the same can be said of prunes, figs and various evaporated California fruits.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business in green fruit was not so active during the past eight or ten days, as the weather was too cool. Pineapples are selling at 10 to 15c. each; California peaches, 75c. to $1.25; apricots, $1.15 to $1.90, and tomatoes, 75c. to $1.25. Oranges and lemons rule steady, and the same can be said of bananas. Apples sold steady at $4.50 to $6 per bbl.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried and evaporated apples are unchanged.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no change in the egg market. The demand to-day was rather better for small lots, and a fair jobbing business was transacted at steady prices. We quote; Fancy selected stock, 10 to 10½c.; ordinary run, 9 to 9½c., and No. 2 stock, 8 to 8½c. per dozen.

BEANS—The market for beans was quiet and prices unchanged at 95c. to $1 for primes, and at $1.05 to $1.10 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—Was dull and steady. We quote: White clover comb, 11c. to 12c.; dark do., 8 to 10c.; white strained, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Continues to move slowly. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb., and in tins at 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

TALLOW—Dull, but steady.

POTATOES—Dull, but firm, with 75c. to $1 asked on the cars.

HOPS—A few small lots of good to choice, sold at 12 to 14c.

PROVISIONS.

There was a better demand for smoked meats and lard, and the market is moderately active, with no change in prices to note. Pork is quiet. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8½c. to 8¾c.; and compound refined at 5½c. to 5¾c. per lb.; hams, 10½c. to 11½c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was no change in the situation of the local grain market. The demand for all lines was slow, and shippers generally show no disposition whatever to operate, and prices are difficult to quote at present. There was some little demand for oats from local buyers and sales of car lots were made at 32c. in store. A small lot of buckwheat changed hands in store at 44c.

A fair trade was reported in Manitoba grades of flour, there being a better demand from Ontario and Quebec buyers. The market, on the whole, was more active, but prices are still difficult to quote, as the cutting continues. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $5.25 to $5.50; straight rollers, $5 to $5.25; bags, $2.20 to $2.40; Manitoba patents, $5.90, and strong bakers', $5.50.

There was no improvement in the demand for feed, sales being slow and prices easy. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12.25 to $12.75; shorts, $13.50 to $14 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $13; shorts, $15, and moullie, $17 per ton, including bags.

Business in meal was very quiet, and the market was without any feature, rolled oats being quoted at $3.75 to $3.85 per barrel.

A fair trade is reported in baled hay, but the tone of the market is easy, and prices are being shaded in some cases. We quote: Shipping hay, $5 to $6; good to choice, No. 1, $9 to $10, and No. 2, at $7 to $7.50 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues the same. High prices are being paid in the country, and neither the local or export demand follows the advance. As a result of the high prices paid in the country yesterday, holders on spot asked $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb. more for both eastern and western, but found it difficult to realize. In fact, the spot market is a nominal one at $7\frac{1}{2}$ to $7\frac{3}{4}$ c. for eastern, and 8 to $8\frac{1}{4}$ c. for western. Public cable advanced 6d., to 36s., and receipts continue heavy, being 15,076 packages.

Butter was quiet and steady. Holders want 17c. for finest creamery, while buyers are bidding $16\frac{1}{2}$ to $16\frac{3}{4}$ c. Receipts to-day were 1,940 packages.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

St. JOHN, N.B., June 27, 1898.

HALF the year is gone. In looking back over it, our grocers do so with considerable satisfaction, though not with as much as they expected they would four weeks ago. With the exception of the last few weeks, almost all markets have been in their favor; but now it would look as if, at least in some grades of flour, some little would be lost. Failures have been very few and payments have been fair.

Our people are pleased at the delay in reducing the rate of interest at the savings bank. It is an unpopular move here, as it is thought it will prevent the savings banks from fulfilling their main object, viz., the encouragement of thrift among the wage-earners.

OIL—While this is the quiet season in all grades of oil, a fair, steady business, at even prices, is reported. Cod oil is quite scarce, and, while there is no large demand, rather more could be used than is at present being received.

SALT—This is also a quiet line, particularly in Liverpool coarse. The large quantity of Canadian now used for dairy purposes has had the effect of very much lessening the sale of the Liverpool factory filled. In rock salt, while a small stock is carried here, the sale is very light. The wood box continues to be the popular package for Canadian fine. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—Prices of vegetables incline to be easier. The high prices, even in tomatoes, which, however, show a handsome profit, did not arrive. The fact that new peas are offered, and for almost immediate delivery is quite a surprise. Our dealers are, however, light buyers, as they look for lower figures. In strawberries and raspberries some packers have advanced their quotations. The feeling of the trade here at present is a waiting one, as far as new goods are concerned. In meats, prices are quoted lower. There is but a fair sale for salmon, and fair stocks are held. The outlook for the new pack is a light sale here.

GREEN FRUIT—Bananas are arriving freely, but sales are large, and demand is not more than met. In oranges, stocks are getting well cleaned up; prices are quoted rather higher. Other fruits are, however, taking their place. Lemons are also quoted rather higher, particularly best grades. In pines, prices are firm, although lower prices are looked for before long. Strawberries are now received from local growers. We prefer our own very much to any other as yet; they hold a fair price. Rhubarb is rather firmer, but keeps low. California small fruits are having a fair sale, but season is early. Watermelons are quite a feature in the fruit business, but our weather is not hot enough for best results.

DRIED FRUIT—California loose muscatels

Send along your orders as you are doing, which will receive best attention and prompt shipment.

of good quality are offered low from Boston, but there are no buyers. Seeded show a fair sale. In new California raisins packers are looking for business, though it is not expected prices will be named till the latter half of July. A good crop is expected, and at least low opening prices. This was, however, the case the last two years, only to be followed by a sharp advance, so that those who placed their orders early were in luck. Early shipment is looked for this season during September. Valencias are quoted. Demand for this grade is not what it used to be, and is largely confined to layers. Prices open low. It is not thought that Malaga raisins, at least loose, will be at all as largely brought here as last year. Onions are rather lower, with fair business. Demand for other lines is dull. In peanuts, sale is large; prices at Norfolk, Va., are $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. above those of early spring, and further advances are looked for.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Prices are low, particularly in dairy butter. There is by far too much poor butter. Even creamery, to be moved, has to be sold low. In eggs, receipts, largely owing to the low prices, are small. Cheese is low with a fair sale, now about equally divided between old and new, with the latter coming to the front. The outlook is for a larger make this season than ever before in our Province.

SUGAR—Prices are rather lower. It is difficult, in any line, to keep prices up. Sales are light, but an improved movement is expected. Some foreign sugars continue to be offered.

MOLASSES—This is really a disappointing feature. Dealers did expect better things, but the edge is off. Stocks are, however, not large as yet, and the end of the season may show better things. Just at present, as in other lines, demand is light, and this puts the worst foot forward.

FISH—Salmon are quoted higher and are expected to so rule until after the fourth of July. The catch continues a light one. A few shad are still caught. In dry cod, rather lower prices rule, though receipts keep quite light. Large and medium are quoted at about the same prices. The recent arrivals of pollock have broken down prices, sales being slow. A few new pickled herring have been received, and are quoted low. Smoked herrings are easier; market in bad shape at Grand Manan. They do not know what to do with their fish, particularly bloater stock. We quote: Large cod, \$3.30 to \$3.35; medium, \$3.25 to \$3.30; pollock, \$1.35 to \$1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, \$1.50 to \$1.65 per $\frac{1}{2}$ -bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled \$5 per bbl.; boneless fish, $3\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; finnan haddies, 4 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ c.; shad, 12 to 15c.; salmon, 14 to 15c.

PROVISIONS—Barreled goods are dull. While prices are lower our holders are still on the right side of the market. Smoked meats are dull and show quite a range in price, as does lard, quite a little old stock being here. Local and packers' prices are about the same.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Prices are rapidly getting to where they were before the late advance. In fact, some mills are already there. Dealers find much fault with them as they claim they are making no more sales by forcing the market down, while they make the position of the holder worse than is necessary. Feed, while still scarce and dull, is rather lower. Oatmeal holds its price better than oats. Stocks are not large. Cornmeal continues to be forced down. Beans are also quoted lower. Sales are light. The sale for seed for this season is over. Barley is high and light stock. There continues to be almost no split peas. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, \$5.75 to \$5.80; best Ontario, \$5.25 to \$5.50; medium, \$5 to \$5.45; oatmeal, \$4.30 to \$4.40; cornmeal, \$2.10; middlings, \$18 to \$20; bran, \$16 to \$17; oats, 40 to 45c.; hand-picked beans, \$1.00 to \$1.10; prime, 90c. to 95c.; yellow eye beans, \$1.75; split peas, \$3.80 to \$3.90; round, \$3.25 to \$3.40; pot barley, \$3.50 to \$3.75; hay, \$8.75 to \$9.00; timothy seed, American, \$1.75 to \$2.15; do., Canadian, \$2 to \$2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to $7\frac{1}{2}$ c.; alsike, $7\frac{3}{4}$ to $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.

Mr. F. W. Porter, chief accountant for A. F. Randolph & Sons, Fredericton, is on his way to England.

Among the salmon received by James Patterson this week were two handsome fish, one weighing 29 and the other 31 lb.

C. & E. Macmichael, who this week received a shipment of Maconochie's pickles, in lever top bottles, at once duplicated their order.

Harry Gilbert and Walter Gilbert have opened a general grocery and provision business, under the style of Gilbert Bros., near Rothesay.

It is something new, and a great pleasure to note, the report from Newfoundland that the fishery outlook is bright. We sincerely trust it will continue so.

Some St. John firms are to reap some benefit from the tea duty in the United States, one house at least, Merritt Bros. & Co., having shipped a quantity across the line just in time.

While the export of canned lobster from Halifax, so far this season, is rather ahead of the last, being 40,800 cases, as compared with 33,470, the total pack, it is expected, will fall quite short.

Mr. E. F. Chamberlain, eastern representative for J. K. Armsby Co., Chicago, was in the city this week, and, with the local broker, J. Hunter White, called on the wholesale trade. He was well pleased with results.

The flour mill at New Glasgow, spoken of in our report some few weeks ago as doing a most successful business, this week received 10,000 bush. wheat and 7,000 bush. corn. This grain came direct from the great lakes, by water, not being reshipped.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, June 25, 1898.

WINNIPEG and Manitoba, generally, have been enjoying a three days continuous rain. The showers have been coquetting with Manitoba since the first of the month, but last week got down to business and the farmer who now says he wants more rain is hard to please.

Business is good, but retailers will look for a slight decline during July and August, as very many families are out of town at one summer resort or another.

The produce market has varied a good deal during the week, and in some lines is rather weak.

CEREALS—This market is rather peculiar. Rolled oats have dropped fully 5c. per sack, but granulated oatmeal is unchanged. The only reason that can be found for this is the fact that comparatively little oatmeal is now used, rolled oats almost entirely taking its place.

CANNED GOODS—New strawberries are offering freely and can be sold here at $3.20 per case. New peas are also offering this week and will be sold here from $1.75 to $2. New tomatoes can now be contracted for fall delivery so as to sell at $2.25 per case. Corn has not yet opened up, but it is expected that canners will soon offer futures on this pack at fairly reasonable figures, as everything points to a good yield in all lines of vegetables. As far as canned fruits are concerned, it is too early to predict prices.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Remain just where they were, with the single exception of apples (dried), which are offering very freely and with symptoms of decline in price, 5 to $5\frac{1}{4}$ c. being quoted. Evaporated apples are still 10 to $10\frac{1}{2}$ c. New apricots are expected very shortly, but what the price will be is not yet known.

CURED MEATS—This market is steady with good demand. Last week's prices remain without change. Dry salt extra short clear, $8\frac{3}{4}$ c.; dry clear smoked, $9\frac{1}{4}$ c.; dry salt long clear, $9\frac{1}{2}$ c.; hams, $11\frac{1}{2}$ to 12c., according to average; breakfast bacon, backs and bellies, $11\frac{1}{2}$ to 12c.

LARD—Cannot give a market on this product. Three houses quote it 5c. advance, and two a decline of 5c.

SUGARS—Strange to say, these have fallen 1-16c., a very unusual thing at this season. It is thought the decline is only temporary.

SYRUPS—Are normal, at $2\frac{3}{4}$ to 3c. Corn syrup, from Cardinal, Ont., is offering on this market for the first time for some years.

CHOCOLATE AND CHICORY—These will be affected to some extent by the tariff change from July 1 to Aug. 1, but it is not expected that the price will be materially altered, as the change is for so short a time.

FISH—Salt fish is practically at a standstill. The season is too far advanced for sales of any importance to be effected.

COFFEE—Market steady, but without impetus. Rios, No. 5, 10 to $10\frac{1}{2}$ c.

HONEY—Market is between seasons, and it depends on the efforts of the busy bee what it will be like for the fall. At present, pure white clover honey, strained, is worth $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. in 60-lb. tins, and white clover honey, in 12 sections, 15c.

NUTS—Valencia almonds, 28c.; Tarra-gona do, 11c.; fancy Jordon shelled, 45c.; Sicily filberts, $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c.; Brazil nuts, 12c.; Texan peccans (large), 11 to $12\frac{1}{2}$ c.

SPICES—Demand is steady, with little or no change in market from prices quoted in "Prices Current." Nearly all the spices used in Manitoba are brought in via Vancouver and ground in Winnipeg.

BUTTER—Creamery is inclined to be quiet, and factorymen show a disposition to hold for higher figures. Jobbers quote 16c. f.o.b. factory. The butter market is rather mixed. Country storekeepers are giving such a high price for dairy butter, when taken out in trade, that creamery men are dissatisfied with the prices offered by jobbers. The market is so full, owing to the sudden rush of June butter, that there seems no outlet east or west for the immediate present. One of the largest houses in the city has not bought a pound during the past week. Winnipeg jobbers quote dairy butter 13c. Winnipeg, less freight and commission, while country storekeepers are paying 14 to $15\frac{1}{2}$ c. in trade.

CHEESE—Receipts for the week are lighter, as factories are now holding until better cured, and also with a hope of higher prices. The ruling figures now are $6\frac{3}{4}$ to 7c.

EGGS—High prices continue for this product, and the supply is still short. We quote 11 to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c. Winnipeg.

GREEN FRUIT—This market is considerably demoralized with the heat of the early part of the week. Bananas softened, and little good shipping stock is now in the city. Price is unchanged: $2 to $2.50. Strawberries are just about out of market; a few have come in from British Columbia, but they are not in good shape, and dealers seem shy of them. Lemons are going up, the advance being very sharp indeed: $5 to $5.50, with very likely a further advance of $1 before this in print. Oranges range from $3.25 to $4.50; varieties offered are all California fruit, viz., St. Michaels, Mediterranean sweets and late Valencias. Southern tomatoes are again short on this market, but a supply is looked for on Wednesday, which will sell at $1.50 per 4-basket crate. Cherries, $1.50 to $1.75; apricots, $2 to $2.25; plums, $2.25; peaches, $1.50 to $1.75; watermelons, $9 per dozen; new cabbages, $3 per cwt.; cucumbers, 90c. per dozen. Small lots of raspberries and cauliflower have been received by some of the large retail dealers.

THE SHIPMENTS OF MOLASSES.

REFERENCE has been made before to the strong statistical position of Barbadoes molasses. Figures that recently came under our notice strongly emphasize this fact. The shipments from Barbadoes to Montreal and Quebec up to May 1, 1897, were 10,500 puncheons; from Porto Rico, 1,000 and from Antigua 1,000, which make a total of 12,500 puncheons, and this went all to the trade, as refiners did not commence to operate until later on in the season, when prices started to decline. This season, the total shipments from Barbadoes, up to May 28, were 9,000 puncheons, out of which refiners have taken 5,000 puncheons, leaving only 4,000 puncheons to go to the trade in Montreal and Quebec. The shipments show an actual decrease of 3,500 puncheons, and the shortage to the trade 8,500, as compared with last season's figures, and the stock of old on spot very small. Mail advices from Barbadoes, under date of June 10, say: The market can be quoted at about 21c. c.o.f. landed gauge, with exchange at $4.80, but the crop is now fast drawing to a close, and there are not more than about 2,000 puncheons now available for sale. The crop has fallen considerably short of all expectations, which is chiefly due to the continued dry weather.

SYSTEMATICALLY ADVERTISING CANADA.

All this is no doubt quite true, and we ourselves are more than a little hopeful for the future of the eastern as well as the western parts of the Province in the production of minerals, but we suggest to the Department that not much that is really definite is known in the United Kingdom about the distribution and extent of the minerals of Eastern Ontario, and that it would make a good start in the way of attracting prospectors and capitalists if it would only go to the trouble of disseminating broadcast authentic information on the subject.

THE above is from The Bullionist, a reputable daily financial paper published in London, England. In a very good article on "Ontario as a Gold Producer," it points out that this country is unknown to English investors. This is, no doubt, quite true, and what little is known is not always of favorable nature, in view of our insolvency laws.

We have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in endeavoring to interest Europeans in Canada, upon salaried officials who simply sit in their offices and answer questions, sometimes very indifferently. Other sums have been spent on lectures which are only heard by a few people who by chance may go to them.

When Canada will do business on business principles as in ordinary business men would do, we may expect the people at Home to know something of us.

If a merchant has goods to sell he lets the world know it; that is, he advertises it. To do an extensive business he must do extensive advertising. Houses doing a large business have a regular advertising department which prepares and places advertising, and is always on the lookout for ways of letting the public know the goods they have for sale.

The Dominion of Canada requires an advertising department which shall be in charge of a man who can make a success of it, a man who will see that every item relating to Canada that may interest the people at Home is placed before them through the leading newspapers of the United Kingdom. This need not cost much more than the salary of such a man. Newspapers are always ready to insert useful information properly prepared for them.

THE TRIUMPH OF PROMPTNESS.

"Haste, post, haste! Haste for thy life!" was frequently written upon messages in the days of Henry VIII, of England, with a picture of a courier swinging from a gibbet. Post offices were unknown, and letters were carried by Government messengers subject to hanging if they delayed upon the road.

Even in the old, slow days of stage-coaches, when it took a month of dangerous traveling to accomplish the distance we can now span in a few hours, unnecessary delay was a crime. One of the greatest gains civilization has made is in measuring and utilizing time. We can do as much in an hour to-day as they could in twenty hours a hundred years ago; and, if it was a hanging affair then to lose a few minutes, what should the penalty be now for a like offence?

Cæsar's delay to read a message cost him his life when he reached the senate house.

"Delays have dangerous ends."

Colonel Rahl, the Hessian commander at Trenton, was playing cards when a messenger brought a letter stating that Washington was crossing the Delaware. He put the letter in his pocket without reading it until the game was finished, when he rallied his men only to die just before his troops were taken prisoners. Only a few minutes' delay, but he lost honor, liberty, life!

General Putnam was plowing with his son Daniel in eastern Connecticut when the news of the battle of Lexington reached him. "He loitered not," said Daniel, "but left me, the driver of his team, to unyoke it in the furrow, and not many days after, to follow him to camp." Alarming the militia and ordering them to join him, he rode all night and reached Cambridge the next morning at sunrise, still wearing the checkered shirt which he had on when plowing.

Success is the child of two very plain parents—punctuality and accuracy. There are critical moments in every successful life when, if the mind hesitates or a nerve flinches, all will be lost.

"Immediately on receiving your proclamation," wrote Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, to President Lincoln on May 3, 1861, "we took up the war, and have carried on our part of it, in the spirit in which we believe the Administration and the American people intend to act—namely, as if there were not an inch of red tape in the world." He had received a telegram for troops from Washington on Monday, April 15; at nine o'clock the next Sunday he said: "All the regiments demanded from Massachusetts are already either in Washington, or in Fortress-Monroe, or on their way to the defense of the Capitol."

"The whole period of youth," said Ruskin, "is one essentially of formation, edification, instruction. There is not an hour of it but is trembling with destinies—not a moment of which, once passed, the appointed work can ever be done again, or the neglected blow struck on the cold iron."

Napoleon laid great stress upon that "supreme moment," that "nick of time," which occurs in every battle, to take advantage of which means victory, and to lose in hesitation means disaster. He said that he beat the Austrians because they did not know the value of five minutes; and it has been said that among the trifles that conspired to defeat him at Waterloo, the loss of a few moments by himself and Grouchy on the fatal morning was the most significant. Blucher was on time, and Grouchy was late. It was enough to send Napoleon to St. Helena.—Pushing to the Front.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

June 13, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

THE BANK OF HAMILTON.

THE annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Hamilton was held on Monday, June 20, in the board-room of the head office.

There was a large attendance.

On motion, Mr. John Stuart was called to the chair, and Mr. J. Turnbull was appointed secretary.

Mr. Stuart, the president, submitted the annual report, as follows:

The directors beg to submit their annual report to the shareholders for the year ended 31st May, 1898:

The balance at credit of profit and loss account 30th May, 1897, was..... $21,029.02
The profits for the year ended 31st May, 1898, after deducting charges of management and making provision for bad and doubtful debts, are..... 160,804.37

From which have been declared:

Dividend 4 per cent., paid
1st December, 1897.... $50,000.00
Dividend 4 per cent., payable 1st June, 1898.... 50,000.00
Carried to reserve fund.... 50,000.00
Written off bank premises account..... 5,000.00

Balance of profit and loss carried forward..... $26,833.39

The report for 1897 noted the beginning of the bank's operations in the Province of Manitoba. The experience of the past year's business has encouraged the directors to sanction a policy of gradual expansion and widening of the bank's influence and connections in that country.

Manitoba and the whole Northwest appear to be entering on an era of great development, and your directors consider the future prospects so inviting as to fully warrant the participation of this bank in the beneficial results that appear to be so promising.

One of the best and most prominent positions in Winnipeg for a banking office was secured, and the building is now being prepared for occupation. Three offices in the interior of Manitoba have been opened.

In Ontario agencies have been opened at Niagara Falls, Delhi and Southampton, whilst that at Alliston has been closed.

JOHN STUART, President.

Hamilton, June 9, 1898.

Bank of Hamilton,

Hamilton, May 31, 1898.

The adoption of the report was moved by the president, seconded by Mr. A. T. Wood, M.P., and carried.

Mr. William Hendrie and Mr. Samuel Baker moved the usual vote of thanks to the directors, and Mr. F. W. Gates, seconded by Mr. F. W. Fearman, the customary acknowledgments of the shareholders to the staff.

Messrs. F. H. Lamb and George E. Gates were appointed scrutineers, and reported the reelection of Messrs. John Stuart, A. G. Ramsay, John Proctor, George Roach, A. T. Wood, M.P., A. B. Lee, and Wm. Gibson, M.P., as directors.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. John Stuart was reelected president, and Mr. A. G. Ramsay vice-president.

COLD STORAGE IN WINNIPEG.

Gordon & Ironsides, cattle dealers, etc., Winnipeg, are erecting in that city a new abattoir at a cost of $60,000, which will be completed by the middle of July. It will have a capacity for slaughtering daily 250 cattle, 500 hogs and 300 sheep.

This firm also intends erecting cold storage warehouses at Rat Portage, Fort William and Montreal, the first two to cost $60,000 each, and the latter, $10,000.

Gordon & Ironsides intend developing the dead meat industry, by this means, to the greatest possible extent. The animals will be killed at Winnipeg, and the meat will be chilled and sent in cold storage to all the eastern markets.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Supplying Coal for the Dominion Buildings," will be received at this office until Friday, 22nd July.

Specifications can be seen and form of tender obtained, on and after Friday, the 24th June, at this office, where all necessary information can be had on application.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque equal to ten per cent. of amount of the tender (10 p.c.) made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, which will be forfeited if the party decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department will not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

E. F. E. ROY.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Retail Grocers and Departmentals. On Monday afternoon, this week, I had a talk with about a dozen of the most up-to-date grocers in Toronto about departmental stores, and was immensely pleased with the result of my investigations.

During the past couple of years there has been a more or less bitter agitation on the part of the retail merchants generally against departmentals, urging that these institutions are conducting their business by unfair and even unprincipled means.

This agitation has recently quieted down considerably, the results of the movement being but slightly manifested, the principal institutions of this nature still adding to their capacities for doing business, and seemingly extending their trade in every line.

From what can be gathered, however, from grocers in every section of Toronto I am convinced that instead of the departmental concerns' business in the grocery line extending; instead of their competition being more sharply felt by the up-to-date grocer, the reverse is the case, their competition being much less severe than formerly. The reasons given for this by the various grocers interviewed were interesting, throwing much light on the causes of the severity of their competition in the past. Two years ago in Toronto there were three departmental stores, besides a large grocery in their neighborhood which pursued their methods. These methods consisted largely in reckless advertising, and making "special" sales, when some lines of goods were really sold below their value. The result of these methods was that one of the departmentals and the large grocery before referred to succumbed. They were doing business at a loss, and had to quit.

There can be no question but that a merchant who is selling goods at a loss is a disturbing element in business circles, and all his competitors are affected by his methods.

Since the demise of these business houses, the remaining departmentals seem to be doing business in a steadier, straighter way.

In the retail grocer's methods there has been a remarkable improvement during the last three years. At the beginning of these years a large proportion of the family trade of dealers in Toronto was a credit business. A fair illustration of the improvement in his regard is noted in the case of Clancy Bros., Harbord and Major streets, who are doing 35 per cent. less credit business, and their cash business has increased to such an extent that the total amount of business they now do is fully 25 per cent. larger than the total amount they did three years ago.

This change from a credit to a cash business has put these merchants on the same footing as the departmentals, and they now find themselves able to retail their goods at an average price equal to, and in some cases below that of the departmentals.

The smaller stores, too, are brighter and more attractive, and in every respect there has been an improvement in business methods during the past five years.

Now, as many of the retail grocers are in a position to sell at as close a margin as the departmentals, they are bound to win back as many customers as they lost through these institutions, and more, for many of their former rivals have not kept up in the march of progress, and are still losing customers.

The merchant who is a grocer, and a grocer only has advantage over a dealer in saws and silk as well as sugar, for he can in many little ways oblige his customers where the "rules of the store" would make such an impossibility in the large concern. For instance, while I was in a shrewd, up-to-date grocer's store on King street near the market, an order came over the 'phone for a pair of spring chickens. There were none in the store, and it was a question whether any could be got or not. The message was sent back, however, that they would be got if possible, and a man was sent out to hunt some up. The proprietor of the store turned to me, and said: "Now, you see, either of the departmentals would have to just 'phone back they had no chickens. This is a little thing, but I tell you it is the little things that keep customers."

All the facts having been taken into consideration, it becomes a grocer not to be pessimistic about the harm that is going to be wrought by departmental stores. The fact is established that an up-to-date grocer doing business on a cash basis can do business on as low a margin as these institutions, and in small matters can without loss oblige a customer in a way they cannot.

Abraham Lincoln is credited with saying: "You can fool some of the people all the time, all of the people some of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time." The truth of this is unquestioned, and the public have learned that in the grocery line the departmentals cannot sell cheaper than the up-to-date grocer in their own neighborhood.

But the grocer who does business in the methods of five years ago—large margins and long credits—is still wondering and will continue to wonder, how his rivals can do business at such a low margin of profit.

THE RAMBLER.

DEATH OF MR. W. W. LOCKERBY.

MR. W. W. LOCKERBY, senior member of the firm of Lockerby Bros., wholesale grocers, died at twenty minutes to twelve on Monday night, at the age of 63 years. Mr. Lockerby underwent an operation for a goitre in the neck in February last, and appeared to have gained renewed health, until about eight weeks ago, when he was troubled with several slight hemorrhages. Upon the advice of Dr. Shepherd, he then gave up active business, and has since been resting quietly at home, gradually sinking towards the end. Deceased was highly regarded by all his confreres in the trade and by all who knew him. He was kind-hearted and unassuming, devoted to business, home life, and his church—the American Presbyterian—of which latter he was a very active member.

The late Mr. Lockerby was born at Lacolle, and later moved to Ormstown with his parents. His first experience of business life was at Chateaugay, New York. In 1857 he and Mr. D. L. Lockerby entered into a partnership with Messrs. Weed & Coonley, the title of the firm being Weed, Coonley & Co. In 1858 Mr. D. L. Lockerby sold out and deceased remained with Mr. Coonley until 1863, when he commenced to travel for Squires, Sherry & Galusha, wholesale grocers, Troy, New York. Here he remained for two years, afterwards working for Birchard, Torrey & Co., of Boston, remaining with them for five or six years. He then became a partner in the firm of Dudley, Hall & Co., wholesale teas, who bought out his previous employers. Owing to ill-health, Mr. Lockerby left Boston for New York, and engaged with Francis H. Leggat as tea buyer and tester for two years. He came to Montreal in 1882, and joined the firm of Kirk, Lockerby & Co., which afterwards became the firm of Lockerby Bros. This firm is now composed of A. L. and D. L. Lockerby. Deceased leaves a wife, the daughter of the late Dr. Childs, of Malone, N.Y.; a daughter, a married sister and two unmarried; and, besides his two brother partners, a brother, Robert, now living at Sudbury; John C., at Morden, Manitoba, and George, at Boston.

The remains were interred at Malone, N.Y., on Wednesday.

The anti-trading stamp bill, which was passed by the New Jersey State Legislature, was vetoed by Governor Voorhees. His grounds for so doing were that the bill was unconstitutional.

W. Northrop, fruit cleaner, etc., received this week his new power raisin seeder. This machine is capable of seeding two tons of raisins per day, and is guaranteed to remove one hundred per cent. of the seeds in raisins going through it.

FREE FRUIT MARKET.

THERE is much rejoicing among the commission fruit dealers in Toronto this week. During the last fruit season and during the early part of this season, these dealers and the different railway and express companies have been unable to agree about the charges for the use of the railway company's building at Scott and Esplanade streets. The fruitmen have been paying a market fee on all fruit coming in by freight or boat, and the express companies have endeavored to charge them a similar fee on goods coming by express. This, the fruitmen refused to pay.

The matter came to a head last week when the fruit men were told they would henceforth have to pay this charge on fruit brought by express.

The fruit dealers straightway moved their stands from the express companies' sheds to the market on Yonge street wharf, and arrangements were being rapidly made to have the fruit from Oakville, St. Catharines, Grimsby and other points brought by boat.

This prompt action had the desired effect. The express companies expressed their willingness to allow free use of the market for fruit brought by express. The fruitmen, however, having moved, decided they would not return unless all market charges, whether goods were brought by express, freight or boat, were removed.

This was at last agreed to, and now the fruit dealers have a free fruit market. The dealers interested were: The Dawson Commission Co.; Limited, Clemes Bros., McWilliam & Everist, Vance & Co., W. H. Smith, J. Cleghorn & Son, H. F. Naisbitt & Co., White & Co., Chas. Kimpton, S. K. Moyer, Husband, Bros. & Co., Kirby, Gee & Co., R. McBride.

TEA AND THE U.S. DUTY.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, head of the "Salada" Tea Company, has just returned from a visit to the "Salada" branches in Buffalo and Boston. He also visited New York. He says the tea business, up to date, has not at all been injured by the imposition of a duty, and that in a wholesale way more tea has been moving in the last few weeks than there ever was before. Retailers also say that the duty has not crippled the sale of tea.

Being asked whether it will favorably effect Ceylon and India teas, he said, that he has every reason to believe that it will effect them favorably. People will be chary about importing low grade, trashy teas on which the duty will be about as much as the original cost. Anyway, he is most enthusiastic about the progress that has been made during the past few months in Ceylon and India teas. He says that on all hands it is admitted by retailers, wholesalers and brokers that these teas are growing rapidly in favor, and that they are fast killing off Japan and China kinds. In the New England States this is particularly the case. A hundred chests are sold to-day where only ten could be sold last year. "Salada" tea, especially, is doing well in and around Boston. Hundred of grocers are carrying it in stock, just as is done in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Halifax and elsewhere.

SALES AT CHEESE BOARDS.

The following offerings and sales were made at the various cheese boards during the week:

Perth, June 24—1,820 boxes of white cheese offered; all sold, 8c. being the ruling price.

Shelburne, June 24—1,325 boxes offered; 280 sold at 7½c., balance unsold. One hundred boxes butter offered but unsold, 16c. being bid.

Kemptville, June 24—1,148 boxes offered, nearly all sold at 8c.

Iroquois, June 24—873 boxes offered; sold at 7½c.

Brighton, June 24—1,105 boxes of white and 212 colored were offered; only 60 boxes sold, 7½c. being the price.

South Finch, June 24 — 1,243 offered; 258 sold at 8c.

Cornwall, June 25 — 1,042 boxes Canadian and 143 American offered; all Canadian sold at 8 1-16c. and the American at 7½c.

Cowansville, June 25 — 3,241 boxes offered; 1,950 boxes sold at 7¼ to 7½c.

London, June 25 — 4,480 boxes offered; 2,333 boxes were sold at 7½ to 7¾c.

Lindsay, June 27 — 2,080 boxes offered; 1,284 sold at 7½c.

GEM JARS DEARER.

A little excitement is being caused in Toronto this week by an advance of $1 per dozen in the price of fruit gem jars.

THE HEAVINESS IN RAW SUGAR.

IT IS the highly unsettled condition of the raw beet market that is largely responsible for the heavy feeling in sugar. The decline in the price of beet has been quite sharp lately. For instance, on June 9, the top figure quoted was, 9s, 9¾d., whereas it is 4½d. lower to-day at, 9s, 6¼d. Java cane has also declined from 12s, 9d. to 12s, 3d., a loss of 6d.

Advices from Great Britain state that the easiness in the raw market is due very largely to the lack of demand from North American refineries, neither the United States nor Canadian being operators to any extent in the raw market lately.

The Sugar Trust a short time ago was expected to be an active buyer, but so far it has entirely disappointed expectations.

In New York also raw sugar has declined 1-16 to ¼c., and the market at present is at a standstill with 96 test centrifugals quoted at 4¼c. This is caused by the discovery of the fact that the refiners there have large stocks on hand at present, and until they are reduced, they are not in the market for raws.

The possibility of the annexation of Hawaii, in which case the Pacific Coast and Western States sugar trade would be interfered with, is making the eastern refiners cautious.

Sales of refined sugar, by the Trust, during the past month, have been disappointing, and the same is the case in Montreal, where the refiners complain of the dullness of trade.

A HURRIED SHIPMENT.

It is nearly always well to try to do a thing, even if you are in doubt as to whether or not you can do it. On Tuesday, shortly before noon, MacLaren & Co., Toronto, manufacturers of "Imperial" cheese, received a cable order from Leith, Scotland, for a quantity of the firm's product. It was ascertained that unless the shipment was on board the cars by five o'clock that evening it would not catch a steamer until July 6.

On account of the demand for "Imperial," there were no stocks on hand ready for shipment, and Mr. Henry Wright said that it would be impossible to have the goods ready for the first steamer. He, however, determined to try. And not only was the staff in the factory put to work with a full head of steam on, but such of the office staff as could be utilized were pressed into service. Result—the train was caught, and by July 6, when the next steamer sails, the goods will be near their destination.

P. E. I. CREAMERIES.

T. J. Dillon, one of the pioneers of the dairy industry in Prince Edward Island, states that the output of creameries in that Province will far exceed that of previous years. On Monday, June 20, four creameries received 71,800 lb. of milk.

The newly established factories are meeting with unqualified success. It is estimated that the Crapaud creamery will manufacture at least $30,000 worth of butter.

The following are the factories in opera:

CHANGE IN CURE OF CODFISH.

NOVA SCOTIA fish merchants and those largely interested in the Bank fisheries are, according to The Fishing Gazette, agitating the adoption of an improved system of curing cod. The advisability of making a change has become rather prominently a serious matter in view of the probable change in the political status of Porto Rico, the chief market for years for the soft grades of Nova Scotia and bank fish. These soft grades of fish constitute five-sixths of the fish exports of the Province. Owing to the method of cure it is very soft and salt, in striking contrast to the cod caught and cured on the shores of Nova Scotia, or which is cured in a manner different from the Nova Scotian bankers. The method pursued is to make two trips to the Newfoundland banks every season. As large a catch as possible is taken, and it is cured in the hold, a large quantity of salt being used. The length of time the fish must be kept in this condition is so much more protracted than when frequent visits to the shore are made, and the fish discharged and dried at once, that this greatly increased quantity of salt becomes necessary. The heavy salting changes the character of the cod, so that it cannot become as hard or firm as it otherwise would. The salt, with which the fish thus kept for a long period in the hold of the vessel becomes saturated, prevents the full hardening of the cod. While this soft quality of fish may find a good market in Porto Rico or Hayti it cannot profitably be introduced elsewhere.

The hard shore cod, on the other hand, is caught at points where it can be landed from the vessels more frequently for curing, and the extreme salting is therefore not necessary. The fish are dried very soon after being caught. The absence of the excessive salt allows the fish to become hard. Such fish finds a much more general market, and realizes a better price. To effect the required change in the method of curing it is proposed that vessel owners join together and form a company for the season on the banks. One of the vessels, smaller than the others, should be manned by a curing crew. A store and fishing stands could be rented on the Newfoundland shore, where there are many such available. The curing crew would live aboard their vessel, which should be anchored in a convenient and safe place. Once a week the fishing vessels, parties to the agreement, should land their catches where it would be taken and cured by the curing crew. The fish thus made would be of a quality suited to the best markets. This idea may furnish one answer to the question, should Porto Rico be lost to the Nova Scotia fishermen.

You sell a good article—the buyer is satisfied. Then, most likely, you've made a permanent customer of him.

But, if you sell a poor article—no matter what price—it gives no satisfaction and you lose a good customer.

Now, what is the use of running such a risk? Have you more customers than you want? Better look into your different lines and see if you are carrying the best. What brand of Corn Starch are you handling? If it's not "Benson's Canada" it would be well to make a change. Do so now before it's too late. THE PRESS CLIPPING DEPARTMENT

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

TALK THAT TALKS.

EVERYBODY who knows the grocery trade of St. John, knows that W. A. Magee has one of the handsomest retail grocery establishments in the city, and that his trade is of a character that will not tolerate poor goods. Here is a word from Mr. Magee:

St. JOHN, April 6th 189

We carry 28 lines of Biscuits manufactured by the Queen Biscuit Co. and the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT is the quickest seller of them all. All their goods give excellent satisfaction to our customers. The sales of the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT have greatly increased with us. We think most highly of them.

W. A. MAGEE.

Mr. Magee believes in patronizing lower province industries if they produce good goods. So do you all. Give us a chance to prove our claim that BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT, of which we are the sole manufacturers in Canada, possesses the same unsurpassed qualities that have sent the annual production in the United States up to 30,000,000 lbs.

We have given you just one testimonial. We could fill pages with them, from pleased customers as well as from merchants.

Remember—A delicious Lunch Biscuit at a popular price. Only the best materials go into our goods.

It Costs
No More.

The word "best" is misunderstood in Salt. Scientific methods of the day prove that the Vacuum Process, and that process only, makes a uniform, pure, sparkling Salt Crystal. We have the only plant in Canada for supplying Salt made by the Vacuum Process. Thus, Windsor Salt is doubly refined, cleansed, purified, dried. "As pure as Windsor Salt" is the trade phrase from which the quality of all other salts is judged. "Best because purest."

is a penny earned"—that's the way we grow rich. All women understand this, and when they lose a "baking" because of a weak, inferior flavoring extract, they don't forget the grocer that recommended them to buy it.

You can rely on the pure, rich, strong flavor of Greig's Crown Brand every single time. The 40 different fruit, flower, and spice flavors are absolutely "true to nature."

You save a woman many pennies with is a pound foolish"—sometimes. Better lose a penny or two of your profits than to lose a customer. When you're trying to stimulate a man's appetite it doesn't pay to irritate his temper.

Some Sauces that give zest to appetite yield a relish that satisfies only with a liberal use of the sauce. A small amount of Lorimer's Worcestershire Sauce gives satisfaction because of its "body" and strength and flavor, which is peculiar to itself.

Added profits from cheaper sauces mean "a penny wise and a pound foolish."

HOW PEPPER IS ADULTERATED.

BLACK pepper of the market is the dried immature fruit of piper nigrum, one of the piperaceae family. The family includes four plants of great utility to mankind.

Piper nigrum, black and white pepper; piper longum, long pepper; piper cubeba, cubeb berries; artante elongata, matico. Capsicum, or so-called red pepper, is not a true pepper, but a solanaceae, or one of the same family as the potato, tomato, etc.

Piper nigrum furnishes the black and white pepper; both are obtained from the same plant. Black ground pepper is the entire berry reduced to powder, while the white consists of the same berry decorticated or deprived of its outer and black husk or covering.

The pepperworts are a well-defined natural order, confined to the hottest part of the world and delighting in low places, valleys and the banks of rivers. Although neither the number of its genera nor of its species is great, yet the whole order is remarkable for its variety of active and useful plants. The aromatic black and long peppers, the astringent matico, the cubeb, useful in the treatment of inflamed mucous membranes, and the artante eucalyptifolia used in Brazil for colic.

Black pepper itself is a climbing plant attaining the height of from eight to twelve feet. The berries or drupes are at first green, then red, and if left still longer un-gathered, turn to a black; but before this latter change takes place the berries are gathered by hand and dried in the sun, the result being an entire change of appearance; instead of a red, smooth berry, we have black or reddish-black pepper corn, with cortex contracted and shriveled in such a manner as to form a veined network.

The plant is cultivated in various portions of the equatorial regions of the earth, the zone of cultivation being confined to the isotherms of 82 deg. F. It would not, however, be strictly correct to say that this high mean annual temperature is essential or necessary, for the fact is that it is produced principally in the cooler valleys where the mean annual temperature does not, perhaps, exceed 70 deg. F.

The black pepper imported into this country principally comes from the islands of Malacca, Java, Borneo, and Sumatra. The commercial varieties are at least five, viz., Malabar, Penang, Sumatra, Trang and Tellicherry, names indicating the localities from whence they are derived. The differences which these different varieties of pepper present to the eye are evident enough when the several samples are at hand for comparison, but it takes a very practical observer to identify a solitary sample; and if samples of each of the kinds named were mixed together, it is doubtful whether an adept even could separate the berries again, identifying each sort with any correctness.

The merchant, indeed, relies more upon the weight than the appearance; he takes a sample of pepper-corn, and, by long practice, can tell in a moment whether it is a light or a heavy sample.

Chevallier, the French chemist, determined the weight of what is technically called heavy, half-heavy and light pepper; a litre of the first weighed 530 grammes; of the second, 512 grammes; of the third, 470 grammes. That there is considerable difference in weight in the different berries is certain, for Blyth carefully weighed 100 berries of each kind, giving a classification for the different kinds or brands according to the weight, and, of course, the value, as follows: Penang, Malabar, Sumatra, Trang and Tellicherry.

If the quality is to be judged of by weight, Penang and Malabar may be bracketed together as standing first, Sumatra holding the second, and Trang and Tellicherry bracketed together as third.

The whole of the ground peppers of commerce are mixtures of different kinds of peppers. There is probably no such thing to be found in the retail market as a pure ground Malabar, or a pure ground Penang. The principal varieties mixed for household purposes and retailed are Malabar, Penang and Sumatra. The first of these is the dearest; the usual mixture is:

Thirty-three per cent. Malabar to give weight; 33 per cent. Penang to give strength; 33 per cent. Sumatra to give color.

The pepper thus mixed is either ground by the aid of large mill stones or in an apparatus perfectly analogous to a coffee mill. The latter mode is far preferable, as the friction of the stones develop considerable heat and dissipates some of the aromatic principles.

Pepper thus damaged by the heat of the mechanical operations is technically known as "burnt."

In the case of white pepper, the ripe fruit of the same plant is soaked in water and then most of the dark pericarp is rubbed off. All the structures belonging to the pericarp are not detached, the skin separating at the vascular zone. The microscopic structure of white pepper is therefore the same as that of black, minus the portions removed.

Pepper has been adulterated for at least two centuries and a half. Pierre Pomet, in his general "History of Drugs," published in 1614, mentions pepper as "being generally adulterated with ground rice and the black with the dust of a crust of bread."

Among the adulterations enumerated by different analysts are linseed meal, rice, pepper leaves, mustard, wheat flour, sago, woody fibre, chillies, rape seed, Guinea pepper, chicory, rye, laurel leaves, stones from olives, bone dust, etc.

However various may be the adulterations, in Paris alone, relates Chevallier, he was acquainted with a factory producing from 1,200 to 1,500 kilograms annually of a mixture sold solely for the purpose of adulterating pepper. The more commonly known of the adulterations in use in this country are marked solely under the trade names or letters P. D., H. P. D., and W. P. D., abbreviations for "pepper dust," "hot pepper dust," and "white pepper dust." The first, or P. D., used to be principally composed of faded leaves, but linseed meal is now preferred. H. P. D., chiefly the husk of mustard, and W. P. D. is ground rice.

Sometimes light-weight peppers are macerated in salt brine, to impregnate with salt and give more weight. Of course, in analysis, this sophistication is easily detected.

Sand, which should never exceed 7 per cent., is a frequent adulterant. The more important constituents of pepper are an alkaloid piperine, a volatile oil and the resin, and upon these ingredients its value as a condiment depends.

The retail dealer and the manufacturer, and, I might say, the purchaser, are jointly responsible for the adulteration; the former, by encouraging the sale and manufacture of cheap and impure food adjuncts, and the latter, in trying to get spices at a price less than will warrant the sale of pure articles.

The upright trader is placed in a most trying and unfair position in consequence of adulteration. He is exposed to the most ruinous and unscrupulous competition; too often he is undersold, and his business thus taken away from him. In advocating the suppression of adulteration, we are, therefore, advocating the rights and interests of all honorable traders.—Grocery World.

HE TALKED OF FRUIT, FISH AND HONEY.

ON Saturday last I had a brief chat with Mr. D. S. Austin, of Wooler, Northumberland Co., Ontario. Trade and matters appertaining thereto were naturally the subject matter of our conversation. When I interrogated him in regard to the fruit crop, which is one of the staple industries of that part of the country, he said:

"Strawberries! I never saw the like of before. The crop is enormous. To give you some idea: In one day a farmer near us picked 10,000 boxes of strawberries. And he did not go over the whole of his patch either. He calculated to me that if he had been able to do so he would have gathered three thousand boxes more. It is about six or eight years since the cultivation of strawberries began in our part of the country"

"What about the apple crop?"

"It is good. It is not, perhaps, altogether what might be called enormous, but it promises to be as good as it was two years ago. All kinds of small fruits, such as cherries, berries, currants, etc., are a good crop this year.

Mr. Austin informed me that the honey industry in Northumberland county is growing rapidly. "The output this year," he explained, "will exceed that of all others. There is hardly a farmer who has not at least ten to fifteen colonies of bees. And not only is the quantity large, but the quality is, I think, the finest I ever saw. You can see through it. There is so much clover this year; the country is covered with it. The section and cap manufacturer in Wooler cannot fill orders. Oh, I think we will see better times," added Mr. Austin. "At any rate, everything looks that way now."

He also referred to the stock-raising industry, and stated that practically every farmer was enlarging his business in this line.

From fruit, Mr. Austin began to talk about fish, not in a commercial sense, but in a recreative sense. Last week, he spent a few days' trout fishing, north of Hastings. "And they are trout," he enthusiastically explained. "Speckled beauties of from two to four pounds each!" This is Mr. Austin's second year as a fisher of trout, and he has all the enthusiasm of a young convert, while upon his face he bears the trout fisher's bronze.

MONTREAL GROCERS' PICNIC.

A special session of the Retail Grocers' Association, of Montreal, was held in the Monument National Hall on June 29. President John Scanlan, who presided, explained that the meeting had been called to receive the donations from friends of the association, which the picnic committee had collected.

Mr. Willison, president of the games committee, reported that a lacrosse match between the National and Cornwall teams had been arranged. Mr. Dionne reported that the music and dancing committee had secured the services of Ratto's orchestra. Satisfactory reports were received from the other committees, and the meeting adjourned.

OUTPUT OF CEYLON TEA.

The output of tea from the Island of Ceylon at present amounts, roughly speaking, to about 100,000,000 pounds per annum. Mr. P. C. Larkin, in conversation, stated that the output of "Salada" Ceylon tea amounts to nearly 1½ per cent., or one chest of tea out of every 75 that is grown on the Island. This is certainly a most extraordinary quantity of tea for any Canadian firm to handle, when one thinks of the tremendous demand in England for this tea. As Mr. Larkin explained, of course, this includes the sale of "Salada" in their American, as well as their Canadian branches.

Hello Hamilton!

Lucas, Steele & Bristol, please. Hello! that Mr. Healy? Yes, thank you, trade is fairly good. Say, those Muscatel raisins are O.K., and that "Uriba" Japan is a trade getter. How's sugar to-day? So no change, eh? Well, send me a car of half Klondike and half granulated, and ten half-chests "Uriba" Japan; can't do business without that, you know. Five cases "Empire" Salmon; it's a good one. Two sacks McDuff Japan Rice. What's that? $\frac{1}{2}$ cent higher? Well, all right; send it on; must have it. That's all now. Will save balance order for friend TOBY. G'bye.

CONCENTRATION OF EFFORT.

RUFUS CHOATE advised young lawyers to "carry the jury at all hazards; move heaven and earth to carry the jury, and then fight it out with the judges on the law questions as best you can."

William Wirt wrote of a former Chief Justice of the United States: "There is John Marshall, whose mind seems to be little less than a mountain of barren and stupendous rocks—an inexhaustible quarry from which he draws his materials and builds his fabrics, rude and Gothic, but of such strength that neither time nor force can beat them down; a fellow who would not turn off a single step from the right line of his argument though a paradise should rise to tempt him."

"Never study on speculation," says Waters; "all such study is vain. Form a plan; have an object; then work for it; learn all you can about it, and you will be sure to succeed. What I mean by studying on speculation is that aimless learning of things because they may be useful some day; which is like the conduct of the woman who bought at auction a brass doorplate with the name of Thompson on it, thinking it might be useful some day!"

Definiteness of aim is characteristic of all true art. He is not the greatest painter who crowds the greatest number of ideas upon a single canvas, giving all the figures equal prominence. He is the genuine artist who makes the greatest variety express the greatest unity, who develops the leading idea in the central figure, and makes all the subordinate figures, lights, and shades point to that centre and find expression there. So in every well-balanced life, no matter how versatile in endowments, or how broad in culture, there is one grand central purpose, in which all the subordinate powers of the soul are brought to a focus, and where they will find fit expression. In nature we see no waste of energy, nothing left to chance. Since the shuttle of creation shot for the first time through chaos, design has marked the course of every golden thread. Every leaf, every flower, every crystal, every atom, even, has a purpose stamped upon it which unmistakably points to the crowning summit of all creation—man.

Young men are often told to aim high; but we must aim at what we would hit. He who cannot see an angle in the rough marble can never call it out with mallet and chisel. No, a general purpose is not enough. The arrow shot from the bow does not wander around to see what it can hit on its way, but flies straight to its mark. The magnetic needle does not point to all the lights in the heavens to see which it likes best. They all attract it. The sun dazzles, the meteor beckons, the stars twinkle to it, and try to win its affections; but the needle, true to its instinct, and with a finger that never errs in sunshine or in storm, points steadily to the north star; for, while all the other stars must course with untiring tread around their great centres through all the ages, the north star alone, distant beyond human comprehension, moves with stately sweep on its circuit of more than 25,000 years, for all practical purposes of man, stationary, not only for a day, but for a century. So all along the path of life other luminaries will beckon to lead us from our cherished aim—from the course of truth and duty; but let no moons which shine with borrowed light, no meteors which dazzle but never guide, turn the needle of our purpose from the north star of its hope.—Pushing to the Front.

ROOT BEER EXTRACT.

The so-called root beer extract is prepared by various formulas. The following, from the Druggists' Circular, is a typical one:

Sassafras bark.....	1 ounce.
Pimento.....	1 ounce.
Wintergreen	1 ounce.
Hops	¼ ounce
Coriander seed	½ ounce.

Diluted alcohol, a sufficient quantity.

Percolate until 10 ounces of tincture are obtained.

The extract is added to carbonated water when drawn, in the proportion of half a teaspoonful or more to one glass. If more "body" is required, the extract is to be mixed previously with a little syrup.

CHARACTER IN THE THUMB.

"IF you will allow me the Hibernicism," said a young lady of observation, "I would like you to note for me that the true index finger is the thumb. I do not mean that from the length of its phalanges you can find out whether there is a blonde divinity or a brunette fate awaiting you, or that from its spatulated or oval nail I can tell whether you like pictures or horse races—all that sort of digital conjuring I leave to the palm mysticists. But, what I do mean is, that the thumb is a remarkable indicator of its owner's bodily and mental condition.

"The new-born babe holds its thumbs in the palms of its hands, clenched in its little fists, and it is only when the mind and body both expand that it takes its thumbs out and holds them up as independent organs. What deep connection there may be between this fact and our simian ancestry I cannot say. Let mothers watch their children's thumbs, and, if they stick out boldly, it is an unfailing indication of good health and aggressive disposition, while, if they have a tendency to seek the shelter of the fingers, it means feeble health and subservient will.

"Just notice the thumbs of your friends, now, and you will see the same relations between their posture and the man's constitution of mind and body. The weak man's thumb is weak and pendent, and strong man's thumb is strong and erect. The parallelism is so marked that you can tell from a glance at a man's thumbs whether he is an aimless thinker or a man who carries his ideas or somebody else's into action.

"It may be treachery to my sex, but I don't mind telling you that it will be a good thing for you fellows to mark well the thumbs of the ladies of your choice. If the girl's thumb, be it ever so prettily rosy, has a tendency to stand at right angles to the hand—well, the gray mare will need a bit, that's all; while, if it lies flat or droops a little, you can count on martial submission to the master mind, and that's the sort of domestic paradise all you sons of Adam are looking for, isn't it?

"With the waning of the powers of frame and brain comes the depression, I had almost said the recession, of the thumb, and whether in senility or idiocy the thumb is always turned in. And then, when you turn your face to the wall and know no more summer's heat or winter's cold, those that stand about you and say: 'Well, poor old chap, he's gone at last,' will find that you have tucked your thumbs away in the shelter of your hands, just as you had them when you were a little baby."—The New York Sun.

THE WAR TARIFF ON TEA.

A Washington despatch says: The recently enacted war tariff places a duty of 10c. per pound on teas. In many cities there are now stored large quantities of free teas imported under the former tariff. In a number of instances importers and warehousemen have desired to bond warehouses for the storage of imported teas without being required to remove the free article now stored in such premises. The regulations of the Treasury Department forbid the use of bonded warehouses for any other purpose than the storage of imported merchandise in bond.

In view, however, of the emergency and the expense and annoyance which would be involved by the removal of the free teas, the secretary of the Treasury has consented to the bonding of warehouses, provided the free teas now stored therein are kept entirely separate from all other goods, and they be removed therefrom within six months, when the warehouses are to be rebonded. The concession applies only to teas.

The regular meeting of the Montreal Grocery Clerk's Association was called for Sunday, July 3, but owing to the small attendance it was postponed until Sunday, July 17.

GOOD AND BAD WASHBOARDS.

In washing clothes much depends upon the soap or washing compounds used, but a great deal depends upon the washboards employed. There are a great many washboards on the market which are poor in both washing and wearing properties. What is wanted are frames that will not twist or warp, that are thoroughly ventilated and made of extra heavy zinc with hardwood frames and improved tops. This desirable description of washboard is manufactured by Boeckh Bros. & Co., of Toronto, who turn out ten different sizes and designs. Every board is branded "Boeckh," and is guaranteed. The "Boeckh" is a washboard which merchants can be recommended to handle.

TRURO CONDENSED MILK.

The Truro Condensed Milk and Canning Co., Limited, whose building and works were completely destroyed by fire in May last, have got their new premises completed, and work was resumed on Saturday last. The building is L-shaped, and covers a ground space of some 13,000 feet. The main portion is two storeys high, the north-west angle, where the condenser is situated, towering to three storeys. The floor space in the building contains an area of 15,148 feet, with the addition of 3,600 feet of floor space in the boiler room. The machinery, etc., placed in position is all of the most modern make, and will have about the same capacity as that in the old building.

IT IS WELL HE FAILED.

THE financial collapse of young Mr. Leiter may be a bad thing for Mr. Leiter, but, as an object lesson, it is a good thing for the world.

Men who suddenly make millions by manipulating the markets usually lose them by the same methods they employed in making them. But, aside altogether from the question as to whether money thus made is retained or not by those who make it, the moral influence of such men as Leiter is bad.

When Mr. Leiter was in the height of his fame, when he was putting up the price of wheat, and making money faster than men could count it, there were, doubtless, thousands of young men whose ambition was to emulate him. And a great many of them are sorry young men to-day because they essayed to emulate him.

The best way, the surest way to get money is to work for it, whether it be in working for someone else or for yourself.

The value of money is commensurate with what it costs to obtain it. "Easy come, easy go," says a proverb. Leiter did not earn his money. It is only when money is earned that it is valued. The millions which Leiter possessed during the brief heyday of his fame were not worth as much to him as thousands are to many a man who has earned them by honest effort.

No, it is not the Leiters young men should emulate: It is the men who, by steady and intelligent application, by honest and persistent effort, have won success that are to be taken as examples. The one is the way of the gambler; the other is the way of the business man. The one leads to Ruin, the other to Success.

SIX MONTHS' FAILURES.

One of the things by which the financial condition of the business men of a country can be judged is the failure list.

A few days ago, Bradstreets issued a return giving the failures in Canada during the first six months of the present year, and, by the figures therein adduced, one can come to no other conclusion than that the financial condition of the business men in this country is at least improving.

The total number of failures were 813, against 1,074 during the same period of 1897. The assets were $2,646,070, against $3,009,460, and the liabilities $5,799,643, against $7,618,643.

This means a decrease of 24.3 per cent. in the number of failures, and a decrease of nearly 24 per cent. in value of liabilities, while the proportion of assets to liabilities was 45.4, compared with 39.5 in 1897.

GEM JARS AGAIN ADVANCE.

Another advance in gem jars is to be noted this week, making the second within the past fortnight.

The appreciation is one dollar per gross, which, together with that noted last week, makes a total gain of two dollars per gross.

Prices, per gross, to the retail trade are now as follows:

Wine measure: Pints, $7.25; quarts, $7.50; ½-gallons, $9.50.

Imperial measure: Pints, $7.75; quarts, $8; ½-gallons, $11.50.

In view of the large fruit crop, the demand for gem jars has, this season, been greater than usual. The factories are said to be practically cleaned out, and there are only a few holders.

TITE BARNACLES IN THE CIVIL SERVICE.

THE particular office of the Circumlocution Office, made famous by Dickens, was to know how not to know a thing. We have all been delighted by the inimitable manner in which, in "Little Dorrit," he derides it, but, while we are being thus amused, we forget that not one, but many Circumlocution Offices exist, even in Canada. They are a part of the Federal, they are a part of the Provincial governmental machinery.

Let any man, who is not acquainted with one or more of the chiefs, seek information of most of the departments of the Government and he will find this is a fact, and not a creation of the imagination.

Want to know anything and Tite Barnacles will flash fire at you, particularly if you press for the desired information. The idea of wanting to know, you know! It is preposterous!

The Circumlocution Offices in Canada, unlike that depicted by Dickens, were not created by either Federal or Provincial Governments with the object of not knowing how to do a thing, but they succeed admirably, notwithstanding, in not knowing how to do a thing.

There are some men holding positions in the civil service in Canada who are all that can with reason, be desired. They are courteous, know their business, and are prompt in supplying information when it is sought. But they are the exception and not the rule.

In the Canadian Circumlocution Offices we find among the Tite Barnacles two classes: One that is too impudent to furnish information, even if capable of doing so, and another that cannot furnish the information because he has not brains equal to the task of doing so.

The last thing in the world which the average civil service employe seems concerned about is the duties appertaining to the department in which he is employed. His first concern is himself, and his second is the party under whose auspices he got into office. He cares nothing about the interest of the people as reflected in his particular department. He probably never even thought of the matter. He is the feudal lord; the people are his vassals.

In a commercial enterprise every employe from the head of each department to the boy, must have at least some concern for the interest of his employers if he is to retain his situation. He strives to inform himself so that he may be able to intelligently give customers information as to goods and he aims to be courteous.

This is the rule in the place of merchandise; this is the exception in the place of Governmental Departments. But what belongs to the one belongs to the other. And that it does not is because in the carrying on of Government business principles seldom obtain.

Ministers are, as a rule, appointed to the charge of departments in accordance with political exigencies, not in accordance with the ethics of business, and the same rule applies to subordinates.

Supposing, for instance, that in some large business concern, from the chief of the departments down, the various positions were filled with men whose qualification was not the determining factor. There would obviously be but one result.

It is becoming more and more evident that the rules which apply to the management of a business must apply to the Government of the country. And these rules shall apply just as soon as the business men of the Dominion are sufficiently independent of party to demand their enforcement. Then, when "we want to know, you know," we shall not have to importune Tite Barnacles, and government will, at any rate, be for the people.

CULTIVATION OF STRAWBERRIES.

MM. C. J. GRENIER, of Outremont, has succeeded admirably in growing strawberries in the newest way discovered, i.e., on barrels. It has been found that the fruit grows and ripens just as well this way as on the ground, with the advantage, also, that it is quite free from dirt. Mr. Grenier took a small barrel, about the size of a nail keg; round this, at regular intervals, about six inches apart, he bored medium augur holes; through these holes he slipped the roots of the strawberry plants, wrapped in paper to prevent breaking. He then filled the barrel with good earth, and also placed several plants on the top. This was done in March. The barrel is now a mass of beautiful vines in full bearing. Some of the fruit is so heavy that it has to be supported.

This new way of growing strawberries can be adopted by many who have only a small space. The barrels need not be placed more than four feet apart, and half a dozen would supply enough fruit for a family, and afford much interest in attending to them. The only thing needed being to keep the earth moist.

The barrel in full bearing makes a novel and suitable summer decoration for shop windows, and grocers might bear this hint in mind and have ready for next season something that will attract general attention.

AN AGREEMENT ON SUGAR.

For some time the sugar business east of the Midland Railway has been a most unsatisfactory one, as far as the wholesale trade was concerned.

The particular cause of the unsatisfactory condition of affairs was the cutting of prices, sugar commonly being handled at 5c. per barrel above actual cost, which, of course, was rather a loss than a profit.

Now, however, an agreement has been arrived at whereby this cutting is to be obviated. The agreement will go into operation in a few days, when some readjustment of prices will be made. A conference was held in Montreal on Wednesday in regard to the matter.

NEW CANNED LOBSTER.

A few shipments of new pack lobster are arriving this week for Toronto wholesalers.

As previously intimated, prices are much higher than a year ago, half pound tins being 10c. per dozen dearer, and one pound tins 20c. dearer.

Wholesalers' ideas as to price to the retailer is $1.60 for half pound flats; $3 for one pound flats, and $2.50 for one 'pound talls.

Canned lobster is gradually becoming a luxury, and it is the opinion that the consumption will gradually turn to half-pound tins on account of the high price, as these sized tins will sell about the figure that one-pound tins did a few years ago.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

Brains in the Grocery Business.

It would be interesting if some of the many who have, with a great deal of enthusiasm and a flourish of trumpets, started out to make a living at the grocery business, but after a year or two of hard work have acknowledged the futility of their efforts, would kindly step to the front and give the history of their short careers. In some such cases the answer would be that they did not sell enough at profit enough to make the enterprise pay. They seemed to be doing a good business, the rate of profit they allowed themselves was as high as their neighbors asked, but somehow it did not pay. Further information would not be given, because further reasons for the failure are not understood by the party in question. Others who have not made ends meet think they thoroughly understand the influences that combined to cause the non-success of their plans.

These would tell us how their expenses added up to $2 or $3 per week more than they anticipated; how they were gradually persuaded to give credit, which took their capital away from their business, made it impossible to get the cash discount from wholesale firms, and, in other ways, made it more difficult to do business; how their neighbors cut down the price of canned goods, or sugar, or some other staple article, or gave his profit away in trading stamps, and that he followed suit to keep what trade he had; how he bought too much fruit some days and lost a good deal through either selling it at a loss or not selling it at all.

In fact, the causes which might be assigned for the failures noted from week to week are so many and varied that one interested in the business soon learns that the story told of a famous artist might be told with truth of any grocer who makes a good living out of the grocery business nowadays. The artist in question was noted for the brilliancy and the lasting qualities of the coloring of his pictures. A wondering critic asked him the question, "Pray, sir, what do you mix with your pigments?" The answer came, after a little thought, "Brains, sir."

There seems to be no limit to the extent, the capacity of brain force that can profitably be mixed with the grocery business. It is true that some such businesses do not need much. The small dealer on a side street needs but to know the size of the demand for the limited line of goods he handles. The dealer in a comparatively larger business must use comparatively more wisdom in buying, handling and selling his goods. This is true right up the line till we reach the large, up-to-date cash businesses, where the hackneyed motto "Small profits and quick returns," is truly exemplified. Here, there is no limit to the amount of thought which can be and must be bestowed on the business. The shrewdest of merchants cannot allow such a business as this to run itself a month, or even a week, without running the risk of losing a grasp of the conditions affecting it.

The markets have to be closely watched, stocks have to be kept full and well assorted, the public taste must needs be carefully watched, to be ready with a new article in favor and ready to drop any article out of favor; advertising must be kept bright and always up-to-date.

Then, there are many special ways in which a plentiful mixture of brains is advantageous. For instance, one large dealer on King street, has for years made a study of the conditions affecting not only the sale and handling of, but also the manufacturing of butter. The result is this firm receives the whole output of a large number of dairies in the neighborhood of the city, and is sure of a constant supply of first-class butter, as the proprietors can tell from the taste, smell and appearance of inferior goods, the trouble causing the butter not to be up to the standard, and are in a position to tell the maker what to do to avoid further trouble of a similar nature. It has taken this firm fully 20 years to get the grasp it now has of the manufacture and handling of butter. The result is that this firm has a remarkably large and satisfactory butter trade.

A study similar to this can be made of the conditions affecting fruit, vegetables, eggs, or in fact any article which is not proprietary. Any man can open up a grocery store, but it needs continual care and constant study to make a grocery business a well-paying one.

THE RAMBLER.

NOT HURT BY DEPARTMENTALS.

A local merchant who does an extensive business tells us that the departmental stores do not hurt him in the least. He says people, as a rule, do not go back to these places more than once. They soon learn that they can buy as cheap and infinitely better articles in their own towns. The success of the departmental stores depends altogether on their enormous advertising. The local merchant who advertises has nothing to fear in competition from outside sources. It is generally the man who does not spend a dollar in advertising who talks the loudest about buying in Toronto. Advertising is the secret of any successful business.—Victoria Warder, Lindsay, July 1.

THE LAST GREAT MONOPOLY.

THE STANDARD OIL CO. continues to extend its sphere of influence, having lately secured the control of several of the small independent petroleum concerns in Canada.

Negotiations have been concluded, and The Minhinnick Refining Co. and The Petrolea Crude Oil Co. are under the control of this gigantic concern for the next five years. The Standard Oil Co. has, it is said, refused to pay a lump sum for the different properties, but a valuation is to be made and the price then decided upon.

Large additions to the works already established in Sarnia, and which cost between $300,000 and $400,000, will be made. Sarnia will then, it is claimed, be the headquarters of the coal oil industry in Canada, and will doubtless reap advantage thereby.

SHOULD HAVE BEEN TWO POUNDS

In the issue of June 24 there was a reference in the Montreal market reports to some contracts for new pack strawberries. Through an error the goods in question were described as three pound instead of two pound tins. The contract was for the latter, the price being $1.35 to $1.40.

TOBACCO GROWING IN ESSEX.

The remarkable success of the tobacco crops put in by the farmers of Essex county, Ontario, has resulted in a great increase in the amount of land set apart for the cultivation of "the weed." About a million pounds were marketed last year, and it is estimated that Essex county will produce from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 pounds this year, should the weather be at all favorable. Owing to cool weather the plants are somewhat backward, but those set out are doing well the past few hot days. It is estimated that the acreage of tobacco will be: Mersea township, 1,500 acres; Gosfield South, 1,000; Colchester South, 800; Malden, 250, and Anderdon, 300 acres, with several hundred acres in the other townships, principally Sandwich East and West, making the total acreage between 5,000 and 6,000 acres in tobacco. Some farmers in the Niagara district are also putting in an experimental crop this year.

TEA DAMAGED.

Through a fire in the factory of The Gale Manufacturing Co., Toronto, The Cowan-Ramsay Co., tea brokers, who occupy part of the same premises, suffered loss by fire and smoke. The insurance carried is $20,000. The company is not prepared to estimate its loss.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

D GUNN, BROS. & CO., note a free demand for smoked meats. Hot weather partly accounts for this, though they consider the popularity of their "Maple Leaf" brand has something to do with it.

"Grand Mogul" tea sales are increasing rapidly.

"Do you want a drive in fibre pails?" Write The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Warren Bros. & Co. have new season's canned lobsters in stock this week.

Salt in carloads f.o.b. factory is a specialty with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

T. B. Escott & Co. announce that they are offering choice select raisins at a low price.

A fine sample of Porto Rico sugar, in 200-lb. bags, is in store with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

T. Kinnear & Co. have in stock "Horse-shoe," "Clover Leaf" and several other brands of canned salmon.

An exceptionally large sale of "Anchor" salmon, their own brand, is reported by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Receipt for making coffee sent out some time ago by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, has found great favor with the grocery trade.

George Foster & Sons report they have just received a fine red salmon to retail at 10c., and yield a good profit to the grocer.

Splendid value in 25c. Japans is being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, in half-chests, 2-lb boxes and 4-lb. fancy packets.

Gillard's new pickles are gradually finding their way into the homes of the best in Canada on account of their delicious qualities.

French mustard, in jelly tumblers, to retail at 5c. each, containing $\frac{1}{3}$ pint each, are having a large sale with T. B. Escott & Co.

Perkins, Ince & Co. this week received samples of new season's Moning Congou teas. Shipments will be here in about 10 days.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are in receipt of a consignment of "Ice Castle" brand of new season's lobsters, which open up attractively.

George Foster & Sons report that they still have a well-assorted line of the best packs of tomatoes, corn and peas, which they are selling at lowest market prices.

When out of molasses do not forget to drop a card to George Foster & Sons. Their "Atlas" brand is a leader which they say cannot be surpassed for value.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. note an improvement in the demand for breakfast bacon as compared with backs, which is evidence that tastes differ in eating as well as in dress.

"Lion" baking powder, which stands so high in quality, is sold at the price of many ordinary brands, which accounts for the large sale," write the manufacturers.

If in need of Indian or Ceylon tea write for samples to George Foster & Sons, or ask their travelers to show you what they have to offer at 17 to 18c. "The extra value of these lines will surprise you," write the firm.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are enjoying a rapid sale for the "Aurora" Ceylon tea, which has a flavor that at once appeals to the palates of consumers who know a really good tea. This firm is to be congratulated upon the attractive appearance of the package.

CANNED GOODS IN LONDON.

Referring to the canned goods market in London, The Produce Markets' Review says: "The demand generally continues slow for the time of year. This is not surprising, considering the comparatively high prices asked for most descriptions, following on the unusually heavy sales of the earlier months of the year. In many instances, the wholesale price is actually higher than the retail, and, until some adjustment has taken place, grocers cannot be expected to depart from the hand-to-mouth policy. Although there are one or two classes of goods which are above their normal value, the great bulk of canned goods are still remarkably low in price, and the values only appear high when compared with prices ruling for the last two seasons, which were in many cases below the cost of production, and could not be expected to continue when once the demand had, to some extent, overtaken the supply. This is instanced in the case of fruit, the price for which at present, although 1s. 6d. above the opening rates of this year, is now probably nearer the value which yields a profit to all concerned than the lower level previously ruling. Salmon has sold steadily, and there is no disposition to clear stocks, except at full prices, although these are mostly below the cost at which they could be replaced with 1898 pack. The smallness of spot stocks of fruit has become accentuated during the past few weeks, and 6s. 6d. per dozen is practically the lowest quotation for apricots; this is fully 2s. per dozen advance since the commencement of the season. Peaches and pears are in much the same position. Sardines are slow of sale, but it is difficult to find good medium qualities at a reasonable price. The fishing on the French coasts is later than last year, and prices are not yet settled, although they will probably open about the same as last year. Meats are slow of sale, but there is no present prospect of any material alterations in prices."

A STRANGE EXPERIENCE.

First Drug Clerk—I had a queer experience last night—had just closed up the shop, lain down and got to sleep, when there was a most violent ringing at the night bell—

Second Drug Clerk—Ha, ha, ha! After a postage stamp, eh?

TORONTO GROCERS' PICNIC.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Wednesday, last week, to hear the report of the committees appointed in connection with the picnic on the 20th inst. President W. H. Marmion was in the chair.

The motion passed at the last regular meeting asking the musical committee to give Glionna's orchestra the preference was rescinded, and the hiring of the orchestra left entirely in the hands of the musical committee.

The programme committee's report was received and approved. The programme will be much longer than last year, and, as the prizes are better and more numerous, the sports will likely be more closely contested. There will be 14 events this year as compared with 8 events last year.

The regular meeting of the association will be held next Monday evening.

TRADE MARK IN COURT.

In Montreal, a few days ago, Mr. Justice Burbidge, in Chambers, dismissed an application for security of costs against defendants in the case of Wright, Crossley & Co. v. Royal Baking Powder Co. of New York. He also granted an order on application of defendants for better particulars of plaintiff's statement of claim. This is an important case, which will be tried after long vacation. The plaintiffs are an English company, who are seeking to set aside the trade mark registered by the defendants in respect of the Royal Baking Powder. The Englishmen claim that they were the first to use the trade mark, and that the New York company are not entitled to it. Mr. Bethune appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Smellie for defendants.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, July 7, 1898.

GROCERIES.

WHILE some wholesale houses are busily employed, the volume of business is not as brisk, generally speaking, as it was a week ago. A great deal of sugar has gone out, but there has been a temporary easing off in the demand for this commodity, the strawberry season now being about over. The price of sugar remains much as it was before. There is very little doing in tea, but the prices generally are keeping firm. Canned goods are somewhat unsettled. Wholesalers are still selling a fair quantity for this time of the year, but there is not much doing as between packer and wholesaler, and a great deal of uncertainty exists as to the future of the market. Coffees are still quiet. The same is to be said of spices. In foreign dried fruits the situation is without interest. A further advance of one dollar per gross is announced this week in the price of gem jars.

CANNED GOODS.

The feeling in regard to canned vegetables is somewhat unsettled. The wholesalers are not, at the moment, anxious buyers, and, while some packers are willing to accept 70c., and even less, others do not appear to be courting trade at all. Wholesalers do not appear to be generally quoting futures yet, but some of them are, and their figures are: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c. per doz.; corn, 60 to 65c., and peas, 65 to 70c. There has been some corn of 1897 pack offering at 80 to 85c., but, as wholesalers made purchases a week or two ago at 72½c., there were no buyers. New pack peas are arriving, but, notwithstanding there are a good many of last year's pack, they are being taken by wholesalers at 80 to 85c. for ordinary. New pack strawberries are on the market and they are being quoted to retailers at $1.40 for choice goods. Canned salmon continues in good demand. A few of the wholesale houses have, this week, received shipments of new season's canned lobster, which they are quoting as follows: XXX ½-lb. flats, $1.60; XXX 1-lb. flats, $3; XX 1-lb. tall, $2.50. These prices are from 10 to 20c. per dozen dearer than they were a year ago. Some demand is, at the moment, being experienced for canned pineapple at $2.25 to $2.50 for eyeless and coreless.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Both syrups and molasses are neglected commodities. The molasses market in New Orleans is reported dull and draggy.

SUGAR.

While the wholesalers are not experiencing such a brisk demand as they were the latter part of last week, yet there is a great deal of sugar going out nevertheless. The strawberry season is now about over, and to that fact may be attributed the temporary decrease in sales. The outside markets have ruled dull with prices in some instances fractionally lower.

COFFEE.

The local market continues to rule quiet at unchanged prices. July 1 was the opening day for the new crop of Brazilian coffee. The receipts for the day were 7,000 bags at Rio and 13,000 bags at Santos, against 10,000 and 15,000 bags respectively the same date last year. East India growths are steady.

TEAS.

The condition of the market regarding Japan teas is not satisfactory. On the 27th ult., a cable received in Toronto announced a decline, but cables received since then state that prices are again higher and that figures on low-grade teas are from 2 to 3c. per lb. above those of last year. The second crop Japan tea is short. Mail advices state that the action of the United States in placing a duty of 10c. per pound on tea has paralyzed the market in Japan, and that the growers have stopped picking low grade and medium teas. There is an enquiry on the Toronto market for Japan teas at 16 to 17½c. per lb., but there are very few offering at that figure. A few sales of Indian and Ceylon teas on spot have been made during the past week, but business locally in all descriptions of teas is light. Samples of new season's Moning Congous were received in Toronto on Monday, and the shipments will be here in about ten days. The quality of the tea is considered to be superior to that of last year.

Mail advices from London, under date of June 24, state that only 10,273 packages of Indian tea were brought to auction, but that a fractional decline took place in all but the most useful liquoring kinds. In Ceylon teas, on the other hand, the bidding was animated, and prices of all descriptions were firm.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The market is quiet, but steady, and devoid of new features.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The demand has been fairly active, and much more so than is usual at this time of the year.

GREEN FRUITS.

There is an improvement in the general demand for fruits. Strawberries are less plentiful, and though they are deteriorating in quality, the price has risen to 4 to 7c. Gooseberries are offered in abundant quantities, of all sizes, the range of price running from 25c. to $1. Cherries are about as plentiful as they will be. The cooking variety sells at 50 to 75c.; the eating at $1 to $1.50. The demand is good. Red currants are also plentiful, and are in good demand at from 30c. for common stuff to 50c. for the cherry sizes. Black currants are just coming in, and have begun to move at 75c. to $1. Raspberries are now moving nicely at 7 to 9c. per quart. Black raspberries are less plentiful, and are quoted at 8 to 9c. The first Canadian apples are expected from the Niagara district this week, or early next week. Tennessee apples continue to arrive in moderate quantities, the price remaining 40c. per box. Mississippi tomatoes are moving nicely at 75 to 90c. Watermelons are arriving freely now, and some fine large ones were selling at 35 to 40c. each this week. Bananas are even more scarce than formerly, and, as the demand continues active, prices are stiff at $1.50 to $2. The improvement in business this week, however, is in the demand for oranges and lemons, which are now moving excellently. Mediterranean sweets and California seedlings are the only oranges on sale here now, but there are lots of them, and, as the demand is brisk, prices are steady and unaltered. Lemons are in even brisker demand, and prices are steadily advancing. An advance of 50c. per box is noted this week in Messina, and further advances are looked for.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The receipts have for some time been rather below the demand, and prices have been steady with advances of ½c. noted each of the last four weeks. At outside points 9 to 9½c. is the idea, and wholesalers on the local market quote 11½ to 12½c.

POTATOES—The market is practically over for large quantities, with the price nominally 25 to 30c. per bag for car lots.

WINNIPEG: E. W. Ashley.

VICTORIA: La Patourel & Co.

THE ST. CROIX
SOAP MFG. CO.

ST. STEPHEN, N.B.

There is a fair movement on the market at 35 to 40c. New potatoes are arriving more freely, and are selling at $1 to $1.10 per bushel.

VEGETABLES — The season for green onions, rhubarb, watercress, garden cress and spinach is over. Seed onions and celery are now on sale. Green peas are somewhat scarce. We quote: Celery, 25 to 50c. per doz.; onions, seed, 10 to 15c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; radishes, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 50 to 70c. per doz.; long, $1 per doz.; asparagus, 40c. to 60c. per doz.; green peas, small, 75c. to $1; large, $1 to $1.25 per bag; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; beets, 15 to 20c. per doz.; carrots, 15 to 20c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—As was anticipated last week, the feeling regarding prices of dairy butter has weakened considerably the last week. Country dealers are now seeking buyers instead of the buyers looking for them. Prices are unchanged, though sales are not so easy at the figures. Creamery butter has also weakened slightly. At country points, 11 to 11½c. is paid for dairy tubs and prints; 15½ to 16c. for creamery tubs and 16½ to 17c. for creamery prints, f.o.b.

CHEESE—The reports of sales throughout the Province show in all sections a decided difference of opinion in regard to prices. The only sales made were ½ to ⅝c. lower than last week's figures. The feeling in the city is correspondingly easy, the prices running from 7¾ to 8¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The improvement in business noted last week continues to manifest itself. There is an active trade in smoked meats, especially breakfast bacon. Long clear is firm, and selling freely. Prices are unchanged throughout.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Prices are firm and unchanged. We quote: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.; cured, 9½ to 10c.

CALFSKINS—The demand is weak, as dealers consider the price too high. We quote: No. 1 veal, 8 lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Nominal. The season is over. There is a fair demand for lambskins, at 35c., and shearlings, at 25c.

WOOL—The market is slow, jobbers and country dealers differing regarding values. Unwashed is quoted at 10 to 11c. and fleece at 16c.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat has steadied somewhat, and prices are unchanged, unless a drop of 1 to 2c. for goose. We quote on cars outside as follows: Wheat, red winter, 79 to 80c.; white winter, 77 to 79c.; goose, 75 to 76c. The street market is quiet. We quote: Wheat, white, 76c.; red, 79c.; goose, 7c.; peas, 51c.; oats, 31½ to 33c. No barley or rye is offered. No. 1 hard Manitoba has reached the even $1 mark, Sarnia freights, a decline of 2c. per bushel being noted.

FLOUR—Ontario straight roller flour has declined 10c. Otherwise, prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.85; Ontario patents, $4.60 to $4.75; straight roller, $4 to $4.10, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Standard oatmeal and rolled oats have declined 10c., both in bags and barrels, cornmeal 25c., split peas 25c. Rolled wheat has advanced 10c. in 100-lb. barrels. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4.00 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $3.00 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.75.

FISH.

Thereceipts are fair, demand good. Prices are unchanged as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to 6½c.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. to 4c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; boneless codfish, 3½ to 5c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

SALT.

Business continues brisk, with prices unchanged. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

MARKET NOTES.

Lemons have advanced 50c.

Eggs are ½c. dearer than last week.

Gem jars have advanced another $1, and

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, July 7, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE week as a whole has been a rather quiet one in wholesale grocery circles, for, with the exception of sugar, for which demand is commencing to pick up, all the staples were quiet, with little or no demand. No further contracts of importance have been noted in canned salmon, and buyers are disposed to hold back in regard to vegetables. Syrups continue quiet both at the factory and the store, while molasses rules steady. Coffee continues dull, and, though the firm feeling in tea is retained, buyers will not operate to any satisfactory extent. Rice, spices, nuts, and dried fruits generally, are as last described.
Green fruit shows some activity, and there have been few changes in country produce.

CANNED GOODS.

This market shows little change from a week ago. No further business in new pack goods of any description has been reported, and in some lines buyers are disposed to hold back because their advices are to the effect that values are not by any means settled on staple vegetables as yet. Canned meats continue steady, and the same can be said of canned fish of various sorts, especially lobsters, which promise to be very high this year, and it is to be remembered in this connection that last season the record high prices were reached on them.

SYRUPS.

These continue quiet but steady, ranging from $1\frac{3}{4}$ to $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in the wood at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The Barbadoes molasses market is very quiet, and holders maintain firm views of the situation, though buyers hold that they can get goods cheaper later on. In a jobbing way business is rather dull, car lots selling at 30c., and single puncheons at 31c.

SUGAR.

There has been more enquiry for refined sugar during the past week, which was expected, as a result of the opening of the preserving season. Prices at the refinery are unchanged from a week ago, and the jobbing range is unaltered. The raw sugar market, both in New York and London, has been rather easier lately, and, if it continues to decline, is apt to affect local values again, as it did the other week.

COFFEE.

The only large sales of any importance in this market were some Maracaibo at 14 to $15\frac{1}{2}$ c., as to quality in straight invoice lots. The jobbing demand is quiet, and the range of values in this respect is unchanged.

TEAS.

The firm feeling in tea is fully maintained, but there has been little business done, because jobbers are still holding back. The movement from first to second hands has, therefore, been inconsiderable, consisting chiefly of a few small lots of gunpowders at a slight advance on former rates. Japans have also changed hands at $15\frac{3}{4}$ c. Advices from abroad continue of much the same character as they were a week ago, generally reporting firm markets.

SPICES.

The spice market has ruled steady, but business, both wholesale and jobbing, is light.

RICE.

The rice market remains much as it was last week, and business has not been noticeably brisk. Prices are unchanged all round.

McLauchlan's Graham Crackers

J. McLauchlan & Sons, - - Owen Sound

NUTS.

This market is pretty firm abroad, but the fact has elicited little disposition here as yet on the part of importers to buy. Values are as last quoted.

DRIED FRUIT.

California raisins are moving in a moderate way at steady prices, a few car lots arriving from time to time, finding steady distribution at quotations in prices current.

Valencia raisins have been offered to arrive, new pack, but the figures in question are not considered reliable. Reports from Spain do not indicate any particular change in the situation there.

Prunes, all round, are firm, especially California sorts, which are the only kind moving in this market. The tendency in regard to forward sales of new crop is quite firm.

Currants remain as last described, but advices from Greece have an easier tendency.

Evaporated fruits, as a rule, are without material change.

DRIED APPLES.

These remain precisely as last reported in this column.

GREEN FRUIT.

Trade in green fruit was quite active during the past eight or ten days, especially preceding the holidays. Receipts of strawberries were exceptionally large, but now show some signs of diminishing. Recent sales of them have been made at 3 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. per box. Raspberries are expected this week, but none had arrived up to the hour of writing. Cherries are expected to be a small crop this year, and sales have been made at 50c. to \$1.25 per basket, according to size and quality. Pineapples are rather firm at 20 to 30c. each. Bananas are offering in plentiful supply, and fancy bunches fetch

$1.75 to $2, while ordinary range from $1 to $1.50. Lemons and oranges continue firm as last quoted. California peaches are selling at $1.30 to $1.40, and plums have a wider range, viz. 90c. to $2.25, according to the quality of the offerings. Apricots are easier at 80c. to $1.75. Pears were stiff, selling up to $1.90 for half boxes, but are not so firm now.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fairly active trade was transacted in eggs to-day, there being a good demand for small lots to fill actual wants at steady prices. We quote: Fancy selected stock, 10 to $10\frac{1}{2}$ c.; ordinary run, 9 to $9\frac{1}{2}$ c., and No. 2 stock, 8 to $8\frac{1}{2}$ c. per dozen.

BEANS—Were dull and unchanged at 95c. to $1 for primes, and at $1.05 to $1.10 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The market for honey was featureless. We quote: White clover comb, 11c. to 12c.; dark do., 8 to 10c.; white strained, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The demand for maple product is still slow. We quote: Syrup in wood, $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., and in tins at 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to $6\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There was an improved demand for smoked meats and a fair trade was done in this line, but pork and lard were quiet, with no change in prices to note. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, \$16 to \$16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at $8\frac{1}{4}$ c. to $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and compound refined at $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; hams, $10\frac{1}{2}$ c. to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and bacon, $11\frac{1}{2}$ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was an easier tone to cable advices, and this news had a tendency to check business here, showing shippers no disposition to operate, and few sales were made.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

TORONTO

Oats were offered in round lots afloat at 30½c. without meeting with buyers, and some small sales of peas were made at 57½c. afloat.

The flour market was without any new feature, except that a good many cable enquiries were received for Manitoba grades, but no actual business was done. The local demand was limited and trade on the whole was of a jobbing character. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $5.25 to $5.50; straight rollers, $5 to $5.25; bags, $2.20 to $2.40; Manitoba patents, $5.40 to $5.64, and strong bakers', $5 to $5.25.

Business in feed was quiet, but, on the whole, sales are fully up to the average for the season, and prices are about steady. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12.25 to $12.75; shorts, $13.50 to $14 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $13; shorts, $15, and moullie, $17 per ton, including bags.

The demand for oatmeal continues slow, and the market is quiet and featureless, rolled oats being quoted about steady at $3.75 to $3.85 per bbl.

A fair trade was reported in baled hay, and prices are unchanged. We quote: Shipping hay, $5 to $6; good to choice, No. 1, $9 to $10, and No. 2, at $7 to $7.50 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market was dull and somewhat demoralized. The undertone was weak, and prices have a dropping tendency. The receipts by boat, on Monday morning, were 5,000 boxes, and, although prices were fully ½ to ¾c. per lb. lower than last Monday, the demand was exceedingly slow and only half the above quantity was disposed of at 7c., and some of the balance was hawked around the street by holders, who, in some cases, succeeded in selling at 7c., while some of it was put into cold storage. In regard to Ontario makes, it is rather difficult to quote prices, as all kinds of figures are being asked, but no actual business is doing on spot.

There was an easier feeling in the butter market for finest creamery, and 16¾c. was the outside figure paid to-day.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 4, 1898.

As yet, the weather in St. John has been rather cool for the season and fairly damp, but it must prove a boon for the many tourists who are now daily arriving. We this month look for finer, warmer days, but we are sure, even if it gets rather hot in the middle of the day, that the evenings will be cool. While great crowds of Americans come to these Provinces during the summer, we do not see as many western Canadian people as we would wish. It must be they do not know the beautiful country we have. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, or Prince Edward Island, offer every inducement the tourist can ask. In business, it is quiet, even more so than is expected even at this quiet season of the year, one reason being the stiff markets in the spring lead to quite free buying, so that needs are small, the more so on a falling market.

OIL—St. John has but two houses who deal exclusively in burning oil. They are the Imperial Oil Co.'s branch and the Standard Oil Co.'s branch, here called the Eastern Oil Co. There are a few others who import burning oil. The fact that there is has caused the city price to be lower than that quoted at outside points, but the above two represent the big end of the business, and there is no doubt the others who import buy from the Standard people. What will become of the Imperial oil branch now that the Standard have bought that company is a question not yet answered, but, as the Standard oil people now sell to those who compete with each other for the trade here, and who even go so far as to cut prices, this branch may be continued. In prices there is at present no change; demand is quiet.

SALT—The market is well supplied and quite a large cargo is about due from Liverpool, containing both coarse and factory-filled. While the latter grade of fine salt still has a larger sale than any other it is much less used than formerly, Canadian in bags and barrelstakeing its place. Prices are easy and unchanged. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—The packers are now quoting for fall delivery. In fact, peas are now ready. They are the only line being pushed, except strawberries and raspberries. These, packers seem anxious to sell. Buyers, except for present needs, seem backward, looking for lower prices. It is rather early for people to take hold except the market be a firmer one than at present. There is but a fair business doing. Meats, which are marked lower, and salmon which continues low, show improved sale. Fruits are dull.

GREE FRUIT—This continues to be the active line of business. Strawberries have chief attention. During the past week prices have been rather higher owing to our native berries coming into market in good-keeping condition, and not in too large quantities. Prices will be lower as soon as receipts become large. Bananas sell freely, and prices are quite low. Oranges have only a second place and are rather higher, as are lemons, which, at this season, see their best demand. California fruit, such as apricots, plums and peaches, have only a limited sale now, and are rather easier. Prices are rather lower this week, owing to the arrival of quite a quantity by West India steamer. Rather higher prices are, however, expected. Rhubarb is low and light sale. Garden truck is now coming to market freely.

DRIED FRUIT—This continues to be the quiet line. In fact, outside of a few raisins, there is practically nothing moving. While prices for new Valencias are quoted, it is too early for business. Quite a few old raisins are here, and price is easy. California spot stock is being sold, a good quality, at Boston and New York, lower than at any time since new fruit came on the market last year. In prunes and California evaporated fruits, the sale is about over. Dried apples and evaporated are dull.

SUGAR—Local market shows no change, but the feeling is toward easier prices. Quite a little foreign sugar has been sold to our wholesale trade during the week, and, as Canadian sugar tends easier, it is judged at a low price. So far, bag sugar has not been popular. It remains to be seen how these shipments will turn out. Local demand is light.

MOLASSES—Prices are rather gaining in strength. The quantity to arrive by the West India steamer this week was not large, and stocks held are light for this season. New Orleans has limited sale.

PRODUCE—Dull, is all that can be said; butter particularly, quality being the only lever to aid sales, and good is in limited supply; I mean best table butter. Eggs are slow sale at present prices. Cheese, old and new, are offered at the same price; sale light. Our factories will feel the need of a cheese board more than ever this year. They, however, are slow to take hold of this, which would be a great benefit to them, fearing it may cost them some small direct amount to sell their cheese, and forgetting that the loss in price, through not having one, is far greater.

FISH—Receipts in all lines are light. Fresh salmon show an advance, and good returns are looked for from the somewhat larger than usual shipments which went forward last week to Boston. Shad is scarce and higher. In dry cod, receipts keep light and prices are well maintained. New pickled herring is in light supply and slow of sale. Smoked have fair movement at even prices. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.35; medium, $3 to $3.20; pollock, $1.35 to $1.45; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.45 to $1.55 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4½c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 20c.; salmon, 15 to 16c.; ½-bbl. shad, $4.

PROVISIONS—All lines are light sale, particularly in barrelled goods. Wholesale grocers handle but little smoked meat. Lard is quite firmly held. In this line all stocks are light.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—This is a matter of little interest. Prices continue to drop off, and sales are slow. Flour is the most unsatisfactory point, though stocks, particularly Ontario, are not large. Hay is dull. A good deal of old is still in the country, and there is every prospect of a large crop. Beans are about even market, but dull. Barley and split peas about the only firm feature. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.80 to $4.95; oatmeal, $4.10 to $4.20; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 40 to 45c.; hand-picked beans, $1.00 to $1.05; prime, 85 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split, peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8.75 to $9.00; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The first green peas to come to St. John this season were brought to market on June 26.

The steamer to arrive in Boston just before the fourth took 233 cases of fresh salmon from here.

A biscuit maker at Halifax received an order last week for 500 bbls. of biscuits for the West Indies.

Beside her Montreal cargo, the steamer Tiber brought 110 casks and 11 bbls. Porto Rico molasses from Halifax.

Nova Scotia has another newspaper, The Oxford Journal and Cumberland Advertiser, published at Oxford by John W. Gay.

The burglars who broke into the grocery store of S. H. Belys & Co., and stole from the cash box $25, must have been disappointed when they read the paper the next morning, to find in another compartment of the same box there was a roll of bills amounting to $95.

Halifax is to have a merchants' exchange. There are now upward of one hundred subscribers. Operations will be carried on in stock, produce, etc.

Owing to the decline in flour our biscuit manufacturers are going back to former prices. T. Rankine & Sons announced their reduction this week.

Senator Poirier is building a modernly equipped flour mill at Shediac, N.B.; capacity, 125 barrels per day. He will also grind buckwheat, corn, barley, etc.

The steamer Barcelona, from Halifax for Liverpool and Manchester last week took 380 pkgs. binder twine, 13,796 pcs. spruce deals, 1,368 pcs. ends, 4,655 pcs. hardwood deals, 1,054 pcs. ends, 27 cases haddies, 12 hhds, 22 casks, 100 drums haddock, 7,980 bales, 100 hf.-bals. pulp, 165 bbls. wood tops, 68 cases peg wood, 1 case leather, 250 tons of coal, 10 tons fustic, 100 cases extract, 4 tons bitterwood, 86 pcs. satinwood, 4,736 cases lobsters, 112 hf.-cases do., 267¾ cases do.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, July 4, 1898.

It was raining torrents and blowing great guns all day Saturday, and, were it not for the warm air, it would be easy to imagine that it is the latter end of October rather than midsummer.

There is an especial dearth of news after a holiday. The First of July had been long looked forward to, and many were the excursions out of the city planned for the day. In spite of the heavy clouds in the morning, hundreds left the city by the early trains for Rat Portage and Selkirk. The chief event in the town was a lacrosse match between the Victorias and Winnipegs, said to be the best match seen for many years. The Victorias were victorious; 1,200 people watched the game, the last part through a soaking drizzle.

The aspect of business has not changed since last week. The trade is good for the time of year in all lines. Retail dealers are making special preparations for exhibition trade, and wholesale fruit men are laying themselves out to amply supply the trade for that week. Winnipeg is a great fruit consumer, and large quantities are regularly shipped to outside points, but, when our country cousins come in for the annual fair, they expect to get the best that can be had, and in no line is there a heavier run than in fresh fruit.

Bread has gone back to its old price of 5c. per loaf, excepting for some fancy makes.

BUTTER—Situation has changed but little since last week. Dealers will not pay above 16c. point of shipment for finest creamery. Some sales have been effected, but many factorymen are holding for higher prices. Indeed, some of them having paid or contracted for cream on the basis of 16c. to patrons feel that they cannot sell at that figure. The Vancouver and Kootenay trade is still liberally supplied with the heavy shipments of some ten days ago, and things at the Coast are rather at a standstill. Dairy butter is coming in liberally, and the price quoted to-day is 11½ to 12½c., less freight and commission.

CHEESE—The supplies now being received, having been longer cured, are in much better condition. Trade is rather dull and prices range from 6½ to 7c. per lb.

EGGS—This product has been scarce all season, and, contrary to expectations, is getting worse, rather than better. Price is stiff and market firm at 11½c. Dealers who desire to pickle say that it does not pay at these figures.

MEAT—The market for live hogs and cured meats has not varied since last week. Trade is good, demand steady, and prices without change: Dry salt, extra short clear, 8¾c.; dry clear, smoked, 9¼c.; dry salt, long clear, 9½c.; hams, 11½ to 12c., according to average; breakfast backs and bellies, 11½ to 12c.

LARD—Has dropped a little, and is quoted to-day at $1.80 to $1.90 for 20-lb. pails.

GREEN FRUITS—Bananas are coming in now in fine condition. The price is still maintained at $2.25 to $3, according to size and quality. Oregon cherries continue to arrive, and are giving great satisfaction, at $1.50 to $1.75 per box. Apricots, which are improving with each shipment, $2 to $2.25. Plums are arriving, but variety so far is limited at $2 to $2.50; peaches, $1.75. Oranges, according to variety and size, run from $3.50 to $4.50 per case. Lemons are advancing, price to-day being $5, but before this is in print it will in all likelihood be $6. Tomatoes are more plentiful, and sell from $1.50 to $1.75; cucumbers, 75c. per doz. The market is also well supplied with green vegetables of all kinds. The last shipments of British Columbia strawberries arrived in excellent condition, and were choice fruit, but as each shipment consisted of but a few boxes, they cannot be said to make a market.

RETIRING FROM BUSINESS.

H. L. Pullen, who has conducted, during the last twenty years, a grocery business in St. Thomas, has been compelled, through ill-health, to retire from business. He has, therefore, sold out to F. J. Waddell, who will continue in Mr. Pullen's old stand.

EXTENDING THEIR CAPITAL.

The capital stock of The Park, Blackwell & Co., Limited, Toronto, has been increased from $50,000 to $200,000, and the name of the company changed to The Park, Blackwell, Co., Limited.

The reason assigned for the increase of capital is that extending business compels enlargement of capital.

It will be remembered that this firm, some time ago, secured a site near the Toronto cattle market, upon which to erect a pork-packing establishment. This factory is expected to commence operations about October, and will have a capacity of about 1,000 hogs and from 100 to 150 cattle per day.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

CURRENTS DEARER IN LONDON.

AN improvement of a very distinct nature has taken place in the currant market, and a considerable business has been done at an advance of 6d. to 1s. per cwt. on the forced sales of last week. This has been brought about by a decided improvement in the demand from the dealers, and also by some speculative buying, as well as by a firmer tone on the part of the holders. The fact of a stronger market is satisfactory from every point of view, having regard to the unusual circumstances attaching to the present position of the article. The small stocks remaining, not only in the countries of consumption, but in Greece also, may be said to fully justify the higher level of prices at present prevailing. Taking this fact into consideration, any decline therefrom is not justified statistically, and would only mean an advance at a later period, the result of which would be another unevenness of market, which causes so much uncertainty, and is so seriously detrimental to all engaged in the trade. As a matter of course this aspect of the case only applies to the remainder of the present season, and whether or not the higher ranges of values which have prevailed during the last few months, will be maintained in the coming one must, of course, depend to a very large extent upon the out-turn of the growing crop. If it should turn out to be a large one—which at the moment does not seem at all likely—it is not impossible that a lower range of values will have to be established in order to tempt outside countries to buy the fruit, and so increase the consumption sufficiently to dispose of any extra production. If, on the other hand, the out-turn should be only moderate, the growers would doubtless be able to secure the higher level of prices, especially in view of the fact that the stocks throughout the world have been heavily depleted and are unusually small.—Produce Markets' Review.

NEW CROP APRICOTS.

In its issue of June 25 The California Fruit Grower says: "Samples of new crop apricots are being exhibited, but without price. Samples are at hand representing about three cars offered for June shipment, but we learn of no sales; 8c. in bags f.o.b. represents the asking price for this early fruit, although sellers hesitate to name a price. At this time last year considerable business was reported. The first car of new apricots for season of 1897 went forward on June 18, and buyers were paying 6¼ to 6½c. in sweatbox for new fruit. There is no demand from any quarter except for export trade. The trade are evidently holding off to have the question of quality as well as quantity definitely settled. The quality may be an unsettled question, but as to quantity they can take no chances, for the output will be the smallest in years. The samples that are at hand compare favorably with past seasons, but it is generally conceded that the quality of the apricot crop will be below the average of the past seasons, owing to the dry weather. Canners are buying everything in sight and at prices which prohibit the curing of this fruit except in outside districts and such fruit as canners do not want. In the Santa Clara Valley buyers are paying $45 per ton and better for apricots for canning and very few will be cured."

TEAS IN NEW YORK.

Only a limited volume of business has been transacted in lines, the demand from dealers having fallen to decidedly small proportions, as they have been experiencing only a small demand from retail trade, as both buyers in the interior and locally have withdrawn until after the Fourth. Furthermore, the recent activity of demand, has, in most instances, given the trade sufficient supplies to meet current wants. Advices from primal points have reported firm markets, with shippers holding for prices above a parity with local values. Buyers, however, have refused to operate at the higher figures asked.—Journal of Commerce.

CURRENTS IN NEW YORK.

"Although the market for currants is dull," said a broker to a New York paper, "holders are not anxious sellers. Spot stocks are about 500 tons more than they were a year ago at this time, but it should be remembered that then the stocks were in no wise adequate to requirements, and that goods had to be imported from London at comparatively high prices. By the time new stock is received this market will be entirely cleared of old goods."

SOUTHERN PEA PACK.

The last of the Southern peas have been packed, and, according to all reports, the output has been considerably less than last year. Some estimates put the pack as not more than 65 per cent. of that of 1897, and others state that it is only a little over one-half of what it was last year and about 25 per cent. less than the average for a number of years past. In spite of the shortage in the production, prices do not seem to be showing improvement, and the interest shown by buyers does not seem to have come up to expectations. Reports regarding the

New York State pack are somewhat conflicting, some stating that the outlook is very good, while others to the effect that in consequence of unfavorable weather to the present time, the pack will fall considerably short of that of last year. Some packers estimate the decrease at 25 per cent., and others state that the output will be at least one-third short.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

DESIRES TO SHIP CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

It was reported in New York the other day that Hamburg is offering to reship 1897 California prunes to this market. The writer says he understands that small sizes are scarce here, and he therefore expects to be able to reship and place in market about 700 bags of 60-70's to 90-100's, including intermediate sizes. The prices named were not made public, but were understood to be low.

THE UNITED STATES TOMATO PACK.

The break in spot tomatoes is claimed in some quarters to have been due to speculative manipulation, and was not warranted by the conditions of supply and demand. Rumors are current to the effect that some large operators, anticipating liberal Government purchases, and being themselves short of supplies, broke the market by offering small lots at low figures in the hope of being able to secure several blocks. It does not appear that they were successful. Although the Government demand does not appear to have come up to expectations, and requirements of general consumption are said to be scarcely up to the average for this season, after the first effect of the bear operations had expended itself, holders looking at the comparatively small stock, regained their confidence. There has been no actual advance, but there seems now to be a disposition to shade quotations. Prospects for the coming tomato crop are still uncertain. While no shortage seems to be anticipated, it is probable, according to reports from the growing districts in New Jersey and Maryland, that the crop will be late in maturing, owing to the wet weather during the planting season. Some reports are to the effect that packing will not begin until three weeks after the usual date, while others state that season will be only a week or a week and a half late.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

CALIFORNIA ORANGE CROP.

The Los Angeles (Cal.) Express says: "Six months ago we had doleful reports about ruin of the orange crop, and even of many trees in Riverside. The sequel now appears in the statement that the season's orange shipments from Riverside, up to date, are 1,221,875 boxes, about 4,000 carloads."

THE STORE IN SUMMER.

It should be absolutely clean, refreshingly cool, inviting in appearance, free from flies, and always in order, says American Grocer. The display should bring into prominence seasonable goods, and be so arranged as to be attractive to outing parties, excursionists, or whoever must carry food out of doors.

Keep in the background the goods that sell best in winter, and so display summer specialties as to invite buyers to inspect the store. There is a wonderful power in handsome ferns, palms, and decorative plants to win customers—a charm and grace that is irresistible—and, besides, they help give a cool and neat appearance to the store. Do not think that it is necessary to make a flower shop of the display windows or to crowd the counters with blooming plants. Art in display is quite as effective as art in advertising or any other feature of store life.

If fresh vegetables are kept in stock, don't put them all along the sidewalk in front of the windows, exposed to dust, dirt, insects, and depredations, but have them in a shady, cool place, neatly arranged, and so that beautiful color effects are produced. This latter feature is very easy to one who has an eye for color. If deficient, it is easy to find some one that can bring the red, green, yellow, white, orange, lemon, and other colors of fruits and vegetables into bewitching relation to each other, and make a veritable picture which will appeal to the appetite and awaken desire for possession. Such a display will make talk, and advertise the store. The point is to get consumers to visit the store, provided it is so beguiling in appearance that it invites all comers to linger and look. Said one customer to a fellow who kept that sort of a store: "I always like to come in here, because there is something new to see." It was always new to the visitor, because the dealer was continually rearranging stock and bringing some new thing into prominence every few days.

Attention to ventilation is of the utmost importance if the store is to have a pleasing smell in summer. During the dog days, or whenever general humidity gets in its fine work, the store will have an unpleasant and heavy odor unless it is properly ventilated at night. The transom over the front door should be open and a draft of cool air kept circulating. We have entered stores in the early morning where the air was fairly suffocating by reason of its foulness. The thousand and one things in the store had been steaming all night in a high temperature, so that meats, vegetables, fruits, dairy products and dried fish had each been contributing to the conglomeration of flavors that was noticeable. This is ruinous to all articles sensitive to foreign flavors, such as salt or butter.

If there is a delicatessen department, its appearance can be heightened by a few leaves of lettuce or sprigs of parsley. Just a touch of green here and there will make the counter look cool and inviting.

BORACIC ACID IN LOBSTERS.

The following is taken from The St. John Globe:

"It is said boracic acid is being used by some of our lobster packers. The law in England is very stringent as to the use of adulterants. If such are found it means a total confiscation of the goods. The following from an English paper regarding boracic acid may prove of interest:

"Boracic acid in butter still remains one of the burning questions of the day. The authorities in the country are carrying forward their prosecutions with considerable vigor. In Birmingham last week a co-operative society was summoned for selling butter containing the acid to the extent of 70 grs. per pound, equal to 1 per cent. The attackers' medical witness plainly said that the acid was injurious to health; it was not like salt, a natural ingredient of the human body, but was a foreign element. According to this medico boracic acid induced kidney complaints, indigestion and skin disorders; it also was a 'cardiac depressant.' Mr. Chamberlain's brother was one of the magistrates, and the case went against the retailer. The case is valuable, as the report gives a full and clear exposition of the arguments of the folk who maintain that this kind of preservative is harmful. Supposing that a person ate one-half pound of butter per week, with boracic acid to the extent of 70 grs. per pound in it, he would then consume 5 grains per day, which amount, the doctors say, is injurious to health."

COLLEGE OF FORESTRY.

Under authorization of an Act of the New York Legislature, that State will establish a college of forestry. A conference has already been held at Albany to decide upon the location of 30,000 acres of land to be purchased for the purpose. No particular plot of ground has as yet been definitely picked upon. The conditions which the authorities decided upon as necessary in seeking land for the new college were formulated by Dr. Fernow, formerly chief of the Forestry Division of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, now director of the new State College of Forestry at Cornell University.

Business men should encourage the development of a similar work in Canada.

THE CHINESE TEA TRADE.

IN 1868 the total consumption of tea in the United Kingdom was 107,085,000 lb., giving an average of 3.52 lb. per head of the population. Of this, 93 per cent. was Chinese tea and 7 per cent. Indian. Since that date the consumption has increased to 227,785,509 lb., an average of 5.73 lb. per head of the population. But, at the present moment, 11 per cent. only of the entire consumption is Chinese, whilst India supplies 54 per cent. and Ceylon 35 per cent. The British Consul at Hankow reports that in 1897 there was a very considerable falling off in the export of tea, amounting in all to 164,000 half-chests, equal to 10,168,000 lb. from that port. The cause of this decrease in the export was mainly due to deterioration of quality in all grades except fine and finest. The deterioration is no new thing, but has now proceeded steadily for years, with the result that the demand for China tea grows steadily less, while that for Indian and Ceylon increases in the most marked manner. It is difficult, the report continues, to see how Hankow teas can ever again successfully compete with Indian and Ceylon, even under the most favorable circumstances. The Indian and Ceylon tea companies have a large capital at their command, and they are controlled and directed by business men who have a practical knowledge of tea planting. In consequence, of late years there has been a concentration of management and an introduction of sundry economies in working; the trade has likewise benefited in no inconsiderable degree from increased facilities of transport and reduced rates of freight. In the case of Indian teas, the profit per pound made on teas sold averages 2 2-10d. The average profit on Hankow teas is estimated at about ½d. per lb., and it is evident that, in the event of any serious competition between Indian and Hankow teas, the latter could be driven out of the market, while the former would still fetch a handsome profit. There is now no demand for Hankow teas in London, except for such chops as can be laid down at not over 5d. per lb., and at this price decent sound teas are expected. The shipment to London of medium and fine teas at from 8d. per lb. is a speculation depending entirely on the continental demand.—Grocers' Journal.

"CROSSE & BLACKWELL"

Candied and Drained Peels

C. E. COLSON & SON, MONTREAL

NEW FIRMS COMMENCING.

Blakely & Rogers have opened out as victualers in Halifax.

J. F. Marryatt has commenced business as a grocer in Halifax.

Ruttan & Fitzpatrick have started up as general merchants in Alexander, Man.

Mr. —. Dodds is opening out as general merchant at Oak Lake, Man.

The Reeve, Upton Mfg. Co. have commenced business as chewing gum manufacturers in Montreal.

S. E. Playle is starting business as confectioner and fancy goods dealer in Innisfall, N.W.T.

John Toogood is opening up as grocer and confectioner in Prince Albert, N.W.T.

W. H. Sinclair is opening up as general merchant in Saskatoon, N.W.T.

A NEW PORK-PACKING FACTORY.

Mr. Pakenham, the Dublin pork and provision dealer, who organized pork-packing companies at Brockville, Ont., and Middleton, N.S., addressed a meeting in Smith's Falls, Ont., advocating the establishment of a similar company in that town. The meeting was also addressed by Smith's Falls business men, all expressing themselves favorable to the enterprise. A committee was appointed to arrange details and solicit stock. A capital of $100,000 will be necessary to start the business, and it is expected that it can be secured within a few weeks. Mr. Pakenham himself, takes $15,000 stock, and many of the business men of the town are taking liberal quantities.

CONCERNING RETAILERS.

C. R. Annett, of Watford, who recently sold out his grocery and crockery business, is extensively engaged in the cold storage of butter and eggs, having put in the Tinde British system.

D. G. Parker has opened out a fine stock of family groceries, boots and shoes, and seeds, in Watford.

T. P. McGillicuddy, of Harriston, is removing to Mt. Forest, where he will, with a new stock of dry goods and groceries, bid for the trade of that town.

James Morrison, general merchant, Mt. Forest, has sold out to the new firm of Dill & Dalglish, old veterans in the dry goods trade.

TO FROST WINDOWS.

The following process has been recommended (Deutch. Maler Zeit.): Dissolve one part of wax in ten parts of turpentine, add one part of shellac and one part of drier. Paint the outside of the window pane with this mixture and dab it over it then with a wad of cloth. Any desired pigment may be incorporated.

THE PRESS CLIPPING DEPARTMENT

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

Half an ounce of salt is the average allowance to a pound of butter. The very best butter salt—COLEMAN'S—is retailed in small quantities for about a cent and a quarter a pound. Barrel lots cost considerably less. What possible "saving" can there be by using anything commoner or cheaper?

Insist on having Coleman's Salt.

The poorest butter-maker in Canada can afford to use it. The richest cannot afford to do without it. Our best customers are large users, who do business profitably and economically.

The Dealer's Position.

Grocers with a good farmers' trade sell a lot of common barrel salt for general farm use. If nothing better is kept in stock, their customers have to worry along with it for butter-making, or get the proper thing elsewhere. There is every reason to believe that a grocer can sell more or less Dairy Salt with every barrel of common salt. It pleases the consumer and pays the dealer a good profit.

Coleman's Cheese Salt.

This is another specialty in which every dealer in a cheese-making district has an interest. First-class makers prefer it to anything else. Special prizes are offered at the Exhibitions for cheese salted with Coleman's Cheese Salt. Write us for further particulars.

Carload Lots

Assorted with any of the above grades, together with table and common salt, as required. We ship promptly.

TALK THAT TALKS.

EVERYBODY who knows the grocery trade of St. John, knows that W. A. Magee has one of the handsomest retail grocery establishments in the city, and that his trade is of a character that will not tolerate poor goods. Here is a word from Mr. Magee.

ST. JOHN, April 6th, 1898.

We carry 28 lines of Biscuits manufactured by the Queen Biscuit Co., and the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT is the quickest seller of them all. All their goods give excellent satisfaction to our customers. The sales of the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT have greatly increased with us. We thank most highly of them.

W. A. MAGEE.

Mr. Magee believes in patronizing lower province industries if they produce good goods. So do you all. Give us a chance to prove our claim that BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT, of which we are the sole manufacturers in Canada, possesses the same unsurpassed qualities that have sent the annual production in the United States up to 30,000,000 lbs.

We have given you just one testimonial. We could fill pages with them, from pleased customers as well as from merchants.

Remember—A delicious Lunch Biscuit at a popular price. Only the best materials go into our goods.

"A Grain
of Salt."

It is the trifles that make perfection possible—did you ever examine a grain of salt?

Windsor Salt is sifted, not ground—hence, each separate crystal has the full, natural strength. Pure salt is not bitter—Windsor Salt is absolutely pure. Because each separate grain is a salt crystal pure and simple, it dissolves easily—so much for the Dairy.

Because each grain is a pure salt crystal, it won't cake or harden—a strong point for the Table.

It won't lose its savor—hence matchless for Packers.

You hear this everywhere "as pure as Windsor Salt."

Leading wholesales carry each line we make.

The Time to Act is Now

Some one says "Promptness takes the drudgery out of life." "To-morrow" may never come—the time to make money is now, to-day. The man who acts promptly is the man who gets ahead of his competitors. There is nothing to be gained by waiting—actions speak louder than thoughts.

Three suggestions follow, but you need to act promptly if you wish to liven up the dull season's business—the hot weather trade.

A MODERN GROCERY STORE.

THE grocery and provision store of Michie & Co., 7 King street west, Toronto, which was partially burnt out last spring, was always acknowledged one of the most up-to-date buildings of its kind in Ontario.

Nevertheless, when the store had been renovated and opened to the public it was at once manifested that modern as the old store had been, the new one was more so in many respects.

Some of the changes made were radical, and altered the appearance of the store considerably. Others were merely matters of detail, and were not evident except upon close inspection. All combined, however, greatly improve the appearance of the building.

The store, which extends from King street to Melinda street, is 26 x 170 feet inside. This includes the space at the Melinda street entrance, which is used as a provision and receiving room, and where the offices are situated.

The length of the store makes it difficult to light, yet, with Luxfer prisms at the front and the back and a large window in the stairway leading to the warehouse above, this difficulty has been overcome, and the store is ever bright and cheery.

This brightness has been materially increased by replacing the plaster on the ceiling of the old store with embossed steel of two shades of green, relieved by terra cotta. The walls have also been papered in pale green ingrain with a deep freize.

Michie & Co. do a large liquor trade as well as a big grocery and provision business. To meet the requirements of the law, from the east to the west side, bringing them into line with the rest of the counters, forming a continuous line of counters and shelving on the west wall from the front door to the provision counter, over 100 feet, and returning on the east wall about 40 feet.

The confectionery department has three counters of moderate size, each surmounted by show cases, giving an excellent display to the large variety of these goods carried. Next comes the telephone and order desk, a glazed partition about six feet high, keeping this room free from the public eye and ear.

South of this desk are the three general grocery counters. A study of the accompanying cut will give a better understanding of the arrangement of the shelving, counters, etc., than the pen could give. It is noteworthy, however, that no counter space is devoted to wrapping paper. A shelf about six inches deep, immediately below and running the full length of all counters, is devoted to this paper, thus keeping a good supply in all sections of the store, yet having none of it in the way.

The domestic and imported bottled goods are kept in the shelving back of this first of the three general grocery counters, canned cereals, etc., back of the second, while the canned meats and soups extend all the distance back of the third and in the upper portion back of the provision counter, which compelling liquor to be sold in a separate store, they have built their liquor shop in the east half of the King street entrance, where it extends back about 20 feet.

This somewhat narrows the entrance to the grocery store, but the effect of such narrowness has been overcome by large mirrors in each wall, which also give a handsome effect. The counters in the confectionery department have been changed is at the southern end of the retail department. Two capacious refrigerators, built close to the provision counter, keep the large stock of meats, cheese, butter, eggs, etc., in excellent condition.

The most southerly counters on the east wall will be used as order counters only. In the shelving behind them are displayed the canned vegetables, jams, etc.

Beneath the stairway is the tea and coffee counter. In the shelving here all package teas and coffees are kept. Michie & Co. carry such a variety of bulk teas, however, that they cannot be carried behind one counter. They extend in bins the full distance of shelving shown in accompanying cut.

Each of these bins is made of tin, with a covering of quarter oak. By sliding one lid back the clerk can easily reach the tea, and by pulling out another board the bin can be taken out and refilled.

Each of these bins, of which there are 35; each of the 180 drawers, and each of the 20 cupboards, is built complete in itself and separate from all others, thus preventing mice from making nightly pilgrimages from one drawer or bin to another.

At the landing in the stairway is the buyer's desk, situated so as to command a good oversight over all the stock on shelves, etc.

To the north end of this stairway a large stand on rollers is devoted to the display of green fruit, etc. This stand is now placed on the floor about where the bottom left-hand corner of the cut represents bare floor. Along the wall from the stairway to Capt. Michie's private office is a large assortment of imported biscuits. Capt. Michie's office is built midway between the ceiling and the floor, and is so placed that he can see over the entire store. Immediately below his office the cigar counter is situated. From this counter toward the doorway extend a large show case and show tables. The show case is devoted entirely to displaying candle shades, fancy candles, etc.

Michie & Co. are firm believers in a well-dressed window, and have their King street show window excellently fitted. A screen about four feet high, containing three bevelled mirrors, forms the background, while a liberal use of mirrors and glass shelves makes possible an almost infinite variety of displays.

A large provision room has been constructed in the rear of the store, adding to the accommodation already afforded by two large refrigerators. The provision room is built against an outside wall, and designed so as to do away entirely with the necessity of using ice in the winter months, as has to be done with the ordinary refrigerator.

The office, which was constructed in 1893 on what is known as the American plan, and was in a gallery near the end of the store, has been removed, both because there was insufficient light so near the ceiling, and because part of the construction itself prevented the light from the rear end penetrating the store. A portion of it still stands and is used for storing flour and biscuits.

The new office is on the ground floor, right at the Melinda street window, and is excellently lighted and fitted with new desks, a large vault taking the place of some safes that have been in use by the firm since Toronto was indicated as being in "Canada West."

Part of the building above the store, previously rented out as offices, has been added to the firm's warehouse accommodation. On the first floor above the store the walls are lined with shelving, where is kept everything that is unpacked, and from here the shelving in the store is kept supplied. The second floor is devoted to goods retained in their original packages—cases or barrels—the goods when unpacked going into the shelving on the first floor, and thence to the store in their turn. The top floor, the third above the store, contains the tea room, the brooms, brushes, starch, soap, etc.

The cellars are chiefly devoted to the wines and liquors, and extend beyond their own building, taking up a considerable portion of the space under adjoining buildings.

Stores so complete in every respect as this one are not numerous. In fact, Michie & Co. state that in Canada and the United States north of New York there are but four that are equal in size and finish to it. These are premises of S. S. Pierce & Co., Boston; Faxon, Williams & Faxon, Buffalo; C. Jeane & Co. and Chas. Stark, Chicago.

MONTREAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

John Lovell & Son are now issuing a classified business directory of the city of Montreal for 1897-98, containing the names and latest addresses of the numerous wholesale and retail merchants, importers, exporters, manufacturers, professional men, agents, traders and dealers, commission merchants, tailors, millers, druggists, confectioners, restaurants, newspapers, etc.

This volume will contain a complete list of the 1,200 retail grocers doing business in the city, as well as the 400 dealers in confectionery, 550 restaurants and 425 cigar and tobacco dealers.

The directory will be sent post free to subscribers upon receipt of price therefor, viz. $1.

UNITED STATES SHIPMENTS OF APPLES.

The Fruit Trade Journal says: "The total quantity of apples shipped to all ports for the season of 1897-98 was 913,996 barrels, against 2,919,846 barrels for the season of 1896-97, and over 2,000,000 barrels less than in that season. It will, however, be noted that the season of 1896-97 was the heaviest on record, the next highest shipment being 1,450,336 barrels in the season of 1891-92.

"The largest quantity shipped during the past season from the United States, 361,864 barrels, went from New York, and the heaviest port of import was Liverpool, Eng., which received 490,138 barrels, or two-and-a-half times as many as London, the next heaviest port."

ADVANTAGE OF COLD STORAGE.

THE following letter, written by Prof. Robertson, has been sent by the Department of Agriculture to the several steamship companies sailing from Montreal and Halifax :

"Last season a lot of early varieties of apples were shipped from Western Ontario to Great Britain. About one-half of the quantity was forwarded in cold storage, and the remainder were sent as ordinary cargo. Those sent in cold storage were reported to have arrived all in good condition, and to have been sold at an average price of 18s. per barrel.

"Those sent as ordinary cargo were reported to have been sold at an average price of 8s. per barrel, and sixty-three per cent. were reported to have been landed in a 'wet' or 'slack' condition. For the safe carriage of early varieties of apples it seems necessary that they should be carried at a temperature at or below 40 deg. Fahr.

"On examining the returns from twenty-nine cargoes of apples last year, I find that the same varieties of apples were sold at the same time at prices showing as much as 8s. 6d. per barrel of a difference between the apples which were landed in good condition and the apples which were reported as being landed in a 'wet' or 'slack' condition. For the safe carriage of late fall and winter apples, it seems desirable that they should be so carried, that they may be thoroughly ventilated so that the heat produced by the fruit itself will be carried off."

"When apples or other fruit are kept at a temperature above 40 deg. Fahr., they continue to ripen or go towards decay. That process generates heat. The increased temperature thus caused makes the fruit ripen still faster. For the carriage of apples by your line, could you arrange to have the hold, or holds, for apples thoroughly ventilated by an air duct leading to the bottom of the hold, and by the use of an electric fan, or fans, to suck the warm air from the top? During any particular warm weather on the voyage, the ventilating ducts might be used only during the evening or nights when the air was cool. Our department is calling the attention of growers and shippers of apples to the desirability of packing the fruit in barrels or boxes, so constructed as to permit of ventilation through each barrel or box, and packed tight enough to hold each fruit firmly in place."

"SURPRISE" SOAP.

The St. Croix Soap Co. are energetic and persistent advertisers. They make good goods, and they consider it no extravagance to expend large sums of money in impressing that fact upon the people.

In speaking of the amount of territory which they now endeavor to cover pretty thoroughly, their manager, Mr. Ganong, said that they employ 14 travelers and advertising men, who cover all of Canada, Newfoundland and the West Indies, and that their trade is in a really better condition than it has ever been in the history of the firm.

Mr. Ganong said that he desired to emphasize the fact, that the success of "Surprise" has been principally due to its quality. They started out with this principle, and they have proved that it is good policy. Just another illustration of the fact that whatever one attempts to do in this world, should be done as well as possible. Mr. Charles Grand still continues to represent "Surprise" throughout this Province, where he is justly popular with all the good people.

Good quality, good advertising and good representation on the road, are three most essential things for the soap manufacturer, who aims to secure success. Having said so much, it is scarcely necessary for us to add that the St. Croix people are equally strong in all three departments.—Maritime Merchant.

THE GROCERS' COMING PICNIC.

THE regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening, at St. George's Hall, Elm street. The president, W. H. Marmion, occupied the chair. There was a larger attendance than usual.

T. Holmes proposed Arthur Croft, Barton avenue, as a member of the association. Mr. Croft was received.

A communication was received from T. Kinnear & Co., donating $10 toward the picnic of the association. As this donation was received too late for insertion in the list of donations in the printed programme, THE CANADIAN GROCER was asked to make special note of the gift.

It was then moved by A. R. Williamson, seconded by J. S. Bond, "That this association strongly condemn the action of the property committee of the city council in their refusal to take any action on the petition received from the retail merchants re hawkers' and pedlars' licenses, the same action being detrimental to the business of the retail trade of the city."

This resolution caused much discussion, the verdict of all members taking part being that the property committee had acted injudiciously, and that a determined effort should be made to defeat at the polls the members of the committee who were responsible for the shelving of the matter.

The association then formed itself into a committee of the whole to arrange details concerning the picnic at Port Hope on Wednesday next, the 20th inst.

Reports were received from the various committees appointed to make arrangements, all reporting that their work had been finished satisfactorily.

The programme, a printed copy of which was shown, contains one of the best lists of sports the association has yet had.

There are 14 events, including a baseball match between the Toronto grocers and Toronto travelers, a tug-of-war between the Port Hope merchants and the Toronto grocers, a bicycle team race between Toronto grocers and Toronto travelers, eight men on each team, a boy's scramble race, a ladies'

"Comfort Soap" race, and a number of bicycle and foot races.

The baseball match is exciting much interest. The grocers' team will be chosen from the following players: Davies, Sander-son, Sykes, Boland, T. Clark, Holmes, Kelly, Thorne, Schoales, Johnston and McLean. For the travelers the following are expected to play: Muldrew, Fairwell, Parmenter, Pearson, Burns, Kemp, Murphy, Collins and Coutts.

Committees were appointed to visit the wholesale trade, to sell tickets for the picnic, to conduct the sports at Port Hope, to secure tables, cards, etc., for the use of members and guests on the boat, and to take charge of the sale and collection of tickets at the boat. It was decided that all members of the association should constitute themselves a reception committee on the boat, and that A. White, A. G. Booth, J. S. Bond, R. W. Davies and D. J. Kelly should be the judges of the entertainers on the boat during the trip home.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

T KINNEAR & CO. have received a shipment of C. & B. marmalade in 7-lb. tins; also Heaton's pickles in lever tops.

Fine quintal cod is being offered by W. H. Gillard & Co.

Warren Bros. & Co. are advertising canned salmon at low prices.

Polished Patna and Japan rice are being offered by H. P. Eckardt & Co.

"Beaver" fruit jars and rubber rings are now in store with W. H. Gillard & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have just received a shipment of Armour's deviled and potted meats.

Special prices on canned goods are offered by the Eby, Blain Co., Limited, as per advertisement in this issue.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have in stock some very fine provincial Amalies and finest currants.

Cudahy's "Rex" brand Vienna sausage, in ½ lb. and 1 lb. tins, is in store with the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are in receipt of a consignment of "Ice Castle" lobsters, which turn out beautifully. They state that the price for such a high quality of fish is low.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are just in receipt of a shipment of 3-crown loose muscatel raisins in 50-lb. boxes.

Perkins, Ince & Co. have just put into stock a shipment of their "Ravano" brand macaroni, in 1-lb. packages.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, will furnish to any merchant in the trade who applies, full drawing samples of a leader in Ceylons to retail at 25c., which they claim to be unmatchable value.

W. P. Downey is offering this week Hire's carbonated rootbeer. This beer is made from sterilized and distilled water.

Shredded whole wheat biscuit, wheat shred drink and granulated wheat shred are typical summer specialties that are making new converts to their use every day. These goods are always in stock with the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report that their "Maple Leaf" brand of smoked meats is still in good demand, and that large smoke-houses are taxed to their utmost capacity to keep up with orders.

"We are pushing out gem fruit jars at a lively rate, buyers evidently preferring to pay the recently advanced prices, than to run any further risks in this direction," say the Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS.

PRESIDENT SCANLAN presided at the regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Grocers' Association on Thursday, July 7. There was a fairly good attendance, and, after the minutes of the last meeting had been read and adopted, the members settled down to a discussion of the arrangements for the annual picnic.

Treasurer Dixon read a financial statement showing the net receipts of the association during 1898 to be $890, and the total expenditure $344.47. In his capacity as chairman of the committee on advertisements, Mr. Dixon informed the meeting that the picnic had been advertised in all the local dailies, and that the programme would be ready for distribution by Tuesday, 12th.

Mr. Demers, chairman of the banquet committee, reported that the caterer who had arranged to serve the banquet at Cornwall, asked for a guarantee of $150. After some discussion he was authorized to give the required guarantee.

The railway committee reported a good sale of tickets.

Arrangements have been completed for dancing at the picnic grounds.

Mr. W. H. Dunn read a letter from the Cornwall lacrosse team, expressing their willingness to play an exhibition match with the Nationals on the day of the picnic.

McARTHUR & CO.'S NEW LINE.

UPON receipt of an invitation from Messrs. C. McArthur & Co. to call at their factory, and have a private view of the new line of decorations now being placed before the wall paper trade of Canada, through their large staff of representatives, THE CANADIAN GROCER gladly availed itself of this opportunity.

It may be interesting to give a few facts regarding the pioneer of wall paper in the metropolis of the Dominion, viz., Colin McArthur, who has been a leading spirit in this branch of manufacture during the last forty years, and who, prior to his arrival in the city of Montreal, personally conducted the management of the large and well known firm of Wylie & Lohead, Whiteinch, Glasgow, with whom he commenced as a lad. The foreign business of this firm extended in large proportions, and particularly with Canada and the United States, which resulted in the partnership in 1879 of Colin McArthur with the late John C. Watson, wholesale crockery merchant, of Montreal, under the style of Watson & McArthur, for the manufacture of wall papers; a few years later, he retired from the above firm, and continued under the style of Colin McArthur & Co.

On THE CANADIAN GROCER'S visit to their factory, which is situated at 1030 Notre Dame street, and commands a magnificent view of the shipping of the port of Montreal, the representative was cordially received, and shown the various processes of manufacture, with which most readers are already familiar. One is particularly impressed with the energy and foresight in anticipating the requirements of the different branches of manufacture.

We were also shown the large additional wing to the factory, just completed, and made necessary by their increasing business, which is not confined to Canada, but extends to South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, South America, and the West Indies; we mention this fact particularly, feeling assured it will be interesting to most of our readers to find Canadian manufacturers competing, and successfully so, against the long-established connection of the Old Country.

Their sample rooms are large, well lighted and very comfortable as well. The visitor was shown the results of the efforts, during the last year, to provide a line of wall paper calculated to surpass anything that may be shown to the wall paper trade this coming season. It is extremely difficult to describe the beauty of the combinations shown here, embracing all lines from the cheap to the most expensive; one should, however, particularize the beauty produced by their new system of blending, which must be seen to be appreciated; the strong shades of most unlooked-for colors are taken and blended in a manner that produces the most striking effect, making it difficult to believe that such artistic results can be produced by machinery. This feature pervades the most of their range, and reaches the height of perfection in the line of ingrain friezes. The most popular new shades have been selected as sidewalls, and in these tints, more especially the darker ones, the strong, masterly hand, shown in the reconciling of such dark effects to the delicate tints of the ceilings, is remarkable. The visitor was satisfied the general expression of the trade upon these goods will be summed up in the word "perfection."

After looking through the largest line of samples ever presented to the trade, in any one season, by Colin McArthur & Co., the firm was thanked for the pleasure this visit had afforded.

PORK PACKING AT PALMERSTON.

Palmerston's new enterprise, the pork packing factory, has assumed definite shape. At a largely attended meeting of the shareholders in the town hall on the 7th inst., the following officers were elected: President, W. J. Falconer; vice-president, John Burns; treasurer, Wm. Lynch; directors, Alex. Hamilton, Maryboro'; A. Moyer, John Seiler, George V. Pool, Scott Cowan, W. Gose, Joseph Ankenman, J. Bellany. The stonework will be commenced in a few days, and, ere many weeks elapse, the brickwork will also be completed.

BACK FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Capt. Adams, Warren Bros. & Co.'s representative in the Northwest and British Columbia, returned to Toronto on Friday last. "I had a fairly good trip," he said, in reply to a question. "The trade outlook in British Columbia is good."

"What about Rossland?"

"Business is good there. Things are improving. Do you know," added the captain, as he turned toward me, "I heard no complaints anywhere, about prices, until I reached Toronto."

HALIFAX MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE.

Halifax Merchants' Exchange, spoken of last week, is proving quite a success. It now has 150 subscribers. Stock quotations from New York, Montreal and Chicago are posted daily. A telegraph operator is in the room, which is open all day. Merchants chiefly assemble between 12 and 12.30 o'clock.

The Cowan Ramsay Co., Limited, whose stock of tea was damaged by smoke and water during the late fire at The Gale Manufacturing Co., has sold its whole stock to the insurance companies.

TRADE CHAT.

DURING the last six months there were shipped from Blythe, Ont., 107,440 bushels of grain, 601 head of cattle, and 807 live hogs. The total tonnage was 4,555, an increase of 923 over the corresponding six months of last year.

B. Simon, general merchant, Greenfield, Ont., is having his store thoroughly overhauled, renovated and enlarged.

The general store of A. Skitch, Port Hope, was entered by burglars recently, and clothing, boots, hats, etc., for two, stolen.

During June 69,028 lb. of butter were received at the Northampton, N.B., creamery, and 3,121 lb. of butter were made.

The contract for the supply of green coffee to the United States navy has been awarded to J. J. Donohue's Sons, New York. at 7.55c. per pound.

The London, Eng., Board of Trade statement for the month of June shows increases of £2,710,500 in imports and £323,700 in exports.

The employes of The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. went over on the Chicora to hold their annual picnic at Niagara on Monday.

The Hamilton Coffee and Spice Co. has purchased the vacant lot in rear of the Centenary church on Macnab street, Hamilton, and will erect a very large mill.

James D. Maxwell, grocer, Westville, N.S., has placed a refrigerator in his store, and will henceforth carry fresh fish, as well as groceries and provisions.

The members of the Hamilton Retail Grocers' Association will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday next, the 20th inst., at Queen Victoria Park, Niagara Falls.

A. R. Martin and J. Crawford, grocers, Kingston, have secured the contract for groceries for the Kingston Penitentiary. Hunt Bros. have the contract for the supply of flour.

The prospects for the establishment of a creamery in Tilbury, Ont., are bright, as the canvassers appointed to collect subscriptions for the purpose of establishing a creamery there, are meeting with excellent results.

The retail grocers of London and St. Thomas intend running a combined excursion on Wednesday, the 27th inst., to Niagara Falls, where they intend holding their annual picnic.

There is a movement to form a new ice company for the purpose of supplying the city of Montreal and also for export. The company will be called The Laprairie Bay Ice Co. It will have a capital of $300,000 in 3,000 shares of $100 each.

IMMORAL POLITICAL CONDITIONS.

GREED for office is the bane of political life. In many of the virtues, we are, as Canadians, gradually improving, but in regard to political virtues we are not so positive. On the contrary, there is just a suspicion that we are retrograding.

Time was when the motive which actuated most men in seeking seats in Parliament was the country's good, although their opinions as to what principles were for the country's good may often have been unsound.

But there are a great many men who are getting into Parliament in these latter days who are influenced by no such motives.

It is not the country's good that most concerns them. It is their own. They want office. Principles they care not enough about to give them any qualms of conscience when they disregard them. And often when they are found supporting a principle it is because it pays them best.

They run in packs, but everyone is for himself. And, unfortunately, the Government, be it Liberal or be it Conservative, helps to keep up the running and the pack in line by dangling this and that office in front of the hungry ones, like costermongers do carrots before hungry donkeys, whose speed they desire to accelerate.

Non-successful, impecunious lawyers and doctors, with poor practices and prospects, are the most numerous in the office-seeking pack. Sometimes, one hears a snarl, either at a companion in the running, or at the Government that is keeping them running. But they still hang on till office takes them out, or despair drives them out of one party pack into that of another.

It is a most immoral condition of affairs. And the result is judges on the bench in whose judgment and justice people have little or no confidence, and men in office after office who would never have been put therein by anyone but a politician.

Were a business man, in appointing men to his various departments, to do like unto the politicians, he would be forthwith voted an ignoramus or a fool.

But there is this difference between the politician and the business man: The money one spends is the people's, and the money the other spends is his own.

What is wanted is that men be appointed to judgeships and the various lucrative positions in the civil service, not because of their importunities, but because of their fitness. That is the businesslike way, and it is the proper way. And it is the duty of the business men throughout the Dominion to propagate this doctrine, and to see that it triumphs.

There is an ebb and flow in trade, as well as in tide, and merchants who do not consider these conditions are in danger of being stranded.

PEPPER AGAIN ADVANCES.

Pepper has again taken a bullish turn, latest advices reporting a rapidly advancing market.

Compared with a month ago, prices in the outside market are $\frac{3}{4}$ to 1c. per lb. dearer, and from the lowest point of a couple of years ago the figures are over 5c. per lb. higher.

Fair, but not large quantities, have been bought lately by importers in this country.

Industry is the foundation and common sense the corner stone of success in business.

TEA TRADE IMPROVING.

BUSINESS in teas this summer has not been satisfactory to the importing houses, their great complaint being that they could not induce the jobbers and distributors to buy, despite the fact that values at primary markets exhibited a steadily-advancing tendency. Within the past few days, however, commission men at Montreal report a change for the better, and state that buyers show more disposition to trade, and that the fact has led to a considerable lot of business in new crop Japan, chiefly around 18c. per pound.

This business, so the importers assert, proves that they were right when advising buyers to place their orders early, for the same teas sold last season fully 2 to 2½c. per pound below 18c. It is also their opinion that buyers of first crop teas will get proportionately cheaper goods, and, therefore, better bargains than those who hold back for second crop.

Cables received in Montreal this week stated that the second crop was 28,000 piculs short of last year, and that values had an advancing tendency. It is believed, therefore, that the advance on these teas will be greater, compared with last season, than it was on the first crop. Another notable fact in connection with the new tea so far received is, that it does not commence to show anything like the same quality as last year. The frost appears to have got into the plantations this season to a large extent, and seriously affected the leaf, both in its style and other respects.

With regard to the shipments from Japan to this continent, they are away below last year in the aggregate, though some sections have taken more. Up to June 1, for instance, the total shipments from Yokohama to this continent were 2,667,645 lb., against 4,882,028 lb. in 1897.

The table appended will show how the tea has been distributed:

	1898. Pounds.	1897. Pounds.
New York and Eastern States.....	1,190,175	2,356,625
San Francisco and Pacific Coast ..	123,480	129,552
Chicago and Western States	1,090,219	2,164,848
Canada	263,777	231,003
Total.....	2,667,645	4,882,028

According to these figures the Canadian importations up to June 1 were the only ones to show an increase this year. In addition to the exports from Yokohama, Kobe sent out 686,260 lb. to June 1, which makes the grand total for the present year 3,353,905 lb., against 5,369,382 lb. in 1897, a decrease of 2,015,477 lb.

With regard to China teas, Wisner & Co.'s circular, Shanghai, June 11, says: "Black teas—Our advices from Hankow extend to 7th instant, and report an active market for any good teas, also for common grades; medium quality teas have been neglected, and some of these have sold at prices which showed serious losses to tea men on producing cost. The two crack chops of Ichang tea sold at 65 tls per picul, against 55.50 tls last season. The lowest quotation is now 9.85 tls. On this market only seven small parcels of Wenchow have been shown; they have found buyers at prices ranging from 15¼ to 20¼ tls. Green teas—The first musters of new Pingsuey teas were shown on the 9th instant; to date only six chops have been put on the market; the teas are of a very good cup quality, but somewhat lacking in style. The average cost to the tea men is some 3 or 4 tls over last season; tael prices asked are some 12½ per cent. over last season's opening prices. Wenchows will be shown next week. Country teas are expected in about three weeks; prices of leaf are said to be 4 to 8 tls higher than last year."

CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

Malcolm & Windsor, Limited, Steveston, B.C., under date of July 5, write:

"Since last writing you, the situation has not changed very materially. Scarcity of labor is still a marked feature, and up to date, as compared with this time last year, only half the number of fishing licenses have been granted. It will thus be seen that, as we are within a week or so of the season, there is likely to be a shortage of fishermen the coming season.

"Sockeyes are reported in the Straits, and fishing should start in the Fraser River about the 17th inst."

SHORT ALMOND CROP.

The almond market has taken a firmer turn. Advices state that the crop in France is practically nil, while only a short crop is expected in Spain, and an ordinary one in Italy.

QUOTATIONS ON CANNED VEGETABLES.

UNLESS acquainted with the conditions the trade is likely to be somewhat puzzled in regard to quotations obtaining for futures of canned tomatoes, peas and corn.

As far as can be learned, the goods, which are being offered at the low figures, are not what are termed the well-known brands. Their quality may, as a rule, be as good as those which are better and longer known, but not being as well-known, they are consequently not saleable at as high prices as the latter.

There have been a great many tomatoes bought at 65c. Some houses state they have bought the bulk of their pack at that figure. At the same time, however, contracts have been made for what are known to be the best known brands at 70c., while some packers refuse to quote at all, believing that later in the season they will be able to get better prices. This explains the fact that the wholesalers' quotations for futures range from 70 to 75c. And what applies to tomatoes applies with equal force to peas and corn.

Whether prices now ruling will be any lower no one can with certainty say. The very strong probability is that they will not. For, whatever the crop may be, the prices at which some, at least, of the packers are selling allows but a small margin of profit, while it must be remembered stocks of tomatoes, peas and corn are lower than they have been at the opening of the new season for a number of years.

TORONTO FRUIT AUCTION.

At the Toronto fruit auction rooms, on Wednesday, a car of California peaches, plums and pears were sold, as well as the usual sale of oranges and lemons. The demand for oranges was slow, prices ruling about $2.25 to $2.50. Messina lemons were in even less demand, but prices ruled firm at from $3.30 to $3.85. A fine lot of California Bartlett pears, in 50-lb. carriers, sold briskly at from $3.40 to $3.65. California peaches arrived in excellent condition in 20-lb. carriers, one especially good lot selling at $1.75 to $1.80, another lot going at $1.55 to $1.65. The finest fruit offered, however, was a small lot of plums, four basket carriers, which sold rapidly at $2.30. Another lot of plums which was not quite so fine sold at about $1.75. A few boxes of grape fruit were sold at $2.25 per box.

"SCREW" BUYERS.

A MERCHANT seldom makes anything, and often loses, by being a screw in his buying.

Every man who is in business should know the value of the goods he requires to buy in order to keep his stock well assorted. And, knowing the value, it is a poor policy for him to beat about the bush in order that he may secure the article at a less price. It is the business of every merchant to make as good a bargain as he can, but, in doing that, it does not mean he should essay to do so at a figure he knows to be below the market value. If he does not know the market value, he ought to know, and, with the plentitude of trade papers, there is no good excuse for his not knowing.

There are some, who, because they do not know, try to make up for their ignorance by trying to bluff the man who has goods to sell. But bluffing is not business, and the man who practises it, whether from ignorance or upon principle, suffers thereby. He becomes a marked man, as it were. He is seldom, if ever, offered a bargain. Bargains go to the men who are the very opposite of "screw buyers." When the "screw buyer" comes around, or when he is called upon by a traveler who knows his customer, a margin is added to the price in order that the customary something may be taken off before a sale can be effected.

BOSNIA PRUNES IN CANADA.

During the past season, it will be remembered, Bosnia prunes were driven from the Canadian market by the California product.

The coming season, however, California prunes are not likely to have the same freedom, for Bosnia prunes for October shipment are being quoted on the Canadian market at prices, which, it is expected, will make it difficult for the former to compete.

LOBSTER SEASON CLOSING.

The lobster season closes on the 15th on Prince Edward Island, no extension being allowed this year. It closed on July 1, along part of the Nova Scotia coast.

A SUGAR AGREEMENT AT LAST.

THERE was an important conference last week in Montreal between representatives of the wholesale grocery trade and the two sugar refineries.

The outcome of it is a new arrangement governing the sale of the great staple, which will, if conscientiously enforced, do away with the free lance methods of the past, and allow both the jobbers and the retailers a fair, but not an unreasonable profit for handling sugar.

No one will deny that reform was necessary in this connection. THE CANADIAN GROCER has repeatedly pointed out this fact, stating at the same time, that it lay largely with the refiners to do away with the friction that has long existed in regard to the sale of this staple.

Of late, owing to the keen competition between jobbers, the evil has been aggravated, the unsettled condition of values being accentuated, owing to the action of speculators, who brought considerable quantities of foreign sugar into the market. The result of it all was, that any fixed or stable price on sugar was impossible, and in many cases jobbers not only sold at the cost price, but less, giving the discounts away, that they were allowed by the refiners, and it became absolutely unable for them to control prices.

Up to the present time, the refiners have refused to become parties to any agreement that provided penalties for jobbers who refused to live up to the same. The intrusion of the imported sugar in large quantities upon the Canadian market has, however, compelled them to act in self-defence, and now, under the new arrangement, any jobber who cuts upon the makers' price forfeits his rights to the scale of rebates allowed.

The rebates formerly allowed by the refiners to jobbers were $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on lots of less than 250 barrels, and $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on lots of 350 barrels and over. The new scale is arranged in a different way, for 15 barrels, the minimum quantity that the refiners will sell, and less than 80 barrels, no rebate will be allowed; for 80 barrels or over, there is a rebate of 3c. per 100 pounds; and for 250 barrels and over, a rebate of 6c. per 100 pounds, all being subject to a further cash discount of 1 per cent. if paid within ten days from the date of the purchase.

The effect of the changes means a reduction in the standard prices, for, although the refiners allow the discounts to the wholesaler, who bases his profits according to the quantity sold, the retailer will get his sugar from an $\frac{1}{8}$ to 3-16c. per pound cheaper than he did before, except where the latter was made a gift of the staple by jobbers who entirely ignored the cost price at the refineries, which they are unable to do now. It is but reasonable that the jobber should be allowed a profit, for conservative estimates place the cost of conducting a business in the vicinity of 6 per cent. As the present arrangement is figured to yield from 3 to 4 per cent. the margin does not seem to be enough by any means to pay the bare cost of handling. At any rate no one should grumble if it does away with the old state of affairs, besides being a guarantee in a large sense for the greater solvency of traders, both wholesale and retail.

The agreement applies to the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

WHAT CORN BROOMS ARE MADE OF.

COMPARATIVELY few understand the nature of broom corn, where it comes from, or how it grows.

Boeckh Bros. & Co., Toronto, have furnished THE CANADIAN GROCER with some particulars concerning this plant, which should prove of interest to grocers generally.

The broom corn is grown from seed, planted in much the same way as ordinary corn. It is planted in early spring, in ground carefully prepared. The preparation of the ground is important, and requires years of experience and study. The climate is also important, as it must be neither too hot nor too cold, but of even temperature, otherwise the growth of the corn may be hindered, and it would redden quickly. The State of Illinois produces the bulk of the broom corn used in Canada.

The length of this corn varies from three to six feet, and, while growing, looks somewhat like long prairie grass. During growth it has a root or stalk on the end, which has to be cut off when the corn is harvested in the fall of the year.

The market prices decline or advance according to the size of the crop, which is materially affected by drought.

The corn is cut in the fall when it is at its best, care being taken not to allow it to become too ripe, as, like fruit, it becomes useless, after a certain stage, for anything but seeding. After it is gathered, it is culled, sorted and graded. Then it is packed in bales ready for shipping purposes, with stalks outward to preserve the brush part. When it arrives at the storehouse or factory it may be kept for any length of time before being manufactured into brooms, and always retains its natural color, if properly handled and worked. Inferior stuff is sometimes dyed to hide its defects. This is easily distinguished when exposed to the sun and air.

A broom factory with a thorough equipment is a regular beehive of workers. The bales of corn are opened and sorted into various grades and lengths. Before being made up, the material of each broom is weighed, and tied in round bunches, and is flattened when going through the process of sewing and finishing. Then the loose seeds have to be removed from each broom separately, as mice and rats are partial to these seeds and are likely to destroy the broom in the attempt to get at them.

Boeckh Bros. & Co. personally select the broom corn used by them direct from the growers. Their output is several hundred dozen brooms per week, besides whisks, brushes, etc.

COFFEE CROP CONDITIONS.

W H. CROSSMAN & BRO., of New York, on Friday issued the following circular reviewing the statistical position of coffee:

The outturn of the 1897-1898 Rio and Santos crops was 10,462,000 bags, which we forecasted in our last coffee circular of April 29, when naming 10,500,000 bags. The Rio commissaries, in attempting, in their long explanation of December 7, 1897, to account for their previous "errors," showed a woeful lack of knowledge of the balance of the crop. They then estimated the balance to be 1,100,000 bags, whereas the actual truth is 1,800,000, which displayed their want of sincerity or of knowledge more conspicuously than ever.

While a crop may be earlier or later, dependent upon weather conditions in the months when the gathering and drying is done, it has been proven that the actual receipts for the first six months of the season give a correct indication of the total outturn. The receipts in the first three months may be relatively smaller, as was the case in 1896, compared with 1897, but the total for six months gives a true gauge for the entire crop.

As regards this new 1898-1899 crop, no estimates have come out from independent and experienced exporters, and the estimates from the commissaries in Rio and Santos during the past two years have proved too absurd to entitle them to the distinction of that term. It being forbidden to publish anything but low estimates, consuming countries are left to draw their own conclusions, which practically are that the coffee world is at the commencement of another monster crop, in excess of the world's consumption; and in view of the enormous visible and invisible supplies in Europe and United States, a yield of 1,000,000 bags larger or smaller this season cannot be of much importance. We are yet in a period of over-production, which is likely to continue for some time to come, and even a so-called small crop in these days when the acreage planted in Rio and Santos is so immense, gives considerably more than the world requires.

Since October, 1895, the market has steadily declined, notwithstanding the fact that during all this time the coffee world generally has been leaning to the bull side. Not only so, but strong capitalists and leading houses in the trade in Europe, as well as in the States, have continually carried, all through this period, heavy quantities of coffee, constantly increasing their holdings as supplies came forward. None of these firms styled their large holdings "speculations," but instead "investments," and, according to the reports they have been sending to the interior, the "speculation" in the coffee markets has been confined absolutely to the bear side, for, in their opinion, conservative houses, who, in view of the enormous and ever-increasing supplies, were conducting their business on a plan of safety, covering their purchases by sales in the terminal market, comprised the sinful speculative element, to whom they ascribe, to a large extent, the decline in coffee values! Apart from the absurdity of such notions, let us look for a moment at the actual business record on the New York Coffee Exchange. With a total of 6,337,000 bags of coffee received in the States in one crop year, not one-half that quantity has been reached in the year's option trading, whereas, in former years, of small crop, the option sales have totaled up to 15 to 20 million bags in one year. It is safe to state that the quantity of contracts current at any time the past year on the New York Coffee Exchange has not exceeded 600,000 bags, and, with buyers and sellers for equal amounts, it is evident that not more than 300,000 bags actual sales were open at any one time.

On the first of this month, the world's visible supply of coffee was 5,435,974 bags.

It is well to consider, however, that at no time previously have the official visible supplies been so deceiving as now. In New York alone, the stocks in licensed warehouses are given as 500,000 bags Brazilian, but a similar quantity is held in private warehouses in this locality, which, in the exchange vocabulary, is not visible, having appeared in the deliveries; yet, despite this technicality, the coffee is very much in sight, and such a quantity has never before been held in private storage like this. The coffee belongs to the "investment curriculum," and is not intended to be classed as "speculative" holdings.

The warehouse deliveries in the United States, of all kinds of coffee, 1891 to 1896, were as follows, viz.:

	Bags.
1891-1892	4,412,000
1892-1893	4,398,000
1893-1894	4,299,000
1894-1895	4,396,000
1895-1896	4,339,000
Annual average	4,369,000
The deliveries for 1896-1897 were ..	5,088,000
The deliveries for 1897-1898 were	6,036,000

This last total includes 500,000 bags counted as deliveries, but which still exists in private stores here, and even without this 500,000 bags the latter figures show over 1,000,000 bags more for each of the past two years than the average of the preceding five years. We take the supposition of a possible increase in consumption in the States of 500,000 bags during the past two years, and from this conclude there must be an increase in the invisible of fully 1,500,000 bags, while the 500,000 bags stored apart from the licensed warehouses in New York should be counted with the visible supply, where it belongs.

The deliveries in Europe also show astounding figures:

1891-1892	6,393,000
1892-1893	6,548,000
1893-1894	6,273,000
1894-1895	6,820,000
1895-1896	6,803,000
Annual average	6,567,000
The deliveries for 1896-1897 were	7,155,000
The deliveries for 1897-1898 were	8,536,000

Coffee merchants in Europe have less difficulty in detecting what are deliveries and what consumption than here in the States, for where a duty exists the Customs House withdrawals for consumption are of great assistance towards more accurate figures.

BAD YEAR FOR TEA IN INDIA.

The tea companies of India, like other corporations and industries financially interested in the great empire, experienced the full effects of the disaster of last year. They had to pay extra for labor, in consequence of the rise in food values following the famine; they had difficulties in consequence of the plague; the gardens suffered from the phenomenal weather; and earthquakes devastated the plantations. This has affected the dividends of some of the companies, but most have done well, and the average prices are, on the whole, satisfactory.—Grocers' Journal, London.

TEA GROWING IN RUSSIA.

It is always interesting to note, says Grocers' Journal, what may be the beginnings of a big industry. Last year the first crop of tea that has ever been grown in Russia was secured by Mr. Popoff, a Russian tea merchant. On March 14 he was received in audience by the Czar, and he gave him a sample of the new crop. As tea is largely consumed in Russia, and costs just twice as much as it does in England, it is possible that there is as great an opening for the tea-planter as there was for the vine-grower in that country.

CLERK AND PRAYER LEADER.

There seems to be an opening for a "good" young man in Rat Portage, as will be seen from the following advertisement:

Wanted—A young man to look after general store on Rainy River. Must be sober, honest and a practical book-keeper. Will be expected to distribute and make up mail three times a week in the summer, and to conduct prayer meeting (Presbyterian) on Wednesday evenings. Apply by letter, inclosing references, and stating wages expected, to A. L., News office, Rat Portage.

Why was not the conducting of the Sunday services included? The successful applicant might also fill in his spare time making bricks.—Journal, St. Thomas.

CURRENTS LOWER IN LONDON.

The limited demand for Grecian currants for some weeks past, although not unusual at this season of the year, is having a depressing effect upon the market. The recent arrival via Liverpool came on a dull market, and, in order to move the stock into consumption, importers were compelled to make concessions. The lower prices, however, do not seem to have stimulated the demand, and this is partly accounted for by the activity of sellers of small seedless California raisins, which product, owing to the comparatively low prices at which it is offered, has, it is asserted, been taking the place of currants to a considerable extent, particularly in western and southern markets, and, to some extent, among consumers in distributing centres on the Atlantic Coast.

In the spot market there has been a sharp decline within the past day or two in Grecian currants, Provincial now being obtainable at $5\frac{1}{4}$ c. in barrels, against $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. at the end of last week, and in the finer kinds prices are proportionately lower. The lower figures are primarily due to the dull trade, but the decline has been assisted, it is said, by reports from Greece to the effect that the crop is progressing finely, and that the output promises to be large unless unfavorable weather should be experienced between now and the harvest time, and, as Greece has need of all her resources, of which currants are said to be one of the chief, extraordinary efforts, it is believed, will be made to secure as large a crop as possible. The new crop, it is understood, will be ready for shipment before the end of August, a much earlier date than usual, but the first shipments promise to be of decidedly better quality than those made at the beginning of last year. No prices have yet been made on the new crop, so far as we can learn.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

basket. Red currants are not arriving in as large quantities as last week, when toward the end of the week prices went as low as 20c. per basket. There is a big crop of this fruit, but growers held back their product, forcing an advance to 40c. per basket, which is now the ruling figure. White currants are not so plentiful as the red, nor is the demand so good. The price is 40c. per basket. The crop of black currants is rather below the average, and, as the demand is good, prices rule steady at 65 to 75c. per basket. The gooseberry crop has been good, and, as the demand was not over active, prices fell to 15 to 30c. This decreased shipments to such an extent that the demand absorbs all offering, the price now asked being 30 to 65c. Cherries also have advanced materially over last week's prices. The crop is light, and the receipts are falling off rapidly. The prices quoted now are 75c. for the cooking and $1.25 for the eating varieties. Texas tomatoes were brought in car lots this week, and sold well at 60 to 75c., in 4-basket carriers. Canadian tomatoes have also begun to come in. They are now selling at 85c. to $1 per basket. Watermelons have begun to come in nicely. They are selling at 20 to 40c. A car of California fruit arrived on the market last week, and another is expected this week. The prices received for the car sold last week were as follows: Peaches, $1.40 to $1.50, for 20-lb. carriers; Bartlett pears, $3.50 to $3.85, for 50-lb. carriers; plums, $1.50 to $4.50, for 4-basket carriers. The large range in the price of plums was due to wide difference in quality. The price received for the pears was high, considering the condition of the fruit. Pineapples are off the market, the season ending somewhat earlier than usual. The scarcity of bananas has kept prices firm, and the demand has consequently fallen off somewhat, especially in the city. Lemons have again advanced 25 to 50c. This advance was necessitated by the warm weather, which has made it impossible to import the poorer-keeping stock. As the poorer stock went into consumption the demand for the better goods has increased, resulting in the advance noted. Oranges are in excellent demand. Prices are firm, though no change in quotations is noted.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feeling is decidedly weaker. The offerings have increased materially while the average quality coming in is poorer than usual. This has affected the demand somewhat. At outside points 10 to 10½c. f.o.b. is persistently asked for. The local market is steady at 11½ to 12c.

POTATOES—New potatoes are arriving in larger quantities and are selling locally at 65 to 75c. per bushel. The demand for old potatoes is steady at about 40c. per bag.

HONEY—New clover honey has begun to arrive on the market at $1.25 per dozen.

VEGETABLES—Canadian butter beans have declined 40 to 50c. and green peas 25c. Otherwise the market conditions are similar to last week. We quote: Celery, 25 to 50c. per doz.; onions, seed, 10 to 15c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; radishes, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 50 to 70c. per doz.; long, $1 per doz.; asparagus, 40c. to 60c. per doz.; green peas, small, 50 to 75c.; large, 75c. to $1 per bag; Canadian butter beans, 60 to 75c. per bushel; beets, 15 to 20c. per doz.; carrots, 15 to 20c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Large quantities of dairy butter continue to arrive. The demand has lessened somewhat. Events have proved there was nothing in the market to warrant the figures that have been paid. At present, large lots of dairy tubs are changing hands in the city at 12¼ to 12½c. Smaller fancy lots sell at 12½ to 13c. Dairy pounds are correspondingly weak. At country points 11c. is the ruling figure for both dairy tubs and pounds, with 11½c. for occasional fancy lots. The sale of creamery prints is good, but boxes and tubs are in poor demand. At country points the prices noted are 15 to 15½c. for tubs and 16 to 16½c. for prints, f.o.b.

CHEESE—The market has weakened steadily, till it is now dull. Sales at factories during the past week have been all about 7c., though many factorymen refuse to sell at this figure. The local demand is good, with prices unchanged at 7¼ to 8c. per lb.

PROVISIONS

The demand for all provisions continues to improve. Lard is the weakest item on the list, the demand being good, but not as active as anticipated. There is a steady movement in barrel pork. Long clear bacon is active, and all smoked meats are moving briskly. Prices throughout are unchanged.

FISH.

Receipts continue sufficient to meet demand, which is good. Prices are unchanged as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to 6½c.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. to 4c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; boneless codfish, 3½ to 5c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The market is steady, prices remaining unaltered since last week, except that new red wheat is quoted at 75c., as compared with last quotation of 80c. for the old red wheat. We quote on cars outside as follows: Wheat, red winter, 75 to 80c.; white winter, 77 to 79c.; goose, 75 to 76c. The street market is quiet. We quote: Wheat, white, 76c.; red, 79c.; goose, 70c.; peas, 51c.; oats, 31½ to 33c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at $1, Sarnia freights.

SHEEPSKINS—Nominal. The season is over. Lambskins are in fair demand at 40c., and shearlings, at 25c.

WOOL—The market is dull, jobbers and country dealers disagreeing concerning values. Unwashed is quoted at 10 to 11c. and fleece at 16c.

SALT

Prices unchanged. Business continues brisk. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

dian tomatoes are offered in small lots at 85c. to $1 per basket.

The feeling in regard to cheese, eggs, dairy and creamery butter is decidedly weaker than last week.

A shipment of selected Valencia raisins from London, England, arrived on the market during the past week.

A carload of California peaches, plums and pears, arrived on the market last week. Another car is expected this week.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery are putting a new sample of Canadian Dutch granulated sugar on the market. The sample is a fine one.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, July 14, 1898.

GROCERIES.

TRADE in general groceries has been of a fairly satisfactory character during the past week for the season of the year. The most important development has been the consummation of an agreement with the refiners, by which it is at last hoped that the free lance methods that have governed the sale of sugar will be done away with. At the same time the retailer is to get his sugar cheaper, so that in the natural course of events the consumer ought to benefit by the change. Tea has also commenced to look up a little, and values on this staple, particularly Japan teas, are much firmer in tone. In other lines a fair trade has been done, with no special developments to dwell upon here.

SUGAR.

Demand for sugar has been quite active of late, and prices all round have been reduced as a consequence of a conference that the jobbers had with the refiners last week. The decline averages from $\frac{1}{8}$ to 3-16c., and is now in force, as will be seen from our "prices current." The particulars of the new arrangement, now in force, governing the sale of sugar is given specially elsewhere, and, if it can only be maintained, will be a welcome reform upon the old method of doing business in sugar.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market has not presented many interesting features this week,

McLauchlan's Graham Crackers

J. McLauchlan & Sons, - - Owen Sound

and jobbers, as a rule, appear to be in no hurry about contracting for supplies, though the prices quoted by packers on nearly every line are higher than they were at the corresponding period last year. This is made clear by the fact that the advance of 15c. recently noted in canned salmon on the Coast has not led to any further contracts here since those noted some weeks ago. In vegetables, salesagents here, as a rule, have not had any prices named to them for leading brands. In one case, a contract in tomatoes was reported at last year's prices, but the deal could not be confirmed, and it is likely incorrect. Another lot was under negotiation on the basis of 70c., but when the agent wired the bid the packers refused it, so that quotations in this respect are largely problematical. The expectation seems to be, however, that the opening cost prices on new pack vegetables will be 75c. per dozen tomatoes, and 65c. for corn and peas, but it is only an expectation, for no actual contracts of any magnitude have been closed in any of the three lines named as yet.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups is exceedingly quiet, and prices remain unchanged at the factory at $1\frac{3}{4}$ to $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. as to grade. Of course, jobbing lots necessitate an advance.

MOLASSES.

There is no new feature in molasses. Business on spot is quiet, and, in the absence of any transactions in cargo lots, no quotations on such quantities can be cited. Buyers, however, appear to be well supplied for the time being, so that no change is anticipated. The jobbing range is unchanged, with the usual discounts for ten days cash, as per our prices current.

COFFEE.

Business in coffee continues quiet, and prices, as a rule, are steady. A few invoice lots of Rio have changed hands here at 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 12c., and Maracaibo at 13 to 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., but buyers are not in the market to any great extent.

TEAS.

Demand for teas, while still of a rather limited character, has picked up a trifle during the past day or so, and more business has been done in new crop Japans from first to second hands. Values on these are very firm, lots changing hands at 18c., which is equivalent to an advance of 2 to 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. on the cost price, rating on the same grade last year. In fact, everything seems to point to strong values on tea, and it looks very much as though buyers who bought first crop at the ruling prices will make a better bargain than those who hold off for second crop, which promises to be proportionately dearer than the first crop.

SPICES.

There has been no change in spices, which remain as last quoted.

RICE.

The rice market is without new features this week.

NUTS.

Without change, and there is nothing special this week in the tenor of foreign advices.

DRIED FRUIT.

Advices from London, received here by cable on Tuesday, stated that currants in that market had advanced $\frac{1}{8}$ d. for old crop fruit, and that the market was very bare of stock. Nothing special was reported in the correspondence from primary markets.

Valencia raisins remain as last reported, and nothing new transpires over the cable.

Prunes, figs and evaporated fruits, of all kinds, are dull and unchanged.

DRIED APPLES.

There has been very little doing either in dried or evaporated apples lately, and prices are largely nominal.

GREEN FRUIT.

Trade in green fruit has been of a satisfactory character and prices generally show little change. The strawberry season is over, but raspberries are taking their place, prices running on them from 5 to 8c. a box. The supply of this fruit is exceptionally abundant this summer, hence the low prices. Pineapples are in light supply and steady at 20 to 30c. each. Bananas are unchanged at $1 to $2 per bunch, according to quality. Lemons have been quite active at an advance of 50c. per box, viz., $3.75 to $4, and oranges, too, are in good demand at $2.50 to $3. California peaches sell readily at $1.15 to $1.25, which is a decline, while plums are moving at $1.90 to $2.25. Pears are steady, in boxes, at $2.50 to $3, and watermelons range from 18 to 20c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for choice eggs was good and the undertone to the market for such is firmer, but, owing to the liberal receipts of culls, no actual change in prices has been made yet. We quote: Fancy selected stock, 10½c.; ordinary run, 9 to 9½c., and No. 2 stock, 8 to 8½c. per dozen.

BEANS—Continue quiet and unchanged at 95c. to $1 for primes, and at $1.05 to $1.10 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The market for honey was dull. We quote: White clover comb, 11c. to 12c.; dark do., 8 to 10c.; white strained, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Was featureless and prices nominal. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb., and in tins, 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There was no new phase in the local provision market to note. The demand for smoked meats was fair, but the movement of pork and lard was limited. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼c. to 8½c.; and compound refined at 5½c. per lb.; hams, 10½c. to 11½c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The local grain market has been quiet, but the undertone to it for coarse grains was stronger, and peas advanced fully 1c. per bushel, and for oats, ½c. The offerings of oats at country points are very small, and the general opinion is that the bulk of the crop has been marketed, and that the bulk of the stock in Canada is held here. There was some demand to-day, and sales of No. 2 white were made in store at 30½c., and afloat at 31c. A fair business was done in peas, and some round lots changed hands afloat at 60c. In wheat, a sale of a round lot, of Manitoba No. 1, hard, was made afloat Fort William at 94c., and another round lot was sold over the cable at a figure equal to $1.01 afloat here.

The flour market has been unsettled since last report, and prices are lower. The demand is principally for small lots to fill actual wants, and business on the whole is quiet. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents, $5.25 to $5.40; straight rollers, $4.75 to $5; bags, $2.10 to $2.25; Manitoba patents, $5.30, and strong bakers', $4.90.

The feed market was without any new feature. The demand is fair for the season, but prices are easy. We quote as follows: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12.25 to $12.75; shorts, $13.50 to $14 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $13; shorts, $15, and moultrie, $17 per ton, including bags.

Business in oatmeal continues quiet, owing to the fact that buyers generally have ample stocks for the present. Rolled oats are offering at $3.75 to $3.85 per bbl.

A fair trade was reported in hay, and prices are rather easier. We quote:

CLUB BLEND COFFEES

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market, while it does not record any radical decline, is certainly not buoyant. That is to say, cable advices were not encouraging, while cable quotations from Liverpool have been unsettled. On spot, transactions in some 9,000 boxes eastern realized what most people consider pretty full prices. About 3,000 sold at 6¾c., and the balance between 6¾ and 7c., the outside being made on possibly 4,000 boxes. In addition to these an Ottawa Valley combination sold at 8¼c. Based on these figures the spot market should be at least 7c. for eastern makes and 7½c. for western, but shippers state that they cannot afford to pay anything like such prices. Altogether the market is a very contradictory one, and speculation has a lot to do with the present ruling prices.

Butter remains much the same, prices on finest creamery ranging from 16 to 16½c. There is little doing in dairy makes, and, as a matter of fact, the general demand is of a very indifferent character.

MONTREAL NOTES.

New crop Japan tea has changed from first to second hands here at 18c. Last year similar grade sold for 2 to 2½c. less per pound.

Cables received this week from London, Eng., quote an advance of ¼d. in currants there.

A new arrangement has been arrived at governing the sale of sugar, which is specially referred to elsewhere.

No large contracts in new crop canned vegetables have yet been closed on this market so that prices are nominal.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 12, 1898.

WHILE business continues quiet, there is rather more interest shown than last week. Our weather has been fine. Tourists are daily arriving. There have been quite free arrivals of chemicals, particularly bicarb soda. Prices have been quite low and the expected advance has not yet arrived. In cream of tartar, market is quite firm. In general, prices tend easy, and it has a corresponding effect on sales, people being backward about buying on account of good crop prospects.

OIL—The tendency in all lines to secure business as early in the season as possible, effects this line, as it does others, making it very busy at one time and quiet at others.

There is too much daylight for burning oil to be an active feature, and the earlier part of the season saw the demand for lubricating supplied well into the summer. This is also a quiet season at best, so there is little doing in this line. Cod oil shows small receipts and but limited demand.

SALT—Quite a cargo of coarse, from Liverpool, arrived this week, containing some 7,000 bags; also 500 sacks of fine. Our market takes about 120,000 bags coarse salt in a year. There is a fairly active sale at even prices. As further arrivals are expected, prices are not likely to show any change. In Canadian salt the sale is on the increase, not only for the usual packages, but for fine in 200-lb. bags. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—The market tends rather easier; even in tomatoes, holders are disappointed. Stocks are, however, not large, and it is thought prices will be fairly well maintained. Wholesale dealers could, however, replace stocks, if in the market to buy, on account of goods offered by outside holders much lower than a few weeks ago. New peas are here. Latest reports from packers are to the effect that the pack will not be as large as was expected. Dealers hold back from placing orders for later delivery in any lines, as at least higher prices are not expected, American packers are again rather firmer in canned meats, but chiefly in corned beef, price being much higher than Canadian. Salmon is dull, with fair stocks held. New will have a rather light demand. In fruits, sale is light.

GREEN FRUIT—Business is active, largely in bananas, which are rather more plentiful, as are California peaches, pears, apricots, and plums. These have an increasing sale from year to year. While oranges are pushed somewhat into the background, quite large quantities of Californias have been received during the week. Lemons are quite scarce and prices rule higher, with quite a free demand. Pines are in light supply because of quality. Melons begin to have their busy season; prices show no change. Perhaps the most active business is in strawberries. Receipts from Nova Scotia have been large, and the New Brunswick berry, being much firmer and of particularly good flavor, though a little later than the other show very free supply. Prices are very changeable, depending upon each day's supply and condition of the fruit. For best quality it keeps about 6 to 7c. A few blueberries are to be seen. They are largely shipped away, as they stand up much better than strawberries or raspberries. They are more largely canned in this Province than any other berry. Rhubarb is a drug.

DRIED FRUITS—This is still the quiet line. In new goods quite a quantity of California raisins for future delivery have been placed, but only on open orders, which may be cancelled should opening prices not suit the idea of the buyer. Of late years prices have advanced quickly from opening figures, so that those who are in on above terms stand to make a profit, or at least have a chance to take advantage of first offers made, if they wish. In Valencias, for new goods, little has been done, although for some brands it is said a few open orders have been given. This is, however, an unpopular way to buy goods here. New peels have been largely bought, prices will rule about the same as last season. In giving assortment for California raisins, it is noticed quite an increase is made in the orders for seeded. In spot goods prices are easier, and sale very light. Some very fine 4 crown loose muscatels are offered.

SUGAR—There is little to report; always an uncertain market, and, of late years, a rather disappointing one. It is becoming even more uncertain because of the many grades, particularly of granulated, that are now offered. Business is hardly as active as it should be at this season.

MOLASSES—It is the unexpected always happens, or is apt to happen, and this is the case this year in molasses. Sources of supply opened up which were not expected, and at present prices the market is easy, though stocks are quite light. Rather higher prices are looked for. A small cargo of Porto Rico, on consignment, arrived this week. Though a small cargo, it was quite unexpected. It contained 252 casks, 31 tierces, 50 bbls. Barbadoes shows a good demand, but New Orleans is dull.

PRODUCE—In butter, receipts have been large, and prices have ruled low with sales dull, and, what has not improved the market, is that a large part of that received has not been of good quality. Receipts are somewhat less, but there is little chance for improved values at present. Eggs are limited sale, and prices are easy. Quality needs to be carefully watched. In cheese, local prices are rather lower. As our factories tend to supply the retail trade through the Province it very much affects the demand from wholesale grocers.

FISH—There is a fair trade doing. In fresh salmon receipts keep small. Prices through the season have ruled high, as compared with last year, and will be firmly held. Shad, fresh, are scarce and show quite a range in price. A few mackerel are offered. Dry cod show no change from last week. Pollock are very dull. A few bay herring, pickled, have been received, but there is no sale. Smoked keep low. Boneless have only limited sale this season. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.20 to $3.25; medium, $3.10 to $3.20; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.45 to $1.50 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3 to 3½c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 8 to 12c.; salmon, 14 to 20c.; ½-bbl. shad, $4; mackerel, 14 to 20c.

PROVISIONS—This is a quiet line, particularly barrelled beef, though pork is also very dull. In smoked meats, little is done by the wholesale grocery trade; at this season it is an unsatisfactory line to carry. Lard also shows limited business; prices rather easier.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, the sale is light, and prices tend easier. Brokers in this line are finding it very dull. Quite a little flour is being sold at a loss. In oatmeal and in oats prices are quite a little lower. The decline in oats was quite rapid. Feed continues hard to get. Cornmeal is down to the old price. Hay is dull, which is to be regretted, as very large quantities are raised here. Beans are easy, and sale is small. Barley and split peas are still high, but there is a light demand. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $4.90 to $5; medium, $4.75 to $4.80; oatmeal, $4 to $4.20; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 40 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8.75 to $9.00; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

Mr. John Sealy and wife are spending a short holiday at Grand River, Quebec. Mr. Sealy has a large branch at that place in connection with his fish curing business.

Mackerel are low this season. Boston buyers of fresh mackerel have advised shippers not to send forward large quantities. At Halifax, for pickled, the store price is about $7, outside catch being large. It is said 4,000 bbls, were taken at the Magdalen Islands. The catch by United States vessels, and of Irish mackerel were also large.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, July 11, 1898.

THE weather has settled and everything points to ideal weather for the exhibition week. Already the crowds are pouring into the city and many carloads of exhibits have been run out to the grounds, and all is hurry and bustle.

A number of grain men have been making trips through the country to ascertain the state of the wheat crop, and all reports are favorable. It is not likely that the crop will be very heavy, but the yield will be certainly a fair average all over the Province. One most encouraging feature is the fact that everything points to wheat ripening from ten days to two weeks earlier than last year. In some districts it is already heading out. The country generally has had enough rain, more, barring light showers, would be a positive injury, as it would tend to make the straw too heavy.

Business continues steady with prices well sustained. Of course, the retail trade has been more active in anticipation of the exhibition, but, in groceries and provisions (wholesale), there is comparatively no difference made by the exhibition.

FLOUR—Market quiet, with small demand. Most of the retail dealers are holding off buying as long as possible, in hope of a further slump in prices, but millers say this will not occur. Patent, $2.55; bakers', $2.35; Algoma, $1.85; XXXX, $1.25.

CANNED GOODS—The general indications are that fruits will open lower than last year, and vegetables also. This is the case so far with those received or contracted for. Strawberries are $3 per case, and peas and raspberries will sell (as soon as received), at $1.85 and $2.80 respectively. Tomatoes, old pack, sell for $3.10, and corn for $2. Futures in both are offered at less than last year's figures, but nothing definite can be said until the pack is in.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—Apricots, old stock, 11c. New goods will be here in about two weeks, and present outlooks is for a 1½c. advance, making the price 12 to 12½c. per pound. Peaches and plums and prunes will likely open at last year's figures, but pears will be dearer, as advices state the crop is short.

RICE—The long announced shipment of Japan has not yet come to hand. The market is bare of Rangoon.

TEA—New crop of Japan is expected within a few days. The market opened at about the same price as last year.

COFFEE—Market is slow and quiet. Rios, No. 5, are nominal at 10 to 10½c., but there are practically no sales.

ROLLED OATS—Have dropped slightly since last writing.

BEANS—Remain at $1.30.

CANNED BEEF—Is slightly easier, being now quoted at $3.50.

SALMON—New canned salmon will reach this market in the course of the next few weeks.

On all goods imported from Britain the wholesale merchants are now enjoying the benefit of the preferential tariff. The lines chiefly affected here are Crosse & Blackwell goods, which are the only lines imported in anything like large quantities.

EGGS—Receipts still light, and are really bringing as much here as at any point in British Columbia, which is a most unusual occurrence; 11½c. is quoted.

BUTTER—Dairy is moving freely. Jobbers are paying 12c. at shipping points for round lots of good fresh dairy. Creamery is uniform, at 16c., shipping points. Many of the factories seem to find it impossible to operate profitably at this figure, and are placing their butter in cold storage, hoping for a higher price in the near future. Dealers in Winnipeg do not expect any immediate improvement in price.

CHEESE—Market rather dull, at 7c. for large, and 7¼c. for small.

GREEN FRUIT—Very little change in price. The first pears arrived on Saturday, and are quoted at $5 per case. Watermelons are down to $4.50 per dozen, and are a fine sample. Lemons will now probably remain at their old figure of $5 until after the exhibition. Valencia oranges, the few in stock are now $5 per case. Small quantities of fresh raspberries and blueberries are on the market. These are brought in by retail dealers, and no price can be quoted. In green vegetables, the market is particularly well supplied by local gardeners. very fine cauliflower, cabbage, turnips, carrots, beets and parsnips being offered at very low figures.

The business men of Brampton, Ont., do not believe in "all work and no play." On Thursday evening last week the dry goods merchants and the grocers had a game of lacrosse. The dry goods men won after a brilliant exhibition of the national game.

The Hartland, N.B., Advertiser states that the wheat crop in the neighborhood of that town will be below the average, notwithstanding the good season. It seems that the seed did not all grow, and part of what has grown has died, as though blighted by some kind of an insect.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

July 14, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS.

IN its issue of July 2, The California Fruit Grower says: "The movement of raisins is light. For the month of May, shipments overland amounted to about 104 cars of 12 tons each, as against 48 cars in May, 1897. Shipments from July 1, 1897, to May 31, 1898, were 3,320 cars. It is estimated that the shipments during June, added to the stock on hand, will bring the total to about 3,800 cars, or over 90,000,000 pounds of raisins, as the crop of 1897. Indications point to a much bigger crop this season. Just how much of this large crop will be harvested and placed upon the market depends upon the weather conditions. The Raisin Pooling Association reports progress with its work. A lower freight is to be asked for, based upon an increase from 12 to 15 tons as a minimum carload."

THE SALMON SITUATION.

The salmon situation on the Coast is thus reviewed by The San Francisco Trade Journal in its issue of July 1: "Prices for Fraser river salmon are on the basis of 93¼c. for talls and 87¼c. for Skeena and other northern river salmon. They are fishing and packing on the upper rivers in British Columbia, but we are not informed as to the run. Fishing will commence on Fraser river and also on Puget Sound July 10. On one or two streams emptying into Puget Sound fishing for the market is reported, with good runs of salmon. Advices received from Columbia river by large handlers in this city state that the pack of chinook to date is less than at the corresponding time in 1897 and that the pack of bluebacks is largely in excess. The trade reports heavy sales of bluebacks in halves on the basis of 62½c., but little doing on the basis of $1 for talls. If these fish are the same as the sockeyes then the difference in prices for Puget Sound and Fraser river sockeyes and Columbia river bluebacks is too large."

CALIFORNIA PRUNE CROP.

According to The Los Angeles Fruit World the prune crop in the Visalia district, Cal., will be about one-sixth of the yield of last year, when nearly 400 carloads alone were shipped from that point. The prunes, however, that are growing are in excellent condition, and the quality will be equal to previous years.

U. S. TOMATO MARKET STRONGER.

The tomato market is the strongest among canned vegetables, owing to the large demands of the Government, which, it is reported, have closely cleaned up the spot supply. Over 50,000 cases have been sold to the Government within the past few days. The general consuming demand in this, as in other lines, is only moderate, though equal in volume to the business of past years at this season, when the competition of fresh vegetables restricts consumption. Advices from Maryland are to the effect that the tomato plants have been considerably injured by the drouth.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce, July, 11.

PEAS IN NEW YORK.

Only a small volume of business has been transacted. The demand from dealers for lines has been slow, as they have been experiencing a dull trade with both the out-of-town and local retail trades, as they, with few exceptions, have supplied their wants for the present, the few orders received having been, with few exceptions, for supplies to meet some especial requirements. The tone of the market has held firm, as sellers have shown no anxiety to make sales, they having only limited stocks on hand, and the fact that advices from primal points report prices firmly maintained at above a parity with local values also has given tone to the situation.—Journal of Commerce.

CANNED GOODS IN NEW YORK.

In canned goods on the spot there is a decidedly firmer feeling, due to reports from packing centres in connection with the demands of the Government for army ration supplies. The consuming demand for tomatoes, corn and peas does not seem to be very urgent at present, however, but the feeling in each of these is reported to be much firmer than it was a week ago.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

DRIED FRUIT IN LONDON.

Currants—The market for currants has been dull, and prices of Provincial are lower; the moderate sales include Provincial half and quarter cases at 17s. 6d., Amalias at 18s. 6d. to 19s., and Gulf at 21s. 6d.

Raisins—Raisins remain generally quiet. The Sultana market continues to be quiet, and the demand from the grocers is of a most disappointing nature. The latest reports of the growing crop are to the effect that it may turn out to be equal to that of 1897; that it can be a large one seems hardly to be expected. There is no quotable change in the Valencia market, beyond the fact that where an odd parcel or two has been pressed for sale a rather lower price had to be accepted.—Grocers' Journal.

CANNED GOODS IN LONDON.

Salmon sells steadily, and there is no disposition to clear stocks, except at full prices, although these are mostly below the cost at which they could be replaced with 1898 pack.

Lobsters—Supplies still come to hand in very limited quantities, and as importers continue to ask very fancy prices, the demand is very much restricted.

Sardines—There is a steady inquiry for these goods, but no change to note in quotations for either French or Portuguese.

Compressed Beef—There is a moderate sale for this article even at the high price quoted for all brands and sizes of tins.

Ox and Lunch Tongues—The demand continues very steady for both, and, as supplies are still limited, prices remain firm at the high quotations ruling for all brands.

Fruit—The smallness for spot stocks of fruit has become accentuated during the past few weeks, and 6s. 6d. per dozen is practically the lowest quotation for apricots; this is fully 2s. per dozen advance since the commencement of the season. Peaches and pears are in much the same position. There is a very good demand ruling for pines. Small sizes are very scarce, whilst 2½lb. tins are also in short supply.—Grocers' Journal.

CANNED GOODS IN MARYLAND.

At present the market is very quiet, with no changes reported by the brokers in their reports, although it is current that there is considerable quiet buying, and a satisfactory trade being done.

Tomatoes are said to be somewhat firmer, and the price slightly advanced, but it is not a marked advance by any means, however, it serves to show that the market is not on the decline, and that the tendency is to go higher.

Peas and beans have been cut short in this section, and it is reported that string beans sold for canning purposes as high as 70c. per bushel, making them almost entirely prohibitive.

Maryland is not expected to have more than half a crop of peaches, and it is estimated that Delaware will not be any better off. This fruit has suffered very severely in this State, not only the green fruit being injured, but the trees themselves, in many cases, have been killed.

The apple crop of this State will be short likewise, with the exception of a few counties in the western part of the State, which have also a pretty good peach crop.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md.

MONTREAL GROCERS' PICNIC.

BEAUTIFUL weather, a large crowd, and the freedom of the town of Cornwall, all combined to make the 18th annual picnic of the Montreal Grocers' Association on Wednesday last an unqualified success. Two heavily loaded trains left Montreal at 8 and 8:30 a.m., arriving at Cornwall about 11 o'clock. The picnickers were carried by electric cars to the St. Lawrence Park, a beautiful spot, situated on the banks of the river, where a lengthy programme of sports was immediately proceeded with.

The banquet, which was held in a large tent on the grounds, was most enjoyable. About 200 grocers and their guests sat down, and, justice having been done to the many good things provided, the president, Mr. John Scanlan, in a few well chosen words, proposed the first toast on the programme, "The Queen," which was drunk most enthusiastically. The next toast, "The Judges," was proposed by Mr. Thomas Gauthier, who said that the carrying out of the programme of games, etc., in fairness and justice to all, was in their hands, and much of the success of the picnic depended on their efforts. Mr. Childs responded for the judges, and said that all that they could do was done gladly and with the object of furthering the interests of the picnic.

"The Mayor and Council of Cornwall" was proposed by Mr. S. Demers, who extended the hearty thanks of the grocers' association to the mayor and corporation for the trouble which they had gone to in order to make the visit of the grocers a pleasant one. Nothing that could be done had been neglected, and he felt sure that all appreciated the efforts made to entertain them.

The Mayor, in responding, said that he and his confreres were proud to receive a visit from such an association as that present to-day, and that the little trouble taken by them was more than repaid by the honor conferred upon the town. He expressed the hope that, at no distant date, the visit of the grocers would be repeated. Councillor Delorme replied in French, expressing the pleasure which they all had at seeing so many present from Montreal.

"The Wholesale Grocery Trade of Montreal" was fittingly proposed by Alderman R. Turner, and responded to by Mr. Irwin Harris and Alderman Laporte, the latter making a speech which created much enthusiasm. Mr. Clarihue also responded to this toast.

Mr. Valliere having proposed the toast of "Our Guests" in eloquent language, it was responded to by Mr. S. A. Starr, of the Cornwall Electric Railway, who expressed the hope that the grocers would come to Cornwall again soon, and promised an equally good time and a hearty welcome. Dr. Rodier also responded.

"The Mayor and City Council of Montreal" was proposed by Mr. A. D. Fraser. He said that it was a fashion nowadays to cry down the aldermen and civic representatives, but this was a great mistake, and he felt that it would not be easy to secure better aldermen than those that represented Montreal to-day. This toast was responded to by Alderman Laporte and Alderman Clarihue.

The toast of "The Press" was proposed by Mr. Raby, who paid some high compliments to its usefulness. This toast having been responded to by two or three present, Mr. John Robertson proposed the toast of "The Ladies" in pleasant and witty terms, eliciting much applause. The toast was well received, and a more than ordinarily good banquet of this nature was thus brought to a close.

A good orchestra having been provided, dancing was indulged in by the young people throughout the whole day.

The steamers Rocket and Gracie made trips around the islands in the vicinity and as far as Stanley Island, many availing themselves of those enjoyable sails.

The Citizens' Band of Cornwall received the picnickers at the station, and was in attendance throughout the day, adding much to the enjoyment of the many visitors.

The programme of games was completed without accident or anything to mar its success, resulting as follows:

MARRIAGE OF W. H. SEYLER.

ON Thursday, of last week, a wedding, of considerable interest to the trade, was celebrated in Hamburg, Ont., when Miss Minnie, third daughter of Hon. Senator Merner, was married to Mr. W. H. Seyler, the well-known broker, Toronto. The wedding was a quiet one, taking place at the beautiful residence of the bride's father, at 12.30 noon, in the presence of the family of the bride and the parents of the groom.

The Hamburg Independent concludes a notice of the ceremony as follows: "The Independent joins the many friends of the popular couple in wishing them a happy and prosperous future. It might be mentioned that the groom is a native of Hamburg, and was during his residence here one of the town's popular young men, and it is but natural that he should return to his old home to secure for himself a helpmate and wife."

After the wedding dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Seyler left for a trip to the east. They will reside at 36 Lansdowne avenue, Parkdale.

THE CANADIAN GROCER tenders its congratulations.

NEW TELEPHONE CO. IN LONDON.

A number of the business men of London, Ont., have been incorporated under the style of the People's Telephone Co., of London, Ltd., with a capital of $100,000, for the purpose of introducing a new telephone service in opposition to the Bell Telephone Co., Ltd. London's agreement with the Bell Company ended on June 19, and as the latter refused to reduce its rates, a new agreement has not yet been entered into. The Bell Company's rates are $40 for business 'phones, $35 for residential 'phones, or $65 for both. The new company offer, if the franchise is given it, to put in business 'phones for $26, residential $18, or both for $42.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. D. H. Reynoldson, commission agent, Montreal, is on a business trip to Great Britain.

Mr. Rose, of Rose & Laflamme, is combining business and pleasure in a trip to the Pacific Coast, etc.

Charles P. Hebert, of the wholesale grocery firm of Hudon, Hebert & Co., Montreal, has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the City and District Savings Bank, to replace the late Sir Adolphe Chapleau.

Mr. D. I. Warren, of Warren Bros. & Co.'s sample room, is again back at his desk after a three months' course at the Stanley barracks. He is a lieutenant in the Governor-General's Body Guard, and was at the barracks taking a special course, the result of which is seen in a much-bronzed face and a graceful military tread.

A PROSPEROUS TEA HOUSE.

A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GROCER spent an instructive half hour with Mr. Mann, the manager of Salada Ceylon Tea Co., in its new warerooms, corner St. Paul and St. Sulpice streets, Montreal.

Mr. Mann's first remark was: "Three years ago we found desk room in another firm's office sufficient for our business, whilst to-day our business has increased to such an extent that, for the eastern trade alone, we do not find a four-storey building too large for office, sample-room and storage." They have now in stock from sixty to seventy-five thousand pounds of tea.

To show the great increase in the sales of Salada Ceylon tea, Mr. Mann said that for eighteen months after coming to Montreal it cost them $2.35 per lb. to sell their teas, whilst now, they sell, in Montreal alone, to 600 grocers.

Among the many reasons why Salada Ceylon tea has made such strides may be mentioned three: 1st. They sell exclusively to the grocers. Pedlars and departmental stores receive scant mercy from them. 2nd. They allow no cutting in prices. 3rd. They positively guarantee all their teas, even going so far, if necessary, to give a written agreement that if their teas are not all they are represented to be, they may be returned at the firm's expense.

All these combined give the grocer security against unjust competition, a good tea and a good profit, and, as Mr. Mann very aptly puts it, "the grocer knows when he has a good thing, and sells it."

The Salada Ceylon Tea Co. was wise in the choice of its representative in Montreal. Mr. Mann is both a tea and business man; while he probably knows as much about tea as any other man in the trade, he also knows good business methods, as a glance around the office and through the advertising cards shows, to say nothing of his use of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

The Palmerston, Ont., Pork Packing Co., has been incorporated by letters patent; capital $99,990 in $10 shares.

OYSTERS THE YEAR ROUND.

THE oyster lover will no longer have to spell the months to see whether there is an "r" in them before he dare venture on his favorite indulgence.

We are to have a supply of oysters all the year round. The latest development of the British Empire is a colonial oyster industry.

New Zealand is sending 5,000 dozen frozen oysters, of native production, as an experiment. George Tabor, of Lower Thames street, is hourly expecting their arrival.

It is three years since a New Zealand merchant, on a summer visit to London, sought unsuccessfully for an oyster. "What, no oysters?" he exclaimed, after the fashion of the lady who married the butcher. "We must send you some from New Zealand." The idea has at last become a fact. In a day or two London will be invited to try a new specimen of colonial produce.

They are for cooking purposes, soups, sauces, stews, patties, and the like. It is not expected that anybody will eat frozen oysters on the half-shell.

At present, the summer oysters come principally from Portugal and France, and are laid on English beds. The oysters from New Zealand will be kept in refrigerators. They are said to be fine, and white, and plump. As a trial, some were frozen and cooked in New Zealand. The report was favorable.

The first cargo will be put on the London market at 8s. a hundred. It is intended to send consignments once a month, until the months arrive spelt with an "r." The oysters are frozen in blocks of eight and fifteen dozen.

The arrival is timely, for the "native" season came to an end yesterday. In a little while, it is said, we shall be talking of "New Zealand, where the oysters come from."—Mail, London, Eng.

The bottled beer of England requires nearly 70,000 tons of corks yearly.

ENGLISH VINEGAR IN CANADA.

A GOOD article, if it is properly pushed, usually wins its way. During the last few years Purnell, Webb & Co., proprietors of the Vinegar brewery, Bristol, Eng., have been pushing their malt vinegar more vigorously in Canada, and, as the quality of this commodity is undoubtedly excellent, it is gradually becoming a staple on this market.

Among the shipments recently made to this country was a carload to the Winnipeg agents of the company, A. Strang & Co. A good order was also recently shipped to C. E. Jarvis & Co., of Vancouver, the British Columbia agents.

The reduction of one-fourth in the duty on British goods is expected by Purnell, Webb & Co., to stimulate their trade with the Dominion. It is worthy of note that they attribute much of their business in the Dominion to their advertisement in the columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

PRESERVING FRESH MEAT.

A new method of preserving freshly killed meats is described by Consul Hughes, of Sonneberg, who says; "The animal to be used is first shot, or stunned by a shot from a revolver (loaded with small slugs), in the forehead, in such a way as not to injure the brain proper. As the animal drops senseless, an assistant cuts down over the heart, opens a ventricle, and allows all the blood to flow out, the theory of this being that the decomposition of the blood is almost entirely responsible for the quick putrefaction of fresh meats. Immediately thereafter, a briny solution (made of coarse or fine salt, more or less strong, according to the length of time the meat is to be kept) is injected, by means of a powerful syringe, through the other ventricle into the veins of the body. The whole process takes only a few minutes, and the beef is ready for use and can be cut up at once."

CANADA AND THE BACON TRADE.

MR. L. M. DOUGLAS' article on bacon-curing in the last number of the Royal Agricultural Society's Journal—to which we briefly referred a short time back—is fully worthy of careful study from the Canadian, as well as from the English standpoint. True, the writer's object is to point out the best means of developing the latent potentialities of the trade in this country. But the facts and figures he puts before the reader have an almost equal significance for the Canadian farmer. For, as Mr. Douglas points out, bacon curing is not an industry peculiar to any country; it depends upon the conditions upon which agriculture is conducted, and the place the pigs are allowed to occupy in the economy of the farm. "The mere technical details of curing are not the property of any country or of individuals."

The first fact to notice is the continuous increase in the British imports of pig meat. Of bacon alone, the import of 1897 was over 5,000,000 cwt., and its estimated value was £8,867,846. Next, it should be observed, that Canada now takes second place among the bacon-curing countries whence these supplies are drawn. The United States still heads the list, but its pig statistics for 1897 show a distinct shortage as compared with the previous year. Against this falling off, however, and a similar decline in Denmark and Sweden, must be set the increase in the case of the Dominion. Not only has the number of swine in Canada steadily grown, but, as Mr. Douglas goes on to point out:

It is safe to say that the coming rival of all other countries in the production of bacon is Canada. The attention given to the breeding of pigs by the agricultural authorities, and the enthusiastic co-operation of the farmers, are alike contributing to this result. "Pea-fed Canadian" is fast displacing Danish meats, and taking the leading place in the English market. No doubt the supplies from Canada will continue to increase by the same leaps and bounds as of late years, so long as the Dominion farmers devote as much attention to the quality of hog produced. It is said now that one house alone in Canada often kills as many hogs in one week as the whole of the Danish slaughteries. It will be noticed that there is a large increase in the number of hogs bred in 1891 as compared with 1881, and a still greater increase, in at least two of the Provinces, in the year 1897.

The supplies from Canada have indeed injuriously affected the market for Danish meats, and the future of the import trade certainly seems to lie with the Dominion and the United States. How far these opportunities are taken advantage of must rest largely with the Canadian farmer himself. For, although Mr. Douglas is naturally anxious to see greater attention paid to the industry in the Old Country, it is safe to assume that the demand here will continue to grow steadily and will leave a large proportion of the trade at Canada's control, whatever may be done by the English bacon curer.—The Canadian Gazette.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

THE difficulties of internal communication in British North America about fifty years ago can hardly be realized now by the person who has become accustomed to the use of the telephone, the telegraph, the railway, and our admirable postal system. Then the most expeditious method of sending messages or traveling was by steamboat or stage coach in summer, and by sleighs in winter. In 1853 it took ten and a half days for a letter to go nevertheless, it was extensively practised until the rates were lessened.

In February, 1837, Mr. (afterwards Sir) Rowland Hill published his famous pamphlet, "Post Office Reform." In it sweeping changes in the management of the Post Office Department of the United Kingdom were first publicly advocated. The most important recommendations were, a uniform rate of postage (prepaid) of one penny, within the United Kingdom, for letters not exceed-

These stamped covers, known as the "Mul-ready envelope," were, in a few days, rejected by the public, and adhesive stamps almost wholly used.

At this time the post offices of the British North American colonies were under the control of the Postmaster-General of Great Britain, and neither the boon of cheap postage nor the use of postage stamps was granted to these colonies for some years, although asked for. The initiative appears to have been taken by Nova Scotia. The post office commissioners of that colony, in 1844, recommended the use of postage stamps in the colony, and petitioned the Postmaster-General of Great Britain to issue them. This petition was unheeded, but when notice was again called to it, the Government of the United Kingdom refused to grant the request, giving as an excuse that the stamps might be forged, the forgers would probably escape and a loss would be incurred. It took more than a polite refusal to repress the public men of those days in their agitations for reforms, particularly when reform appeared so necessary, and the reason for not granting it so trivial. A few years later from Quebec to Detroit; in 1857, after the completion of the Grand Trunk Railway, it took but 49 hours.

The postal accommodation was poor and the rates of postage were excessive. Just previous to 1850 the rate on a single letter (without an envelope), not exceeding one-half ounce in weight, was 4½d. currency for 60 miles and under; 6d. for 60 to 100 miles, and it increased in about this proportion. The cost of sending a letter from Montreal to Toronto was 1s. 1½d. Between the Provinces and the United Kingdom the uniform charge was 1s. 2d. sterling, or 1s. 4d. currency per ½ ounce. For newspapers ½d. was the lowest rate. Notwithstanding the high rates charged, the revenue of the Post Office Department was comparatively small, because few letters were written and payment of postage was avoided by the sending of letters with friends traveling to the place to which the letters were addressed. The carrying of letters by private persons was punishable by a fine, but, ing ½ ounce in weight; and that "stamped covers and sheets of paper be supplied to the public from the stamp office or post office at such a price as to include the postage." The general use of adhesive stamps does not appear to have formed part of the original scheme, but was a suggestion to obviate the difficulty that might arise from the use of unstamped paper. Stamped all the British North American colonies joined in a demand for colonial management of the post office, and offered to account to the Postmaster-General of the United Kingdom for all letters going to or by way of the United Kingdom. The combined requisition stirred the Imperial Government to action. The time was opportune. A new colonial policy was to be given a trial. The leading men in the Imperial Parliament were beginning to recognize the fact that to retain the affections of the colonies a greater measure of letters from one place to another within the four colonies to be 3d. currency for $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. or under, and for a letter over $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. and not over 1 oz. 6d., and so on at the same rate; letters posted in the colonies addressed to the United States, except to California and Oregon, to be rated at 6d. currency, or colony. In all the above cases prepayment was optional.

The Acts of all the colonies except Prince Edward Island, provided for the issue of postage stamps as an evidence of prepayment.

Sir Edmund Head, Governor of New Brunswick, suggested that the stamps of each colony should be of similar design.

self-government would have to be granted them. Consequently when petitioned on post office affairs, an Act was passed by the Imperial Parliament in the twelfth and thirteenth years of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, entitled "An Act for enabling Colonial Legislatures to establish Inland Posts."

After a great deal of correspondence between the various colonial Governments, an agreement regarding post office management was arrived at, and an Act was passed

10c. per $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; to California and Oregon, 9d., or 15c. per $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; the rate to Newfoundland, 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., 3d. inland and 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. packet per $\frac{1}{2}$ oz.; from Nova Scotia the packet rate to be 5d.; the rate to the United beaver." This stamp was designed by Sir Sanford Fleming, who, I believe, has the original proof in his possession. The 6d. stamp is purple or black lilac in color, and bears the picture of the Prince Consort. The 12d. is black in color and bears the picture of the Queen. Only about 1,500 of this last stamp were issued, and it is, consequently, the rarest and most expensive of all the Canadian stamps, a perfect specimen being worth from \$300 to \$400. The manner in which the value is expressed on it is not an error, as might be supposed, from it being officially called a "shilling." There were shillings of different values in circulation in various parts of the colony, and to more definitely describe the value of it "twelve pence" was used instead of "one shilling." This last stamp was withdrawn when the 10d. stamp was issued on December 5, 1854. The 10d. was issued to prepay postage to the United Kingdom, the rate per ½ oz. via the United States having been reduced to 8d. sterling or 10d. currency. Although the letter rates per ½ oz. to the United Kingdom were reduced to 10d. via Cunard packet and 7½d. via Canadian packet in 1854, the public did not have the convenience of a 7½d. stamp until Aug. 1, 1857. On this date a ½d. stamp was also issued.

These stamps were all imperforated, and had to be cut or torn apart. In 1858 the ½d., 3d. and 6d. were issued perforated.

In 1859 the Decimal System of Currency was introduced, and this necessitated a new issue of stamps in this system. They were of values: 1c., 5c., 10c., 12½c and 17c. These stamps were similar in design to equivalent values in the old currency, and do not call for any minute description. It is worthy of note though that the sterling designation is retained in the 12½c. and 17c., from the fact that these stamps were used to prepay postage to the United Kingdom. On Aug. 1, 1864, a 2c. stamp was issued similar in design to the 1c. It was used to prepay "prices current" and periodicals to the United Kingdom. These stamps were used until Confederation. Those issued then will be described after those of the other colonies.

On Feb. 10., 1860, stamped envelopes were issued of the values of 5c. and 10c. The post office authorities saw that the vital principle of the system of uniform postage was prepayment, and to secure this end they issued stamped envelopes and had recourse to a system of fines. Letters to the United Kingdom, if not prepaid, were fined 6d., that is, the receiver had to pay the regular rate and 6d. additional. Between any two points in Canada the rate per ½ oz.,

if prepaid, was 5c., but if paid by the receiver of the letter 7c. was charged.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

The Legislature of New Brunswick passed an Act establishing inland posts on April 26, 1850, and an additional Act on March

THE P.E.I. CENTS ISSUES.

15, 1851. These Acts were still further defined by regulations adopted on July 7, 1851, the date upon which the new Acts came in force. The stamps authorized by the Act were issued on Sept. 6, 1851. They were of three values—3d., 6d. and 1s. They are diamond shaped, and similar in design. These were the only stamps issued before the decimal currency came into use.

For prepaying postage by stamps to the United Kingdom, Newfoundland, or United States, the device of bisecting the stamps on hand was resorted to. These bisected stamps are called "provisionals." The diagonal bisection of the 3d. was the most common. This does not appear to have been authorized by the Post Office Department, as in Nova Scotia, but the practice was evidently not discountenanced.

On April 9, 1860, an Act changing the currency was passed; a clause in it specified that it was to come in operation on Nov. 1. The Postmaster-General, Hon. Chas. Connell, anticipating the change, had ordered stamps of the values of 1c., 5c., 10c., 12½c. and 17c. These stamps were received early in 1860, but it was found that the 5c. stamp bore the picture of Mr. Connell. This was considered irregular by the other members of the Council and the Governor, Hon. J. H. T. Manners-Sutton; consequently the Provincial Secretary, Hon. S. L. Tilley, on May 27, informed the Postmaster-General that he had received notice from the Governor that the stamps should not be issued till approved of by the Governor-in-Council. The 5c. stamp was not approved, and a new one was ordered, to bear the picture of the Queen. On May 18, a memo. was addressed to the Governor by the Executive Council, asking him to approve of and to order to be distributed all the values but the 5c. This angered Mr. Connell, and precipitated his resignation on May 19, 1860. From what I can learn I believe that none of the "Connell" stamps were used regularly.

In 1863 the 2c. stamp was issued. This stamp was for the purpose of prepaying postage on a letter mailed and delivered in the same county, the rate having been reduced from 5c. All stamps of the cents issue were perforated and were in use until Confederation. The 10c. stamp and the 2c. stamp have been found bisected and used for half the value of the whole stamp.

NOVA SCOTIA.

The Act establishing Inland Posts in Nova Scotia became law by proclamation on June 17, 1851. Stamps were issued on Sept. 1, 1851, of the values of 3d., 6d. and 1s. These stamps are of the same diamond shape, size and design as those of the first issue of New Brunswick, and were printed on bluish paper.

In the first month of 1853 a 1d. stamp was issued to facilitate prepayment of postage on drop letters in Halifax, and to help to make up exact amounts in prepaying postage to Newfoundland and the United States. In 1854, when the rate per half oz. to the United Kingdom was reduced to 7½d. currency, to save expense, no new stamp was issued, but authority was given to bisect diagonally the 3d., calling each half 1½d. Although the 3d. was the only stamp authorized to be bisected, the other values were similarly treated, and the 6d. and shilling were quadrisected.

These stamps were imperforated, and continued in use until one month after the introduction of the new stamps in the Decimal System, on Oct. 1, 1860. The new stamps were not ready on Jan. 1, 1860, when the coinage was changed, and great confusion resulted from trying to adapt the old stamps to the new system. The issue of these stamps marks the introduction of compulsory payment of postage. The values of these stamps were 1c., 5c., 8½c., 10c., and 12½c.

On May 11, 1863, "The County Postage Act" came in force; by it, the rate on letters mailed and delivered in the same county was reduced from 5 to 2c. On the above date a 2c. stamp of the same design as the 5c. was issued. The 5c. and the 10c. are met with bisected. The cents issue were perforated, and were the last stamps issued by Nova Scotia.

"An Act to Provide for the Transfer of the Management of Inland Posts" on May 18, 1851. As previously stated, the Act did not provide for the issue of stamps, and it was not until March 9, 1860, that the Act was amended to provide for their issue. As a result a 2d. stamp, a 3d. and a 6d. were issued on Jan. 1, 1861. The 2d. and 3d. were authorized to be bisected diagonally.

About May 1, 1862, a 1d. and a 9d. were issued, and during the last months of 1867 a 4d. stamp.

On June 1, 1870, the letter rate per half oz. to the United Kingdom was reduced to 3d. sterling, or 4½d. currency, and to prepay this rate a stamp of this value was issued. This stamp has a full-face view of the Queen's head, while all the others bear the profile view. In 1871 the currency was changed, and in 1872 a new set of stamps, in the decimal system, was issued of values of 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 12c. These were in use about a year, Prince Edward Island entering Confederation on July 1, 1873.

It may be of interest to know that the original dies and plates of the 1d., 2d., 3d., 4d. and 9d., 1c., 3c. 4c. and 6c. were purchased at auction from the successors of Messrs. Whiting, who were the designers and printers of these stamps, by a Mr. Tuer, a collector of objects pertaining to printing. Mr. Tuer had large offers if he would sell unconditionally, but refused, and finally disposed of them to Messrs. Tilleard and Garth, who presented them to the London Philatelic Society. This is a guarantee to collectors that the dies will not be used for any illegitimate purpose.

VANCOUVER ISLAND AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver's Island was constituted a colony in 1849, and remained as a separate colony until 1866. In 1857 gold was discovered on the mainland, and in the next year a part of it was formed into a colony, called British Columbia. In 1856, Sir James Douglas, chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company, was appointed Governor of Vancouver's Island; and in 1858, when British Columbia was made a colony, he was appointed Governor of that also. He held the dual position until 1864. That the executive of both colonies was practically the same accounts for the fact that the first stamp issued was for both colonies. Its value was 2½d., and it bore the picture of the Queen's head in profile to the left, "British Columbia" above, "Vancouver's Island" below. It was issued in 1861, and continued in use until 1865. Some were imperforated and some were perforated. From this date till their union, in 1866, each colony had different stamps. Those of Vancouver's Island were a 5c. rose and a 10c. blue. The stamp in use in British Columbia was a 3d. blue.

After the union of the two colonies and the introduction of the decimal coinage, sheets of stamps printed from the same plate as the one last described were surcharged with the value in cents. These stamps continued in use until July 20, 1871, the date on which British Columbia became a Province of the Dominion.

It is rather a curious and interesting incident that any British stamp should do duty alongside of a United States stamp, but abundant evidences are to be seen of this. When, in the early '60's, and before there was an all-Canadian route to the Pacific, letters were posted in British Columbia, via San Francisco, with British Columbia stamps; on reaching San Francisco they were again stamped with United States stamps and sent on their way, the San Francisco office charging British Columbia with this additional postage. In many cases the United States stamps completely covered those of British Columbia, and on old correspondence surprises sometimes result, for on removing Washington's picture one may possibly find that of our Queen beneath, the United States stamp having been pasted over the British stamp at San Francisco.

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agents, MONTREAL.

Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, on July 1, 1867, was made the occasion of a new issue of stamps. The first Dominion of Canada stamps issued were: 1c. for newspapers; 2c. for "prices current" and periodicals for the United Kingdom; 3c. for ordinary Dominion letters and those of Prince Edward Island; 6c. for letters to United States; 12½c. for letters by Canadian Packet; 15c. for letters by Cunard Packet. Home talent was patronized in the production of these stamps. They were designed, engraved and printed by the British American Bank Note Co., of Montreal and Ottawa, and, although there is little variety of design, they are a very creditable production. These stamps were put in circulation in March and April, 1868. Shortly after this the ½c. stamp was issued for the purpose of prepaying postage on periodicals sent singly, and less than one ounce in weight. The rate to the United Kingdom by Canadian mail steamers was reduced to 6c. in 1870, and to 5c. in 1875. To facilitate prepayment of this last sum a 5c. stamp was issued on August 1, 1875.

As the supply of those stamps was exhausted they were replaced by others very similar in design and approximately the same colors, but smaller in size.

The 12½c. stamp was not replaced by another of the same value, as there was no necessity for it. In 1837 a 10c. stamp was issued. In 1893 the registration rate to local points, to the United States, and to the United Kingdom, was made uniform, 5c., and might be prepaid by any stamps whose total value was 8c., 5c. for registration and 3c. for postage. To facilitate prepayment by one stamp, an 8c. stamp, not a registration stamp, was put in circulation.

In 1875 a 2c. registration stamp, to prepay registration rate in Canada, a 5c. to United States, and an 8c. to the United Kingdom had been issued. The registration rate was additional to postage rate and could be prepaid by registration stamp only.

Post cards were first issued for the convenience of the public in 1871. Several designs and sizes, value 1c., have been issued since, and in addition a 2c. card for writing to places in the United Kingdom has been in use since 1877. A double card (reply) for use between places in Canada has been in use since 1882.

Envelopes of the value of 1c. and 3c. have been in use since 1877. A few years ago, when the rate for letters, posted in cities to be delivered in the same city provided with a regular delivery system, was increased from 1c. to 2c., an envelope of the value of 2c. was provided. In 1893 letter cards of the value of 2c. were issued, and later of the value of 2c. Comparatively few envelopes or letter cards were used, the public evidently not appreciating their convenience.

One cent wrappers for newspapers are more generally used than stamped envelopes, and have been in use since 1875.

THE JUBILEE STAMPS.

In June, 1897, the close of the 60th year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria was celebrated. To commemorate this momentous event, Canada, as well as many of the other colonies, issued a new set of stamps. The stamps of Canada have the portrait of the Queen in 1837 and 1897 in ovals. They are all of the same design. The values are:

½c.	1c.	2c.	3c.
5c.	6c.	8c.	10c.
15c.	20c.	50c.	$1
$2	$3	$4	$5

The honor of suggesting an issue of stamps to commemorate the Jubilee largely belongs to the Toronto Philatelic Club, which passed a resolution on the subject. Along with this resolution was transmitted a paper on the value of the study of philately and a suggestion that the designs of the various stamps should indicate the resources, the beauties, the emblems and the important events in the history of our country.

It is to be regretted that this latter suggestion was not acted upon as a memento and as a national advertisement. If it had been, the beauty and value of the stamps would have been greatly enhanced. To more fully recognize this it is only necessary to look at the Jubilee issue of Newfoundland, consisting of 14 stamps, ranging in value from 1c. to 60c., each having a different design and each design commemorative of some historical event or personage, or indicative of some colonial sport or industry.

To minutely trace the gradual development of the postal system of Canada from Confederation until the present time would require the space of a large book. In matters of registration, transmission of money by means of money orders, the institution of a savings bank department, the free carriage of newspapers and other periodicals from the office of publication and the reciprocal arrangements with nearly every country in the world, the postal system has made giant strides. At the present time the Postmaster-General's Department is one of the most important in the public service as regards the revenue produced and the wide grasp of the subject that the head of the service must have.

Taking a retrospective glance at the various stamps of Canada and associating them with the various circumstances that caused their issue, we cannot fail to recognize that each issue marked a distinct advancement in the facilities for communication between the people of the colonies themselves as well as between the colonies and the Mother Country. Macaulay has well said:

Of all inventions, the printing press and the alphabet alone excepted, those inventions that abridge distance have done most for the civilization of our species. Every improvement of means of locomotion benefits mankind morally and intellectually as well as materially, and not only facilitates the interchange of the various productions of nature and art, but tends to remove national and provincial antipathies and to bind together all branches of the human family.

The benefits to be derived from the recently proposed cheapening of the letter rate between all places in the British Empire are of vital importance to the Empire as a whole, and particularly to Canada. It is hoped that the promoters of the scheme will bring to a successful issue a plan so fruitful of good to the people of the Empire.

It is a remarkable fact that Governments are very slow to move in any matter that tends to preserve in some form those things that throw most light upon the past events of the country. It is only of recent date that the archives branch was established at Ottawa by the Government of Canada. The irreparable loss sustained by not forming such a branch earlier is quite evident to anyone reading the able reports of the Archivist, Dr. Brymner. Good work is now being done by the Legislatures and the Government of Canada is collecting everything that is valuable in shedding light upon the past. I am not aware that the Government has done much in the way of preserving the various issues of stamps of the country. It is not yet too late to make a beginning, and it is hoped that an effort will at once be made by the authorities to get together a comprehensive collection of the various stamps issued in the Dominion of Canada for revenue and postal purposes. —A. C. Casselman, in The Canadian Magazine.

TO PICNIC AT THE FALLS.

The members of The Retail Grocers' Association of London are to picnic at Niagara Falls this year. The picnic will be held on Wednesday next, 27th inst., and it only requires fair weather to make it a success, for the grocers of the "Forest City" are always loyal to the association when its annual picnic comes around. The grocers of St. Thomas, Tilsonburg and Waterford are to join the excursionists en route.

The fares are: London, adults, $1.75, children, 90c.; St. Thomas, adults, $1.75, children, 90c.; Tilsonburg, $1.60, children, 80c.; Waterford, $1.25, children, 65c. Tickets are good for two days.

A NEW CATALOGUE.

The Fairbanks Co. has recently issued a neatly illustrated catalogue of its various styles of trucks, including baggage barrows, express wagons, grain or meat wagons, store, warehouse, railroad, hotel, dry goods, carpet, wagon and leather trucks, brick cars, wagons and trucks, push carts, skids, hand push cars, etc., etc. The company is prepared to furnish quotations for these goods to the trade, and also to the consumer. Copies of the catalogue will be furnished upon application to the Montreal office, 749 Craig street.

CANNED GOODS STEADIER.

CANNED goods have assumed a rather stronger position during the past week. This applies to new pack canned peas, corn and tomatoes.

The general opinion is that the pack of peas has not been as large as it was anticipated it would be, owing both to want of rain and too rapid ripening. At the same time, however, it is the opinion that the output will be sufficient for requirements.

In regard to corn, the bullish influence is the fact that the little touch of frost of ten days ago left its mark on the growing plants, although to what extent remains to be seen.

There are two or three rumors in regard to tomatoes. One is that the recent frost did some damage, while the potato bugs and other insect life are reported to be attacking the growing vines.

A good many orders for new pack tomatoes have been booked by the wholesale houses at 70c., but this week 75 and 80c. per dozen are the prices asked as a rule. We do not hear that they have done any business at the outside figure, but they do not appear to care whether they do or not, preferring at the moment to await further developments.

What the ultimate outcome of the tomato and corn pack will be time alone can tell. The weather of the next month or six weeks may work a great deal of good or a great deal of harm. All THE CANADIAN GROCER is essaying to do is to give the conditions as they are to day.

While the market in regard to futures is firmer, it is worthy of note that the market for last season's pack of canned tomatoes is weaker. The ruling idea as to price appears to be $1 to $1.05 per dozen, although it is doubtful whether a lower bid would be rejected by at least some houses.

RAILWAY EARNINGS IN CANADA.

THE gross earnings of the two great railway systems in Canada for the first six months of the present year are of a most gratifying character, reflecting, as they do, the expansion of trade in the country.

The earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway are particularly gratifying, being $11,581,909, against $9,712,694 during the corresponding six months of 1897, an increase of over 19 per cent. The earnings of the Grand Trunk during the six months were $11,379,614, against $10,428,976 in 1897, an increase of over 9 per cent.

The Klondyke trade and the heavy grain movements explain in part the large increase in the earnings of the Canadian Pacific road.

"CUT" IN PAPER BAGS.

Some time ago, it will be remembered, the Canadian Paper Bag and Flour Sack Associations agreed upon an advance in price, manufacturing having, owing to competition, hitherto been carried on at a loss, in certain lines at any rate.

Since then, one of the parties to the agreement has broken it. And now a battle royal seems to be on foot again, for the members of the associations referred to have determined to meet the competition wherever it presents itself.

There always appears to be at least one man in every line of trade who is unwise enough to cut prices and lose profit in order that he may get business and injure competitors.

AN EFFECT OF THE HIGH PRICE OF JAPAN TEA.

THE relatively high prices which are now ruling on teas of Japan growth, are likely to seriously militate against these teas.

In Canada, Indian and Ceylon teas, especially the latter, are gradually increasing in favor to the exclusion of all other kinds. China black teas particularly have suffered in this respect, but, with the price of Japan teas at the height they now are, they are likely to feel more keenly than before the competition of British grown teas. Indeed, THE CANADIAN GROCER is informed by representatives of Japan tea houses that this is already being experienced.

Besides the advantage which British grown teas will probably receive from the high price of the Japan product, the lower grades of China green teas also stand to profit thereby.

The same influence will also tend to increase the consumption of Indian and Ceylon teas in the United States, though to what extent remains to be seen.

A business that will not stand a little advertising is like unto a dying man, beyond the reach of medicine.

IT PAYS TO BE CONCERNED.

Young men who have no concern for the welfare of their employers have not enough concern in regard to their own affairs to make their own life a success.

A clerk, behind either the counter or the desk, is only of value to his employer when he exerts himself in behalf of that employer, and the measure of his value is the measure of his exertion.

Therefore, the more a young man does for his employer directly, the more he is doing for himself indirectly.

By honest effort—and honest effort is doing all he can—the young man not only becomes entitled to higher wages, but he is at the same time acquiring more knowledge and skill, which shall fit him the better to carry on business on his own account when opportunity offers.

It pays to be concerned about your employer's business; it does not pay to be unconcerned.

TWO POLITICAL ACHIEVEMENTS.

A GOOD THING FOR CANADA.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL MULOCK is entitled to the thanks of the business men of Canada for having secured a penny postal rate on half-ounce letters posted in Canada and destined for the United Kingdom, Newfoundland, Cape Colony or Natal.

It is a boon to them, for it means a reduction of 60 per cent. on the cost of sending letters to the countries enumerated. Coming, too, at a time when the possibilities of trade expansion between Canada and the United Kingdom were never so bright as they are at present it is particularly apropos.

But, aside altogether from the benefits which will accrue to Canadian merchants from a reduction in the rate on ocean postage, there is another respect in which benefit will accrue to the Dominion. We have reference to the advertisement which this country gets.

Since the present Government came into power it has been particularly fortunate in keeping the Dominion well advertised before the British Empire in particular and the world in general.

First there was the Preferential tariff, which was the best advertisement Canada ever had. Then came the abrogation of the German and Belgian treaties, at the instigation of the Dominion Government, and now, through the representations of the Canadian Postmaster-General, aided, no doubt, by Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, a penny postage between Canada and the United Kingdom is secured.

The Dominion Government has done a great many things it ought not to have done, and left undone a great many things it ought to have done, but no one, except the veriest partizan, can find complaint with what it has done, at least in the way of advertising Canada.

What the Government should now do is to give a two-cent postage rate within the Dominion, and the long-delayed fast steamship service between Canada and Great Britain.

By an Act passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament, the Government was empowered to transmit, upon proclamation of the Governor-General, letters within the Dominion at two cents. The Government can, therefore, at any time put the two cent rate into operation. With regard to the fast steamship project, the power was obtained long ago, but the realization of it appears to be as far away as it was two years ago.

A BAD THING FOR CANADA.

NOT for many a long day has a manifesto attracted so much attention as that issued last week by Hon. Arthur Sturgis Hardy, Premier of Ontario.

The conditions which induced the manifesto were extraordinary: The legality of the votes cast by special constables at the last provincial election had been called into question by the Opposition, the result of which, were the courts to sustain the latter's contention, might mean a change in the political complexion of the Government in Ontario.

But, extraordinary as were the conditions, still more extraordinary is the manifesto of Mr. Hardy. As Attorney-General, Mr. Hardy is the especial guardian of the law, and, as such, his office is to see, not how loosely, but how closely, the law is observed.

The question as to whether the votes cast by special constables appointed by the Government are legal no doubt creates an inconvenience, and it certainly is irritating. Then, too, the trouble is not of the Government's own creation: Constables have voted for thirty years without the right of their doing so, until now, being called into question.

But, does the fact that constables sworn in specially for election day purposes have for thirty years voted warrant the Attorney-General going to the extraordinary length of, by retroactive legislation, taking the deciding of the question out of the hands of the Court of Appeal, a disinterested, non-partizan body, and submitting it to an interested and partizan body with the avowed purpose of making legal the votes of the special constables cast on March 1 last?

We think not. And the business men of this country think not.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is not a political journal. It is a trade journal; but justice and business are so nearly synonymous terms, that it feels it is its duty to "speak out in meetin'" when a question of such grave importance is at issue.

And the question at issue is indeed a grave one. Concern for the right of special constables to vote is only a subterfuge. The real concern is the retention of power. No one will deny that.

If the Conservative party were in power it is quite possible it might have had no qualms of conscience about doing the very thing the Hardy Administration now proposes to do, for political morality is about the same in one party as it is in another. But, even if the Opposition was prepared to go the Government one better in political immorality, it is no excuse for the retrogressive, vicious step.

It is to be hoped the Government will change its plans. The question at issue has been submitted to the Court of Appeal, and slow as that body appears to be in considering it, there it should be allowed to remain. In pursuing its purpose the Government will be creating a bad precedent in Canadian history. And a precedent too which means a lessening of that respect for authority, as exemplified in the courts, upon which we as Canadians pride ourselves. No party can afford to do this, even as the price of power.

Office is, no doubt, valuable, but principle is more so, or should be, and it is better to sit in the shades of Opposition for a time than, by doing ill, retain power, and thereby create a blot which time will never efface.

To business men the incident is another proof of the unscrupulousness of politicians, and another argument for their keeping free from the entanglements of either party.

SALMON RUN IN B. C.

A private letter from the Coast stated that the run of new season's salmon was expected in a few days. "The run of fish," it said, "has begun on the northern rivers and tends to be fair. In regard to the Fraser river it is too early to say anything, but we expect to learn something before very long."

JOBBER'S SHORT OF TEA.

FROM time to time this season, ever since the early spring, there were reports from Japan to the effect that prices on tea were certain to be much higher this year than last.

Unfortunately, some of our Canadian jobbers gave these too little thought this year, concluding that, as the season advanced, they would have no difficulty in getting all the tea they wanted at last season's figures, or nearly so.

Accordingly, they accepted forward orders from their own customers, the retailers—who appear to have been much wiser than their friends, the jobbers—at last season's basis, and now it transpires that the reports were correct, and that new Japan tea is all the way from 2 to 3c. per pound dearer than it was last year, with a prospect of still further advances.

Naturally this is not a pleasant condition of affairs for wholesalers who have accepted orders on last year's basis, for they stand to lose a tidy sum of money.

Of course, nothing is definitely known regarding the exact quantity sold short, but it is an open secret that two leading houses in Montreal have sold quite a block of Japans forward, and houses in Toronto and other Ontario centres are in a similar position.

In fact, possibly 10,000 packages of Japan teas have been contracted for by retailers on the basis of last year, and they stand to make a handsome profit on them as matters stand at present.

Of course, the jobbers have the heavy end of the stock, and they have been doing a lot of scurrying around lately to procure all the supplies they can, imploring their importing friends to give any assistance that it is in their power to give.

Cables this week from Japan are as firm as ever, and report that the advance as it stands now represents a gain of fully 15 per cent. on the figures ruling three weeks ago.

EVAPORATED VS. DRIED APPLES.

There are indications that the exportation of sun-dried apples to the European Continent will not be what it once was.

Two years ago, it will be remembered, the price of evaporated apples was down to a point which once obtained for the ordinary sun-dried article. The result was an increase in their exportation. And now the enquiries being received on this side from the European Continent is for the evaporated kind, the sun-dried seemingly not being wanted.

Of course, the extent to which the people in Europe will be able to gratify their acquired taste will be largely determined by the figures which will rule as to price.

HOLDING BACK ON MOLASSES.

DESPITE the fact that their supplies are rather light than excessive, wholesale grocers in Montreal seem determined to hold off regarding the purchase of Barbadoes molasses.

They certainly have not laid in stock for the coming winter this season as they did in the past. They allege as their reason that prices are so high they consider it a dangerous operation to stock up to any large extent and then have the market drop on them.

Accordingly they seem determined to operate from hand to mouth this year until late in the fall, when, of course, they will have to secure a certain quantity before the winter regularly sets in. On account thereof transactions in round lots are as scarce as black swans, and few or no car lots are changing hands.

Inattention to customers is the unpardonable sin in business.

STIRRING UP BRITISH EGG PRODUCERS.

England, and London especially, still draws enormous quantities of eggs and poultry from abroad, most, if not all, of which might, and should, be raised within our own shores. On three days of the present month, a correspondent writes to the Consular Journal, the gigantic total of 25,000,000 eggs was landed at a single port from Russia, and this, of course, without prejudice to the steady importations constantly taking place from France, Italy, Holland, and elsewhere. Within the limits of Greater London there is space enough to rear an indefinite amount of poultry, and that the metropolis should continue to pay heavy sums to foreigners for inferior produce easily obtainable within her own boundaries is nothing less than deplorable. —Grocers' Journal.

If a business man cannot get along without cutting prices it is certain he cannot get along by cutting them.

When a merchant does not display his wares in his window he is displaying his own business incapacity.

There may be some rogues among merchants, but when a merchant robs it is himself that is the victim.

If, peradventure, there is a man who "knows it all," he is the last man in the world who should know it.

It usually takes dollars to spend a holiday, but the health it gives in return makes the investment a good one.

Character, as well as goods, is necessary in business, but see that your character, as well as your goods, is good.

That which brings success to one man in business may bring ruin to others. To be successful in business a man must do his own piloting.

There is one thing about the female clerk: Just as the merchant thinks he has her it is quite probable that some young fellow may come along and take her to himself.

THE WINNIPEG INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

THE Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition for 1898 was closed on Saturday, and will go on record as the most successful in the history of the city, and this is not faint praise by any means.

When last year, after a three days' continuous rain, the directors managed to snatch victory from defeat and come out with a good surplus, everybody felt that they deserved to have fine weather this season, and, sure enough, they had it. The whole week, though excessively warm, was without rain, with the exception of a light shower early Wednesday morning.

The exhibit in all lines was good, the attractions were well managed and acceptable. The railway companies had done their share nobly in the matter of cheap rates, and a number of excursions for a day were run in from various parts of the Province, and on Friday an excursion was run in from points in Dakotas and Minnesota. This excursion came in over the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, was composed of 62 passenger coaches and brought in over 7,000 people.

Union Jacks and star spangled banners floated together from many points of vantage, and as almost every third person had on a badge or carried a gay fan, the effect was extremely festive. Many of the American visitors will remain for some days.

It is too early yet to estimate the exact number who visited the fair, or the amount made by the directors, but the fact that 17,000 people paid entrance fees to the grounds and 9,000 to the grand stand on Friday alone gives some idea of the success of the undertaking. There are so many features that are interesting to readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER that it is difficult to know where to begin or end.

The stock exhibit is, of course, one of the chief features of Manitoba exhibitions, and this year the cattle shown were ahead of anything before exhibited, though the number was not up to that of last year, as, owing to the extreme heat, some of those who made entries were afterwards unable to send in their stock. The cattle shown by Premier Greenway attracted a great deal of attention, and were winners of numerous prizes. The number and beauty of the Jersey cattle was noticeable from the fact that for many years they were considered too tender for this climate. The exhibit of sheep was small, but many of the individual classes were finely represented. In hogs, the number of exhibits was very large and the standard very high.

The dairy building was enlarged this year, an addition having been made for the display of dairy machinery, which was shown fully set up and in motion. In this building was also a full line of dairy supplies. In the butter and cheese department the number of exhibits was 148 of butter and 40 of cheese. A much larger number of entries had been received prior to the exhibition, but, as in the case of the cattle, many would not send their exhibits on account of the extreme heat. For instance, 18 creameries made entries, but exhibits were received from only 9. The 20-lb. package of farm dairy seemed a favorite class, as there were 24 exhibits. Robert Scott, of Shoal Lake, made a special display of 1, 2, 5 and 10-lb. tins of butter for export to tropical climates. The cream from which this butter is made is all pasteurized. There was also an exhibit of condensed milk, made by the La Broderic factory in Manitoba. Prof. Farrington, of Madison, Wis., who acted as judge for this section, pronounced the exhibit a very good one. The average score was 90 to 92, with some running over 95. The cheese was very fine in both flavor and texture.

In the matter of fruits, the display was small, owing to the early date of the fair. There was, however, a fine exhibit of vegetables in the different classes, and also a large quantity of grain, the rule being that wheat cut last season shall be shown at this season's exhibition.

The main building was devoted to the exhibits of manufactured goods.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' PICNIC.

THE members of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association have a reputation for well-conducted and enjoyable picnics. On Wednesday they added much to their reputation by their picnic to Port Hope, when they, with their friends to the number of about 500, went by the steamer Garden City to that beautiful town.

The boat left Toronto about 7.15 a.m., fifteen minutes later than advertised, but two or three minutes too early for a few dilatory young people.

Port Hope was reached about noon. A reception committee, consisting of O. D. Stephens, F. H. Brown, J. Dunfee, F. Curtis and C. T. Troop were, with a large number of people, awaiting the excursionists at the wharf. Mayor Quinlan mounted a wagon when the boat reached the wharf, and, in a few sentences, expressed pleasure at the visit of the Toronto grocers, stating also that the day had been appointed a civic holiday, and inviting the visitors to take possession of the town. Three cheers were given for Mayor Quinlan and the committee, and soon the crowd had taken possession of the dining-rooms of the various hotels in the place.

After dinner the visitors, together with a large number of the townspeople assembled in the large athletic grounds to watch the programme of sports. The day was scorching hot, so a large number sought the shade of a small grove of trees on an adjoining hillside overlooking the grounds.

From this hillside the various events were watched with much interest. It would be difficult to state which event was the most interesting, the fat man's race, the soap race or the boy's scramble, all being pregnant with laughable incidents. At times the baseball match, too, was interesting, but as the score, 23 to 2, will indicate, the grocers were more than a match for the travelers. The work of the battery of the grocers was the feature of the game, 10 men being struck out by Pitcher Davies in four innings. The grocers are now willing to play a game with any mercantile organization in Toronto or out of it.

There were 22 entries for the soap race, ranging in age from girls of 17 to women of 50.

The conditions of the race were that each woman was to run 100 yards, picking up a bar of soap every 10 yards, and carrying all her soap in an apron to the finish. The stumbling and falling of the women in their attempts to pick up the soap as they ran, was indeed funny "for the spectators."

The boys' scramble race had also about 20 starters. In this race the boots of all the boys were piled up in a large pile, the boys having to run 50 yards to the pile, find their boots, put them on and run back. The scramble for the boots was "superior" in every respect to the wildest scrimmage in a Rugby field.

The fat man's race brought forth some champions, of whom J. Ellston, Richmond Hill, was the heaviest. Some excellent running was done by some of the heavy-weights, but the labored movements of some of the more bulky participants conducted much to the merriment of the crowd. The bicycle and foot races were keenly contested and well won, Port Hope boys winning most of the bicycle events.

The tug-of-war, between Toronto grocers and Port Hope merchants, was indeed "a long pull and a strong pull," the rope moving first a few inches one way, then a few the other way, till at last the referee put up his hand to declare that the Toronto team had pulled its opponents to the limit necessary. This signal was promptly obeyed by one or two of the Toronto team, when the Port Hope men, who had not seen the signal, pulled the rope their way, thinking they had won. The referee gave his decision in favor of the Toronto team. This was not acceptable to the Port Hope team, so the other two pulls did not come off. It was unfortunate that this disagreement ensued, as, except for it, there was not the slightest hitch in the day's proceedings.

This large programme of games, combined with the presence of Port Hope's excellent band, made the afternoon pass so quickly that the crowd got back to the boat just a few minutes before six, the hour set for the return. A large number from Port Hope came down to see the boat off, and promises were freely given accepting the invitation to come again.

During the return trip, a group of entertainers, captained by "Charlie" Fairbairn, afforded great amusement to the pleasure-seekers.

Speeches were made expressive of the good time all had had, of the courtesy of the Port Hope residents, and of the desire to be present at the next picnic. Song, chiefly sentimental, passed away the time till the boat was near the wharf, when, with an outburst of patriotic enthusiasm, hats were doffed, and "God Save the Queen," "The Maple Leaf," and "Rule Britannia" were sung with an ardor which showed the temperament of the men aboard. This, with a couple of verses of "Auld Lang Syne," closed the evening's enjoyment. Meantime, in the stern of the boat, King's orchestra had during the whole evening, played for a merry set of dancers, who never seemed to want an intermission for rest or recuperation.

The winners of the various events during the afternoon were as follows:

EVENT 1.—Baseball match between members of Toronto Retail Grocers' Association and members of City Travelers' Association. Prizes donated by Edwardsburg Starch Co., 9 umbrellas, valued at $2 each. Won by the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association team.

EVENT 2.—Tug-of-war, ten each side, between Port Hope merchants and Toronto grocers and travelers. 10 prizes, valued at $25. Won by the Toronto grocers' team.

EVENT 3.—Bicycle race, 2 miles, open (handicap), (C. W. A. sanction)—1st. Silver cup (from Bovril), R. Rodden, Port Hope; 2nd. silver medal (from Blue Ribbon Tea Co.) E. Mansell, Port Hope; 3rd. 1 case, containing 4 dozen "Clark's" potted meats, Arthur Robertson, Toronto.

EVENT 4.—Bicycle race, 5 miles (handicap), open to employees of wholesale grocers, or any wholesale business in connection with it—1st. 1 case Coleman's D.S.F. mustard (R. S. McIndoe), W. Porter, Toronto; 2nd. 1 case Ireland's Cereal Foods, J. Fortescue, Toronto; 3rd. 1 dozen English Club pickles (R. S. McIndoe), P. Manning, Toronto.

EVENT 5.—100 yards' foot race, Port Hope merchants, three prizes, valued at $20—1st. Harry Rosevear; 2nd. J. Dunfee; 3rd. Frank Brown.

EVENT 6.—Throwing baseball, ladies of Port Hope and Toronto—1st. Bissell carpet sweeper (Surprise Soap Co.), Mrs. Cec. Port Hope; 2nd. 1 box St. Lawrence assorted starches, Miss M. Hay, Toronto; 3rd. 1 box Cowan's chocolate, Miss Haskell.

EVENT 7.—Ladies' Comfort Soap race—1st. Lady's gold watch, Miss Crawford; 2nd. Hand-some dog clock, Mrs. Stewart; 3rd. One dozen silver-plated knives and forks, Mrs. C. Hanley.

EVENT 8.—100 yards' foot race. Members of association only (handicap)—1st. 3 cases Pyle's pearlina, T. Holmes; 2nd. Silver medal (Blue Ribbon Tea Co.), A. W. Sanderson; 3rd. Case Fairbank's "Gold Dust," J. Blood; 4th. Box Sunlight soap, R. Davies; 5th. Silver holder, containing jar "Imperial" cheese, T. Clark.

EVENT 10.—Bicycle race for boys under 16 years; open to Port Hope and Toronto; 1 mile—1st. Box Eclipse soap, H. Byam; 2nd. Box Toronto Biscuit Co.'s biscuits, K. Ross; 3rd. Ham, "Star" brand (F. W. Fearman), J. Thom.

EVENT 11.—Fat man's race, 200 lb. (handicap); open to Toronto and Port Hope; limit man 75 yards—1st. Handsome silver bake dish (Pure Gold Mfg. Co.), W. J. Sykes; 2nd. Box Surprise soap, W. R. Stewart; 3rd. 10 lb. 40c. Monsoon tea, A. R. Williams; 4th. J. Ellston.

EVENT 12.—Ladies' Race; foot race, 50 yards, open to Port Hope and Toronto ladies—1st, pair opera glasses, Miss Ferguson; 2nd, two large bottles Imperial flavoring extracts, Miss Bec; 3rd, 10 lb. 40c. World's Blend tea, Miss W. A. Stewart.

EVENT 13.—Boys' Scramble Race; 5 nickel watches—1st, P. Lodge; 2nd, T. Morrison; 3rd, S. Dawkin; 4th, — Doyle; 5th, J. Thom.

Owing to the lack of time, events 9, the bicycle team race between the Toronto city travelers and the Toronto grocers, and 14, the named bicycle race for members of the association, did not come off. They will likely be run in Toronto in the near future.

DEALING WITH THE "CUTTER."

THE committee of the Wholesale Grocer's Association which is struggling with the problem of "limited prices" explains that it is trying to find some way of circumventing the hundredth man who harasses ninety and nine men by cutting prices. Various schemes accomplish the purpose for a little while, but none of them seem to last very long unless the Association is a small one, relatively speaking, like the Stock Exchange in this city, which is able to enforce its several rules against dividing commissions. If the law and public sentiment would tolerate exterminating the hundredth man the plan might be effective, but under existing circumstances it is useless to consider it. The labor unions try to prevent the hundredth man from working for less wages than ninety-nine have agreed on, but their methods of enforcing their "limited price" for labor usually get them into the hands of the police and sometimes before the criminal courts. All the trades are trying by "gentlemen's agreements," by traffic associations, by pools and selling agencies and trusts and consolidations to prevent that pernicious hundredth man from pushing sales by cutting prices. We do not suppose that the hundredth man is always wealthy and able to carry on business at a loss for the amusement it affords him, and while he is making very low prices on some things he must be getting fair profits on others or starvation would soon remove him from the ninety-nine men whom he bothers excessively. The majority will find means for defeating the pestilential minority here and there, but competition cannot long be suppressed.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

U. S. SALMON PACK.

There now appears to be every reason to believe that the salmon pack on the Coast this season will equal that of last year. Recent advices to prominent commission men here are to the effect that the pack of blue backs on the Columbia river is now much larger than for any other season in ten years. The run has been so great that the canneries at the Cascades have been literally swamped with the fish, and enormous quantities have been sent down to the middle river canneries to keep them from spoiling. The lower river canneries, especially at Astoria, are packing chinooks of the finest quality, the fish being exceptionally large and fat and compare favorably in both run and quality with any late June fish for several years past. A conservative estimate places the total river pack, including the Cascades, fully equal to the number of cases packed on July 1 of last year. In line with this improvement in the run, there is a rather easier feeling in the spot market on the Coast, which is being gradually communicated to the markets here.—Chicago Grocer.

LIMING OF NUTMEGS.

According to a German chemical journal, a well known authority claims that the lime layer found on the surface of nutmegs does not render the nuts incapable of germination, simple thorough drying sufficing to bring about that result. Another supposition indicated that this lime layer is intended as a protection from the attacks of insects. The lime water in which the nuts are placed penetrates but a few cell layers into the nutmeg, and within a few minutes after the nut comes into the air, a layer of calcium carbonate is formed over the surface. Nuts with a lime coating and without were exposed to the attacks of Sidodrepa panicea L., one of the commonest and most destructive pests. After six months all nuts not provided with the lime layer were gnawed, and but one of those having a lime coating. The action of the lime is not chemical, but purely mechanical, the powder held by the woolly covering of the beetle clays up its breathing pores, chewing apparatus and reproductive organs, finally rendering the insects incapable of performing the functions trusted to these different organs. Therefore liming and a frequent repetition of the process is advised.

APPLE CROP IN TWO COUNTRIES. IN CALIFORNIA.

The Panjaronian (Cal.) says: "With such a large apple crop coming on, the problem of marketing it is worthy the careful consideration of growers and packers. There is going to be no market this year for low grade fruit. Culls and codlin-tunneled trash will not be received in San Francisco or other markets. There is, and always will be, a good market and profitable returns for high grade apples. It will pay to ship fruit which will insure a profit; it will not pay to handle any other kind."

IN NEW YORK.

Regarding the common apple crop a prominent fruit producer of Rochester writes: "Everything points to an extremely short yield, not over an eighth to a quarter of an average crop, and in many places not more than a year ago. There is a sprinkling of apples in all of the leading orchards, but the quality is very poor, and young fruit is dropping in large quantities, and just how many will stay on the trees is a conundrum, which we are unable to guess at this writing. At any rate, we are unwilling to speculate for future delivery, unless we can see our way clear to cover, and one of our customers who was in yesterday, said that he would not sell a box of apples for delivery during September, October or November below 9 to 10c. per pound, and that we would be very much surprised by the scanty yield when we came to harvest the crop in the autumn."

IN GERMANY.

Mail advices from Stuttgart, Germany, state that the apple crop on the Continent, so far as can be judged from present crop prospects, will be a fair average one. There will, it is understood, be a plentiful crop of pears.

GOWANS, KENT & CO.'S PICNIC.

On Friday last the employees of Gowans, Kent & Co., wholesale crockery dealers, Toronto, together with their wives and families, to the number of about 200, held their annual picnic at Niagara, N.Y., going by boat to Lewiston, thence to the Falls by the Gorge Route. All present expressed their opinion that this excursion was the best yet held by them, as the day was all that could be desired, and the sights around Niagara Falls being a source of much wonder and delight to the children. The dinner, which was given by the firm to the employees, was also much appreciated by all present.

SOAP FOR THE WEST INDIES.

The St. Croix Soap Co. is finding a large market in the West Indies for its "Surprise" soap. By the last steamer the company shipped lots to Bermuda, St. Croix, Antigua, Barbadoes and Demerara; in all over 200 boxes.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, July 21, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE most interesting feature of the wholesale grocery trade during the past week was a firmer feeling in regard to new pack canned vegetables, tomatoes being quoted by jobbers 5 to 10c. per dozen higher for future delivery. Old pack tomatoes, on the other hand, are lower, $1 to $1.05 representing the wholesale price. Sugar is unchanged as far as the price is concerned, but a better demand is being experienced. Teas are quiet, although not any more so than is usual at this time of the year; prices rule firm. Currants and raisins on spot are meeting with a fair enquiry. Pepper has further advanced in the primary markets, and cloves continue firm.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a stronger tone to the canned goods market this week, and tomatoes for future delivery are quoted from 5 to 10c. per dozen dearer by wholesalers than they were, 75 to 80c. now being the idea. The lowest price with packers, as far as can be ascertained, is now 70c. There are certain packers, however, who are still refusing to quote. Tomatoes of 1897 pack are lower, wholesalers this week, as a rule, quoting $1 to $1.05 per dozen. The ruling wholesale price for new peas is 70c., and for corn 65c. Since the firmer tone, there has been more business done in futures, orders in this particular during the past week having been rather numerous. Frost is reported to have damaged the corn crop in some localities. Tomatoes are said to have been touched by frost, as well as attacked by insects. But it is, of course, too early to even approximate the crop. Owing to the want of rain, it is expected the crop of raspberries will be light. There have been further offers of strawberries during the week by packers at $1.20.

COFFEE.

The market is quiet, unchanged and uninteresting. There is practically nothing doing locally. Receipts at Rio and Santos are fairly large.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups continue in much the same uninteresting condition as before. The molasses market in New Orleans is quiet and firm. The supplies there unsold are estimated at from 50,000 to 80,000 barrels.

SPICES.

The pepper market is cabled equal to $\frac{3}{4}$ c. higher, and a good deal of speculation is being done. Cloves continue firm. Local jobbers report a good demand for pickling spices.

SUGARS.

There has been no further change in price, but an improvement in the demand is being experienced. There have been some fractional advances in Great Britain on raw sugars, and at the time of writing the market there is quiet and firm. The market in New York is also quiet and firm.

Willett & Gray's Statistical Sugar Trade Journal, of June 14, says: "The receipts of sugar have been quite large this week, but an estimate of the amount still to come forward from the British West India Islands places it at about 25,000 tons, and when that is exhausted it would seem that larger supplies must be brought from the European market. The

Pages 34 and 35.

European markets have been dull and neglected for some time, in the absence of purchasers from this country, and prices have now reached so low a point in Europe that it will not be surprising if they turned the other way and show some improvement before long."

They already appear to have turned the other way.

The local wholesalers' price is still 47-16c. for Montreal and $4\frac{3}{4}$ c. for Lower Province granulated. Yellows are $3\frac{3}{4}$ c. upward.

TEAS.

The tea market is quiet, although it is not more than seasonably so. There have been a few transactions in Japan teas of last season's growth. We hear of one transaction in which 2c. per lb. more was paid for one line of old tea than was asked a short time ago. Old Japan teas, although scarce, are showing better value than teas of this season's production. New season's Japan teas continue strong. Both Indian and Ceylon pekoe souchong are scarce, both on spot and afloat.

Mail advices from London, under date of July 8, state that the sale of Indian tea at the auction was unusually small, only 3,094 packages being brought forward. Of this, 691 packages were new season's. The market was firm for all descriptions. Of Ceylon tea, 27,577 packages were brought to the auction, against 23,830 the previous week. With a somewhat heavier supply, the market showed a rather quieter tone. Although the quotations of the previous week were barely maintained, this was in a great measure due to a slight falling off in the quality offering.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Not many orders are going out from the Toronto market for the very first shipment, as most wholesale merchants are looking to the balance of the old fruit left over to supply their requirements until the later shipments arrive. Further advices corroborate the statement made last week to the effect that the first shipments would be made about Aug. 15; also that the quality would be excellent.

VALENCIA RAISINS—One advice from Denia says the first shipments will take place Aug. 15, and another that it will not be till ten days later than that date. Last year, shipments began in July. All authorities agree as to the goodness of the quality.

PRUNES—Quotations for Turkish prunes received from Trieste, for October shipment, corroborate what was said in a former issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, to the effect that low prices would rule this season, and that an increased consumption would likely follow.

GREEN FRUITS.

This is raspberry week at the green fruit market. Great quantities of this fruit are arriving daily, and, as the demand is active, business is brisk. Red raspberries sell freely at 5 to 6c. The demand for black rasps. is not so active, hence the price ruling is 1c. lower, 4 to 5c. being the prices now asked. Cherries are somewhat scarce, and the excellent demand keeps prices steady at 90c. to $1 for cooking and $1.25 to $1.50 for eating. Red currants are still arriving in large quantities, and sell about 40 to 65c. White currants are not so plentiful, nor in so good demand. The price asked for them is about 35 to 50c. Black currants are dearer, 65 to 80c. being the ruling price. The receipts of blueberries have assumed large proportions. The demand is good, at about 75 to 80c. per basket. Canadian harvest pears are now offered at 50c. per basket. A few baskets of apples are on the market, the price for which is about 40c. The first receipts of Canadian peaches were sent in this week, and brought 90c. per basket. The quality is fair. Bananas are more plentiful and are about 25c. cheaper than last week. The hot weather has increased the demand for oranges and lemons, especially the latter, and prices have advanced 75c. per box for Messina lemons. Watermelons are plentiful, and are selling at 16 to 28c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The supply is just about sufficient to meet requirements. One or two Toronto dealers are pickling. The feeling is easy at 11 to 11½c. on the local market, while at outside points 10 to 10½c. is still asked f.o.b.

POTATOES—The market for old stock is over. New potatoes are arriving freely. They are selling at 70 to 75c. per bushel. The rain on Tuesday was opportune, as if it had not come the indications pointed to a large proportion of small potatoes in the crop.

HONEY—The new crop of honey is expected to be a large one, and, as a good deal of the last season's production has not been sold, the feeling is decidedly weak. From 90c. to $1.25 is quoted for clover in comb, and 5½ to 6c. for clover strained. The demand for buckwheat is very poor, the price running as low as 2 to 3c. per lb.

VEGETABLES—The drought before Tuesday this week hindered the growth of celery, and an advance of 10 to 15c. is noted. Seed onions are dearer, but those now selling are of better quality. Beets and carrots are 5c. dearer. We quote as follows: Celery, 40 to 60c. per doz.; onions, seed, 20 to 30c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; radishes, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 50 to 60c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 40 to 60c. per doz.; long, $1 per doz.; green peas, small, 50 to 75c.; large, 75c. to $1 per bag; Canadian butter beans, 60 to 75c. per bushel; beets, 10 to 15c. per doz.; carrots, 10 to 15c. per doz.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market for both dairy and creamery is draggy. The demand is poor, but the prices asked in the country towns are still unchanged. For both tub and print dairy at country points, f.o.b., 11 to 11½c. is the ruling figure. Creamery is selling at 15 to 15½c. for tubs, and 16 to 16½c. for prints, f.o.b. at country points.

CHEESE—The market is irregular, considerable speculating being reported. Sales at country points vary from 6½ to 7½c. The local demand is good, with prices unaltered, at 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

PROVISIONS

The provision market is booming, a large movement being noted in all smoked meats. Long clear is also in good demand. Lard is rather quiet, and none too steady in price.

FISH.

There is no change in the condition of the market. Fresh fish are in good demand at the following figures: Fresh salmon trout, 6c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to 6½c.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. to 4c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—A decline of 3c. is noted for new red wheat and 6c. for old. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 72 to 74c.; white winter, 70 to 74c.; goose, 70 to 72c. The street market is quiet. We quote: Wheat, white, 72c.; red, 74c.; goose, 68c.; peas, 51c.; oats, 31½ to 33c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at $1, Sarnia freights.

FLOUR—Ontario flour has declined 10 to 15c. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.85; Ontario patents, $4.50 to $4.60; straight roller, $3.80 to $3.95, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Pot barley has declined 10c. Other foods are unchanged. A good demand is noted. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4.00 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $3.00 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Prices are firm and unchanged. We quote: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.; cured, 9½ to 10c.

CALFSKINS—The market is slow, due to difference of feeling in regard to prices. We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8 lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Nominal. Shearlings have advanced 15c., and are now selling at 40c., the price lambskins are also selling at.

WOOL—The market is dull, and prices are unchanged. Unwashed is quoted at 10 to 11c. and fleece at 16c.

SALT.

Prices unchanged. Business continues brisk. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

MARKET NOTES.

Cream of tartar is cabled dearer.

Cable advices received in Toronto this week announce an advance in pepper of equal to ¾c. per lb.

Canned tomatoes for future delivery are quoted 5 to 10c. per dozen dearer, while old goods are quoted lower at $1 to $1.05.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, July 21, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE have been few striking features this week in general groceries. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the situation is the position of new Japan tea for future delivery. It is now pretty clearly established that some of the big jobbers have sold these goods short on the basis of last season's values, and now that the price is 3c. higher than it was last year, with a prospect of going still higher, there is considerable scurrying around by jobbers anxious to cover all of their shortage that they can. In other lines business rules quiet.

SUGAR.

There has been an improved demand for refined sugar locally since last week's decline, but refiners complain that it has not yet assumed the dimensions that it should at this season. In raws, the feeling has been rather firmer abroad, but nothing has yet transpired of a character to affect values on the refined article here. At the refineries this week, 4 5-16c. is asked for standard granulated, 4 3-16c. for Dutch and 3½ to 4c. for yellows.

SYRUPS.

No alteration has transpired in the syrup market since last report, with the demand very limited and prices unchanged at the factory.

MOLASSES.

This staple is usually quiet in the hot midsummer months, and the present is no exception. Neither are the jobbers doing much in regard to future supplies, although they admit that stocks are lighter than usual, and this, of course, adds to the quietness of the situation. So few car lots of Barbadoes have changed hands lately that it is impossible to quote a figure in this connection. The jobbing range is unchanged.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods has been extremely quiet and will continue so until packers are willing to quote new pack vegetables for forward delivery. At present, agents for leading brands decline to do so. There has been little doing in fruit also, while salmon has not attracted much attention yet. The scarcity of lobsters noted last season promises to be over fifty per cent. greater this year, with values correspondingly firm.

COFFEE.

There is little change to report in the coffee market, demand ruling slow and prices apt to tend in buyers' favor this week.

SPICES.

The firm feeling in spices is fully retained, this being especially the case in peppers, both black and white, which are rather higher than they were a week ago, jobbers asking an advanced inside price this week. In other lines steadiness is clearly the rule also. Mail advices say: "The market has been active, with higher prices for pepper and cassia to arrive, and large trading in goods now on the way. All grades of pepper are from ¼ to 1c. per lb. cheaper here than in any other market of the world. Continued reports of trouble in China cassia-producing districts have affected the price of the article materially."

RICE.

No important change is noted in the rice market, a fair volume of business being reported while prices are fully maintained.

TEAS.

The tea market appears to be entering a very interesting phase just at present, especially in regard to new crop Japans, and, if all accounts are correct, some of the jobbers here and elsewhere in Canada are going to be caught decidedly short of these teas. Demand from them is certainly urgent at present, and importers have all they can attend to at present. Advices from Japan note further advances, so that it looks as though prices were still a long way from the top.

NUTS.

As last reported, with little or no business doing.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been little to report in connection with these goods either in Mediterranean or Californian fruit.

DRIED APPLES.

Both dried and evaporated apples remain as last reported.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair degree of activity in green fruit, and prices, as a rule, are well maintained. Hot weather this week has largely increased the sales of lemons, which are held quite firm. Canadian cherries are selling well, and so are raspberries, currants and other small fruit of all descriptions.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was an improved demand for small lots of choice selected eggs at higher prices, and a fair trade was done, but the market was without any special feature. We quote: Fancy selected stock, 10½ to 11c.; ordinary run, 9 to 9½c., and No. 2 stock, 8 to 8½c. per dozen. Receipts were 471 cases.

BEANS—There was no improvement in the demand for beans, and prices were unchanged at 95c. to $1 for primes, and at $1.05 to $1.10 for choice hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—Business in honey continues very quiet. We quote: White clover comb, 11c. to 12c.; dark do., 8 to 10c.; white strained, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Is dull and featureless. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb., and in tins, 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There continues to be a steady demand for smoked meats, and a fair trade is doing, but values show no change. Lard is fairly enquired for, but pork moves slow. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼c. to 8½c.; and compound refined at 5½c. per lb.;

McLauchlan's Graham Crackers

In 1 lb. packages. Retail for 10c. These Biscuits are manufactured from the choicest ingredients, and packed with neatness and care. Grocers can recommend them with perfect confidence.

J. McLauchlan & Sons, - - Owen Sound

hams, 10½c. to 11½c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The local grain market was without any special feature. The demand for all lines was slow, and business generally ruled quiet, but the undertone was firm. No. 2 white oats afloat were quoted at 31 to 31¼c.; and peas at 63½ to 64c. Buckwheat was firm at 49½ to 50c.

A moderate amount of business was transacted in flour, and the market in consequence was rather more active, but prices show no material change. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $5.25 to $5.40; straight rollers, $4.75 to $5; bags, $2.10 to $2.25; Manitoba patents, $5.30, and strong bakers', $4.90.

There was an improved demand for feed, especially from Ontario buyers, which is due to the fact that pastures in many districts have been burned up on account of the continued dry weather. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $11.25; shorts, $13 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

There was no material change in the oat-market, business being quiet and prices easy at $3.75 per barrel for rolled oats.

In baled hay a fair trade was reported, there being a good demand for small lots, but supplies are more than ample to fill all requirements, consequently prices do not improve any. We quote: Shipping hay, $5 to $6; good to choice, No. 1, $8.50 to $9.50, and No. 2, at $7 to $7.50 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese situation is about as difficult as ever to understand. High prices have been paid in the country, were paid again this week on spot, and yet advices from across the water, while they show some disposition to respond, quote limits in many cases that will have to appreciate very materially before they are on a parity with the cost of the article on this side. The chief local interest lately naturally centred on the transactions at the wharf in eastern cheese received by market boat and rail, which numbered about 5,000 boxes. There were bids of 7½c., but they were not a fair criterion, for practically all of the cheese was finally settled for on the basis of 7¼ to 7¾c., the outside price possibly being the ruling.

Butter continues dull, with a heavy tendency, and exporters manifest an inclination to shade rather than advance their bids. Several have orders in hand that permit the payment of 16c. on spot, but sellers, as a body, have not as yet accustomed themselves to this price, and we quote the range for export trade 16 to 16¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The decline in sugar has not led to much increase in business as yet.

Jobbers are said to be decidedly short of Japan tea and scurrying everywhere to try and cover.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 19, 1898.

BUSINESS continues quiet. The chief interest of the week has been canned goods, which have taken an unexpected turn, packers in many cases having withdrawn quotations. Molasses shows a firmer feeling. In spice there is little change, though the tendency is lower. Cream of tartar, while still low, has shown a slight advance during the past two weeks in the primary markets. The withdrawals from the savings bank continue large. Last month they exceeded the deposits by $35,000, amounting to $96,000. Our wholesale grocers complain very much of the practice of many retailers throughout the country cancelling orders when they are afterwards offered goods at lower prices, even in some cases returning the goods shipped them.

OIL—The demand continues light in all grades of oil. Perhaps more cod oil could be used than is at present being received, but trade in this grade is much less than formerly, when more tanning was done here. There is rather more sale for burning oil, as the season advances. Rather higher prices expected. Lubricating also shows somewhat better business. Prices show no change.

SALT—Market continues to be well supplied. Within the past two weeks coarse and fine Liverpool salt, by both steamer and sailing vessel, was received, upward of twelve thousand bags in all, only a very small proportion, however, of fine. This salt found a fair sale at even prices. This is the season for demand, but needs have been largely supplied by earlier arrivals. Further receipts are expected in a few weeks. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—These lines have occupied a good deal of attention during the past week. The low prices looked for by some dealers are not now thought to be so certain, particularly in corn and tomatoes, which many packers refuse to quote, it is said, owing to heavy frosts. Peas are still quoted low; the strengthening market in other lines has increased the sale, and needs are quite well supplied in corn and tomatoes. While some would buy at the earlier quotations, they prefer to wait rather than pay the advance. New salmon is difficult to interest the trade in. Prices on spot lines are all rather easier, though in tomatoes, of which quite a few are here, dealers are, perhaps, rather less anxious to sell. There is quite a range in the prices quoted on strawberries and raspberries, said to be due to the difference in the syrup. In meats, deviled goods have, perhaps, the best sale. The sale of chipped beef is somewhat interfered with by many of the grocers having the dried beef in stock and slicing it as needed.

GREEN FRUIT—Very active is the word; in fact, dealers are so busy that it is difficult to get them to stop work long enough to give you information regarding the market. Oranges, while firm, show no change. They are not an active line. Lemons have a good business, but are scarce and high, and rather higher values are expected, as we are lower than the United States market. Melons have but a limited sale. Pineapples are about done. Bananas sell freely at easier prices. California green fruits, such as pears, peaches and plums, have, perhaps, the chief attention; sale is large. Prices are still quite high, particularly for pears, but for the first of the season the price is considered about right. Some very nice carriers of Georgia peaches to hand found a ready sale. Nova Scotia cherries are now being received. Prices will be lower. Berries occupy a large share of attention. Nova Scotias are about done, but plenty of New Brunswick berries are still coming in. Price is a little firmer this week.

DRIED FRUITS—There is still but little to be said in regard to this line, the usual tendency when green fruit is plentiful. Stocks are not large, but holders are anxious sellers, as they want to be cleaned out before new is to hand and demand is light. Prices are low, particularly raisins. There is little interest taken in new fruit, and, if California prices open low, the quantity of other raisins brought here, except, perhaps, Malaga layers, will be light. More seeded will likely be used than ever before, and in prunes, the Californias are likely to have the market about to themselves. There is still some sale for evaporated apples at even figures; dried are dead. Prunes, apricots, etc., are very light sale. Onions are rather easier with a fair business. Peanuts continue high.

SUGAR—The offering of Dutch and Austrian sugars here, quite a quantity of which have been sold, has had a weakening effect on the market, which of itself inclines to be a dull one. The Lower Province refinery rather is inclined to meet the competition, while those west refuse to cut prices, and are, therefore, out of the market.

MOLASSES—The last week has seen a gain in strength. Stocks are light, and higher prices are looked for, but at present, owing to dull sales, prices are held as last week.

PRODUCE—Butter is dull and market overstocked; prices low, but holders are looking for at least a slight improvement. Owing to the low price of dairy, creamery has little sale. Eggs, also, are quiet; supplies are ample. Even at the low prices sales are light, particularly case eggs, many buying small lots of strictly fresh at much higher figures. Cheese is low, and limited sale. Factories could not have a worse way of marketing their product than that now employed. They supply the retail trade throughout the Province, and then there are enough storekeepers interested in factories to keep what small wholesale demand there is more than supplied. There is, then, no market whatever.

FISH—There is little change. A rather better price is being obtained for alewives. Holders are beginning to move stocks, and hope this season to make a little money. Fresh fish are scarce. Salmon and shad are about out of the market. Dry fish, particularly cod, are in light supply and hold their price. Pickled herring is low. Some fine pickled shad are offered. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $3 to $3.20; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.35 to $1.45 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6½ to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 3½c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 20c.; salmon, 15 to 16c.; ½-bbl.; shad, $4.

PROVISIONS—Pork and beef are limited sale at even prices. Smoked meat quiet and firm. Lard is rather easier.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is still dull, and wholesale men are not yet buyers. The money made earlier is now meeting an offset, and some flour is being sold at over $1 per bbl. loss. Oatmeal and oats are rather firmer. Cornmeal is low. Middlings are almost impossible to get. Some little bran, however, is offered. Beans are dull and easy. Barley is rather lower, best stocks are light and little change is to be noted. Split peas are still scarce and high. Hay is dull and low. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.65 to $5.70; best Ontario, $4.85 to $5; medium, $4.60 to $4.75; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 40 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split, peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Before THE GROCER again comes to the trade here the grocers' picnic will be a thing of the past. A pleasant day is hoped for.

Every effort has been made by the committee to make it a success.

The firm of A. Lordly & Co., spicemen, are in financial difficulties.

The retail grocery firm of Rankin & Moulson has been dissolved, Mr. James Moulson retires, and Mr. William Rankin continues the business.

There is a large run of shad at the head of the Bay of Fundy, some boats getting upward of 600 each. Some very fine mess shad are now offered.

About 110,000,000 feet of lumber will be rafted at Fredericton this season, representing the cut on the St. John river, or, at least, the very large part of it.

On board the ill-fated steamer La Bourgonne were 9,782 cases of lobsters, valued at $104,000, shipped from Halifax. They were shipped via the French steamer to obtain a better Customs rate in France. They were fully insured.

A. L. Goodwin, our large wholesale fruit dealer, has, this summer, built a large refrigerator in his warehouse, a great advantage in the keeping of summer fruits. He, this week, received his first car of California peaches, pears, plums, etc., and expects, during the season, two cars weekly.

E. T. Sturdee is not only known to the wholesale grocery trade as a live broker, but to the military fraternity as one of the most enthusiastic officers in this section. And when his eight-year-old son, E. Alban Sturdee, enlisted as a bugler in one of our city companies, many remarked that he was a chip off the old block. He is probably the youngest bugler in Canada.

CANADA'S GREAT EXPOSITION.

Many new and interesting features will be offered at the Toronto Exhibition this year, which is to be held from August 29 to September 10. The entries in all departments will be great, and the attractions offered will be of a character to draw. Among the many will be realistic representations of the present Cuban-American war, the blockade, the bombardment and battles of Santiago, or Havana, firing and explosion of shells, explosion of submarine mines and blowing up of vessels on the lake in front of the exhibition grounds, exhibition by Maxim and Gatling machine-guns, etc., all of a specially interesting nature at the present time. The programme of attractions promises to far excel that of last year, which is saying a good deal. The exhibits will include many from Great Britain, France and the United States, whilst almost every section of the Dominion will be represented.

PAILS AND TUBS.

This very warm sultry weather has a bad effect on pails and tubs. If not looked after properly hoops become loose and fall off or the pail leaks to such an extent it is practically useless. Nearly everyone has a different method to prevent this trouble, but it cannot be avoided with the ordinary hoops. If you should pass any grocery store you will observe several pails and tubs exposed to the wind and weather, and when a customer calls for one of these articles they are not fit to send out, suffering from the above cause. The "Durable" pail with spring steel crimped hoop, let into a groove in the wood is flush with the pail and consequently cannot fall off. If the wood should shrink the hoop immediately contracts and keep the parts in place. When it swells the hoops expand and it is impossible for them to fall off or break. Boeckh Bros. & Co. are handling these goods.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, July 18, 1898.

THE week has been a busy one in wholesale circles. A good amount of sorting business has been done, though it is quite probable that the same goods would have been sold if there had been no exhibition, but crowds of merchants from outside points visited the wholesalers throughout the week, and it is safe to say that very much better relations between buyer and seller will exist in the future, and that business has been really and permanently improved by the week's intercourse.

No changes in prices have been made during the week in groceries or meats, but of course there are some few changes in the produce market.

The intense heat of the week has been very hard on shipments of butter and cheese. In fact, all the storerooms of the country were tested last week and a good many were found wanting, particularly cheese curing rooms.

Creamery butter is still quoted at 16c. point of shipment, and the reluctance of factorymen continues. Of course some, alarmed by the heat, have sold, but the majority are holding for higher prices. Owing to the high price paid in trade for dairy butter at Manitou, the creamery at that point has been closed for the balance of the season. Dairy butter continues to arrive in considerable quantities and the price is high at 11½ to 12c point of shipment. Cheese is coming in freely, but much of this week's shipment shows the effects of the heat. Price, 6¾ to 7c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT—This has been a particularly lively market all week, the demand being even greater than anticipated. Lemons have fulfilled the prophesy and gone up to $6 per box, and may go up to $6.50 before this week is out. Oranges are $4 to $4.50, but a raise of 50c. per box on Valencia is anticipated before this is in print. Pears and bananas are sold out on this market, and it may be three days before any more arrive. Watermelons are $4.50 per doz., but were practically sold out before market closed Saturday, but further supplies will be forwarded by Tuesday. Cherries are a thing of the past for this season. Haley's early peaches are $1.50 per crate. The sample is exceptionally fine and shows good keeping qualities. Plums, red, blue and yellow, $2 per crate; $1.75 for large orders; tomatoes, $1.25 per crate of four boxes; apricots, $1.50.

One retail dealer is receiving shipments of strawberries from Keewatin. This is a new strawberry farm on the Lake of the Woods, a small island. The proprietor began his venture last year, and now has fruit for the Winnipeg market and a particularly fine sample. As the fruit can be put on the Winnipeg market 6 hours after picking there is no question of the man having a market for all and more than he can raise.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.Protection from Mice.

The last issue of this paper contained a description of Michie & Co.'s grocery store, King street, Toronto. In this description mention was made of the fact that all drawers, bins, etc., were built separate in themselves as a preventive against the ravages of mice. Such a fact is worthy of special attention, as the loss caused by mice is often one of the largest leaks in many businesses. Michie & Co., from actual experience, knew what harm mice could do if drawers were made so loose that they could get from one to another through the cracks or crevices between the drawers or between the drawers and the wall. Now a solid walling of hardwood runs along the back of the drawer and bin space. The boards in each drawer fit closely into the backing leaving not even a foothold for mice to climb up to the drawer above. The large tea chests are placed next to the floor and as each of them is built as a separate compartment, the likelihood of mice climbing up to the drawers is exceedingly small. There are, I believe, many grocery stores in which it would be a profitable investment to have their entire fittings renovated or reconstructed, if even the only saving affected was that of getting rid of the mice.

A Good Fruit Season.

Toronto fruit retailers express themselves as satisfied with the fruit season so far. Except in strawberries and red currants, prices have ruled higher than a year ago. The demand, too, has kept good, and, as the bulk of the stuff has arrived in good condition, the losses from goods "not sold" are insignificant. In fact, some of the dealers state their losses in fruit this year have been practically nothing. Then, as prices have ruled high, it has been possible to obtain a fairer return for handling the goods than is the case when prices are away down. These conditions, combined with the fact that money is more plentiful than in the past couple of years, makes the fruit business in Toronto quite satisfactory at present.

THE RAMBLER.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. T. Kinnear is spending his holidays on the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers.

Mr. J. L. Watt, of Watt & Scott, is making a tour of the principal trade centres in the Maritime Provinces.

CURRANTS LOWER IN LONDON.

Although the demand for currants from the trade has been quite up to the average—and, indeed, may be described, having regard, of course, to the time of year, as being good—the market is again cheaper to the extent of 6d. per cwt. The reason is not far to seek, and may, without doubt, be said to be the anxiety shown by some of the holders to realize their remaining stocks, which must be admitted to be quite a natural state of things. The grocers, on the other hand, see really no sort of temptation to buy except for their immediate requirements, and the fact of the demand being satisfactory may be taken to show that their stocks are small. There is every indication that this is the case, and it is beyond all doubt a hopeful sign for the coming season. The floating stocks of the grocers are at all times difficult to estimate, but in any attempt to gauge the future prospects of the article, are of the utmost importance. When the very large number of the body throughout the kingdom is taken into account it will be seen that the holding of even a few hundred-weights more or less by each one may make all the difference between a large and a small remaining stock, and materially affects the chances of a good demand during the early part of a season. There is everything to lead to the conclusion that at present their holdings are small, and in this proportion are the prospects of the early part of the coming season improved.—Produce Markets' Review, July 9.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

As far as can be ascertained the consumption of salmon, up to the present time, although more than usual, has not been very greatly in excess of an ordinary season. This is somewhat disappointing, and would seem to prove that the views of those who confidently anticipated a large increase, encouraged by lower retail prices, are not borne out by the result. It must, however, be remembered that there are special circumstances that cannot fail to have adversely affected the demand. The weather during May and June was anything but propitious, but it is believed that dear bread has been even more prejudicial, and the salmon trade has suffered from this cause in common with similar articles which are largely consumed by the working classes, whose spending power has been greatly curtailed. Whether this is really the reason or not, it is a fact that during the last two weeks salmon has sold more freely, and there is a prospect of a further improvement in the near future. Prices remain very firm, especially for fine qualities.—Produce Markets' Review.

PROMPT ACTIONS.

"HOW," asked a man of Sir Walter Raleigh, "do you accomplish so much, and in so short a time?" "When I have anything to do, I go and do it," was the reply. The man who always acts promptly, even if he makes occasional mistakes, will succeed when a procrastinator will fail—even if he has the better judgment.

When asked how he managed to accomplish so much work, and at the same time attend to his social duties, a Frenchman replied, "I do it simply by never postponing till to-morrow what should be done to-day." It was said of an unsuccessful public man that he used to reverse this process, his favorite maxim being "never to do to-day what might be postponed till to-morrow." How many people have dawdled away their success and allowed companions and relatives to steal it away five minutes at a time. Amos Lawrence's motto was, "Business before friends."

"To-morrow," didst thou say?" asked Cotton. "Go to—I will not hear of it. To-morrow! 'tis a sharper who stakes his penury against thy plenty—who takes thy ready cash and pays thee naught but wishes, hopes, and promises, the currency of idiots. To-morrow! it is a period nowhere to be found in all the hoary registers of time, unless perchance in the fool's calendar. Wisdom disclaims the word, nor holds society with those that own it. 'Tis fancy's child, and folly is its father; wrought of such stuffs as dreams are; and baseless as the fantastic visions of the evening." Oh, how many a wreck on the road to success could say: "I have spent all my life in pursuit of to-morrow, being assured that to-morrow has some vast benefit or other in store for me."

"But his resolutions remained unshaken," Charles Reade continues, in his story of Noah Skinner, the defaulting clerk, who had been overcome by a sleepy languor after deciding to make restitution; "by and bye, waking up from a sort of heavy doze, he took, as it were, a last look at the receipts, and murmured, 'My head, how heavy it feels!' But presently he roused himself, full of his penitent resolutions, and murmured again, brokenly, 'I'll take it to—Pembroke—street to—morrow; to—morrow.' The morrow found him, and so did the detectives, dead."

"To-morrow?" It is the devil's motto. All history is strewn with its brilliant victims, the wrecks of half-finished plans and unexecuted resolutions. It is the favorite refuge of sloth and incompetency.

Very few people recognize the hour when laziness begins to set it. Some people it attacks after dinner, some after lunch, and some after seven o'clock in the evening. There is in every person's life a crucial hour in the day, which must be employed instead of wasted if the day is to be saved. With most people the early morning hour becomes the test of the day's success. Daniel Webster used often to answer twenty to thirty letters before breakfast.

A person was once extolling the skill and courage of Mayenne in Henry's presence. "You are right," said Henry, "he is a great captain." Henry rose at four in the morning, and Mayenne at about ten. This made all the difference between them. Indecision becomes a disease, and procrastination is its forerunner. There is only one known remedy for the victims of indecision, and that is prompt decision. Otherwise the disease is fatal to all success or achievement. He who hesitates is lost.—Pushing to the Front.

CURED FRUIT SITUATION.

Concerning the situation in cured fruits on the Coast, The California Fruit Grower says, in its issue of July 9: "The market is lifeless and absolutely with no interesting features at this time. In spot goods there is not a wheel turning, except in a hand-to-mouth jobbing way. There is very little stock on hand with which to trade, and, in a wholesale way, no demand except from Europe. The few cars of apricots carried over from 1897 crop, except here and there a small lot, are large, fine, bright fruit, and holders' prices are at present above the market. Pears, nectarines, plums, apples, and silver prunes are well cleaned up. A few cars of peaches are yet on hand. In new crop apricots trading is very light, at about 8c. in bags f.o.b. The chief business is reported from Southern California, where a few cars have been bought by speculators. There is absolutely no consumptive demand whatever. It is now very generally understood that the output of cured apricots in this State this season will be about 200 carloads, as against upwards of 1,300 cars in 1897."

VICTORY FOR THE GROCERS.

The retail grocers of Denver scored a victory over the department stores recently, when they conferred with the wholesale grocymen relative to the department store grocery—sugar complication. The retailers claim that the department stores have broken their agreements as to sugar prices, and they desired the wholesale men either to refuse to sell such groceries as sugar to the stores or else insist on their holding prices. The result of the conference was a decided victory for the retail grocers.—Chicago Grocer.

CURRANTS IN GREECE.

Hancock & Wood, of Patras, Greece, under date of June 30: "Our last report was in date of 16th ultimo, since when shipments have reached the respectable total of 7,000 tons directed principally to the British and Continental markets. Although stocks remaining on this side are now reduced to a very small compass, it is extremely difficult, in the absence of any Government statistics on this point, to estimate within a thousand tons or so what actually remains, but taking shipments up to date at 105,000 tons we should say that not more than 5,000 tons are held on this side, bringing the total crop of 1897 (exclusive of the 15 per cent. retained by the Government) to 110,000 tons, or fully 10,000 tons less than the lowest estimate arrived at in August last, and the smallest crop we have had since 1892. Notwithstanding this short crop, consumption has not been very satisfactory, especially on the Continent, owing, no doubt, to the higher range of prices ruling, which have rendered winemaking from currants unremunerative. A considerable drop has taken place lately in the price of currants, owing to the favorable prospects of the growing crop and to events of minor consequence which caused a temporary decline in the London market. Provincial and Patras touched for a short time the prices of 13s. 6d. c.i.f. and 15s. c.i.f. half-cases London respectively, but have since recovered by 1s. to 1. 6d. Up till now, the growing crop of currants, with a few insignificant exceptions, has progressed most favorably; the bunches are abundant and healthy, and we, therefore, have the promise of a large crop of excellent quality, and it is to be hoped that prices from the opening will be moderate. According to present appearances the crop will be an early one, and fruit from most districts will be ready for shipment by August 10-15.

U.S. FLAX CROP.

In common with most other cereal products, the flax crop, which in this country is grown for the sake of the seed and not for the fibre, this year promises an abundant yield. Confined, as the culture is, almost entirely to that section of the United States west of the Mississippi and north of Arkansas and Oklahoma, the greatest attention and the heaviest acreage is devoted to it in the States of North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas. The Daily Commercial Record, of Duluth, estimates the area in flax this year in the eight leading producing States at 1,600,000 acres, a gain of 207,000 acres over last year, and on the basis of an average production per acre equal to that of 1897, 9.64 bushels, this would result in a yield of 15,429,000 bushels.—Bradstreet's.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

TRADE IN THE UNITED STATES.

TRADE is dull in the Eastern States, but not more so than the season would account for. In fact, there is less stagnation in trade than usual for the season, and a very hopeful feeling prevails in business circles. The bank clearings last week show a large increase over the week before, and indicate that the decline of that week was due only to the occurrence of a holiday. In the west, trade is fairly active, and, while the railway earnings do not continue to show such gains over corresponding weeks last year as they did earlier in the season, yet the earnings for June are larger than those of several other Junes. The all-rail east-bound shipments of dead freight from Chicago in the first half of the year were vastly greater than in preceding years.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

STOCKS OF DRIED FRUITS IN LONDON.

On July 1, the stocks of dried fruits in London included 4,919 tons of currants, 2,175 tons of raisins, of which 554 tons consisted of Valencia and Denia stock, and 1,541 tons of Smyrna. Of Turkey figs there were in London on July 1, 295 skeleton cases, 5 cases and 834 bags, while of Faro, Greek and Malaga there were 2,316 tapnets and trails. The London stock of almonds on the above date consisted of 147 packages and 6,675 boxes of Jordans; 2,373 boxes, 893 bags and 35 barrels of Valencias, etc., besides a quantity of Sicily, Persian and other goods. The supply of Bussarah dates in London on July 1, amounted to but 13 skins and 14 bags.

PEPPER EXPORTS.

Exports from Singapore and Penang, during the last half of June, 1898, were: Black pepper—250 tons to Great Britain, 125 tons to Continent. Nutmegs—25 tons to United States. Total exports since Jan. 1: To United States, 1898, 670 tons black pepper; 1897, 2,760 do.; 1896, 1,370 do. To Great Britain, 1898, 3,090 tons black pepper; 1897, 4,370 do.; 1896, 4,830 do. To United States, 1898, 185 tons nutmegs; 1897, 87 do.; 1896, 102 do. To Continent, 1898, 1,225 tons black pepper; 1897, 1,350 do.; 1896, 2,420 do.

MOLASSES IN NEW YORK.

Business in the grocery grades of molasses has been at a standstill, as naturally during the summer season, the consumption is at a minimum, and grocers have not been in the market for supplies; dealers' stocks, however, have been small and they have been indifferent sellers, holding for full values. The low grades have been quiet, but steady; buyers have continued to hold back; but offerings have been limited, and 8c. has been the lowest price sellers would name. At New Orleans there has been a firm market. Ocean freight rates have weakened somewhat, and latterly some business has been transacted with exporters. It has also been stated that the bulk of the crop of third boilings has been bought up and prices have ruled firm at 2 to 2½c. per gallon for supplies in bulk on plantation. The market for syrups has ruled slightly in buyers' favor, some of the sales made having been at prices showing a decline of ½c. Offerings have been only moderate, but the demand from the home trade has been quiet and exporters have been only limited buyers. Sales made have included 1,000 barrels M and W No. 1 at 11½c. and 1,200 barrels Spreckles at 15c. net.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

NEW YORK PEA PACK.

New York pea packers seem to be unwilling to make further contracts for forward delivery until they know just what the crop will be. Correspondents of State packers here state that they are not even receiving samples.

A letter just received from Camden, Oneida Co., New York, says that, in spite of increased acreage, the pea pack in that vicinity will be short. The writer thought, as a result of his observations, that the State pack would, like that of Baltimore, be very light. For two nights preceding July 13 there was frost in Oneida County, which was expected to damage beans and corn, but only to a small extent. The crops are also suffering from drouth.—New York Journal of Commerce.

SOUTHERN CANNERS IN A BAD WAY.

A prominent Baltimore packer who has been visiting the trade here says that the Southern canners are in a bad way. The pack of peas was very light and there was little good quality of any grade, while the cost of packing was high. They are paying more for string beans than for many years, and are not getting enough to keep them going. On Monday the packers were unable to secure anything, the few small lots received being bought up by merchants to be shipped green to northern markets. The peach crop, he says, is a complete failure, and there will be few if any peaches packed in Baltimore this season. "While we are not interested as packers in tomatoes," he said, "I am reliably informed that on account of unfavorable weather the tomato crop will be very short unless we should have a late fall, which will admit of the maturing of the late plants."—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

CALIFORNIA LEMONS.

According to the San Diego, Cal., Tribune, a prominent lemon packer has just received $9 net for a carload of lemons recently shipped to the east. The same paper says that for second grade lemons 1¾c. per pound was netted, and the prospect is good for higher prices, as Monrovia, Cal., growers were reported to be receiving 2½c. per pound for their lemons.

FRUIT FOR LIVERPOOL.

N.Y. Journal of Commerce, July 14: "It was reported to-day that Zucca & Co. have engaged, for the account of an English house, all the refrigerator room to be had on the White Star Line boats for the balance of the year, for the shipment of green fruits for Liverpool. Last year nearly all the green fruit was shipped to England by the American line, which this year is unable to render the service, its ships having been taken by the Government."

SMALL FIG CROP.

C. Whittall & Co., of Smyrna, writing under date of June 22, say: "So far as figs go it is to be feared that high prices will be the order this season. The production will be unusually small, and it is hardly expected that more than 8,000 to 9,000 tons will be available."

SUGAR FOR MONTREAL.

It was learned that, recently a sale was made to Montreal of 3,500 tons Barbadoes muscovado 89 deg. test at equal to 3½c., and that to-day a bid was made by a speculator and declined of 4 3-16c. for centrifugal 96 deg. test for shipment.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

CANNED PINEAPPLE SEASON OVER.

The pineapple packing season in Baltimore is reported to be over and the pack is said to be very short, but no definite statement as to the reduction in the output has yet been received, so far as we can ascertain.

SULTANA RAISINS IN LONDON.

The market for sultanas still continues to be exceedingly quiet, and the demand to be disappointing. The contrast between this and last season in this fruit is very marked, and may be said to be quite inexplicable. Last year, with larger stocks on hand, and with little faith on the part of the trade generally in the reports of the crop being as short as afterwards proved to be the case, prices were steadily advancing. This season, with a stronger statistical position, with smaller stocks in the countries of consumption and production, and with no better prospects in regard to the weight likely to be produced, the market has for many weeks past been slow and dragging.—Produce Markets' Review.

WALL PAPER FOR GROCERS.

AS many grocers handle wall paper, they will be interested in the following descriptive article of M. Staunton & Co.'s new line for 1899 :

The new line of wall papers, for 1899, by this firm, is now ready for the wall paper dealers of Canada. The custom of the firm is to prepare each season's line after a careful study of the designs and colorings that, by large sales, are found to be popular, and, at the same time, they embody all the new ideas of the foremost artists which are adaptable to the Canadian trade. The result is a line of goods that speak for themselves. These features are characteristic of the line for next season, which has already been shown to some of the largest buyers in the country. Some exceptionally large orders have been placed, and the firm have been complimented on their efforts in producing a line of wall papers which surpasses, both as regards patterns and coloring, anything they have heretofore shown. In fact, the standard reached is, in respect of variety and attractiveness, a high one, and the line possesses every essential feature required in a first-class stock.

This season, the tendency towards the deeper and richer shades of color continues, and many lively creations in blues, greens, reds and browns are observable, but the popular demand has not been forgotten for light, bright papers, in the more delicate tones, suited to parlors, bedrooms, etc., and the selection of these is large and well chosen. The trade appear to appreciate the very excellent values given heretofore by M. Staunton & Co., in their very cheapest grades or ungrounded papers, and the new range of attractive designs in bright and catchy coloring in these goods will, doubtless, increase their reputation.

On the ungrounded goods this year stil further reductions in price are recorded. This also applies to grounded goods, several lines of which are being shown at figures hitherto unheard of in Canada, the firm being determined to meet both domestic and foreign competition: in fact, their goods have been priced with the distinct purpose of selling Canadian goods to the dealer at considerably lower prices than he can import for. While the prices are low, the character and quality of the patterns have been kept in advance of the usual standard for these goods.

SOME OF THE NEW PAPERS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has been allowed to look over the new samples. It would be impossible to give a detail account of all the designs. Reasons of space forbid more than a brief general mention of the leading features, so that the dealer may make a point of seeing the Staunton line before stocking up. Book One contains the ungrounded papers, and it is hard to realize that such attractive goods can be sold at such low prices. All the papers this year made by M. Staunton & Co., it may be mentioned, will be 8 yards long, with the single exception of ungrounded papers, a step decided on with the feeling that this consults the wishes of a great majority of the trade. After Book One follow several books of grounded white blanks. In turning over the samples designs for all classes of rooms, both for public and private buildings, are seen. Borders to match them are shown in widths of 6 in., 9 in. and 18 in. In Book Four are a number of patterns with blended friezes, both in 9 in. and 18 in. widths. The patterns are colored in excellent taste, two colorings of No. 1245 being especially noticeable, one being on olive and the other a rich green.

Another pattern noticed (No. 1276) seems also destined to be a large seller, and orders for large quantities are being placed. One of the grounds is a shade of green, that was very successful last year, and the pattern itself is brought out in telling effects. No. 1264 is an exceptionally pretty chintz effect, delicate colorings for bedrooms. A very pretty two-color scroll effect is shown in different colorings, and is already going well. This is No. 1256. Then, there comes one of the firm's leaders in their white blanks, namely, a graceful arrangement of the chrysanthemum, combined with a rococo treatment as a background. The artist, in this design, has so skilfully drawn it as to produce a telling combination in color, while the design itself is more original in that it departs from the bunch or spray effect in which this flower is usually employed in wall papers.

LOW-PRICED GILTS.

These are shown in several grades, and there is not a coloring among them which has not special merit. They can be retailed from 7 to 10c. The firm are showing about fifty per cent. more patterns in gilts on 10-oz stock than last year, and some exceptionally rich and beautiful colorings are to be seen in these goods. It is noticed that care has been taken that the ceilings for these rich colored walls, while having the same tones, are much lighter, so as not to give a sombre, heavy appearance to the room where they are hung.

In the better grades there are a number of patterns not reproduced in cheaper lines, thus enabling the dealer to get a little extra profit. Among these, No. 1248, the back ground effect is brought out in mica and gilt, a floral spray tastefully drawn being introduced. Another design, which has caught the attention of dealers, who have thus far seen it, is a pattern arranged in squares, the design being a tasteful foliage treatment.

We now come to 22-inch goods, the patterns in which are above the average of merit. The first design is a Romanesque scroll (1243), with a handsome, one-band, blended frieze and an artistic ceiling, the colorings all commendable. The blended effects produced by the firm this year show the most superior workmanship, the change in the gradation of color being imperceptible. Another, on gold-blue ground, catches the eye, while a third has an old gold ground, the flowers being of pink and blue. A distinctively parlor pattern is No. 1240, in which the artist has cleverly embodied the Japanese rose. The design is fairly large, but the tones are soft, so as to give a subdued, yet rich, effect. No. 1277 G.G. is a fine Moorish pattern, and is to be seen in the embossed books, of which there are several. Attention should be called, in passing, to the special fancy embossed patterns. One of these is a striking effect in bronzes, and would make a very handsome room. No. 1249 is a conventional design of the best type for libraries or dining-rooms. Among the fancy embossed papers is an exceedingly rich scroll treatment on a crimson ground. The extra values in these goods this year will give a progressive dealer goods that will equal any previously manufactured, but at much reduced prices. In the ingrain papers, an interesting new range of shades is shown; there is not an old coloring among them. The ingrain friezes of this firm have, in the past, always made good sale, and this year they are so far in advance of previous efforts that a large trade is assured. Their special 22-inch ingrain friezes will be hard to beat, so that dealers who have hitherto looked to the American lines for these goods will now find that they can procure equally artistic goods in Canada at considerably lower prices.

The firm invite the trade to confer upon them the favor of inspecting their line of goods, which will surely interest them, and which is now being shown by travelers in all the Provinces. Some half-tone reproductions of some of their new patterns are illustrated in this issue, but, of course, these lack the effect of the exquisite colorings which the goods are produced in.

FRUIT CROPS IN ONTARIO.

A REPORT, prepared by the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, gives some interesting details of the crops in the fruit growing sections of Canada.

Apples are pronounced very good in Durham, Northumberland, and Peterborough; good in Middlesex, Perth, Wellington, Waterloo, Wentworth, and Grey; fair to good in Lennox, Addington, and Hastings; poor in Essex, Kent, Lambton, Huron, Grenville, and Ontario; very poor in Prince Edward county.

Pears are stated to be very good in Essex, Kent, Lambton, Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough, and Ontario; good in Middlesex, Perth, Grey, Huron, Grenville, and Wentworth; poor in Wellington, Waterloo, and Prince Edward.

Peaches are spoken of as very good in Ontario; good in Essex, Kent, and Lambton; poor to good in Wentworth; poor in Wellington, Waterloo, and a second district in Wentworth.

Plums are recorded as very good in Essex, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex, Perth, Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough, Lennox, Addington, Hastings, and Huron; good in Wellington, Waterloo, Wentworth, Prince Edward, Grey, and Grenville.

Cherries are spoken of as very good in Middlesex, Perth, and Huron; and good in Prince Edward, Grey, Wentworth, and Ontario.

Raspberries are reported to be very good in Essex, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex, Perth, and Wentworth, and good in Wellington, Waterloo, Wentworth, and Grey.

LULL IN THE LUMBER TRADE.

The lumber shipping this season from the Ottawa district is, according to a correspondent, considerably below that of last; that is to the United States market. The amount of deals and first-class lumber being shipped across the Atlantic rather exceeds that of last season. The local firms are shipping in small quantities to retail dealers on the other side of the line, but the market on the whole is in rather a stagnant condition, owing to the excited state of the country over the war. Several of the dealers on this side state that until the war is over they will have to carry the largest part of their stock, as it is almost impossible to find a sale on the other side. The cut in the Ottawa district this year will be about one-third less than that of last season, owing to the shrinkage in the demand. On the whole, as an old lumberman remarked the other day, the lumber trade has taken a lull which may last for a considerable length of time.

YOUNG & SMYLLIE

BROOKLYN, N.Y.

See that COLEMAN'S BUTTER SALT

— Is Used.

No butter-maker can produce the best results with coarse, lumpy, or in any degree impure salt. It does not dissolve quickly enough to penetrate the butter evenly, and the result is, that part of a churning is too salt and the rest does not contain enough to keep it. Coleman's Butter Salt is specially made for the purpose. IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE. It works quickly and effectively, and produces butter of the same color and flavor throughout.

A Trial Carload might contain :

10 sacks Coleman's Butter Salt, 50's (a choice package—fine linen with outside paper wrapper to keep it clean). 5 bbls. Coleman's Butter Salt, 20's (a good seller—fifteen in a barrel). 1 bbl. 3's and 1 bbl. 7's (for family trade). The balance assorted in Common Salt, coarse or fine, barrels or sacks. WE SHIP PROMPTLY.

R. & J. RANSFORD - CLINTON

We quote "The Grocer" :

"OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
"ST. JOHN, N.B., June 27, 1898.

"SALT—The large quantity of Canadian now used for dairy purposes has had the effect of very much lessening the sale of the Liverpool factory filled."

This is a report from a district where we are doing a good business in Coleman's Dairy Salt. We are shipping there regularly in carloads, also to Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec. In getting this business we have to compete against the prejudice in favor of English salt—and it is good salt—also against transportation by water, which often costs next to nothing. Coleman's Dairy Salt is simply selling on its merits.

Do you buy butter from farmers?

Most country dealers have to take more or less in trade, crediting it at the market price, although the quality may be very uneven. Anything that improves the quality increases the dealer's profit. The difference between good and bad salting, for instance, may mean a difference of a cent or two a pound on the selling price.

TALK THAT TALKS.

EVERYBODY who knows the grocery trade of St. John, knows that W. A. Magee has one of the handsomest retail grocery establishments in the city, and that his trade is of a character that will not tolerate poor goods. Here is a word from Mr. Magee:

ST. JOHN, April 6th, 1898

We carry 28 lines of Biscuits manufactured by the Queen Biscuit Co. and the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT is the quickest seller of them all. All their goods give excellent satisfaction to our customers. The sales of the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT have greatly increased with us. We think most highly of them.

W. A. MAGEE.

Mr. Magee believes in patronizing lower province industries if they produce good goods. So do you all. Give us a chance to prove our claim that BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT, of which we are the sole manufacturers in Canada, possesses the same unsurpassed qualities that have sent the annual production in the United States up to 30,000,000 lbs.

We have given you just one testimonial. We could fill pages with them, from pleased customers as well as from merchants.

Remember—A delicious Lunch Biscuit at a popular price. Only the best materials go into our goods.

Queen Biscuit Co.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

(We manufacture over 500 lines of Biscuits.)

"A
of Salt."

It is the trifles that make perfection possible—did you ever examine a grain of salt?

Windsor Salt is sifted, not ground—hence, each separate crystal has the full, natural strength. Pure salt is not bitter—Windsor Salt is absolutely pure. Because each separate grain is a salt crystal pure and simple, it dissolves easily—so much for the Dairy.

Because each grain is a pure salt crystal, it won't cake or harden—a strong point for the Table.

It won't lose its savor—hence matchless for Packers. You hear this everywhere "as pure as Windsor Salt."

Leading wholesalers carry each line we make.

Quick Profits From Fast Dyes

The Home Dyes that cannot possibly disappoint a woman make fast friends and quick profits. This is one reason why it will pay you well to handle that new English Dye of highest quality—brilliant, safe, sure—that washes and dyes at one operation, Maypole Soap.

But aside from this you are liberally advertised in newspapers everywhere—you don't have to explain the virtues of the dye you sell. Folks like to patronize the grocer who is "up-to-the-minute." There are "quick profits" from Fast Dyes in the Maypole Soap Dyes.

Stower's Concentrated Lime Juice

The strongest Lime Juice made, because concentrated and absolutely pure.

"No musty flavor"—no free acid taste—keeps perfectly in any climate, even after the cork is drawn.

"Thistle" Brand of Finnan Haddies

The new pack is in! Just how long it will last depends.

If the usual demand for this clean, delicately flavored, real Finnan Haddie keeps up, first orders will have to take precedence, of course, but we will do our best to fill them all.

EFFECT OF THE WAR AND THE UNITED STATES TARIFF ON CANADIAN LUMBER.

AN intelligent lumberman is usually good material for an interview. I realized that a few days ago, at any rate, when I had the pleasure of a few minutes' conversation with Mr. James A. Wilson, of Webbwood, Ont. Mr. Wilson is a member of the Cutler & Savidge Lumber Co., a Michigan firm who carry on lumbering operations in Algoma, getting its logs in the neighborhood of Webbwood, and cutting them into lumber at its mills at Cutler, on the Georgian Bay, 30 miles from the latter place. At Webbwood the company has a depot for the supplying of material for its camp at that point, and the management of this depot is one of Mr. Wilson's special duties. But, owing to the condition of the lumber trade, the company have for the time being at least decided to discontinue operations and to close up the supply depot.

"You see," explained Mr. Wilson, "the war between the United States and Spain has destroyed, for the time being, the market which has hitherto been the principal outlet for southern pine. A large number of mills in the south have, in consequence, been closed, but there is a great deal of this southern pine on hand, and so the owners are shipping it to the Northern States, where they dispose of it at slaughter prices. Having this to contend with, in addition to the $2 duty, you can see it knocks us out, for the Northern States is, of course, the principal market for Canadian white pine. When the war closes the for Canadian lumber," added Mr. Wilson with a shake of the head.

"Do you think that if Canada were to put an export duty on logs that it would help matters? That is, would induce Congress to remove the duty?" I remarked.

"I do not," he replied with much emphasis.

"Why?"

"Simply because it would not have the desired effect. What we want to try and do is to get the United States to take off that two dollar duty. That is to what we should devote our energies. Now, what Canadians desire is that mill owners shall set up mills on this side of the line. That is so, isn't it? Well, then, if the export duty is put on logs it will not induce the Americans to remove their import duty; neither will it induce Americans to build mills in Canada. But, on the other hand, get the United States to remove the two dollar duty and it will be an encouragement for Americans to start mills on this side, for it pays better to cut the logs on this side than it does to tow them across the lake and cut them in Michigan."

"But why did not more of them start mills in Canada when the duty conditions were more favorable than they are now?"

"Well, I'll tell you. If you had your money invested in a mill and plant at some point in Michigan you would not be inclined to shut down and remove to Canada as long as your plant was in good condition and did not require replacing, southern pine will again have its market in the West Indies and the South American countries, but the duty of two dollars per thousand feet Canadians will still have to contend against. That duty is a bad thing

Salada Tea Co's New Building—Front Elevation.

That, then, is the condition of affairs with a good many mill owners in the United States. As these plants became old and obsolete the tendency would be, with the two dollar duty expurgated, to remove to Canada, for the average loss entailed in towing logs across the lake is 10 per cent. What we want is a permanent settlement of this tariff question on lumber. We do not want to be doing one thing this year and undoing it the next."

"Were there many logs left in the woods this winter in your part of the country?" I asked.

"There were some, but not a great many when you consider everything. We got all ours out, and have just finished rafting them at Cutler. I know one man who did not get his out, however. He had 25,000 or 30,000 left in, and it was because of too much water, not because of not enough. You see this particular man had to draw his logs over a certain roadway in order that he might get them into the stream. Well, there was an early thaw, and it created so much water that a part of his roadway, a corduroy one, was washed away, with the result that his logs could not be got to the stream. And it is a serious thing to have your logs lying in the woods over the summer. In the first place, you see, there is a certain quantity of sap in the logs. Well, if the logs lie in the woods all the summer this sap gets into the wood and stains it. That reduces the grade of the lumber. Then there is the worm. It gets into the log, too, and makes holes as big as your finger. That means culls. The average loss through logs being left in the woods over summer is from $1 to $2 per thousand feet."

Not only has the Cutler & Savidge Co. stopped operations at Webbwood, but its large mill, which cost about $150,000 and has a capacity of 200,000 feet per day, is closed down, all owing to the trade conditions which have been brought about by the war and the United States tariff.

OMAR.

SOAP AND ITS USES.

There is now exported from Great Britain more soap than was used in Great Britain perfumed soap is a considerable item of commerce.

What were known in England as the soap taxes, originated during the reign of Queen Anne and were originally fixed at $150 a ton, yielding in the year 1830 a public revenue in excess of $7,000,000.

An official estimate recently made shows the average consumption per inhabitant of Great Britain to be nine pounds a year; a similar average prevails in France, Belgium and Holland, though a popular belief ascribes to the last country a much larger use of soap, particularly for house cleaning.

There are no official figures on the subject, but there is a general belief that very little soap is used in Spain. Certainly no soap is imported into that country (the Spanish blockade on soap has been of long duration), and none is exported from it.

The United States stands at the head of all countries in the use, if not in the manufacture of soap. The average exportations of American soap in a year amount to 30,000,000 pounds. The importations into the United States of soap amount to 3,000,000 pounds, or one-tenth as much. There are nearly 500 soap factories in the United States, with a cash capital of $25,000,000, using materials to the value of $30,000,000 and giving employment to 10,000 persons.—Philadelphia Item.

The grocery store of E. Robert, 282 Dorchester Street, Montreal, was entered by burglars recently, and a quantity of groceries and canned goods stolen. The thieves entered by cutting out the plate glass window in front of the store.

at the beginning of the present century, and, besides, according to authentic figures, 400,000,000 pounds of soap are used in Great Britain every year, exclusive of 55,000,000 pounds exported to other countries, chiefly English colonies, of which Canada is one of the most important.

The French manufacture of soap amounts approximately to 300,000,000 pounds a year, the larger part of which is made in the city of Paris. The sale in other countries of French soap, and particularly French

It Came to Stay, It Has Stayed

Like the trees of the forest, the greater the storms the more deeply rooted become the trees. This is our experience with the celebrated Ram Lal's Tea. At its inception it was assailed, its doom was pronounced in many languages by rival dealers long before the public had given their verdict, yet to-day it stands without a peer, imitated by many, rivalled by none. Equal to Ram Lal's was the highest eulogy bestowed on samples given to dealers by travellers throughout the country, and in many cases the dealers were victimized, and why? Because Ram Lal's Pure Indian Tea has no equal.

Wherever Ram Lal's Tea is shown
It stands unrivalled and alone.

And why has Ram Lal's Tea no equal? Because it is a pure INDIAN blend. Indian Tea possesses more retentive quality than any other tea known to commerce.

IMITATION BLENDS sold throughout the country to-day meet with considerable favor for a time and then become unpopular, and why? Because Ceylons are used very extensively in these blends, and after being kept in stock for a time go "off," losing their pungency and aroma. This has been the experience of practical tea men the world over. The sale of this brand is not confined to Ontario alone, but from all parts of the Dominion orders are being received daily, and numerous enquiries from across the border. Each year these goods are becoming more and more popular, sales having far exceeded our most sanguine expectations.

"ON TIME."

A NOTED writer says that a bed is a bundle of paradoxes. We go to it with reluctance, yet we quit it with regret. We make up our minds every night to leave it early, but we make up our bodies every morning to keep it late. Yet most of those who have become eminent have been early risers.

Peter the Great always rose before daylight. "I am," said he, "for making my life as long as possible, and therefore sleep as little as possible."

Alfred the Great rose before daylight.

In the hours of early morning Columbus planned his voyage to America, and Napoleon his greatest campaigns.

Copernicus was an early riser, as were most of the famous astronomers of ancient and modern times.

Bryant rose at five, Bancroft at dawn, and nearly all our leading authors in the early morning.

Washington, Jefferson, Webster, Clay and Calhoun were all early risers.

Henry VIII. breakfasted at 7 and dined at 10.

John Jacob Astor and Cornelius Vanderbilt were accustomed to rise at set times each morning, and to retire at definite hours, even though they had company.

Walter Scott was a very punctual man. This was the secret of his enormous achievements. He made it a rule to answer all letters the day they were received. He rose at 5. By breakfast he had "broken the neck of the day's work," as he used to say. Writing to a youth who had obtained a situation and asked him for advice, he gave this counsel : "Beware of stumbling over a propensity which easily besets you from not having your time fully employed—I mean what the women call dawdling. Do instantly whatever is to be done, and take the hours of recreation after business, never before it."

Not too much can be said about the value of the habit of rising early. Late rising is one of the first signs of family degeneracy. Eight hours is enough sleep for any man.

strange misfortune befell them. A fragment of their allotted time was lost. They cannot tell what became of it, but sure enough, it has dropped out of existence ; for just like two measuring lines laid alongside, the one an inch shorter than another, their work and their time run parallel, but the work is always ten minutes in advance of the time. They are not irregular. They are never too soon. Their letters are posted the very minute after the mail is closed. They arrive at the wharf just in time to see the steamboat off. They come in sight of the terminus precisely as the station gates are closing. They do not break any engagement nor neglect any duty ; but they systematically go about it too late, and usually too late by about the same fatal interval."

Some one has said that "promptness is a contagious inspiration." Whether it be an inspiration or an acquirement, it is one of the practical virtues of civilization. —Pushing to the Front.

Salada Tea Co's New Building—The Sample Room.

Very frequently seven hours is plenty. After the eighth hour in bed, if a man is able, it is his business to get up, dress quickly, and go to work.

"A singular mischance has happened to some of our friends," said Hamilton. "At the instant when He ushered them into existence, God gave them a work to do, and He also gave them a competency of time ; so much that if they began at the right moment, and wrought with sufficient vigor, their time and their work would end together. But a good many years ago a

COLORING SUGAR.

Sugar may be colored any desirable shade, according to an exchange, by using the well known non-poisonous colors as follows : Take the best granulated sugar and sift it so as to ensure uniformity of size. Have color made thick so that it will not cause sugar to lump and rub it thoroughly with the hands, using more or less color according to shade required. When thoroughly rubbed in put in a hot closet, not too hot, to dry, and afterwards rub again thoroughly with the hands. When quite dry put in a dry glass stoppered bottle, or otherwise protect from moisture.

Two Profits.

Two profits are better than one—you'll agree to that. Tillson's Flake Barley makes two profits for you—one from the sale of the Barley and the other from the sale of the attractive, well-made, wooden kegs (holding 25 pounds) that the Barley is packed in. Hot weather wins Flake Barley trade—that's when folks want it most. It nourishes, but "it doesn't heat the blood." An ideal substitute for the breakfast porridge, but with "two profits" in it.

Sharp Practices.

"There are tricks in all trades" is an old adage, but in many cases it has been so misused and misapplied that its real meaning is poorly understood. There are tricks and tricks: tricks which are the result of experience, and help a man to conduct his business more economically, by stopping the little leaks which take away so much of the profits of the inexperienced, and tricks which are the outcome of a desire to deceive or "get ahead of" one's fellows, and are well designated "sharp practices." In nearly every case the trickster of this latter class feels the sharpness of the weapon he uses, for it is bound to be turned against himself sooner or later.

There is the grocer who tries to work off on his least suspicious customer shop-worn or spoiled goods. He may not have much stuff to be thrown out, but it does not take long for even the dullest of persons to see that they are not getting value for their money.

Closely related to the foregoing is the retailer who, when weighing out butter, meats, cheese, etc., for children, will give "just a little" below the weight charged, and, in cases which he thinks safe, will add a cent or so per pound to the regular price. He will have two prices, or even three, the lowest for the shrewdest or the larger buyer, and the others according to his judgment. His delight is, when his neighboring competitors run short of some article in general demand. Immediately his prices go up, and, if his stock is fairly large, he finds he has made 25c., 50c., or even $1 more than he was looking for. He congratulates himself on being such a remarkably clever fellow, yet, when reckoning up time comes he wonders how it is that his business does not grow as does the business of some of his competitors. He thinks these competitors are dull or "slow" because they do not adopt his tactics, and is not slow to express his opinion of them. From tricking his customers he goes on a step and tries to work his wholesale house, the result being that sooner or later his credit is not worth much, and he does not enjoy many privileges his "slower" but less tricky neighbor enjoys. He is soon known to be "worth watching," and those dealing with him get, through time, to be so suspicious of him that he never is able to gather together a regular profitable patronage. About the time the fight is over he will look back disconsolately over the past, seeing too late that "tricks don't pay; honesty is the best policy."

THE RAMBLER.

TO INCREASE FOREIGN TRADE.

In order to increase foreign trade in Belgium, an organization, according to an exchange, has been established with headquarters at Brussels. Any person engaged in industry or manufacture in Belgium may become a member. The association is subdivided into fourteen groups, according to the nature of the various manufactures. Members may be enrolled in one or more groups, but pay an additional fee for each registration. The annual fee is $19.30 for individual members and $38.60 for corporations. Admission to membership implies the obligation to remain a member for the first five years, and subsequently for terms of three years. This association proposes to establish bureaus of information at home and abroad, sample museums and general financial and commercial agencies in foreign countries. It is believed that this effort will lead to a greatly increased export trade of Belgian products.

CUSTOMER AND CLERK LOST.

Editor GROCER,—I have been reading your article dealing with "City and Country Business," "City Clerks won't do in the Country," "Old Country Clerks won't do in the Provinces." Our head clerk left us on short notice. Having previously employed provincial bred and educated boys, we concluded to make a change and engage an Old Country, time served clerk with good testimonials. He had been with us about six months when two young ladies came in to settle the monthly account. The clerk, instead of going to the office and getting proper change for a five dollar note, emptied the cash register of ten and five cent pieces. The younger of the sisters slipped the nickels into her hand and exclaimed, "car fare." The elder took the dimes and said, "chicken feed." The clerk looked at them amazed, and asked the driver what they had ordered. After repeating "car fare and chicken feed" in his broad Nottinghamshire, he charged: Coffee, $1; wheat, 1 sack, and sent it out. We lost a customer and a clerk. When last heard from the latter was wrestling with the bass drum in the Salvation Army in Denver, Col.

PRACTICAL ADVERTISING HINTS.

By CHARLES AUSTIN BATES, NEW YORK.

I HAVE seen a slip sent out by an alleged expert in advertising which says: "I will guarantee to double the advertising returns of any firm that will take my medicine for six months. I have $5,000 to back this statement."

Now, as men of sense, I will ask you if it is strange that people sneer at the "advertising experts" when such rot as this is sent out by men who pretend to know something of advertising. Think of such a circular getting into the hands of John Wanamaker, or Colonel Hilton, of Hilton, Hughes & Co., or Mr. La Fetra, of The Royal Baking Powder Co., or Mr. Ward, of Sapolio, or Dr. Pierce, or W. L. Douglas, or Wells & Richardson, or any one of a thousand others.

This man may be able to increase the business of his clients. He might be able to go into John Wanamaker's store and do better advertising than has ever been done there. He could assert that much and no one could successfully refute the assertion without trying the man.

Most advertisers are exceedingly well pleased if an ad. writer or advertiser makes their business just a little bit more profitable. There are undoubtedly businesses here and there through the United States that could be doubled by the right sort of advertising, but those businesses are so few and far between that they are hardly worth considering.

I know of no advertiser who would not willingly pay well if he could be guaranteed a ten per cent. increase in his business. I mean ten per cent. beyond what would come to him as a natural, normal growth. The man who can guarantee an increase of ten per cent. can have all the money he wants. He can get so much money that he will have to stay up all night to spend it, and it won't take him very long—even at that rate—to accumulate a surplus, compared to which the late $100,000,000 surplus of the United States treasury would sink into insignificance.

He would get about $1,000 a minute for his time, and have people waiting in line outside his door. The chances are that a man who would make a reckless guarantee to double the advertising returns of any house doesn't possess $5,000 with which to guarantee anything.

I have received a communication from a person who objects to the use of the word "ad.", and says, "the man who uses the word 'ad.' would certainly say 'pants' or 'gents.' Just the same way some men have the habit of saying 'nit' for 'no.'"

The word "ad." is a good word in spite of Alfred Ayres and the rest of the alleged authorities. It is particularly good when it is used between men engaged in the advertising business. Life is too short to say "advertisement" every time an ad. is mentioned.

The trouble with most of the authorities is they believe that people and their needs must be subservient to language. They do not seem to understand that language was made for the convenience of people, and as people change it also must change. What is correct to-day may not be correct to-morrow, simply because to-morrow may not convey its meaning so clearly.

The word that is to-day tabooed as slang may in ten years become the very purest of English. Language was made to convey ideas and to facilitate the intercourse between people. As fast as we discover ways of simplifying the language and making it more direct and effective, it will have to be to be changed.

The only use an advertiser has for language is to make it tell a clear, plain, understandable story to possible purchasers. If he can do this more quickly and strongly by saying "ads." and "pants" and "gents" by all means do it.

Please do not misunderstand me. I believe that in 99 cases out of 100 purity of language is far better than impurity, and this is true simply because pure language enables a man to convey his meaning with greater effect. That is the object behind every rule of grammar and rhetoric.

As I have said many times before, what a man says amounts to a great deal more than how he says it. If somebody were to come to you to announce that you had suddenly fallen heir to a million dollars, it would not make much difference whether his grammar was faulty or not, just so he gave you the information good and hard. If you told him there must be a mistake about it and he said "nit," you would probably understand what he meant and be just as well satisfied as if he had said, "No, sir, there is no shadow of a possibility of a glimmer of a mistake."

When an advertiser has something good to offer to the public, the thing for him to do is to offer it so that they will understand what he is talking about as quickly as possible. If it is something very desirable he will get trade whether he writes grammatically or not. If he can be sensible and forceful and grammatical all at the same time, so much the better, but he can more easily do without the grammar than he can do without the sense of the force.

Advertising free from technicalities is the most effective in the sale of anything. The idea that because you are selling a machine, for instance, to people who understand machinery the ads. must necessarily be of a technical character is a mistaken one. The purchaser of any kind of machine is interested in what that machine will do.

He wants to know whether it is going to make a profit for him. This is really the thing he wants. If it will produce a great quantity of work in an economical manner, that is what he wants to know. If you can convince him that the machine will do this thing, he will find out about the construction afterward. The thing to do is to "appeal to the readers from a business standpoint." That is the way to sell anything.

I do not know any man who is in business from any other motive than a desire to make money. If you can show business men how to make more money, that is what they want. They want results. They don't care anything about your theories if the results are right. You might theorize until you were black in the face, and demonstrate by a technical description that it would do marvelous things in an hour with its hands tied. The talk would not do any good if the machine didn't work.

The object of an ad. is to convince the prospective purchaser of the fact that the article will be a profitable thing to buy and that it will make money for him.

SARDINE CANNING FACTORY.

Mr. J. Sutton Clark, of St. George, who intends to go into the sardine canning business at L'Etang, Charlotte county, has purchased the entire outfit for a canning factory at St. Andre, on the St. Lawrence, above River du Loup. The machinery is modern and is in excellent condition. It includes engine, boiler, machinery for making cans, machinery for making boxes, gasoline outfit for soldering the cans and lighting the factory, and everything necessary in a first-class factory. Mr. Alex. Wilson, of St. John, went to St. Andre to inspect the property for Mr. Clark. The machinery will be brought down at once, and Mr. Clark's factory will soon be in operation.—Globe, St. John, N. B.

AN ENLARGED STARCH FACTORY.

It is a good sign when increased business demands increased manufacturing space. This is the position of The Brantford Starch Co., Limited, it having just about finished putting another storey on its factory. By this means, the company has been able to put in six additional kilns, which will permit the factory being run continuously.

Besides enlarging the factory the company has put in a filtered spring water system, and put in a new plant for the manufacture of wheat starch for laundry purposes.

 We ship all orders the day they are received. Mail orders have our special attention, and are filled at bottom prices.

AN IDEA FOR A LOCAL DISPLAY.

I'VE often spoken of window displays that advertised no special goods, but merely attracted attention to the window, which, of course, embodies indirect, but nevertheless valuable, advertising. The best way to make these displays is to base them on some local feature well enough known to be appreciated by everybody. This is the best thing to attract attention, especially if the humorous flavor is given to it. You are dwelling on something, you see, that everybody knows about, consequently every man, woman and child who passes your window will, if it contains such a display, stop, look, laugh, pass on, and remember you.

There is magnificent advertising in keeping yourself in the public eye. That is one reason why John Wanamaker is so successful. Perhaps few people would admit that when my friend Wanamaker teaches the Sunday school lesson at Bethany Sunday school he is advertising John Wanamaker's store, but he is, and advertising it in the most valuable fashion possible to conceive of. And nobody knows that better than John himself.

But I digress. I started out to talk about attention-attracting displays. Here is an idea for one.

In the summer nearly every town has a local baseball team, and if it is a good one, is usually proud of it. Every player is, of course, known to everybody. A splendid display can be made with the local baseball team as a foundation, if you are willing to take a little trouble with it. From any large dealer in fancy goods you can get Japanese stuffed frogs about six inches high. They are very cheap, being simply painted paper over stuffed cotton. Their legs and arms are wire, and can be bent into most lifelike positions. If you can't get these in your town your local dealer can get them for you with very little trouble. You ought to have a stock on hand, for they are exceedingly useful in making window displays.

Buy at least 18 or 20 of these, and as many more as you want to. Then buy a little chintz or muslin, and have your wife clothe nine of these frogs in suits as near like your local baseball team's as possible. Clothe the other nine in another style of suit. These suits will require only a very little work. They need not be carefully finished. Match sticks will do very well for bats and big white pills for balls.

In fixing these frogs up for the window, print the names of the different players on small cards and pin them on their suits where they will be seen. If any of the players have any little peculiarities, such as you can accentuate in the frogs without giving offence, do so. For instance, if you had a very stout player, you could stuff the suit of the frog who represents him, taking pains to make it as funny as possible by stuffing the arms and legs, too.

Get a little gravel or dirt and cover the floor of your window, then, with powdered chalk or something of the sort, trace off a baseball diamond and place the players where they belong. Arrange the batter, catcher, pitcher, etc., as naturally as possible, which you can very well do with the wired limbs. You can do the arranging without any further suggestions. If you want to go into the thing more elaborately you can build a few seats and seat dressed frogs on them. The players themselves, however, will prove a drawing card if you arrange them carefully and naturally. Lots of things will suggest themselves to you as you put this display together. For instance, you could arrange one well-known player between third base and home, in the act of running, and call the display "Casey Making a Home Run." Take pains to have the catcher bent in an appropriate attitude.

Don't conclude that this display is too elaborate for you to attempt. It isn't elaborate at all. The little trouble which it takes will amply repay you. Every local paper in your town will be glad to give you a notice.—Grocery World.

WILL MOLASSES REACT?

RECEIPT of lower offers on Barbadoes molasses at Montreal from the Islands has caused some talk in the trade, but so far has had no influence, whatever, on values, and many traders do not consider they ever will, because it is their opinion that the figures in question are not a 1 goods, but for stock that has been culled over to a considerable extent. Accordingly, they manifest no anxiety whatever regarding their stock of good molasses, and do not consider that it will be affected in any way by recent offers that have been made for September delivery.

It is worthy of note also that mail advices of July 9 from the Island state that supplies are almost exhausted. The total shipments for the crop season up to the date named were 29,234 puncheons, against 33,547 for the corresponding period in 1897. The total crop last season amounted to 37,046 puncheons.

These figures are considered as quite bullish by holders of Barbadoes molasses, and they also point to the fact that sales of old stock carried over a year have been made at 27c. for 100 puncheon lots.

So far, the receipts at Montreal have been only about 5,000 puncheons against 8,000 puncheons for the same period last year, and 13,000 puncheons for the whole season.

Altogether, no material reaction is looked for in molasses, though many buyers are holding off in the expectation of such a development.

Some offers of New Orleans stock have been made at 20c. for car lots of 40 bbls., but the consumers' taste in Quebec runs to Barbadoes, and other molasses that have been tried in the Province before have not met a favorable reception.

Good clerks are not born; they are made. And you have to carefully select the material from which they are made.

SCHEME TO PREVENT CUTTING.

ACCORDING to The New York Journal of Commerce, the committee appointed at the recent convention of wholesale grocers of the United States at Niagara Falls, to formulate a rebate system suitable for general adoption, are receiving hearty support from jobbing grocers and manufacturers throughout the United States.

A circular letter was sent to all jobbing houses asking which system now in vogue is considered the best, and for suggestions of improvements in any of these systems.

From the answers received it would seem that a plan operated by a soap firm is the most satisfactory to the grocery jobbers.

Under the provisions of the plan which meets with most favor, no soap will be sold to any one who has not signed an agreement to sell at not less than the regular established price on penalty of paying a fine of $50 per box for every box sold at a cut price. The soap firm in question has the reputation of absolutely and unequivocally enforcing the fines and refusing to sell additional supplies until the fines are paid.

A business that is born of an incapable and indolent man hath but a short time to live, and it goeth down to the grave unwep—except by the creditors.

TROUBLES OF A CREDIT BUSINESS

THE Gananoque Departmental Store Co., Limited, now does all its business on the cash basis. It once sold goods on credit, and some of the experiences related in connection therewith are interesting. Three illustrations of how money is lost by credit business are given:

In the first instance, a young man who had been dealing in this store for some time, and paying cash, had purchased a suit of clothes on credit. At first he seemed anxious to get paid up, but soon he became careless regarding the matter. He was offered work in order to get his bills paid up. But it was useless, and his account is now for sale at 10c. on the dollar.

Another resident of the town had dealt with the firm at intervals, always paying well. Circumstances changed somewhat, and he wanted larger credit. When his bill reached $100 he gave his note. While this was maturing his bill had increased $40. His note was given for renewal, the $40 being added. While this note was maturing, whiskey, poker, etc., did their work, and when the note was due he paid no attention to it. This note for $143 is for sale for $1.43.

The third illustration given is that of one admittedly a good citizen—one who was not without means. He desired to make some extensive improvements, and to the small encumbrance on his property he added more. When the time came for settling his year's account, an unexpected sickness left him unable to settle up. Another year went by, the account steadily growing. Continued sickness left him still unable to pay. Shortly afterward he died. His property went to the mortgagee, and across his account is written one word—"Dead."

CANADIAN BACON FIRM.

Mention has frequently been made of the fact that Canadian bacon is steadily getting a firm grip of the first place in the British market.

During the past couple of weeks practical evidence of the benefit of the favor in which our bacon is held in the British market has been given in an advance of about 60c. per cwt. for live hogs, and about 50c. per cwt. for dressed hogs, in Toronto, while in Buffalo and other United States centres, the best hogs are stationary.

In Toronto, bacon hogs are quoted at $6, while in Buffalo the highest price paid is not over $4.20.

JAPAN TEA KEEPS ITS STRENGTH.

STRENGTH is still the predominating characteristic of the Japan tea market, and there is nothing yet in the situation to indicate the realization of the expectations of those who look for a decline in the present values.

Circulars and private letters received in Toronto during the past week state that the efforts of shippers at the various centres in Japan to induce the growers to take lower prices have proved futile. And it is evident from the tone of the advices that these shippers are much annoyed over this condition of affairs, for it precludes their filling limited-price orders.

It appears that nothing which will comply with the standards can be laid down in the United States at less than 18 to 18½c. The lowest tea that can at the moment be obtained for the Canadian market, is 16c. f.o.b. Kobe. And it is teas at these figures which are now abnormally high in price.

The general opinion among shippers in the United States is that it will not be possible, for a few years at any rate, to buy teas as low as during the seasons of 1896 and 1897.

The natives claim that, even at the high prices ruling, it does not pay them to manufacture teas.

Since the war, they have cultivated a larger view of life, and, as a result, labor and material have advanced 60 to 70 per cent., and charcoal fully 100 per cent. Then, freight rates are 50 per cent. higher than a year ago, and exchange is not as cheap as it was then, either.

The Japanese Government has intimated that, after July 31, it would prohibit the picking of tea. There would be no third crop if this were done, a result which would undoubtedly cause a further appreciation of values. But, as it would also tend to put a stop to the exportation of poor teas from Japan, there would be some compensation in that particular.

In addition to the increased cost of manufacture it should not be forgotten that the crop is much less than last year. A letter under date of July 6 estimated the shortage at the two ports of Kobe and Yokohama at 12 per cent.

As a result of the continued strong condition of the market, importers in Canada have been induced to increase their limits, some by 3c. per lb.

FIFTY WISE MERCHANTS.

Over 50 Brantford, Ont., merchants, comprising grocers, hardwaremen and those engaged in other lines of trade, have agreed to close their places of business every Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m. until August 21.

The early closing movement expands slowly, but it is expanding, and it can scarcely help doing so. Long business hours are no more necessary than would be a 20-foot tail to a dog.

Men should protect their health as well as their business, and the best way to protect the latter is to take care of the former. Being cooped up in a store 12, 14 or 16 hours per day is good for neither man nor store.

TARRAGONA ALMONDS DEARER.

Advices received in Toronto this week show that present quotations on Tarragona almonds, new crop, are about ten shillings per bag dearer than last year.

A FISHING CONTEST.

Mr. Henry Wright, of Wright & Co., and Mr. J. G. Gibson, are bass fishing near Hastings. These two gentlemen had a week's fishing at this same place about a month ago, but when they came back there was quite a controversy as to which had caught the biggest and most fish. It is presumed they have gone back to settle the matter. It is to be hoped they have taken an umpire, a photographer, a tape measure and a pair of scales with them, because the trade is interested in learning which is the better fisherman.

WILD FRUIT DRIED UP.

Mr. Homer, of Homer & Dixon, general merchants, Gravenhurst, spent a few days in Toronto last week. He reported that the wild fruits in his part of the country were dried up this season, on account of the drought, while potatoes and corn had been damaged by frost. There are four lumber mills in Gravenhurst and all are fairly busy.

STRONGER SALMON OUTLOOK.

A STRONGER outlook for canned salmon has developed. Mail and telegraphic advices received this week from the Coast indicate this beyond question, whatever the ultimate outcome will be.

Malcolm & Windsor, Limited, writing under date of Steveston, B.C., July 21, say: "The position here in salmon is bullish in the extreme, at the time of writing there is hardly a sockeye in the river, and for the time of the year the present fishing is the worst known by the oldest canneryman on the Fraser. Some of the canneries have actually not packed a case yet, and the bulk have only a few cases packed. From present appearances sockeyes in large quantities are not likely to show up in the river till early in August, and then the run will in all likelihood be a short one. Unless the unexpected happens, the pack of the Fraser for this season will be far short of last year, and in consequence higher prices may be looked for, $3.50, f.o.b., the cannery having been refused in several different quarters during the past few days."

A telegraphic advice, received in Toronto on July 27, stated that there was still no run on the Fraser river, and that the prospects were discouraging.

If the present condition of things continues for any length of time, higher prices are certain to prevail. But, in the meantime, the figures being quoted by wholesalers in Toronto for futures are from 10 to 15c. per case lower for all well-known standard brands, and there have been a good many orders booked during the last ten days. The stock of canned salmon in Canada, left over from last year's pack, is heavy in both wholesalers' and retailers' hands, and, in view of this, together with the low prices at which orders have been placed for the coming season's pack, will make it difficult to obtain materially higher prices here should any attempt be made to do so. The British market is, however, in a healthy condition, and it is that market which is, after all, the most important to the Canadian packer.

from taxation for a term of years to Mr. Graham, of Belleville, if he will start a fruit evaporating factory in that place.

You may not be a genius, but if you are a persistent plodder you need not fear results.

NEW CANNED GOODS IN MONTREAL.

Agents for canned goods in Montreal had their quotations entirely withdrawn this week, and packers, according to all accounts, hardly know what to ask.

The first symptom of excitement was the demand for a rise of 15c. on tomatoes, and now none of these are obtainable for future delivery in Montreal under 75 to 80c.

Previous to this rise some buyers were lucky enough to place their orders for some 4,000 cases or so at 65c. per dozen, and, as matters stand at present, these goods look like a great bargain.

Prices, as they now stand, are 10c. over last season's average.

Demand from wholesalers is quite brisk and sales agents if they had a free hand would have no difficulty in closing contracts for quite a large quantity of goods, as the quantity of old pack vegetables, especially tomatoes, carried over by the Montreal wholesale grocers has been much lighter than usual.

In connection with old pack tomatoes, we understand that some lots of 1897 pack have been sold at 95c., which nets the seller a loss of 5c. per dozen. No sales of new pack peas or corn are yet reported in Montreal. Recent quotations on them have been 70c. for peas and 75c. for corn.

In canned salmon further contracts for "Clover Leaf" are noted, involving 1,000 cases, at $3.65 per case f.o.b. Coast.

Letters received from Picton and other points on Tuesday, stated that the drought was having a disastrous effect, especially in the case of apples and tomatoes.

A SCRIPTURAL DUEL.

According to a correspondent of The London Grocers' Monthly, a bakers' guild long ago had carved along the front of their pew in church the well-known words, "Bread is the staff of life," but the butchers retaliated by inscribing on the front of theirs the text, "Man does not live by bread alone." The grocers will agree that the butchers were right, and that without certain groceries man wouldn't want to live.

NOVA SCOTIA INSOLVENCY LAW.

THE new Nova Scotia Insolvency Act may now be said to be fairly launched and in working order. In past issues we have referred to its various provisions and clauses which are aimed to prevent the former scandalous exhibitions of fraudulent preferences, and the many other similar tactics of dishonest traders.

On all hands it is admitted that the value of this new Act in improving these conditions will depend largely upon the officials whose duty it will be to enforce it in a thoroughly systematic and capable manner, and we have no hesitation in congratulating the Provincial Government on the appointment of Mr. Faulkner as the official assignee for this country. As manager of the R. G. Dun Co. in this city for a number of years, his experience in that connection will serve him in very good stead in his new position.

We look for a very much improved order of commercial credits as a result of the first year's working of the new law, and the benefits will be felt particularly by the legitimate dealers who have always aimed to conduct their business on an honorable and equitable basis, but who have been subjected to the merciless competition and price cutting of the irresponsibles who have been pitchforked into various lines of retail trade.

We also believe that the new Act will obviate an immense amount of costly litigation, which has been nearly always a prominent feature in connection with insolvent estates, here as well as elsewhere, and, although our friends of the legal fraternity may suffer from this enforced inactivity, the business interests will be therefore relieved of a source of expense, which, in some instances, has devoured nearly all the available assets of an insolvent estate.

The appointment of an official assignee is a necessary sequel to the proper administration of the law, and under his superintendence we hope most of the bankrupt business men will find it to their advantage to place their affairs when involved, so that their business reputations may not be tainted by the odor of suspicion which emanates even from the most honest assignment, where relatives or others closely connected are appointed as assignees.—Maritime Merchant.

A LINCOLN FIRM'S NOVEL SCHEME.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, have in stock Keiller's marmalade, jars and tins, new make.

Enameline has an enormous sale in foreign countries, notwithstanding old established houses there.

Splendid values* in new Japan teas are being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Travelers have samples.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have in stock some fine 18-oz. bottles of pickles, which retail two for a quarter, with a good margin.

Shipments of Paterson's Worcester sauce and Heatson pickles, square bottles, have just been received by H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Fresh shipments of canned Barataria shrimps and shrimps in tomato sauce are in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

Special quotations for gem jars are announced by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, to which the attention of the trade is invited.

"Our 'Victoria' brand Japan tea is the best value for price," write Laporte, Martin & Cie. "Our sales are increasing every day."

"We have a complete range of Olive oils, imported and domestic, in glass and gallon tins," report The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

A specially selected line of whole pickling spice, put up expressly for their trade, which they quote at low prices, is moving freely with the Eby, Blain, Co., Limited.

"L'union Sardiniere du St. Laurent" sardines, in half-tins, are put up in the finest imported Italian olive oil and are offered at low figure by Laporte, Martin & Cie.

"Aurora" Ceylon tea, lately introduced by W. H. Gillard & Co., in a unique and useful package, is having an immense run, so that firm state, a large number of repeat orders having already been received.

From advices received by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, it appears that Mr. J. F. Eby has taken advantage of his recent trip to England to select, personally, some highly desirable lines of Ceylon and Indian teas at inside figures.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. are offering special inducements in their "Maple Leaf" smoked shoulders, hams and backs, in barrel lots, for the next ten days. This arrangement was made before the recent advance in hogs, but they have decided to let it stand.

HOW TO GET GOOD WORKERS.

In these days of restlessness among the hand workers manufacturers may well seek ways by which to attach employes to their interests, says an exchange. This can only be done by genuine and legitimate means. The old apprentice system was burdened with many abuses, but that an apprentice system can be made the means of providing competent workmen and of identifying them in the closest way with the house in which they are instructed is amply proven.

IRISH POTATOES.

There is an increase of 1.3 per cent. in the acreage of Irish potatoes. Thirty-one States, including the whole of New England and the entire Atlantic coast, with the exception of North Carolina, report an increase, and fifteen States a decrease. Of the ten States having 100,000 acres or upward in potatoes last year, New York reports an increase of 1 per cent., Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa, 2 per cent., Wisconsin 3 per cent. and Nebraska 7 per cent. On the other hand, the potato acreage of Ohio is reduced by 2 per cent. and that of Illinois and Kansas by 3 per cent.

The average condition of Irish potatoes, 95.5 is 7.7 points higher than at the corresponding date last year, and 2.2 points above the ten-year average. The improved condition, as compared with last year, is very general, nearly all the principal potato-growing States being included within the more favored area.—American Grocer.

WITHOUT A GROCERY STORE.

A town without a grocery store—just imagine what a state of affairs. Generally there are too many. The Great Barrington Courier says of Alford: "It is inconvenient not to have a store in town. The people are obliged to travel eight miles to obtain their supply of groceries and other goods. This reminds us of the time when people went once a year to some store for their supply of groceries. Then there were no bridges, but fording places were selected on the river, hence the settlement was called 'Alford.' "

HARDWOOD VS. BAMBOO HANDLES

Boeckh Bros. & Co., broom manufacturers, etc., Toronto, who for some time have been manufacturing brooms with bamboo handles, state that in the course of a few years, they expect bamboo handled brooms will entirely supplant the ordinary heavy hardwood handled broom.

GOLD IN HALIBURTON.

A report that gold has been found in paying quantities in Harburn township has occasioned considerable excitement in the county of Haliburton. The prospecting has been carried on by American capitalists. Mr. Alexander Ray, of Toronto, their analyst, who tested the ore as it was taken out, found pay gold in everything tested, varying from $6.50 to $20 per ton. The supply of ore is also said to be almost unlimited. In addition to the quartz rock tested, a very rich find of gold-bearing sand is also reported to have been made in the same district.

Shafts are at present being opened in Dysart township, which it is claimed, when fully developed, will prove as valuable as the property where the tests have already been made. Lutterworth township is also said to be rich in minerals.—Mail and Empire.

CANNED SALMON IN ENGLAND.

The demand for salmon continues to show some improvement, and the market remains firm. The report that the whole of one important pack has been secured by the United States Government for the troops, has strengthened the market for forward purchases. Advices from the Columbia river report an unusually large pack, but no reliable news is to hand from Alaska and the Fraser river, where the fishing is later. In the latter district the pack will be to a great extent controlled by the packers' combination. The extent of the Columbia river salmon pack only affects this country indirectly, as a very small quantity can be disposed of here, owing to the unaccountable prejudice in favor of red fish.—Produce Markets' Review, London.

EGG WITHIN AN EGG.

An egg within an egg was the curious freak that came into the possession of groceryman Welcome A. Smith, Norwich, Ct., on Monday, says an exchange. The egg was sold with others to a customer, and was returned after being broken. The outer shell was perfectly formed and of ordinary size. Inside, instead of a yoke, was another egg, about the size of a pigeon's egg, looking in all respects like an ordinary hen's egg with the exception of the size.

DISAPPOINTING SALMON RUN.

A press despatch from Vancouver, under date of July 24, says: "So far the salmon have not come up the Fraser river in great numbers, which is a disappointment to several thousand people. There are actually over 4,000 licenses being operated on the river, by at least 8,000 men, to supply 41 canning establishments, with staffs aggregating 2 500 men."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, July 28, 1898.

GROCERIES.

SUGAR and canned goods are the features of the wholesale trade this week. Shortly after THE CANADIAN GROCER went to press last week the refiners advanced their prices 1-16c. per lb. all round. The demand last week was heavy, but this week has not shown the same activity, although there is still a good movement. The canned vegetable market it is difficult to fathom. Packers and wholesalers are talking a great deal about a firmer tendency in prices, and yet some pretty low prices are still heard. There is very little doing in teas, but the market, particularly for Japans, is strong, and some buyers during the week have advanced their limits after having for some time hesitated to do so. Pepper keeps firm, but there are no transactions reported. The spice trade generally is quiet. Cream of tartar is dearer. Outside tea and canned goods the market is quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

There are very few of the packers disposed to quote canned vegetables, and there is a bullish feeling in the market. At the same time, however, there is a great deal of uncertainty in regard to the ultimate outcome of the corn and tomato pack, and people, in consequence, hesitate to buy, except at low figures, which packers are not, as a rule, willing to accept. Nevertheless, from what are considered reliable sources, reports come of offers of tomatoes at low figures. A good many orders have been booked by both packers and wholesalers, and both are inclined to wait further developments before doing more business. The figures at which wholesalers are, as a rule, quoting futures are 75 to 80c. for tomatoes, 70c. for peas, and 65c. for corn. A good many orders have been booked at these and the lower figures which previously ruled. Quite a few orders for canned salmon for future delivery have been booked by the wholesale houses during the last ten days. The price for "Horse Shoe" brand has been fixed at $1.10 for five-case lots and over, and $1.15 for less than five-case lots. The raspberry pack, like the pea pack, is generally credited with being short, owing to the want of rain.

COFFEE.

There is rather a steadier market for Brazilian coffees, although there is not much business doing.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

A few syrups are being offered, but there is no demand. Molasses is dull and unchanged. A despatch from New Orleans reports a sale there of 30,000 barrels for August delivery.

SUGARS.

The feature of the local sugar market is an advance of 1-16c. per lb. in the price of all descriptions. This advance took place shortly after we went to press last week. The price for standard granulated is now 4¾c. per lb., and for No. 2 yellow, 3 9-16c. The advance was rather a surprise, the outside markets being at the time easy. The refiners were, however, experiencing a heavy demand. Since then, however, the British market has taken a firmer turn, there having been a couple of fractional advances in prices.

In New York, there was no change last week in either raw or refined sugar. Stocks generally are lighter than they were a year ago.

For Prices Current See
Pages 30 and 31.

SPICES.

Pepper is still firm, with an upward tendency. Ginger, on the other hand, is advised easier. Locally, there is a demand for pickling spices, but otherwise business is quiet.

TEAS.

There is no evidence as yet of a decline in the strength of Japan teas, and a few importers have, during the week, advanced their limits, in one or two instances, by 3c. per lb. Advices from Japan are of a decidedly strong nature. Very few new transactions have taken place in Japan teas on the local market during the past week, the prices being too unattractive. In the few transactions reported the lowest price paid was from 16½ to 17c.

A little business is being done in Ceylon and Indian teas, but the volume is smaller than it has been.

Advices from London, England, under date of July 15, state that the market there for Indian teas was unsettled and prices were irregular. Competition was good for some of the better liquoring parcels of Ceylon teas, the previous week's prices for such kinds being fully maintained and occasionally exceeded. On the other hand the general run of offerings sold at irregular and, in some cases, somewhat easier prices. Gow, Wilson & Stanton, in their latest tea report state that from a statistical point of view the market at the moment is in a decidedly healthy position for Indian and Ceylon tea.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The local market is in much about the same condition as it was a week ago, and nothing new has been received from the primary market. In New York, the past week has witnessed a decline in prices, owing to dullness in trade, together with the fact that prices asked for new fruit are from 9d. to 1s. lower than last year's opening figures.

SULTANA RAISINS—A cable received in Toronto this week states that the Sultana raisin crop will be equal to that of last year.

FIGS—Cable advices state that the market for figs is likely to open high, as the crop will be about 50 per cent. smaller than last year.

PRUNES — Advices confirm what has already been reported regarding the probable low price of Bosnia prunes. As the California prune crop is short, the price, on the other hand, will be higher than last year.

GREEN FRUITS.

Raspberries are still the fruit in greatest evidence on the market, but it is expected the receipts will be much smaller by the end of this week. Red rasps. are unchanged at 5 to 6c., and black rasps. have advanced from 1c. less to the same figure. Lawton berries are now coming in in large quantities. The demand for them seems steady at 5 to 7c. Blueberries are plentiful at 75 to 85c. per basket. There is still a large quantity of red currants coming in, with prices steady at 40 to 65c. Black currants are less plentiful. The price is still 75 to 85c. per basket. Two cars of Georgia peaches arrived on the market this week, and sold freely at $2 to $2.50 for 6-basket carriers. Canadian peaches are arriving from the Niagara district. The price opened at about 40 to 75c., and is likely to continue steady at figures in this neighborhood. Canadian apples, wind-falls principally, are on sale, the price running from 25 to 40c. per basket. Lots of harvest pears are coming in; they sell at 40 to 50c. California plums, peaches and pears continue to arrive in large quantities, and have declined materially in price. Watermelons are abundant and in good demand; prices are firm at 16 to 38c. each. Canadian tomatoes are coming in such large quantities that canning factories are depended on to relieve the market; prices received are in the neighborhood of 50 to 75c. per basket. Bananas are in good demand, but are not yet as plentiful as desired. Oranges are not selling briskly, but prices remain unchanged. The hot weather has made the sale of lemons unusually large, and prices are firm and high.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts are plentiful, and, as the demand is moderate, the market is slow. An advance of 1c. is noted for choice prints, though there is an abundance of ordinary stock, and prices for any but the choicest are weak. For both dairy tubs and prints at country points, f.o.b., 11 to 11½c. still holds good. The demand for creamery prints is good, and prices are firm. At country points 16½ to 17c. prints and 15 to 15½c. for tubs, f.o.b., is asked.

CHEESE—The market seems somewhat firmer, and sales are reported at country cheese boards at 7½ to 7¾c. Some of the largest dealers declare, however, that the market conditions do not warrant more than the lower figure. The price in Toronto is steady at 7¾ to 8c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The supply is sufficient for the demand, and the feeling is easy. At outside points 9 to 10c., f.o.b., is asked. The Toronto market holds steady at about 11 to 12c.

POTATOES—New potatoes are arriving freely, though no car lots are yet noted. The average received so far have been rather smaller than usual, owing to drought in many districts. The price has declined 10c. this week, and is now about 60 to 70c. per bushel.

HONEY—The indications of a large crop noted in last issue are borne out by large receipts. Prices are unchanged, though some dealers claim that our figures for clover strained are ½ to 1c. below the market. The figures quoted, however, are given by the majority of the best houses.

VEGETABLES—Corn and cauliflower are now on the market, the former selling at 10 to 12½c., and the latter at 75c. to $1 per doz. Celery has advanced 10 to 15c., and lettuce 10c. Onions have declined 10 to 20c.; radishes, 5c.; short cucumbers, 15c., and butter beans, 10c. We quote: Corn, 10 to 12½c. per doz.; cauliflower, 75c. to $1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; onions, seed, 10c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 20 to 30c. doz. bunches; radishes, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 30 to 50c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 25 to 40c. per doz.; green peas, small, 50 to 75c.; large, 75c. to $1 per bag; Canadian butter beans, 50 to 75c. per bushel; beets, 10 to 15c. per doz.; carrots, 10 to 15c. per doz.

PROVISIONS

There is a brisk demand for everything in the smoked meat line. The price of hogs has advanced from $6.75 to $7 to $7.10 to $7.50. This makes the feeling regarding prices of all goods very strong.

FISH.

The demand for all fresh fish is good, but whitefish and trout are the only ones arriving in any quantity. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to 6½c.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh black bass, 8c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Samples of the new Ontario winter wheat, now coming in, indicate that this grain is likely to be much superior to last year's growth. No sprouted wheat, whatever, is reported, and the body of the grain is so hard and firm that much better results are expected from millings of Ontario wheat this year. Prices are a little easier, however, in sympathy with declines in the larger centres. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 70 to 72c.; white winter, 69 to 71c.; goose, 69 to 71c. There is not much activity noted on the street market. We quote: Wheat, white, 74c.; red, 78c.; goose, 74c.; peas, 55c.; oats, 30 to 32c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is steady at 98c., Sarnia freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba flour continues unchanged. Ontario grades have declined 10c. We quote as follows: Manitoba patents, $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.85; Ontario patents, $4.40 to $4.50; straight roller, $3.70 to $3.80, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Rolled wheat has declined 25c., and cornmeal has advanced 10c. Otherwise prices are unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4.00 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.60; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

SALT.

Prices unchanged. Business continues brisk. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

SEEDS.

A few samples of alsike clover seed are now arriving, the majority of them being of fine quality. There is such a wide variation in the reports of the yield that it is difficult to give the figures likely to hold good this season. At present, however, the feeling seems to be that $3.50 to $4 is about the right figure for choice to fancy lots.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is dull. Prices are unchanged. We quote: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.; cured, 9½ to 10c.

CALFSKINS—There is little movement to note. We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8 lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

MARKET NOTES.

All sugars have been advanced 1-16c. per lb.

Corn is on the market at 10 to 12½c. per dozen.

Cauliflower is now on sale at 75c. to $1 per dozen.

Dressed hogs have advanced 50c. per cwt. this week.

Cream of tartar is cabled equal to ½c. per lb. dearer.

Muskmelons are on the market at $2.10 to $2.25 per case.

The fig crop will be about 50 per cent. smaller than last year.

Lawton berries are now coming in. They sell at 5 to 7c. per basket.

Cornmeal has advanced 10c., and rolled wheat has declined 25c. this week.

Potatoes have declined 10c. per bush., and are now selling at 60 to 70c. per bush.

The alsike clover seed market opened this week at $3.50 to $4 for choice to fancy seed. The samples so far shown have been excellent.

Samples of new Ontario wheat now coming are reported to be exceedingly good. Prices are 1 to 2c. easier, in sympathy with British and United States markets.

California pears were sold at auction on Wednesday, this week, at $2.25 to $2.50 for 50-lb. carriers; California plums at $1.50 to $1.85 for 4-basket carriers; California peaches at $1.05 to $1.30 for 20-lb. carriers.

BLUE RIBBON TEAS

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, July 28, 1898.
GROCERIES.

THERE has been no particular activity in general groceries as regards the actual movement, but there are many interesting features. Refined sugar is perhaps the single exception, as the refiners note a brisk movement in it, while prices all round have advanced 1-16c. per lb. Syrups and molasses furnish nothing noteworthy. Canned vegetables are firmer for new pack for future delivery, some canners asking 15c. advance on tomatoes, while others have withdrawn quotations entirely. In spices, pepper is cabled much firmer, while the strong feeling on Japan teas is more marked, if anything, though buyers are as reluctant as ever about acknowledging the fact. Dried fruits, etc., are without feature, and green fruit has been favorably affected by the warm weather.

SUGAR.

A firmer tendency has been developed in sugar since last report, and prices are 1-16c. higher than they were a week ago. Demand at the refineries, both from local and western buyers, has shown decided improvement, and a large volume of business has been transacted. In raws, a decline was recorded in beet at London toward the close of last week, but since then values have ruled steady, the market exhibiting an improved tendency at 9s. 3d. for July and 9s. 3¾d. for August. Cane was steady on the same market, but with little doing, at 11s. 7½d. for Java and 10s. 6d. for fair refining. At New York raw was firm; fair refining, 3½c.; centrifugal, 96 test, 4½c. There was no change in refined on that market. At the Montreal refineries prices now are: 4¾c. for standard granulated, 4¼c. for Dutch and 3 9-16 to 4 1-16c. for yellows, as to quality.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrup continues quiet, and the market is entirely without feature, at 2½c. per pound.

MOLASSES.

There is little doing in molasses, either in cargo lots or otherwise, as buyers are not disposed to operate. Offers of New Orleans stock have been made, and car lots have sold at 20c., but buyers do not appear anxious to handle the goods. Car lots of Barbadoes are held firm at 30c. and single puncheons 30c. Some advices from the islands are dwelt upon specially elsewhere, but are not expected to materially affect prices here.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods have attracted a lot of attention during the week owing to the firm feeling exhibited on supplies of new pack vegetables for future delivery. Wholesale grocers have been free enquirers for these goods, but their views of the value and those of packers do not coincide, so that business has been restricted. However, we understand that contracts for 4,000 cases of tomatoes have been closed at 65c. per doz., and this, as matters look at present, is a decided bargain, as packers have twice advanced their prices during the past ten days, now asking from 75 to 80c. per doz., which is from 5 to 10c. over what they asked last season. Business in 1897 pack is reported 95c. for tomatoes in round lots, corn 75c. and peas 70c. In salmon, some contracts in new pack have been closed lately, among them 1,000 cases "Clover Leaf" at $3.65 per case f.o.b. Coast.

COFFEE.

The market continues dull. Some sales of Maracaibo are reported at 10 to 15½c., Santos at 8 to 11c., and Rio at 7 to 10c., for straight invoice lots.

SPICES.

Strong cables on pepper, from London, quoting an advance of ¼ to ¾d., have been the leading feature of the spice market. Demand on spot, also, for the same spice has been rather brisk, and contracts for fair-sized lots for future delivery have been closed at 4 3 16d. for black Penang, 7 ½d. for white, and 4 ¾d. for black Singapore and 8 ½d. for white.

RICE.

There is a moderate demand for rice, and prices are steady, as last quoted.

TEAS.

The tea market remains very firm, especially on Japan stock, but business is light because buyers have not yet made up their minds to pay the advance asked. That they will have to do so seems certain, as many of them are short for future delivery, and it is just as probable that they will lose more money by holding off than if they placed their orders now. For common Japans 12½c. has been refused, sellers asking 13½c., and these low grades are the goods in which the greatest scarcity is reported.

NUTS.

There has been no change in nuts.

DRIED FRUIT.

No news is reported in this line, and nothing is expected for a week or so yet.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried and evaporated apples remain as last quoted, with little or no business to report.

GREEN FRUIT.

prices are unchanged. Receipts of bananas have been quite plentiful, and they have declined 50c. per bunch as a result. Oranges met a fair sale at steady prices. Tomatoes have been a heavy receipt, and prices are easy. California fruits of all sorts have been in abundant supply, while prices exhibit little change. Raspberries are rather firmer, as supplies are diminishing.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market is again higher than it was. The demand for choice stock continues fair and business is up to the average for the season, at steady prices. We quote: Selected new laid, 12 to 13c.; No. 1 candled stock, 10½ to 11c.; P.E.I., 9½ to 10c.; and culls at 8½ to 9c. per doz.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, sales being slow at 90 to 95c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice, hand-picked per bushel.

HONEY—The demand for honey is still very limited. We quote: White clover comb, 11c. to 12c.; dark do., 8 to 10c.; white strained, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Maple product continues very quiet, and prices are nominal. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb., and in tins, 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for hams and bacon continues good, and the market is fairly active. In lard a fair trade is reported, but pork is dull. We quote: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼c. to 8½c.; and compound refined at 5½c. per lb.; hams, 10½c. to 11½c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was rather more enquiry for coarse grains to-day, and a moderate amount of business was done. The undertone to the market was steady, and prices show no change, oats being quoted at 31¼c. afloat and peas at 64c. afloat.

A better demand was experienced for flour to-day, from both local and country buyers and a fair business was done at steady prices. There was also considerable enquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba grades, but no actual business was done. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $5.25 to $5.40; straight rollers, $4.75 to $5; bags, $2.10 to $2.25; Manitoba patents, $5.30, and strong bakers', $4.90.

Ontario bran and shorts have shown distinct firmness since last report, advancing 75c. for the former, and $2 for the latter.

We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12; shorts, $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $12; shorts, $14, and moullie, $16 per ton, including bags.

The supply of baled hay is still far in excess of the requirements, and, in consequence, the tone of the market is weak and prices are lower. The demand is limited and trade slow. We quote: Shipping hay, $4 to $5; good to choice, No. 1, $8 to $9, and No. 2, at $5.50 to $7 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese was, if anything, rather easier in its tone, though no quotable change was recorded. At the wharf, on Monday, the offerings of Quebec cheese approximated about 7,000 boxes, and they sold at the same range as the previous week, viz., 7¼ to 7¾c., the outside being the ruling price. There was nothing doing in Ontario makes, and the range was nominal at 7¼ to 7¾c. The public cable was unchanged to-day, and private advices did not afford much encouragement, all of them complaining that prices in Canada were too high.

Butter was without change, demand ruling dull. Exporters are not in the market to any great extent, for the reason that they cannot get the goods they want at 16c., which is all they are prepared to pay. Holders want 16¼c., and are disinclined to accept less, so that business is restricted.

Receipts of cheese to date, since May 1, have been 725,583 boxes, against 854,367 for the same period last year. Deducting exports of 560,152 boxes from this, should leave a stock in Montreal of about 165,400 boxes. At the same time last year, the difference between receipts and exports was 137,327 boxes, the figures being : Receipts, 854,367, and exports, 717,040.

MONTREAL NOTES.

New laid eggs have advanced 1½ to 2c. per doz.

Ontario bran is 75c. and shorts is $2 dearer than last week.

Heavy receipts of bananas have caused a decline of 50c. per bunch on the week.

Cables from London quote pepper firm at an advance of ¼d. to ¾d. on eight days ago.

There has been an advance of 1-16c. in the price of all refined sugars at the local refineries.

Packers of vegetables are asking an advance of 15c. on tomatoes and some refuse to quote at all.

Some lower offers have been received on Barbadoes molasses from the Islands, but there is no specification as to the grade of the goods.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., July 26, 1898.

BUSINESS during July has been rather better, in fact, some say they have had a better month than any previous one this year. Prices, however, are low, and in many cases markets seem uncertain and so lack life. The firmer feeling in canned goods has created some interest. There is beginning to be considerable interest expressed in the likely outcome of the war. When it is remembered the large quantity of goods shipped from these Provinces to the Spanish West Indies, this is not to be wondered at. It is said Nova Scotia ships over $1,000,000 worth of fish alone annually. In spice there is little change; pepper is stronger; cream of tartar keeps firm.

OIL.—The feeling in burning oil favors higher prices. Already in the west there has been an advance. There is no doubt both American and Canadian will be affected. At present, trade is very quiet. This is also true of lubricating oils. The fact that our sawmills did not begin sawing till late in the season has affected the demand. Cod oil continues high and scarce.

SALT.—There have been no arrivals of Liverpool salt this week, nor are any expected for some little time. There is, however, some afloat for here. There is but a fair sale for this season. Stocks ample. While there is some demand for rock or mineral salt, it is light. In Canadian salt, there is at this season a particularly good sale for butter and cheese salt. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS.—The feeling regarding new goods is still unsettled. Very few canners are offering corn and tomatoes, which are backward, the latter particularly. And the canners report peas a short pack as compared with last year. They predict higher prices later. A few thousand cases have been placed here, but nothing has been done during the week. Our local packers, who, particularly in corn, are able to compete with the western concerns, are beginning to look after their trade. Salmon is in fair demand, but our market is better supplied than usual at this season. Lobsters are scarce. More sardines will be packed in our Province this season than usual, and it is said there will be a good market. Local packers are finding ready sales for their kippered herring in oval tins, same style as the English. There is a good sale at this season for meats. Local-packed bacon has about driven the United States product out of the market.

GREEN FRUIT—There is large business now being done. Berries are somewhat in the background, strawberries being about over. Raspberries are being received freely, but there is only a small business in this fruit compared with strawberries. There are large quantities of wild raspberries shipped in bulk in kegs to the United States market for manufacturing purposes. Large quantities of blueberries are also moving. California oranges continue to hold the orange market. There is a fair sale at full prices. Little change is expected. In lemons, the best grade now offered are Maivre which are of splendid quality. The price keeps high. Bananas continue to move in large quantities, but peaches, pears and plums from California are being more largely sold than ever. The peaches seem better this year than usual. Nova Scotia cherries are coming in quite freely, though hardly as many as were expected. Prices will rule lower next week. A few green apples are seen.

DRIED FRUIT—Dealers this week ordered a few Valencia raisins for early shipment. Spot goods move slowly. In currants, rather lower prices rule. Opening prices for California may be quoted now at any time. This is rapidly becoming the popular fruit here. Dried and evaporated fruits are very slow. Dried apples are fast going out of use. Dealers find it difficult to move even the light stocks here. Onions show no change in price, Egyptian are rather giving place to Maltese, and they will soon give place to American.

SUGARS—There is a rather better business. The market, however, shows little change, though there is an upward tendency. Granulated continues to be sold most freely and the different grades offered make exact values hard to keep track of.

MOLASSES—During the last week market cannot be recorded as gaining strength. While stocks are not large, there is a light sale, and an uncertainty about future offerings that tends to make buyers offish.

PRODUCE—Stocks of butter continue large, and the feeling is weak. For best grades there is a fair sale at a fair price, but off grades are very slow. In cheese the feeling is stronger, but there is no change of price here. Market is dull. In fact, trade is limited here, there being no regular outlet for surplus. If the manufacture continues as it has been so far, the output in this Province will be very large this year. Eggs are dull. The quality continues to be more a matter for consideration. In past years few eggs have been pickled here, but one house this year has put down a large quantity, and the result is watched with interest.

FISH—There is a fair business. Quite a few fall shad are now being taken, and some are very large and fat. Fresh salmon are scarce, but the price is, as is usual at the end of the season, quite low. Dry cod show no change, and are likely to hold at present prices. Stocks light. Pickled herring, as for the past few months, show no change, except a few new stocks are offered. They are of nice quality and have a good sale. Alewives show improvement in price, and are moving south, yielding a fair profit to the packers. Dulse is now being freely received. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $3.10 to $3.25; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.45 to $1.50 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3 to 3½c.; cod, 6 to 7c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 15 to 16c.; ½-bbl.; shad, $4; mackerel, 14 to 20c.

PRODUCE—There continues to be light sale at even prices for barreled pork and beef, though packers are beginning to look after trade with a view to fall business. Smoked meat is very quiet. In lard there is quite a range in packers' prices, but where figures are low there is rather improved buying.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour the chief sale is for Ontario grades, at rather lower prices. Sales are light and unsatisfactory, being largely made at a loss, and it is difficult to meet the idea of buyers. Feed is still scarce and high. Oatmeal is still low, but improved prices are expected. Cornmeal has this week been marked up, but is still low. Beans are dull. Barley is rather easier, but the sale is limited. Peas are scarce and high. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.65 to $5.70; best Ontario, $4.75 to $4.80; medium, $4.55 to $4.75; oatmeal, $3.90 to $4; cornmeal, $2.10; middlings, $20 to $21; bran, $17 to $18; oats, 40 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¼ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Baird & Peters have added "Maypole" soap to their stock.

H. L. Macklin, who has a tea store in Fredericton, will move his business to St. John.

J. Lockhart Watt, of Watt & Scott, Toronto, with Mr. E. T. Sturdee, local representative, called on the wholesale trade last week.

Fawcett's flour mill, Moncton, has been enlarged to a capacity of 400 barrels. The quantity of wheat and barley grown in this Province this year is much ahead of any previous year.

The St. Croix Soap Co. will give a bicycle to the holder of the lucky coupon attending the grocers' picnic. The local wholesale trade have donated very handsome prizes for the sports.

Thos. Gorman received this week four tons Grand Manan dulse. This is the best that comes to the market. One of the best outside points to which shipments are made is Philadelphia.

St. John and Halifax are interested in what will be the result should Porto Rico and Cuba become part of the United States. Halifax has a very large trade, particularly in fish, with these islands, the export to Porto Rico being very large. It is feared, if these places become part of the United States, that duties will be so arranged as to give the fish market to the American fisherman. Halifax merchants mourn the loss of the steamer Newfoundland, loaded with provisions from that port, captured while trying to run the blockade.

THE PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

Hon. Wm. Paterson has issued a circular entitled "Memorandum of Information and Instruction Respecting the British Preferential Tariff." The following is the certificate:

I—, the exporter of the articles in this invoice have the means of knowing, and do hereby certify, that said invoice being from myself to —, and amounting to —, is true and correct; that all the articles included in the said invoice are bona fide the produce or manufacture of one or more of the following countries, viz., —: and that a substantial portion of the labor of one or more of such countries have entered into the production of every manufactured article included in said invoice to the extent in each article of not less than one-fourth of the value of such articles, in its present condition ready for export to Canada.

LOBSTER FISHING AT EAST POINT.

A Charlottetown, P.E.I., paper says: "The lobster factories in the eastern part of the Island, are going to make a fair season after all. The poor fishing of May and June is being made up by the good fishing of July. Had the fishermen an extension of time, they would do as well as any year. As it is, the season's work will be very satisfactory. There is surely money in the business; if not for the fishermen, certainly for the packer."

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, July 25, 1898.

BUSINESS throughout the city and Province is very fair in all lines. Portage la Prairie, Brandon and Carberry (taken in the order of their dates) each held their annual fairs last week, and all have been successful. The weather has been perfect and the attendance large in each case. Indeed, Brandon exhibition almost bids fair to be a rival of the Winnipeg Industrial. In the grain and vegetable classes and in horses, better exhibits were made at Brandon than at Winnipeg. Preparations are going forward for the annual outing of the Caterers' Association. This includes all dealers in eatable products in the city, and is usually one of the most largely attended excursions of the season. There is a tendency on the part of the committee to favor Rat Portage, but this presents many objections. The caterers' day has been looked upon primarily as a family affair, and this distance is too great to take children with any degree of comfort for the children or their parents, so it is hoped that wiser counsels will prevail.

Advices from Vancouver indicate that salmon packers are very much discouraged by the run of fish so far. The season has been open three weeks, and it is thought not more than half a pack will be obtained. This will, of course, affect prices here, but has not done so yet.

CURED MEATS—This market has fluctuated considerably, one day being an $\frac{1}{8}$ higher and the next lower, but practically to-day it is the same as last week, though some firms are selling an $\frac{1}{8}$ of a cent higher all round.

CEREALS.—Have shown the same tendency to fluctuate, but finished on Friday strong with an advance of 5c. per sack. This is $1.85 for rolled oats and $1.90 for standard and granulated. Beans remain firm with a good demand at $1.30.

COFFEE—Market continues slow and quiet. Rios, No. 5, 10 to 10 $\frac{1}{2}$. Few sales reported.

SUGAR—This market is a conundrum. Prices are very firm, but, on the other hand, brokers seem particularly eager to make sales. In view of the preserving season now on, it would not seem likely for there to be a decline in price; yet other things seem rather to point that way. Granulated, 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; bright yellows, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

RICE—Some Japan has arrived, but the market is still scanty in both Japan and Rangoon. Limited quantities of China rice are on hand, but the price is high.

CANNED GOODS—Advices as to drought in Ontario point to raspberries being a shorter pack and higher in price than at first anticipated. Strawberries are offering freely, and packers seem anxious to sell futures in corn, peas and tomatoes. Prospects point to reasonable prices in these goods, but it is too early to give anything like an assured price, as no one can tell how the crop will turn out, and the same can be said of all canned fruits. Fair quotations for present market here are $3 to $3.10 for strawberries, $2.50 for raspberries, $1.85 for peas, and $1.95 for corn.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—This market is without change. Old stocks are in such good condition that it is not likely that the arrival of new goods will lower the price, particularly as apricots are a short crop.

TEAS—New Chinas, though in transit, have not yet come to hand. Advices from Chinese agents state the crop is much lighter than last year.

BUTTER—Owing to the high prices being paid during the past three weeks by country merchants the supply of dairy butter has materially increased. There is a rather wide difference between the quotations of the large dealers here, prices given running all the way from 10 to 12c. It is doubtful if anything can now be bought which is worth having under 11 to 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Creamery makers are holding for higher prices. Whether this is wise is a difficult question to solve. The price offered is 16c. factories with a shade over, say 16 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 16 $\frac{3}{4}$ c., for choice lots in small quantities. There is no doubt that all butter bought for anything over 16c. is bought for speculation, as nothing in the outside market, east or west, warrants a higher price. Latest advices from Vancouver declare the market dull and slow at 16 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 17 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.

CHEESE—There is a desire to hold this product also for higher figures, though the price paid is a fair one for the season, being 7 to 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. point of shipment. The cheese is improving in quality.

GREEN FRUIT—Market is again well supplied in all lines. Blueberries are arriving freely from Eagle River and Rat Portage. The quality is fine, and the crop so far abundant. Price, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 7c. per lb. for 20-lb. cases. Watermelons are down to \$4 per dozen. Lemons maintain the last week's advance to \$6, but have not gone higher. Plums, pears, peaches and apricots are plentiful, but show no drop in prices at present.

PURE GOLD CATALOGUE.

The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., Limited, has in course of preparation a new catalogue of their goods. It will be an elaborate affair, the aim being to make it excell anything of the kind which has hitherto been attempted in Canada.

BAD ROADS AND SMUGGLING.

E. HENNESSY, of E. Hennessy & Co., general merchants, Chatham, Ont., was in Toronto on business a few days this week, and gave THE CANADIAN GROCER a call. In answer to a question regarding business in Chatham, Mr. Hennessy replied: "Business has been decidedly poor; not more than half what it usually is. The causes are, to a large degree, local, but I presume other towns may be affected to a smaller extent by them. The chief reason is bad roads. Chatham is situated in one of the finest farming districts in Canada, but its roads are, at times, the worst in Canada, and the floods in the early spring made them the worst they had been for years. These bad roads have had the effect of limiting the area of the surrounding country that depends on Chatham for supplies. The farmers and others at any distance have two alternatives: To buy their goods at one of the many village stores, or take a trip to Detroit, lay in a good supply, and smuggle their purchases over the border.

"The low rates to Detroit, 80c. return fare by train, and 40c. return by boat, have largely increased the amount of smuggling done."

Mr. Hennessy thought it possible that the move of the Government in placing special officers along the border to prevent smuggling might be a good one. "But," said he, "the decrease in smuggling, due to their advent, is hardly noticeable yet."

"As Chatham has," Mr. Hennessy continued, "no large manufacturing establishments there is not a great deal of impulse to trade from within, so it is natural that with such deterring influences as bad roads and cheap fares to a city like Detroit, business should languish somewhat."

Mr. Hennessy is hopeful, however, that the fall trade will show much improvement over the spring and summer trade.

CURRANTS IN LIVERPOOL.

An English paper, referring to the currant trade in Liverpool, says: "A moderate business has been done in currants of all grades, but the finer growths continue to receive the most attention. A few sales of common fruit were made at slight concessions where holders have been anxious to clear their remaining stocks. The country demand continues to be of an average character, although inquiries tend to strengthen the conviction that the stocks held by grocers are very light. There is a marked absence in fruit suitable for confectionery purposes."

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

July 25, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

COFFEE IN NEW YORK.

THE distributing business in the market for Brazil grades has been moderately active, jobbers generally stating that they have had a slightly better run or orders from the country trade, although the purchases made have been, as a rule, of small lots, as buyers have shown a disposition to keep their takings close to actual requirements. A fairly large business has been transacted in the market for invoices, but at slightly lower prices. The crop movement has continued to run smaller than last year, thus far being about 100,000 bags less, but it is too early in the season for the receipts to play an important part in the situation.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

STOCKS OF RICE IN EUROPE.

Mail advices from Bremen show the stocks of rice in hand in Europe as follows: Bremen, 47,600 tons, against 104,200 tons last year; Hamburg, 28,000 tons, against 53,000 tons; England, 15,500 tons, against 39,000 tons, and add that there will very likely be a further decrease for some time to come.

CORN AND PEA PACK IN NEW YORK.

According to the statements of a commission merchant, who has recently visited the packing centres in New York State, the pack of peas and corn will not exceed two-thirds of an average. Recent frosts, following prolonged drouth, has, he said, seriously damaged corn, while the unfavorable weather during the blossom period has had the effect of very materially reducing the crop of peas. One factory, which up to this time last year had canned 10,700 cases of peas, has for the corresponding period this season put up only 4,700 cases. Last year the packers were working day and night, while this year, he says, they find it difficult to put in an ordinary day. His observations led him to believe that there will not be a third of a crop of apples in the State this year.

LIGHT SALMON PACK.

The San Francisco Trade Journal reviews the salmon situation as follows in its issue of July 15: "Advices from Columbia river state that the run of bluebacks has fallen off and the run of steelheads is very light, as is that of chinook. Some of the fishermen look for large runs of steelheads before the season closes, but it is doubtful if they materialize, although there may be an improvement over that of the first two weeks in this month. It is not safe to venture an opinion as yet regarding the run on Puget Sound, although it is not at all likely it will equal that of 1897, at least this seems to be the opinion of fishermen. From Fraser river our advices state that fishing had not fairly begun up to Wednesday. The Southern Pacific Co. has reduced freights on salmon to New Orleans and New York to 50c. a case. There is a fair business in bluebacks in halves on the basis of 62½c. Talls are dull. The movements in other kinds are slow. Several canners on the Columbia river have sold out their pack of chinooks. It is stated that one or two canners have oversold. The pack of bluebacks on the Columbia river is lighter than expected, as the run cut off too soon. The total pack of the river is said to be below that at the corresponding time in 1897. Everything at present points to a much less pack for the entire Coast than last year."

CALIFORNIA DRIED FRUITS.

In reviewing the dried fruit situation on the Coast for the week ending July 15, The Grocer and Country Merchant, of San Francisco, says: "New apricots are very scarce, and southern stock is now quoted at the range of 8 to 9c. for so-called choice, which, relatively, is very poor in respect of quality. Northern stock is still held above market. There has also been a little business in last year's peaches. The new crops, with the exception of raisins, are generally expected to prove disappointing. Reports as to prunes are contradictory, but those in Napa are said to be turning out small, though in Sonoma they present a better appearance. In San Joaquin the result is bad, and in Santa Clara there is said to be considerable dropping. No future business has yet been done in them to amount to anything. Pears are also said to be turning out small, and to be dropping, at least in some localities. The raisin promise continues excellent, but the combination scheme appears to be hanging fire."

THE CALIFORNIA RAISIN COMBINE.

A private letter from Fresno, Cal., received in New York, said that there was little doubt that the raisin combine would be a success. Already 65 per cent. of the crop has been secured by the combine, the writer said.

TOMATOES UNSETTLED IN NEW YORK.

Tomatoes on the spot are unsettled. In some quarters there is a disposition to shade prices owing to the prospect that the war will soon be ended and that requirements of the Government will shortly cease. In other quarters, however, a confident feeling exists as it is believed that the Porto Rico campaign now beginning will cause large orders from the Government. There have been sellers of spot tomatoes at 95c. for Marylands, but the quality is said to be not up to the standard.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

VALENCIA RAISINS EASIER IN ENGLAND.

The market for Valentias is quiet, and prices are slightly easier. The hope that peace may be restored between Spain and America perhaps helps in some degree to depress values, as it was felt that if the unfortunate war had been protracted there might have been, under certain possible developments, some interference with the shipments to England at a later period. Had this been the case, the value of the remaining stocks of old fruit might have been enhanced in proportion to the difficulties of obtaining the new raisins.—Produce Markets' Review.

SULTANA RAISINS IN ENGLAND.

An English trade paper says: "There has been a rather better tone in the Sultana market, and it is generally anticipated that the worst has been got behind. There is no improvement in the lower kinds, but for the better qualities there has been more demand, and it must be admitted that the depression which has lasted so long is by no means so pronounced."

CANNED GOODS IN THE SOUTH.

St. Swinthin has kept his word for the past week, and we have had a series of rains, hot and cold weather ever since his day passed. On almost every day of the past week there has been more or less rain, and on Thursday there was a plentiful downpour, which, if not too late, will do a great deal of good to growing crops. This rain extended over the entire eastern portion of Maryland and Delaware, and, it is hoped, will save the corn crop, which was threatened with extermination by the drought. It is feared by growers that it came too late for early corn, which has begun to shoot ears and tassel, although of only a short, stubby size. This being the case, there is no chance of the corn growing to any great size, and, as a consequence, the yield will be much shorter. However, late corn will be greatly benefited by it, and, as the season was too wet to plant early, the majority of corn and tomatoes were planted very late, and thus the late corn crop may fully make up for the loss in the early corn. Tomatoes will, undoubtedly, be helped by this break in the drought, and we may look for reports of much brighter tone from growers in the near future.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md.

MANITOBA WHEAT CROPS.

THERE appears to be considerable diversity of opinion as to the probable output of the present wheat crop in southwestern Manitoba, but from information gleaned from different sources it would appear that in many cases it will be equal to last year's, running from 20 to 25 bushels per acre, while some few farms will not turn out more than 10 to 12 bushels per acre. The forepart of the season was somewhat backward, owing to lack of rain, which allowed the weeds to get a start, and when the rain did come, it seemed a struggle for supremacy between the growing crops and the weeds which should predominate. In a few cases the latter came off victorious. Land that is clean will give a good average crop, but in cases of dirty land the yield is exceedingly difficult to estimate. The bountiful supply of rain, although a little late, has made a wonderful change in the growing crops. From Portage la Prairie, an important wheat-growing centre, it is learned that the weather of late has been favorable for grain, and timely rains have improved conditions very considerably. Opinion is that harvesting will be general in four or five weeks. Some crops of oats will be ready in two weeks, and everything points to a large yield. Farmers are making preparations for handling the crop. Many are enlarging their granaries and building new ones. They are in good spirits over the concession gained as to loading grain from wagons.—Brad-streets.

A WAITING GAME.

Notwithstanding the strong features of the leather market retailers as well as jobbers appear to be hanging back and waiting for lower prices, remarks Canadian Shoe and Leather Journal. This policy may lead to a serious mix up in the season's business. At the present moment there is no prospect of any change that will favor the purchaser of shoes. Tanners have been limiting their output right along and in some cases have shut down rather than work in hides at prices that ruled during the grubby season. Leather to-day is in shorter supply than for years past, and should there be any improvement in the demand prices will immediately advance. This is conceded to be the position in a nutshell. The result will be that when dealers who are holding back now go into the market for their fall requirements, and manufacturers buy leather in earnest, up will go the market. The production of shoes has been on the most conservative lines for the past two seasons, and with the combined production of stocks and a boom in shoe manufacture is not only possible, but probable. The whole trend of events leads to the prediction that the coming fall season will be the most prosperous in years, both for makers and sellers of footwear.

DON'T ADVERTISE.

A CONTEMPORARY has this to say about directory and souvenir advertising. It is a matter that should be pondered by those who waste their money on these schemes, says Profitable Advertiser:

A shoe dealer being approached for a newspaper ad. said: "No, I don't advertise at all. The only advertising I ever done has been on these cards got out by some society to advertise an excursion, or picnic, or something of that sort, and that did me more harm than good."

"How was that?"

"Why, every member of the organization kept away from my store for fear I would put the price up on them in order to get my money back."

This is a good story to tell other business men, and it is a story with an excellent moral, too.

A man may say, "I must patronize these societies or all their members will boycott me." Ask him these questions: Does such a solicitor keep a list of those who refuse to advertise and report to his society? Do you suppose the members look over the ads. before making purchases? Do you suppose they ever take the trouble to read them, anyway? Would they miss your name from the list, do you think?

There is sound reasoning in this.

HANDLING COMB HONEY.

A clever suggestion originates with a correspondent of The Canadian Bee Journal: In every crate of honey to be shipped put a slip 5 by 8 inches, printed as follows:

"Comb honey; how to handle it.—You must not drop it. Hold it only by the wood and when removing it from the crate, or at any other time, do not break the delicate cappings covering the cell, otherwise the honey will run out. Where to keep it—in a warm, dry room. No place too warm in which a person can live. Never put it in a cellar, as honey will draw dampness and cause the cappings to break and the honey to leak."

ADVERTISING TIP.

Good advertising cannot be called an expense, for it is only an investment, just as you place your money in a glove stock or a line of furnishings, and you get your money out of it just as surely, and with possibly a better margin on the investment.—Advertising World.

THE GREAT TOBACCO CROP.

IT is interesting to note the different shifts which the tobacco crop has taken in the past four or five decades. During this time, States which formerly held the supremacy in this article of commerce have come to be only mediocre in their output; while, on the contrary, States which formerly were lowdown in the scale of tobacco-producing States have mounted the ladder, and are now among the first in this respect. Up to 1860, Virginia was easily king in this country, her yield at that time being over 120,000,000 lb. annually. Now, however, it is only about 50,000,000, showing how she has gone back in this respect. It is supposed the soil has been overworked, or at least carelessly worked.

Kentucky has succeeded Virginia as the banner State. Soon after the war was over, she began making rapid strides, and soon had passed a number of States which formerly turned out more tobacco than she did. At the present day she is easily the first of the States, producing as she does nearly 225,000,000 lb. of tobacco yearly. Some States have neither advanced nor declined in this respect, as, for instance, Indiana, which gives a yearly crop of about the same quantity she did 50 years ago. Wisconsin, on the other hand, has steadily advanced, and it is believed the day will soon come when she will head the list of tobacco States. She has advanced from an output of 88,000 to 20,000,000 lb. in a few years, a truly remarkable gain.

Illinois and Michigan have decidedly fallen back, and now rank among the low ones. Connecticut has declined also, although her tobacco is in much demand for filling purposes. Many of our Havana cigars are Connecticut filling with Havana wrappers. Many people looked askance when tobacco was begun to be raised on prairie soil. It was said it could not be done, that the tobacco so raised would not be fit for use, and lastly would be relatively too costly. This has been disproven, however, for Kansas has tripled its production in the last 40 years, and it is finding a ready market wherever offered. North Carolina and Florida, especially the latter, are showing a steady increase in output. Recently in Florida there has been discovered a soil which grows tobacco in many respects considered by experts to be the equal of the choicest Havana stock.—N.E. Grocer.

The coffee merchant of Broad street has a ready wit. Lying upon a little set of balances in his store was a bit of change the other day. A visitor called his attention thereto. "Oh, we are honest enough on a small scale," quoth he; "if it were a bigger one—who knows?"—Time and The Hour.

PERSONAL MENTION.

A. B. Hurrell, Amigari, Ont., was in Toronto last week.

Mr. W. Logan, secretary-treasurer of The Davidson & Hay, Limited, returned from England on Tuesday.

Mr. J. F. Eby, of The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, is back again to business after a brief sojourn in Great Britain.

Mr. William Radcliffe, retail grocer, Parliament and Queen streets, Toronto, has returned from a trip to Europe. He looks well.

Mr. Joseph Ruddy, of The Brantford Starch Co., Limited, passed through Toronto on Wednesday en route home from a business trip to the New England States.

Mr. Frank Magor is on a business trip in the Maritime Provinces. He is paying particular attention to Cadbury's chocolates. Orders from Quebec are much better than last year.

Mr. C. R. Dixon, the representative of Lucas, Steele & Bristol in Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia, spent some time in Hamilton the fore part of this month. Although a great admirer of Ontario and her ways, Mr. Dixon was anxious to get back to his wild west show.

Mr. C. L. Marshall, of Warren Bros. & Co.'s sample room, is back from Burleigh Falls, where he has been bass and maskinonge fishing, well sunburnt, but happy, for he caught many bass and among the maskinonge an 11-pounder. He also brought back a good combined fish and Indian story.

HALIFAX AND THE TEA LAW.

Halifax tea men have at last awakened to the fact, that they should have been represented at the conference between the Hon. William Paterson and delegates from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, St. John and other Canadian cities, recently held in Toronto. They have no fault to find with Messrs. Estabrooks and Miles, of St. John, but they are of the opinion that the importance of the tea trade to the port of Halifax should have entitled it to a more serious regard by the council of the board of trade when the secretary of that institution was notified of the purpose and date of the convention.

Several with whom I talked the matter over said, that at the time the notification came, they felt somewhat bashful about taking too active an interest, as they thought the matter of arranging for representation thereat would be looked after by the board of trade executive. Now, however, they realize their mistake and are anxious to have the error remedied immediately.

"Halifax must be represented at the next meeting of the convention, as the change in the present method of testing teas is of most serious importance" are the exact words used by a prominent member of the trade, on the street, just a day or two ago, and the advice I gave him was to see the president of the board of trade and have him effect the necessary arrangement with the honorable Minister of Customs, through our local members or a cabinet minister if necessary. —Maritime Merchant.

SNAP.

"Snap" is that quality which makes a man or woman work with energy and enthusiasm. It is indispensable to the person in a store if success is to be achieved.

Merchants pay well for "snap"—they like "snap." It gives that crisp, invigorating atmosphere which is so beneficial to business. Let "snap" pervade the store and there will be new life, new vigor in the place. Customers won't hesitate so long over their purchases. Goods will sell better. Window displays will bring bigger crowds. Larger sales records will result.

Does "snap" pay? Decidedly. It pays tremendously. The merchant rewards it with promotion, better salary and great consideration. The possessor of "snap" soon rises from the ranks, and gets prestige, the customers ask for him, insist that he wait upon them, the checks in his sales-book increase, likewise the volume of sales.

"Snap" waits for no one; the man who has no faith in "snap" is lost. "Snap" passes on to the next and the next until some one whose instinct tells him that "snap" is worth having, picks him up. Then "snap" begins to work wonders, suggests ideas, works out plans, increases. The possessors of "snap" gets talked about.

Now, who is going to take "snap" up? To-morrow is too late; to-day is the time, this very minute. With the entrance of "snap" carelessness, lethargy, sleepiness disappear. "Snap" is waiting now—don't let him pass, give him a trial. It will be the turning point in a career. "Snap" commands respect and reward, everyone wants both. But it all depends on "snap."

You have got to use him right.—The Counter.

FEW, BUT SLICK.

Rural life in certain parts of Indiana is simply incomprehensible to those who have not seen it, and many phases of it are incomprehensible to outsiders who have.

A farmer drove up to the village "general store," alighted from his buckboard, hitched his horse and accosted the proprietor by calling out: "Whut's strawb-ries to day, Sam?"

"We're payin' five cents for good ones, fresh picked."

"Couldn't make it six, could ye?"

"Nope. The rains hev brought 'em forward mightily, and the prices hed to tumble."

The farmer sat down on a salt barrel in the shade in front of the store and waited. At the end of half an hour he came to the door and said:

"Mandy'll be put out about it. She reckoned they'd be about seven now."

"Sorry, Jim," replied the storekeeper, "but I'm sellin' 'em for seven."

The farmer sauntered down to the blacksmith shop and pitched quoits for an hour. Then he came back.

"Split the difference," he said, "and call it five and a half."

"All right," was the reluctant rejoinder. "Let it go at that. How many you got?"

"Bout four quarts and a half," he said, "and they're jest as slick berries as ye ever set yer teeth into."—Chicago Times-Herald.

LEAGUED AGAINST TRADING STAMPS.

Another meeting of grocers and other tradesmen in Manchester and district who have decided to give up the American stamp system, has resulted in the formation of an organization called "The Anti Stamp Trading Alliance." The meeting was very largely attended, and each person present promised, as the nucleus of a defence fund, a sum of not less than one guinea, and some signified their willingness to give ten guineas if necessary. The money will be placed in the bank to be used for defensive purposes should occasion arise. It was reported that although many "threatening letters" had been received from the promoters of the scheme, no legal proceedings had yet been taken; and that not only had the gentlemen present at the meeting ceased giving stamps to their customers, but that some of them had put up notices in their shops, "No stamps here."—London Grocer.

A WORD'S HISTORY.

To no word is there a more suggestive meaning attached than to sincerity. When Rome was at the height of its power, men vied with one another in enriching their habitations. The most skilful sculptors were employed, and the choicest marbles freely used. But even in those days workmen were apt to practise tricks for the purpose of deceiving their employers. If they accidentally chipped the edge of the marble they would supply the missing bit by prepared wax, which was not likely to be discovered until the heat of the weather melted it.

This custom became so universal that the owners took the matter into their own hands, and inserted a clause in every contract which provided that all the material used was to be sine cera; that is, without wax. Gradually, this honesty of construction came to be applied to moral qualities, and gave us finally our English word sincere, which means to be devoid of deceit or misrepresentation.—From Ave Maria.

A CHANCE FOR CHEAP COCOA.

Herd & Co. state that in order to give their customers another chance to obtain the benefit of the rebate, 25 per cent. off tariff, Monsieur Menier has forwarded them a small extra consignment of the yellow wrapper chocolate, which they will take out of bond before August. They will, therefore, be able to receive orders to be delivered from stock at 275 francs the 100 kos., plus freight, duty less 25 per cent., and customary charges. Orders will require to be for minimum quantities of 5 cases each.

"SALADA" TEA'S BUFFALO OFFICE.

OWING to the ever-increasing demand for "Salada" Ceylon tea, the company, whose offices were formerly located at No. 15 Niagara street, has moved to No. 14 Swan street, on the ground floor in the Ellicott Square, which premises are more convenient and commodious.

When the "Salada" people first made their bow for public patronage in the United States just two years ago, all sorts of disasters were prophesied as the inevitable result.

They were told that this was a coffee drinking country, and that the little tea used was of a very cheap kind from Japan and China.

The fact that to-day "Salada" is sold by every good grocer in Buffalo, and the surrounding country, and that since opening its first office here, the company has extended its trade to Rochester, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Boston, speaks volumes as to its success in introducing this well-known and popular tea.

Still, with all, this successful outcome is not such a wonder.

The "Salada" Tea Company started out with two very important points in their favor.

Firstly, they are "tea men," who have devoted their whole thought, lives and capital to the study of tea. Therefore they know their business.

Secondly, in offering the public "Salada," they did so with a settled conviction that for quality, flavor and value it is irresistible and incomparable.

Unlike the teas from Japan and China, which are still prepared by hand in a most filthy manner, "Salada" is absolutely pure, without paint, coloring matter or adulteration in any manner. It is rapidly and deservedly growing in public favor.—Courier, Buffalo.

MET TO DISTRIBUTE PRIZES.

A special meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held in the Monument National hall, on Thursday evening, July 21, for the purpose of distributing the prizes won at the association's annual picnic, held on July 13.

Most of the competitors appeared to claim their prizes, and it was agreed that those who had not done so could procure them at any future time from the president of the games committee, Mr. Willson.

The presentation of the reports of the various committees on arrangement for the picnic was left over until the next regular meeting.

"THE LOWEST BIDDER"

No matter how low he bids, bids to make a profit, and that profit can only be realized by giving you what you are seeking—"POOR GOODS." There is no possible question about this.

NOW WITH

no tampering with prices is allowed.

No bidding so much for this and so much for that. Our prices are regular fixed trade figures. Same to one and all. But then, you see, we give the Quality and Value, and "SALADA" SELLS.

EVERYBODY who knows the grocery trade of St. John, knows that W. A. Magee has one of the handsomest retail grocery establishments in the city, and that his trade is of a character that will not tolerate poor goods. Here is a word from Mr. Magee:

St. JOHN, April 6th, 1898.

We carry 28 lines of Biscuits manufactured by the Queen Biscuit Co., and the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT is the quickest seller of them all. All their goods give excellent satisfaction to our customers. The sales of the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT have greatly increased with us. We think most highly of them.

W. A. MAGEE.

Mr. Magee believes in patronizing lower province industries if they produce good goods. So do you all. Give us a chance to prove our claim that BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT, of which we are the sole manufacturers in Canada, possesses the same unsurpassed qualities that have sent the annual production in the United States up to 30,000,000 lbs.

We have given you just one testimonial. We could fill pages with them, from pleased customers as well as from merchants.

Remember—A delicious Lunch Biscuit at a popular price. Only the best materials go into our goods.

HOW A GROCER CAN RUN A CREDIT BUSINESS.

BY MR. SAMUEL E. IRWIN.

THE subject of credit is one we are all deeply interested in. What is credit? I quote from Bradstreet's Weekly, New York, Feb. 11, 1893, page 82: "Commercial credit is an estimate of the ability and disposition of the individuals, firms or corporations to meet business engagements."

"It was formerly based chiefly on (1) reputation, and (2) capital in business, but the establishment of the mercantile agency has rendered necessary a restatement of the bases of commercial credit, to wit: (1) A closer approximation of character. (2) Total net worth, the element of contingent liabilities being considered. (3) Other facts bearing on the probability of success or failure in business."

You will observe three special reasons for giving credit: (1) reputation (2) capital (3) chances of success. Don't let us take up this question in the abstract form, but as individuals. It's a question that appears before us every day, or many times a day, for settlement—we either grant credit or decline it. If we are too easy in granting credits, or too easy in collecting what is due us, we must pay the penalty by being short when the time comes to make our own payments. Don't forget this fact. It don't pay to be too lenient with our customers; if we are, they impose on us. You can see it illustrated every day in your own experience, so do I—it makes a chain. The consumer fails to pay the retailer, who, in turn, can't pay the jobber, who again can't pay the manufacturer or importer.

Perhaps no class of merchants suffer more from bad credits than the retail grocer. Now, why is this? Isn't he too easy in giving credit, and not fully informed on the financial standing of his customers? Too often we find he has granted credit where none should be given, and frequently we find he has granted too large an amount of credit, and cripples himself financially, because it's impossible to collect his bills.

Credits must be watched carefully and systematically; we can't use too much care in ascertaining just how responsible our customer is. Does he own his property? Is it encumbered? Is he paid weekly or monthly—if weekly, why should he want credit for a month? He should pay his bills each week, or else he will go behind in payments if we permit this. What amount will he owe, or how can he collect it? These are questions that should be considered when we allow the credit, and not when he owes and won't or can't pay.

A good credit business can be done on business principles, and money made, but a good many merchants fail, lose their credit, capital and business and go into the sheriff's hands because they are careless in granting credits and collecting bills. I quote an example in West Philadelphia, some years ago. The grocer had a capital of $1,000, and accounts unpaid, $2,500. His stock was poor, and so was his store—we even found a nest of mice in his tea box.

You will, perhaps, ask me for a rule. I can't give you one. You must consider capital, character, energy and the chances of success in each individual case. It's often the case that a retail merchant permits an account to increase when he knows it's too large. He don't seem to have the nerve to close the account or have a definite understanding as to time of payment. He says to himself: "If I raise the question I may lose the bill." Well, that's no reason why he should go on and make it larger.

Do you think so? Isn't it the reason why he should have some definite understanding or arrangement?

The trouble arises when the account first becomes slow; that is the time and opportunity to get information, and if it can't be had, stop the account; don't permit it to become larger. Small accounts, say under $100, are very hard to collect from people who are not in business, and only engaged on a weekly salary. They practically have no financial responsibility, and credit granted them is on the basis that they are honest and mean to pay. This being the case, the account should be watched closely to see that it is paid promptly, and that it don't become larger than the individual can pay. If it can't be paid one week, how can it be paid the next?

The merchant knows these facts when he grants the credit, but the trouble is he is not careful enough when opening the account—then is the time for him to get all the knowledge he wants, and not when he finds the bill is uncollectable. Credit is too easy to get. How many retail merchants open an account without any information? I understand your many associations have a credit bureau for the furnishing of information on accounts. How many use it? Why don't more of them do so? They can't get too much knowledge and information about people who want to open accounts.

Carelessness in keeping books is another evil that helps to make bad debts. The account grows before you know it; it's twice as large as you expected. Well, change your system. Keep books in such a way that you will know what amount is due you by each customer, and examine your accounts daily, and weekly see that the accounts that are due are paid; if not, find out why. You can save many a dollar by close, judicious, careful examination of your books. You say: "I am not a book-keeper"—you don't need to be, but if you sell goods on credit you must watch your accounts if you hope to be successful.

You should not give credit to every person who asks for it. You must select your accounts. This takes care, good judgment and information—get it, get all you can. Don't open the account and hunt for information when it's of no use. Learn when to say no, and try to do it so nicely that you won't offend the applicant for credit. Perhaps if you don't give them credit they will pay cash for what they want. At any rate, molasses catches more flies than vinegar; always be polite, and don't make an enemy if you can make a friend.

I find retail merchants who don't take stock. They say: "No need to; I pay all my bills; I own all I have." My experience convinces me that it's good business for every merchant, wholesale or retail, large or small, to take stock at least once a year—for several reasons: If he buys on credit and wants a larger bill than usual, taking stock enables him to make a correct statement of how he stands—he don't guess at it, but knows what amount of stock he had on a certain day, what amount he has outstanding in good accounts, and the amount he owes for merchandise. It makes it necessary for him to hunt out all the corners and clean them out; they need it very frequently, for they contain considerable merchandise that he should sell at bargains. Even if he lost money he would get the cash and use it in his business. He would be compelled to ascertain what amount he owed for merchandise, and also what amount was due him, what accounts were good, bad and doubtful.

If he found on striking a balance that he had not made money, that he had too much outstanding, that too many accounts were doubtful or bad, he could reorganize his business, watch his credit accounts closer, collect his bills sharper and put himself in position to do a paying business. While, on the other hand, if he don't take stock, and gets into trouble, he is so deep in that it's an impossibility to redeem himself. If a merchant is careless in granting credit, careless in collecting, how is it possible for him to make a success? It can't be done. Know your business, and know it thoroughly. What are your expenses? What is the percentage of profit on your business? What does it cost a week to run the business? Keep intelligently posted, so that if you are not making money you will know it at once. You can then take measures to reduce expenses, and regulate them so you can show a profit and not a loss.

Many retail merchants allow themselves to be slow in paying, and take umbrage at a wholesaler who requests payment when bills are due. This is all wrong; he should be glad for someone to wake him up, for if he is going behind, the sooner he realizes it the better, and he should do the same with his own accounts.

A year or two ago I met a friend who was in the wholesale grocery business on the Pacific Coast. He stated that in the interior it was often necessary to carry customers for six months and a year. He mentioned an account of theirs that they were compelled to decline. He had paid what he owed them, but they could not carry such a large amount for a year, and yet financially he was solvent and amply able to pay all, but he owned a sheep ranch, a general store, a blacksmith shop, and sold merchandise on long time, got big profits and waited till crops were raised and sold, or till sheep were put on the market and paid for. In other words, he had too many irons in the fire, and not sufficient capital to do so large a credit trade, which made him slow pay and an undesirable customer.

In the south we have what are known as cotton factories—they loan money to farmers who raise cotton and who have not sufficient money to pay cash for seed, necessary implements, labor, etc. They borrow the money and give as security a chattel mortgage or deed of trust until the cotton is grown, harvested and sold. If the season is a successful one the obligation is paid and canceled, and they have some money on hand. If it has been unsuccessful, caused either by bad weather or bad crops, they are at the mercy of the creditor, and often lose what little they have.

I can tell many instances of people who are wealthy who pay their bills at rare intervals. In fact, it is astonishing how careless some of them are. They will go to Europe for a six months' trip and allow their dress-making bill or grocery bill to remain unpaid till they return, causing much trouble and annoyance, and sometimes actual want. They return home, pay it, and not even make an apology for the delay.

Send out your bills promptly the first of each month for all your accounts. Educate your trade to expect them. If a merchant is dilatory in sending his bills or statements it helps to make his customer slow in paying. Let them know you expect them to pay at the stated time, and if they make a promise give them to understand you expect it kept. Years ago many accounts were kept on the books and settled in six months or a year, but the long-time accounts are not so desirable to-day, and merchants should confine their accounts to much shorter time, turn the stock oftener; in fact, it's an absolute necessity to-day because of the smaller profits.

There is one particular class of credit seekers that you are all acquainted with, that's the one who makes it his particular aim to get credit and not pay. He don't intend to pay, but he thinks he has done something to be proud of if he can obtain credit and not pay. He usually lives well (he can afford to at the expense of the merchants), manages to get some credit, pays a little on account of his bill and gets more credit. He wants the best of everything, the choicest cuts of meat, the best tea and coffee. Finally the merchant says: "I must have money, the account is too large; you owe me too much," and presto change, your good customer is gone and your goods

It Came to Stay, It Has Stayed

Like the trees of the forest, the greater the storms the more deeply rooted become the trees. This is our experience with the celebrated Ram Lal's Tea. At its inception it was assailed, its doom was pronounced in many languages by rival dealers long before the public had given their verdict, yet to-day it stands without a peer, imitated by many, rivalled by none. Equal to Ram Lal's was the highest eulogy bestowed on samples given to dealers by travellers throughout the country, and in many cases the dealers were victimized, and why? Because Ram Lal's Pure Indian Tea has no equal.

Wherever Ram Lal's Tea is shown
It stands unrivalled and alone.

And why has Ram Lal's Tea no equal? Because it is a pure INDIAN blend. Indian Tea possesses more retentive quality than any other tea known to commerce.

IMITATION BLENDS sold throughout the country to-day meet with considerable favor for a time and then become unpopular, and why? Because Ceylons are used very extensively in these blends, and after being kept in stock for a time go "off," losing their pungency and aroma. This has been the experience of practical tea men the world over. The sale of this brand is not confined to Ontario alone, but from all parts of the Dominion orders are being received daily, and numerous enquiries from across the border. Each year these goods are becoming more and more popular, sales having far exceeded our most sanguine expectations.

also. He will find another merchant to give him credit, and treats him the same way.

Now, why can't you try your organized credit bureau, work together and get information on such people, so that they can't prey on the community? Pull together, don't be afraid to give each other needed information ; it will all come back to you, and save many a dollar from the bad-account list. Cooperation will accomplish wonders, if you will all work together. You can't do it by each one working in his own way ; you must all lend your energies to promote the one end.—The Grocery World.

GOOD FLORIDA ORANGE CROP.

The drought has probably cut down the Florida orange crop one-third to one-half below what it was expected the crop would be, says an exchange. At one time the yield of the groves this year was estimated at between 750,000 and 1,000,000 boxes, but the long continued dry weather caused a great quantity of the fruit to drop, and it is now believed that the crop will be in the neighborhood of a half million boxes. Growers expect fancy prices, though, and are far from being disheartened. The Florida orange-growing industry is making steady headway again. It will be a decade or more, though, before the crop reaches the magnitude of the year or two just preceding the great freeze. A crop of 1,000,000 boxes, though, may be expected any year now, with fairly good weather conditions.

A GROCERY WITHOUT COUNTERS.

The new retail grocery store which Bate & Co., have opened on Rideau street, Ottawa, has no counters. The stock will, instead, be attractively arranged in cabinets, etc., as is the custom in some of the best appointed United States stores. The intention of this arrangement is to remove somewhat the commercial aspect, which is considered distasteful to many of the feminine sex.

The Guelph chief of police recently examined all the butter on the Guelph market, and found 26 rolls, each from one to three ounces under weight, all of which he confiscated.

A Cannington merchant lately left home for a few days on business, and his friends, thinking he had absconded, went to his place of business and stripped it of everything there was in it, but when the man returned he called on them for an explanation, when they appeared sorry for what they had done, but this will hardly clear them in the suit for damages which is likely to follow.

Meredith, Chief Justice, held recently that a chattel mortgage may be made to a trustee for the creditor, if the latter assents, even after the execution of the mortgage, and that the mortgage is valid, although there was nothing on the face of it to show the fiduciary position of the mortgagee.

All the crops around here are prodigious ; such as have not been known in many years, the hay particularly. Very few farmers have anything like barn room enough to store it, and the quality is splendid. The grain also gives promise of being of superior quality as well as a large yield.—Richmond, Que., Guardian.

"Goshdurn you an' your old grocery !" shouted the man who had backed up against the fresh paint.

"Didn't you see the sign 'Fresh Paint?'" asked the grocer.

"Of course I did ; but I've seen so many signs hung up here announcing fresh, that I didn't believe it."—Indianapolis Journal.

A report comes from Sussex, N.B., that the cheese made in that district this year is greater than the total production last year. The creamery which was operated there from November 11 to May 14 did good work, 31,376 pounds of butter, valued at $6,200, being manufactured.

S. E. Robertson, baker, Woodstock, Ont., was charged, in the police court, with selling Vienna rolls under the regulation weight of bread. The defence was made that Vienna rolls cannot be classed as bread, and that the regulations, therefore, do not affect them. The case was deferred to another sitting of the court.

A one-cent stamped envelope is shortly to be issued by the Post-office Department. The price in excess of the face value is ten cents per hundred less than that of the old stamped envelopes, so that 100 of the new one-cent stamped envelopes may be obtained at any post-office for $1.20. The envelopes, apart from the stamp, cost only 20 cents per hundred.

Because Tillson's Flake Barley doesn't heat the blood, perhaps you think that it will sell well only in warm weather.

It is especially wanted in Summer, but it sells readily at ALL seasons. One reason is because it is so easily digested by even the weakest stomach, and yet furnishes ideal nourishment to body and brain.

Some people cannot eat Rolled Oats because they cause eruptions on the skin—other folks want and need a change for breakfast. Because it sells by the pound it is EASY to sell—there is a ready sale for Tillson's Flake Barley in Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter.

ROBERT GREIG & CO.'S FAILURE.

MISPLACED confidence seems to have been the original cause of Robert Greig & Co.'s failure. It seems that at the time when Mr. Greig became a member of the firm of Kennedy, Greig & Co., the statements of the concern as supplied by Mr. Kennedy showed it to be on a sound financial basis, but during the time which elapsed between Mr. Greig's becoming a member of the firm and his taking an active part in the business (about three months) notes were given for a large amount of liabilities which had not been previously shown. This fact, together with the circumstance that many of the accounts receivable marked good turned out to be worthless, has been a heavy burden for the firm to carry. The recent failure of Tester & Co. coming as it did at a bad season of the year and involving the firm of Greig & Co. to the extent of about $4,500, was the immediate cause of the suspension.

Mr. Greig, and also his father Mr. Wm. Greig, who has financially helped the firm in its time of need, have the sympathy of their many friends who acknowledge the strenuous efforts put forth to keep the firm's head above water. The liabilities are about $95,000, consisting of : Unsecured claims, $56,000 ; secured (mortgages) $27,000 ; privileged, $1,600, and indirect, $9,300. The principal unsecured claims are those of Wm. Greig, $36,800, and Boyd & Co., $9,611.70 ; secured, H. B. Ames, $16,000 ; D. Williamson, $7,841.80 ; Molsons Bank, $2,744.62. The indirect claim consists of paper under discount with the Molsons Bank.

The firm of Robert Greig & Co. must not be confounded with The Greig Manufacturing Co., the latter being an entirely independent concern and in no way affected by the failure of Greig & Co.

SHIPPING RASPBERRIES TO BRITAIN.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is glad to learn that at least one Canadian canned goods' packer is trying the experiment suggested in these columns.

It will be remembered that a representative of THE GROCER visited the Produce Exchange in Manchester, England, a year ago, and was informed that large quantities of raspberries were imported annually from New Zealand and other distant points.

One large English preserver when asked if he imported from Canada explained that they could not be got there. He was so informed by the Canadian offices in London. He was told that Canada imported large quantities of preserved goods from England, and therefore could not be a shipper of them. This wrong impression was at once corrected, and the representative of THE GROCER gave him the addresses of a number of Canadian houses who could supply these goods. Raspberries being scarce and dear, it was noticed that several packers, who had a display of samples at Manchester, put up a very palatable compound of raspberries and apples.

English packers import raspberries chiefly in kegs with just enough sugar to preserve them. The Canadians who have taken up the idea are packing them in 10-lb round tins. The experimental shipment will consist of five carloads.

It is to be hoped that the experiment will be a success. Canada produces many thousands of pails of wild raspberries, the kind wanted. The development of such an industry would leave thousands of dollars in the hands of the farmers and country merchants. Those who have taken up land in new districts, where wild raspberries chiefly abound, will find them a most valuable source of income at a time when a few dollars are most needed.

It is unfortunate that we have not some native Canadians in our London offices, men who know something about our resources, men who have lived in and who have traveled about the Dominion, who have grown with the country.

The lamentable ignorance displayed by them is familiar to the Canadian business men who go over regularly. One gentleman told the writer he heard an Englishman inquire there where Regina was, and was told it was not in Canada.

It is in the interests of business men everywhere to keep up the agitation until our London office is remodeled or a proper commercial agency established, not to promote the sale of any manufacturer's special goods, but of our general products, like grain, flour, dairy and other produce. Of twelve articles grown on Canadian farms Britain imports $600,000,000, of which Canada supplies but $57,000,000.

The world's probable production of gold for 1898 is estimated by the United States Mint Bureau at $275,000,000. Be sure you get a share of it.

EXPANDING LUMBER EXPORTER.

The Argentine Republic is expanding as a lumber exporting country. The total quantity sent out last year was valued at $6,000,000, part of which went to the United States.

By way of comparison it may be perhaps not uninteresting to note that Canada's exports of lumber last year were $23,808,562 and those of the United States $21,814,952. Timber and logs are omitted in both instances.

CANADIAN EGGS AND AFRICA.

SOUTH AFRICA last year imported 2,650,273 dozens of eggs, of which the United States furnished 252,468 dozens.

Canada, which should at least be able to do as well as the United States in this particular, did not send one dozen.

The quantity of eggs which the colony imported is nearly equal to the quantity Ontario exported last year, but the price which eggs sell at in Cape Town is even a greater attraction than the consumptive requirements thereof. The price at which eggs were selling there a week or so ago was 84c. per dozen.

Would it not be well for Canada to make some enquiries in regard to the possibility of finding a market for eggs at the Cape? The fact that the United States sent a quarter of a million dozen, about half as many as Canada last year sent to the United States, would at least warrant the Department of Trade and Commerce looking into the matter, for eggs, it must be remembered, are among Canada's specialties.

Dead beats are usually so much alive that merchants have no easy task to keep from being victimized by them.

THE SUGAR AGREEMENT.

The western wholesale delegates were in Montreal again last Thursday to confer with the eastern grocery firms.

The object of the conference was to perfect some details of the recent agreement and draw up others which will cover more ample ground.

While this is being done, a committee now being at work upon it, no allowance will be made to buyers for freight, but all sugar is to be sold f.o.b. Montreal in the Province of Quebec.

When the proposed scale of prices, which will cover every important point touched by rail or boat in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, is completed, traders throughout the two Provinces will be obliged to observe these prices.

In the meantime, the agreement is in force in Ontario and in Quebec, sugar being sold at the f.o.b. Montreal price, the buyer receiving no allowance for freight, which, it is understood, he will, after the scale is completed and adopted.

CANADA'S TRADE WITH THE FAVORED COUNTRIES.

THE amendments to the Customs Act, adopted at the last session of the Dominion Parliament, confining the preferential tariff to the British Empire, went into operation on Monday last, Aug. 1.

In the Act, goods the product of the United Kingdom, certain specified colonies and dependencies and "any other British colony or possession the Customs tariff of which, on the whole, is as favorable to Canada as the British preferential tariff herein referred to is to such colony or possession," are entitled to a reduction of one-fourth in the rate of duty. The countries mentioned in the Act as entitled to the reduction were:

The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The British Colony of Bermuda.

The British Colonies commonly called the British West Indies, including the following:

The Bahamas.

Jamaica.

Turks Island and the Caicos Islands.

The Leeward Islands (Antigua, St. Christopher-Nevis, Dominica, Montserrat, and the Virgin Islands).

The Windward Islands (Grenada, St. Vincent and St. Lucia).

Barbadoes.

Trinidad and Tobago.

British Guiana.

Since then, the Minister of Customs has decreed that the products of New South Wales are also entitled to share in the benefits of the preferential tariff.

There is, therefore, something like a score of different places within the Empire which are now enjoying favors under the preferential tariff. So far, the only part within the Empire which sends us anything like a large amount of products is the United Kingdom; and that transcends that of all the others combined. It was over 92 per cent. of our imports from the British Empire and over 26 per cent. of our total imports from all countries.

The actual imports from the British Empire were $31,671,956, of which $29,412,188 were from the United Kingdom, and but $2,259,771 from the rest of the Empire.

From the British West Indies, which include the Bahamas, Jamaica, Turks Island and the Caicos Islands, the imports were $1,069,043. British Guiana goods were brought in to the value of $102,700. No figures dealing separately with the imports from New South Wales are given by the Canadian trade returns, all being grouped under the classification of "Australasia." The total imports from Australasia last year were $147,900. Of the Dominion's trade with the other colonies mentioned in the preferential list there is no mention whatever made in the trade returns. With some, of course, we do no trade whatever.

The duty collected in 1897 from the countries which are accorded the preferential terms and whose names figure in the Dominion trade returns was: Great Britain, $6,205,366; West Indies, $207,429; British Guiana, $93,532; Australasia, $5,031. This is a total of $6,506,327, or less than $20,000 short of the total duty collected on all goods imported that year from the British Empire. Were the imports of dutiable goods from the British Empire the ensuing year to be the same as that upon which the above calculation is based, Canada's revenue therefrom would only be a little over $4,800,000, instead of over $5,500,000, but THE CANADIAN GROCER firmly believes that the revenue from British goods will be larger than before, for the simple reason that it expects the imports will be largely augmented.

The principal dutiable articles we get from Great Britain are: Books, etc., $204,921; cement, $109,887; cottons and manufactures of, $2,684,462; drugs, dyes and chemicals, $224,517; earthenware and chinaware, $388,485; fancy goods, $869,413; flax, hemp and jute, and manufactures of, $1,155,274; glass and manufactures of, $186,008; fruits (green, dried, preserved), $212,517; gloves and mitts, $228,060; hats, caps and bonnets, $692,613; iron and steel, etc., and manufactures of, $2,133,447; animal and vegetable oils, $323,653; paints and colors, $209,485; silk and manufactures of, $1,395,545; spirits and wines, $425,657; wool and manufactures of, $5,553,094. Our total imports of dutiable goods from Great Britain, in 1897, were $20,190,468, and, of free goods, $9,190,468.

The dutiable goods imported from the British West Indies were $936,616, and, of free goods, $132,427. The principal dutiable goods consisted of cocoanuts, $15,409; sugar, $423,333; molasses, $468,542; fruits, $6,779; spices, $6,319; rum, $4,104.

Dutiable goods imported from British Guiana were valued at $102,472, and principally consisted of rum, $5,951; sugar, $74,089; molasses, $19,871. The free goods were only valued at $228.

As already pointed out, our own returns do not give figures for New South Wales alone, but from a New South Wales source the exports to Canada were given at £11,555, or in round numbers about $57,000 in Canadian currency. The total exports from New South Wales to all countries were £23,010,349, of which £15,338,610 was produce of the colony.

The exports of Trinidad and Tobago in 1896, the last year for which we have any returns, were $10,540,321, of which $6,634,964 was merchandise of home produce. The principal export products of Trinidad and Tobago are sugar, molasses, rum, cocoa, cocoanut and asphalt, all of which Canada imports.

Jamaica's exports for the year ending March 31, 1897 were $7,155,173, and consisted of coffee, $1,026,603; bananas, $1,471,755; cocoanuts, $172,312; oranges, $757,030; ginger, $160,802; pimento, $375,475; rum, $599,629; raw sugar, $723,571; wood (logwood) $786,283; all other articles, $1,081,713.

Barbadoes exported $3,690,035 worth of goods in 1896, of which $582,677 went to British North America. The chief items of export were: Fish, dried, $245,009; flour, $77,105; salted meat, $18,574; molasses, $593,847; rice, $78,325; rum, $1,209; raw sugar, $2,122,531.

The chief products of the Bermuda Islands are early vegetables, bulbs and arrowroot. The export of the Islands are about $500,000.

The products of the Leeward Islands are chiefly sugar and molasses, and their exports aggregate in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

Although the tariff concessions Canada has made have not so far induced similar favors, yet we believe the Dominion's reward will come in the shape of an enlarged trade with the Motherland and with her kith and kin in the islands of the sea. There may not be any material evidence of it for some time, but, if the business men of this country are aggressive and wise, we have no doubt as to the final result.

A DUTY FOR PORK-PACKERS.

IN an article commenting upon an interview with Mr. Chester Fearman, of the F. W. Fearman pork-packing firm, Hamilton, The Toronto Sun made the suggestion that the superintendent of the Farmers' Institutes should endeavor to have lectures on hog raising delivered by practical packers as well as by farmers.

The suggestion is a good one, and there should be no hesitation in adopting it.

The farmer has the raising of the hog, but the packer has the preparing of it for market. It is only natural, therefore, that the two should cooperate in devising ways and means of getting the best results, not only for the farmer's pocket, but for the trade of the country.

In Great Britain, Canadian bacon, because of its peculiar quality, enjoys a high reputation, and a Frenchman recently told a London, Eng., trade journal that the best bacon imported into his country was Canadian.

The climate may have something to do with the reputation the product of the Canadian hogs enjoys in Europe, but the manner in which it is fed has more. The packer knows this better than anyone. He knows that the pea-fed hog produces the best bacon, and he should be employed as much as possible in imparting this knowledge to those who raise the hogs.

The value of the bacon, hams, shoulders and sides exported in 1897 was $5,843,800, against $4,382,465 in 1896, $3,806,714 in 1895, $2,938,551 in 1894 and $1,975,518 in 1893. How important the hog product industry is and how necessary it is that every effort should be made to expand it is obvious from these figures.

BIG SALMON RUN IN THE NORTH.

While the pack on the Fraser is so far disappointing, that on the other rivers in the Province is likely to be good. Up to July 29 the aggregate pack on the Naas and Skeena rivers, and at Rivers Inlet, was 128,000 cases.

Last year the total pack at the three points mentioned was 126,959 cases, and that included the whole season's output. But, while these are the most important canning points, next to the Fraser, yet they are not nearly as important, for, against the former's 126,979 cases last year, the pack on the latter river was 860,459 cases, out of a total of 1,015,477 cases in the whole of British Columbia.

PRICES ON NEW PACK SALMON.

THERE have been no further important contracts in new pack salmon at Montreal since those reported a week or ten days ago. The reason is not far to seek. Jobbers in Montreal and packers on the Coast have a difference of opinion as to the proper basis of value. The former assert that every year there is the same old tune played of damage to the fisheries, etc., and that yet in the end the average ruling price does not by any means bear out the inference created by the early statements. While they are willing to agree, therefore, that prices on salmon are going to be reasonably firm this fall, they do not apprehend that they will have any difficulty about procuring supplies, and, consequently, are not very urgent buyers at the moment.

The sum total of their opinion appears to be that first-class red sockeye fish will be obtainable at an average price of $3.50 per case f.o.b. on the Coast, and that other grades will run from $3 to $3.50, and possibly less.

It will be interesting to see how near the mark they are from the future course of the market.

THE RICHEST PLACER MINES.

A correspondent of Bradstreet's New York, writing from Dawson City in regard to the Klondyke says:

"I am told by miners from Australia, Africa, British Columbia and the United States that there is more gold in sight here than in any other placer digging yet discovered. The output is a much-discussed question, but is much exaggerated. I have taken some trouble to compute the amount of the output, and the closest figures would indicate that it will be between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000. The royalty of 10 per cent. is looked upon here as a great hardship, and is retarding the work to some extent, and I know a large number of the miners who will 'sit on their claims' in hopes of a reduction. Water on the Eldorado and Bonanza creeks is very scarce, and very little work is being done there at the present time on the dumps."

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

A big head is too large for the biggest business.

Snarling merchants like snarling dogs always drive people away.

He who gets money should be careful he does not get meanness with it.

It takes time to learn a business just as it requires practice to become strong.

When a man goes to law it is usually to lose his money even if he wins his case.

Every moment lost is a golden nugget sunk beyond recovery in the Ocean of Time.

When a man gets down to business late his business is usually early in leaving him.

Merchants who do not keep up to Date will be overtaken and ruined by Bankruptcy.

Those who essay to get something for nothing usually get one thing—disappointment.

The business that cannot stand advertising is like a vessel that is too weak to allow a sail to be hoisted.

People who fail in everything else sometimes go into business. And the last state is often worse than the first.

There was an old saying that a lying tongue ought to be cut out. Modernized, the same doctrine ought to be applied to the lying "ad."

Dishonesty is about the most unreliable thing a merchant or anyone else can employ to accomplish that which it was employed to accomplish.

Some only learn to swim after being thrown into deep water, and some only learn to rely upon themselves after they have been thrown upon the world.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Aug. 4, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade in Toronto is not, this week, noted for any great activity, but there is a nice business being done nevertheless for this time of the year. Sugar is naturally the commodity which is most active, although refiners' agents are experiencing a lighter demand than they did a week or two ago. Canned goods are quiet both for present and future delivery. There is a little doing in spices at firm prices. A few transactions are reported in Japan teas, but in general the tea trade is quiet. A little business is being done in new season's foreign dried fruits for future delivery, but of a limited character. Coffee continues quiet. Sal. soda and bicarb. soda are both dearer on account of higher freight rates.

CANNED GOODS.

Prices are being firmly held on canned tomatoes, corn and peas of this season's production, but there is very little business doing. There have been a good many contracted for and packers do not appear to be anxious to sell, nor wholesalers to buy, preferring to await further developments before doing more business. Wholesalers are still quoting 75 to 80c. for future delivery, and corn 65 to 70c. per dozen. Peas are quoted at 65 to 70c. The lowest prices now reported to be quoted by packers for tomatoes is 75c., while some are asking 80c. Wholesalers are still booking orders for canned salmon. Prices are still firmly held on the Coast, and, while a short pack is promised on the Fraser river, on the Skeena and northern rivers there is a good run of fish. Within the last few days prices have been refused on the Coast which would have been accepted less than two weeks ago. Wholesalers report a little enquiry for canned lobster, but not much business is being done. Fresh shipments have arrived on the Toronto market during the past week. Canned meats are slow and there is nothing doing in canned fruits.

COFFEES.

The coffee market is quiet, but there is a firmer feeling as to prices. It is estimated that the world's visible supply of coffee increased by 150,000 to 200,000 bags during July.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

No syrups are being offered by the refineries, and only an occasional order is being received by the wholesalers. The syrup market rules steady. Molasses is quiet, with the New Orleans market firm and unchanged.

SUGARS.

There are a good many sugars moving, although the volume of business is not as large as it was a week ago. This is particularly true as far as the experience of the refiners goes. Brokers are experiencing a great deal of difficulty in effecting sales of foreign refined sugars. There was some offered during the week at less than 4c. per lb. without buyers. There have been some lots of foreign refined sugar refused in both Toronto and Montreal within the past few days on the ground that the shipments were not up to sample. Prices are unchanged either in Canada or the United States, and in London, raw sugars are a little firmer.

SPICES.

Pepper and cloves continue firm, with the former active, in London, Eng. Locally, the market is quiet and unchanged.

TEAS.

Local representatives of shipping houses are experiencing a good enquiry for new season's Japan teas at from 16 to 17c. There have been a few offering at these prices, and they have been quickly picked up. There is no evidence of lower prices, and holders are, in some instances at least, asking $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. more than they were a week ago.

Wholesalers are this week experiencing a good business in new season's Moning Congou teas. These teas are this year showing good value, being of full body and without the objectionable flavors which have been experienced during the past season or two.

and Winnipeg prices current.

Indian and Ceylon teas are quieter than they were, transactions being confined, as a rule, to what may be termed snaps. Mail advices from London, under date of July 22, state that supplies of Indian tea at the auction were small, and prices, except for a few fine parcels of Darjeelings, irregular. Ceylon teas met with a fair demand at the previous week's prices.

NUTS.

Advices received from France state that the crop of Grenoble walnuts is likely to be smaller than last year. A few confidential orders for Grenoble and Marbot walnuts and Tarragona almonds have been placed by local wholesalers. The price of filberts has recently dropped 4s. per bag, but they are still selling at firm prices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Advices received during the past week from Patras state that the condition of the crop is of a most encouraging nature. A few confidential orders for early shipment have been placed during the past week, but they are small.

SULTANA RAISINS—Advices received this week from C. Whittall & Co. state that the yield of Sultana raisins is now estimated at 33,000 to 34,000 tons, which is in excess of last year's production.

FIGS — Advices from the market of production state that the fig trees are shedding some of their fruit, in consequence of which the estimate of the crop has been reduced to 7,000 to 7,500 tons.

PRUNES—There has been a little business done on the local market in Bosnia prunes for October shipments.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—Local wholesalers are placing orders for new season's California raisins, first shipment. The prices are open.

GREEN FRUITS.

The past has been a comparatively quiet week. Raspberries are almost done. Gooseberries are done. White and red currants are scarce. Lawtonberries are plentiful, and, as the demand is ordinary, prices have dropped 1c., now being quoted at 4 to 6c. per quart. Blueberries are arriving in moderate quantities. Cherries are still on the market. The demand for them is not brisk. Early Canadian apples are now coming onto the market in both baskets and barrels. Baskets are quoted at 25 to 40c., and barrels (Duchess apples) at $2.25. Bananas continue somewhat scarce, with prices easier. Canadian peaches have begun to arrive in fair quantities and in better condition than previously noted. Prices are unchanged. Receipts of Canadian tomatoes are still increasing, and, though the demand is improving, prices are falling. A reduction of 15 to 20c. is noted this week. Stocks of oranges are low, and, as the demand is quiet, there is hardly any business done. Stocks of lemons are decreasing steadily, as the demand keeps good. The quality now left in the hands of jobbers averages much higher than that of a few weeks ago, as the poorer stock had to be got rid of on account of the hot weather. An advance of 50c. to 75c. per box is noted. Watermelons are plentiful. Some excellent melons are selling at from 12 to 16c. each, a decline of fully 8c. over ten days ago.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — Receipts are increasing. The "loss off" on account of bad eggs is still heavy, though not as heavy as was noted during July. At outside points 9 to 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., f.o.b., is asked. The Toronto market has weakened somewhat, 10 to 12c. now being the range of prices asked.

POTATOES—Prices are steady, 60 to 70c. per bushel still holding good. Receipts are increasing.

HONEY—Business is opening up nicely, with prices steady.

VEGETABLES — Cauliflower, celery and lettuce are cheaper this week. Green peas and butter beans are dearer. We quote: Corn, 10 to 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per doz.; cauliflower, 50c. to 75c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; onions, seed, 10c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 30 to 75c.; parsley,

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is more enquiry noted for better grade dairy tubs. Creamery prints are in excellent demand, while the export and shipping enquiry for creamery tubs and boxes has improved during the last few days. At country points the following f.o.b. prices are quoted: Dairy tubs, 11 to 11½c.; prints, 11½ to 12c.; creamery prints, 16½ to 17c.; tubs and boxes, 15 to 15½c.

CHEESE—Many factorymen persist in keeping their product in the hope of higher prices. The British market, however, as yet shows little sign of much higher values. Sales at country boards are all at about 7½ to 7 9-16c. Toronto prices are steady at 7¾ to 8¼c.

PROVISIONS.

There is a good enquiry for all smoked meats. Hams are ½c. dearer than last quotation, now being quoted at 10¼c. to 11¼c. Long clear bacon is moving well.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Ontario wheat has experienced another decline, goose wheat dropping 10c., white and red 3 to 4c. We quote on cars outside as follows: Wheat, red winter, 67 to 68c.; white winter, 66 to 67c.; goose, 60 to 61c. The street market is quiet, farmers, as a rule, being too busy to bring in grain. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 73c.; red, 71c.; goose, 68c.; peas, 51c.; oats, 29 to 30c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is quoted at 95c., Sarnia freights.

FLOUR—There has been an all round decline of 10c. this week. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.15 to $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.75 to $4.85; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.40; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Prices unchanged. Demand fair. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.60; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

MARKET NOTES.

All grades of flour have declined 10c.

American water-white petroleum is quoted 1c. per gallon cheaper, at 16½.

An advance in cream of tartar is likely to take place, according to recent advices.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, August 4, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a rather quiet one in general groceries, so far as actual movement for prompt delivery is concerned, but there has been considerable business between first and second hands for forward account. This is particularly the case in Japan tea, which displays not only marked strength but increased activity. In canned goods jobbers and packers do not appear to agree as to values, hence business is not brisk, but values are firm. Sugar continues steady at the recent rise, and in other departments no material change or feature calls for mention here.

SUGAR.

Demand for sugar has not been as brisk as it was a week ago, but there is still a fair business moving in all sorts, both granulated and yellows. Values continue unchanged at the 1-16c. advance noted last week, and the raw article, also, is steady, both in beet and cane, in London and New York.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in syrups, business ruling quiet at 2¼c. per lb. for sugar house grade.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market, also, is without change. Stocks here are not heavy, and the feeling is very firm, though business is practically at a standstill, as it usually is at this time of the year. Recent sales of round lots of Barbadoes stock from first hands have been made at 27c. for 100-puncheon lots, and holders are confident that higher prices will prevail as soon as the fall demand sets in. The jobbing range is unaltered, as quoted in our prices current.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods of all sorts has been quiet, for the very good reason that packers and the jobbing trade are unable to come together regarding values. The former, as noted last week, are not urging sales of vegetables because the crops are unpromising, so that values are firm, agents now asking 80c. for new pack tomatoes, 75c. for corn and 70c. for peas, for future delivery. In salmon, there has been no further business in new pack since that already noted, but though firm prices are being asked jobbers here are not urgent buyers as yet.

COFFEE.

There has been no improvement in the coffee market, business ruling dull with no sales of importance to report. Values, as a rule, are unchanged.

SPICES.

The spice market is steady. Supplies now on spot are more plentiful, owing to recent large arrivals from abroad, and buyers have been able to fill wants with less difficulty. Prices show no change.

TEAS.

There has been an active demand for Japan tea during the past week, and some large transactions in new crop Japans have been put through at 17½ to 20c. for some 2,000 half-chests, while 12½ to 13c. was bid for 700 old Japan stock and refused, the holder asking 14c. In fact, the stock of this all low-grade tea under 20c. is remarkably light both here and at primary markets, as the latter teas that sold last year for 12½c. are now held for 15c., while 17½c. is asked for stock that only realized 15½c. last year. Above 20c. the difference is not so great. In fact, buyers appear to be convinced that in order to secure new crop Japans they will have to pay up, hence the greater activity that is noted.

NUTS.

Nuts continue without change, very little business being noted.

DRIED FRUIT.

Dried and evaporated fruits of all sorts furnish nothing striking at present. Recent reports, both from Europe and the Pacific Coast, inferred that the new crop of raisins promised well, and the same in the case of prunes.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried and evaporated apples contribute nothing of interest.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a good seasonable week's business in green fruit. Oranges are firming up under an active demand, selling 50c. higher this week, while lemons were unchanged. The first receipts of new blueberries were received from the Lake St. John region this week, and already quite a fair quantity have been sent forward to Hamilton and other points in Ontario.

BLUE RIBBON TEAS

They are selling here in 4-quart boxes at $1.75. Increased receipts of bananas have led to a decline of 75c. to $1, while red, black and white currants are now off the market here. Blackberries are lower, at 5 to 6c., and there have been declines in California peaches, pears and plums, as will be noted in our prices current. Watermelons are off the market, while Canadian tomatoes have declined to 30 to 50c. per basket. Egyptian onions are lower, at $1.50 to $2 per sack.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There has been an advance in fresh eggs and prices are firm at the rise. Lower grades are little enquired for. We quote: Selected new laid, 13 to 14c.; No. 1 candled stock, 11 to 11½c.; P.E.I., 9½ to 10c.; and culls at 8½ to 9c. per doz. Receipts were 572 boxes.

BEANS—There was no improvement in the demand for beans, prices being unchanged at 90 to 95c. for primes, and at 95c. to $1 for choice, hand-picked per bushel.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the local provision market. The demand for smoked meats continues good, and trade in these lines is still active, and prices rule firm. In lard a fair trade is doing. Pork rules dull and values show no change. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼c. to 8½c.; and compound refined at 5½c. per lb.; hams, 10½c. to 11½c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The holiday in England at the beginning of the week interfered with export trade here, particularly in coarse grains. Values generally are firmer than they were last week. Bids of 32½c. were made for oats afloat to-day, but holders generally held for 33c., and some were asking as high as 34c. Peas were steady, recent sales afloat being at 64½c.

Flour has ruled dull, demand being confined solely to small lots, and values on Ontario brands have been shaded materially during the week. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.50; straight rollers, $4 to $4.25; bags, $2 to $2.10; Manitoba patents, $5.30, and strong bakers', $4.90.

The feed market has ruled quite firm since last report under small supplies and a brisk demand, so that buyers find it difficult to fill their wants. Values are $1 higher all round. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $13; shorts, $16 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $13; shorts, $15, and moultrie, $17 per ton, including bags.

The meal market continues quiet, the demand being only for small lots at $3.60 to $3.70 per bbl. for rolled oats.

The market for baled hay is in a very unsatisfactory condition at present. The receipts continue liberal from all points, and the market in consequence is fairly glutted with stock. The demand is limited, owing to the fact that buyers are well supplied at present. There is no actual change in prices to note. We quote: Shipping hay, $4 to $5; good to choice, No. 1, $8 to $9, and No. 2, at $5.50 to $7 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market is in a very mixed condition just at present owing to the extensive operations of speculators. Shippers find it impossible to do business because their limits do not permit of prices within ¼ to ½c. of what the goods are being held for, while, on the other hand, sellers with full bids at country points will not concede a fraction. Business was done in finest eastern colored to-day at 7½c. and white at 7¼c., which is an advance of an ⅛ to ¼c. per lb. on last week. In Ontario cheese holders have refused 7½c. for colored, their price being 8c., while 7¾c. is quoted for white. Colored is very scarce, hence the premium.

Butter also has been excited lately owing to extensive buying in the country by both local jobbers and shippers, and an advance to 19c. for creamery at New York. Below Quebec 16½c. was paid for several large factories which price is equivalent to 17c. laid down in Montreal, and the latter figure was made to day for quite a large line of goods. Western dairy has benefited by the advance in creamery. Last week it was obtainable at 13½c., but this week is stiff at 14c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Ontario brands of flour are considerably lower than they were a week ago.

Fresh eggs have advanced ½ to ¾c. during the week and are firmly held.

Creamery butter is fully ½c. higher than it was last week and is active at the rise.

Speculative operations have led to an advance of ⅛ to ¼c. in the price of cheese.

Feed of all sorts is very scarce on this market and is $1 higher than it was a week ago.

The first receipts of new blueberries from the Lake St. John region came to hand this week.

New Japan teas have displayed marked activity and strength during the week, large quantities changing hands for future delivery.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 2, 1898.

BUSINESS for July is better than for June. It has not proved as large a month at the Customs house as it has at some of the other large cities in Canada, though, on Saturday, July 30, the Customs house was kept open till the unusual hour of six o'clock to accommodate importers. Flour continues to drop off, while meal is firmer. While spot canned goods are easier, futures are the other way. Cream of tartar, while still low, is firmer. English rice is again offered rather below Canadian. New China teas are expected to be on the market this week. In sugar, the feeling is firm, but the continued offering of foreign sugar makes the outlook uncertain.

SALT—There are no further arrivals of Liverpool salt to report. There is, however, quite a quantity on the way here. Prices show no change. There is but a fair business doing, and stocks are ample. In Canadian salt, three concerns are now competing for business in these Provinces. Prices, however, are not affected. We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—Dealers who did not buy early are being somewhat disappointed. It is almost impossible to get any packer to quote corn or tomatoes, and some will not quote peas. As our Province packs considerable corn and but few tomatoes, grocers here are chiefly interested in the latter. At present it looks as if high prices would rule. In new salmon trade is backward owing to stocks on hand. Advices from the Coast point to higher figures later.

GREEN FRUIT—In California fruits, such as peaches, pears and plums, prices have ruled rather lower this week owing to the market being overstocked. In peaches, the Georgias arriving are preferred to the Californian. Pears have the chief sale. Oranges, while of good quality, are slow of sale, being out of season. Lemons hold their price. In pines, the market has, this week, been supplied by the arrival of the West India steamer. Melons are rather lower and in light sale. Bananas have large consumption at even prices. Raspberries, wild, are plentiful, but cultivated as yet have not been largely received. Nova Scotia cherries, which are about out of the market, have been a large crop, and therefore prices ruled quite low. Apples so far to hand are good fruit. Reports from Nova Scotia point to but a fair crop.

DRIED FRUIT—Spot business continues light. Values are low. In Valencia raisins, orders going forward have been small and at open prices. Terms are payable here. To retain business, shippers have had to forego letters of credit. Advices concerning California raisins favor a good crop at fair prices, but for prunes, crop is said to be short and prices are expected to rule higher than last year. A good sample of American citron is being offered here rather under the English prices. Some of the same brought here last year gave good satisfaction. No prices yet quoted for new nuts, but most orders have gone forward on open prices.

SUGAR—Market is rather firmer. Montreal refineries continue to quote rather higher prices than those quoted by Halifax. Business is quiet. Some 1,500 bags foreign sugars arrived by steamer this week.

MOLASSES—Market is dull. Quantity arriving by steamer this month was not large, being some 76 bbls. Trinidad, 250 packages of Barbadoes, of which, of which 100 were for Fredericton, and about 20 bbls. Antigua. Stocks of Porto Rico and other grades held here are light. But for all this there is little life. Some samples of Porto Rico of good quality and at low figures are offered here from Boston. These, and offerings from Halifax, Yarmouth, etc., no doubt affect the market. New Orleans is hardly a feature in the trade though there are small quantities here.

PRODUCE—Butter is dull, and many dealers are overstocked. Prices are low, and there is little chance of improvement. Even good butter is low, but, of course, it has the preference.

EGGS—Are not so plentiful, and prices are rather higher, but they work up slowly.

CHEESE—Is also rather firmer, except for June make. Factories are not pushing sales. So far, for local trade, twins have been preferred. There is practically no sale for last season's make.

FISH—Business is quiet. In dry cod, receipts keep light, and, as very small stocks are held here, higher prices are expected. Pickled herrings are still very dull; smoked keep low. Boneless fish has fair sale. Prices are firmly held, particularly pure cod. Fresh shad continue to be received. Some are very fat and large, being caught in salmon nets. Pickled shad are freely offered. Finnan haddies and smoked shad have fair sale. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $3.15 to $3.25; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.45 to $1.50 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; shad, 10 to 20c.; salmon, 16 to 18c.; ½-bbl. shad, $4.

PROVISIONS—Pork and beef in barrels are quoted lower, and there is but light sale. Smoked meats are very quiet at even prices. Lard shows no change, but continues low.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is still dropping off in price, and there is not likely to be any change for some time. Millers report new wheat of splendid quality and much better than last year. Ontario brands continue to have chief sale, and will until there is less difference between them and Manitobas. Oatmeal, while firmer, shows little change on this market. Oats quiet and quoted rather higher. Cornmeal is about as high as before the late decline. In feed, there is hardly any supply. Beans are very quiet at even figures. Hay is particularly dull. Barley dull, but continues to hold its price. More wheat and barley than ever before are being grown this year in our own Province. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.70; best Ontario, $4.65 to $4.75; medium, $4.40 to $4.55; oatmeal, $3.85 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.20; middlings, $2.20 to $2.21; bran, $1.70 to $1.80; oats, 40 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1, 1898.

THE crop prospects are a topic full of interest at present and the indications are that in both Manitoba and the Territories the yield will be fair indeed. In the east and west it is much above the average. In the central portion, however, it is lighter, though even at points at which the prospects were the worst three weeks ago there has been a marked improvement. If the weather continues good for ripening there is no doubt the results will be most satisfactory. Flour has dropped 10c. per sack since last writing. In the grocery trade business is good. Of course, so many families being out of the city for vacation has effected local trade to some extent, but, on the whole, business is good and prices steady.

Winnipeg is a hard market to cater for, as provision has to be made a long while ahead. At the present time orders are being made out and placed for supplies that will have to last until next June, and for this reason the markets of Winnipeg are often a feast or a famine.

Creamery butter has made a sharp advance during the week. This is due to some small improvement in prices at the Coast, but more immediately to a tendency to speculate and pay fancy prices. The creamery season this year has not been a very successful one. Owing to lack of green fodder many factories were late starting, and the price of dairy butter has ruled high all season.

Cereals show an advance of 5c. per sack over last week. All goods handled here at present are Ontario or American.

CURED MEATS—This market presents little that is new. Business is good. Hams appear cheap as compared with sides. Rolls and shoulders are short. Quotations are: Hams, smoked, 11½c.; breakfast bellies, smoked, 12c.; backs, smoked, 11½c.; shoulders, smoked, 9½c.; spiced rolls, 10½c.; dry, salt, long clear bacon, 9½c.; extra short clear, 8¾c.; shoulders, cut square, 9c.; backs, 10c.

Sugar should be 1-16c. higher, but the selling price continues at last week's figure of 5½c. for granulated, though there are indications that the advance will come almost immediately.

SYRUPS—No. 1 is quoted 2½c. in barrels.

EVAPORATED FRUITS—New apricots are here, but transactions so far are light, as the old stock is in excellent condition and much cheaper in price. Apples are 10½c.; dried, 5½c.; market quiet, with no heavy sales.

TEAS—New China tea has arrived, but values cannot be quoted, as it is not yet passed into store. Market is, of course, higher than last year, but it is generally believed that good values have been received.

CANNED GOODS—The variety of prices quoted on futures in canned vegetables is truly astonishing. In former years the smaller factories have usually made a low price for the sake of getting into the market, but this year the tables appear to be turned and the smaller factories are asking more than the larger and older established. It is impossible at present to prophesy what the future will be. Sales of strawberries, raspberries and peas have been effected at prices that are certainly reasonable. Tomatoes and corn are still an open question. Strawberries, new goods, $3.10. Raspberries have slightly advanced, and are now $2.55 to $2.60. Corn will probably rule about $1.80, and tomatoes, $2.15. No great sales of either wax or string beans are reported, but these will probably take place this week. Although previous reports in regard to canned salmon appear to point to a short pack, latest advices from Skeena river report the fish running well, and from this it would seem that there will be no great advance in price, after all.

RICE—Is firm, without change in price.

COFFEE—Market is dull and inactive, but prices are firm at 10 to 10½c. for No. 5 Rios.

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apricots and Cherries, arriving twice a week per fast express. Domestic Fruit of every description arriving with every train.

SPICES—Are all firm and ruling higher, more particularly peppers.

GREEN FRUITS—Carloads of Washington fruit arrived to-day made up of plums, peaches, pears and apples. These latter are in boxes, very fine in flavor and in splendid condition; price, $1.75 to $2. Bananas are again plentiful; price, $2.25 to $2.50; pears, $3. New goods which arrived on Friday were nectarines, which sell at $1.50 to $1.75 the four basket crate. Georgia peaches are down to $2.50. So far this season the peaches are fine indeed.

BUTTER—As already indicated creamery has gone up a notch or two and 17c. is a general figure at factories. Dairy is still arriving freely and brings 11½ to 12c., country points.

EGGS—Receipts are lighter than at this time last year, but still the supply now fully meets present demand; price, 12c. at Winnipeg.

ST. JOHN GROCERS' PICNIC.

The grocers' picnic, held on Tuesday, July 26, was a success, although, on account of fog in the city, the attendance was not as large as it otherwise would have been. The steamers made five trips up and four down, the attendance being upward of 2,500. The picnic was held at Walters' Landing, rather more than an hour's sail up the St. John river. There was no fog there, and the fact that the day was overcast was rather an advantage, as, on that account, the weather was quite cool. The sports were successfully carried out. The grounds are particularly suited for a picnic, as they allow of any method of enjoyment. The attendance of two bands was much appreciated. The one blot on the day was the fact that the last two boats leaving the grounds, owing to the fog, spent the night at anchor less than half-way to the city. The inconvenience of this was felt even more by the friends in the city than by those on the boats. Many of these anxious ones spent the night in watching. These two steamers arrived home about six o'clock the following morning. The bicycle given by the "Surprise" soap people was won by ticket No. 1,006.

WILL ENFORCE THE LOBSTER LAW

It is gratifying to learn that the Dominion Government has taken measures to put an end to illegal lobster fishing on the shores of the Maritime Provinces.

This action was imperative, because of the short sighted policy of fishermen who would take lobsters during the spawning season, regardless of the law, or the fact that the supply of this fish was gradually being depleted.

Recently, a government patrol boat found and destroyed 250 newly baited lobster-traps off Sea Cow Head, P.E.I. About five thousand lobsters, taken from four boats which had just left the traps, were returned to the water. It is quite evident from the stand the Government has taken that it is the intention to stop lobster fishing during the close season this year without fail.

The purpose of the Government is said to be that all boats with lobsters on board are to be taken and the owners of the factories fined. All traps found out are to be destroyed, and when canners persist in violating the law, their boilers and gear are to be destroyed.

PROGRESS OF A NEW INDUSTRY.

The amount of long bamboo poles used by Canadian manufacturers for various purposes is hardly realized by the general public. A large number are sold for fishing poles every season, and some for fancy furniture and other things. The most useful purpose for which they have been utilized is in making the "sweeping work" light and easy. They are now widely used throughout the country as handles for corn brooms. Many carloads are consumed every year for this purpose, which is not at all surprising when the difference in weight is taken into consideration between the lightness of bamboo and old fashioned style of hardwood handle. A broom made with one of these bamboo handles is claimed to be stronger as well as neater than the ordinary kind. These handles are also being decorated in Japanese style. Boeckh Bros. & Company, who manufacture these bamboo handle brooms in a variety of styles and grades of corn, as well as whisks, report a large demand. They state that every inch of these poles is used, and that in course of time these light handled brooms will almost entirely supplant the ordinary wooden handled article.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Vezena, manager of the Victoria Chemical Co. has just returned from a trip to Ottawa and other points and reports sales of "St. Antoine" goods. He sold in Ottawa alone over 150 gross.

Horace Hazzard, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., has been appointed agent in his Province for Purnell, Webb & Co., vinegar manufacturers, Bristol.

THE ONTARIO FRUIT CROPS.

It is expected from the reports gathered from the various fruit districts of Ontario that the banner crop this year among the larger fruits will be the pear crop. The majority of districts report that almost every tree promises excellent returns. The apple crop is also expected to prove a large one, especially in western Ontario. Peaches will not be abundant. A fair crop of plums is looked for, but favorable conditions may result in a crop worthy of being called a good one. Fruitmen are confidently looking for a large growth of Canadian tomatoes, reports from most sections being excellent. This fruit is so tender, however, that a little frost may materially alter the complexion of affairs.

STOREKEEPING IN DAWSON CITY.

A Dawson City correspondent, of Bradstreet's, writes: "People are in business here for a month or two and away. At present there are hundreds of stores, but only a few that have been here any length of time. Many came here intending to go into business, but as it costs from $700 to $1,000 per month for a one-storey, 25-foot front store, most of them are frozen out and conduct their business from their scows on the river bank. As the main street runs along the river bank, scows form part of the business shops of the town, and for a distance of from one and one-half to two miles scows and boats line the bank, in some places two and three deep. Until later on in the summer, and when more buildings are erected, it is impossible to say who of these may be considered the permanent traders here."

A GROCER MARRIES.

Mr. J. S. Nichol, of the firm of Douglas & Co., grocers, Ailsa Craig, was married a few days ago to Jessie Hendrie, of London. The happy event took place at the bride's residence, and was attended only by the intimate friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Johnson. Miss Carrie Hendrie supported her sister through the trying ordeal, while Mr. Andrew Nichol, of Dorchester, did likewise for the groom. After the young couple had received hearty congratulations, all sat down to the wedding feast. The presents were numerous and beautiful.

BRITISH AND CANADIAN TRADE.

The people of Bristol, England, are, it appears, gradually waking up to the importance of cultivating trade with Canada. Purnell, Webb & Co., the vinegar manufacturers of that city, have been so encouraged by their experience on the Canadian market, that they are now urging manufacturers in other lines to make a bid for a share of the trade of the Dominion.

As far as Purnell, Webb & Co. are concerned, they deserve to succeed in their efforts to do business with Canada, for not only have they a good article, but they exhibit good judgment in the methods they have employed in trying to do business with this country.

About 450 grocers and their friends, from London and St. Thomas, Ont., took in the union picnic at Niagara Falls, held under the auspices of the Retail Grocers' Association, of London.

The Blue Ribbon Tea Co. have a novel and humane way of advertising their teas, all their customers being supplied with fly nets for their delivery horses, on which are printed in large letters "Use Blue Ribbon Tea."

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

August 4, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

TRADE IN OTHER COUNTRIES THAN OUR OWN.

CURRANTS IN LONDON.

THE desire to sell the lower kinds of currants still continues, and prices have again fallen fully 6d. per cwt. It is a fact which may appear at first curious, but it is none the less a fact, that so far as the recent running of the home trade is concerned, the more pronounced the fall, the less the demand for common currants. The reason is, perhaps, not so difficult to find as at first appears, and is undoubtedly because the present level of prices does not fit in with retail requirements. During the seasons of low values, a retail price of 2d. per lb. was established, but in the early part of the current year, when the lowest market quotation was about 23s. per cwt., 3d. per lb. became the lowest universal price. Although the market has steadily declined from 23s. to 16s., the retail distributors generally, having regard to the fact that it is a time of the year when currants are not regarded as particularly attractive, have been content to proceed on the previous lines, and have not lowered their prices in the same proportion as the market has fallen, but, instead of doing so, have been buying a better quality of fruit. These may appear to be small distinctions, but in the volume of business they affect the position very materially, and divert the heaviest demand from the lower to the medium grades. At the present moment there is a good supply of common fruit which sells only very slowly, and there is only a very bare supply of the rather better grades, say from 18 to 20s., which are in good demand.—Produce Markets' Review.

CANNED GOODS IN THE STATES.

The principal feature of interest in vegetables is the weakening of the market for spot tomatoes, notwithstanding the recent cleaning up of the market in the South, though orders from the Government, which, it is said, took 40,000 cases from Herford county alone, it is reported. In spite of this large absorption of spot supplies the market appears to be weak, owing mainly to the report of most favorable prospects for the coming crop. On the spot, Marylands are now procurable at 90 to 95c.; Delawares at the same price and Jerseys at 95 to $1.00. Gallon tomatoes are also easier and the market is quiet. Corn is quiet on the spot, and we hear of nothing doing for forward. Beans and peas are nominal, though there seems to be no pressure to sell the latter, in view of the prospect of a light State and Western pack following the small Southern output. According to the latest advices, the outlook is for a very small pack of apricots, peaches and pears, and, as a result, most packers have withdrawn offerings through their agents in eastern markets. Cherries and plums are expected to be plentiful and being relatively cheap, are said to be attracting considerable attention. Gallon apples are scarce and firm, $2.25 now seeming to be an inside price for New York State. Salmon is reported to be in a very strong position owing to the short pack on the Frazer and Columbia rivers, but there is comparatively little demand for spot or future goods. Opening prices on Alaska are expected in a few days.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

TEA IN NEW YORK.

Only a very moderate distributing business was transacted. There was something of an improvement in the call from the interior trade for Ping Sueys, and they were selling at hardening prices. New crop Japans were also firmly held, particularly for the lower grades, and it was questionable whether supplies could have been obtained at 25c. In other particulars dealers stated that they were having practically no call for supplies; but values held to a steady basis. Buyers showed some interest in the market, for invoices and sales were reported of 800 packages Formosa and 500 packages Ping Suey, and a sale was also rumored of a block of 2,000 to 3,000 packages Ping Suey. As the date for the auction sale approaches, the interest of the trade centres around it, particularly as quotations for new crop Formosa will then be established, and it is expected that it will result in some changes in quotations on old crop ditto.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

SICILY LEMONS.

Concerning the Sicily lemon situation, a New York importer the other day said: "Owing to the fact that the La Croma has put into Algiers leaking, which means, no doubt, a very considerable delay in the arrival of her 16,500 boxes of lemons, if they can get here at all, being perishable, it may be interesting for the trade here to learn that there will be an interval of over 11 days between the sale of the lemon cargo to arrive on the Jersey-moor, which is due on Aug. 6, and that of the California, due to arrive here Aug. 17. There is no other lemon cargo on the way between these two steamers, except the La Croma, which, as already stated, is disabled. As the size of shipments of Sicily lemons is showing a material decrease the fact that the La Croma is practically out of it, will cause a considerable shortage, which must be felt in the market here."

A PROPHETIC LETTER.

MANY years ago, when the question of annexation was discussed in Canada, an American, a gentleman of some prominence, wrote The London Advertiser. His wife had a wonderful faculty of seeing the future. She saw the destiny of Canada was not annexation, and the following letter was the result. It has been kindly handed to THE CANADIAN GROCER by Mr. Allen, of the Oneida Community, Limited, who secured a copy at the time:

Canada is not simply an "English-speaking people of this continent." It is an integral part of the British Empire. To propose the political union of Canada with the United States, independent of the remainder of the British Empire, is to propose the disintegration of that Empire.

The British Empire to-day, and prospectively for a long future, is the greatest political bulwark of modern civilization. Its flag represents, its power defends, its enterprise is upbuilding and extending, the greatest Empire of freedom and human progress the world has ever seen. To propose its disintegration is treason to that freedom and human progress, and to modern civilization.

The British Empire heads the column of resistance to the aggression and ultimate dominance of Russia and Russian barbarism over the eastern continent. Disintegrate the British Empire and Kossuth's prophetic warning may yet come true: "America may yet see Cossacks." Disintegrate the British Empire, and England and all her present colonies and dependencies will see Cossacks, and many of her sons Siberia, or its equivalent. That is the great issue of the future, that very heart of the undying eastern question. Shall Anglo-Saxon civilization, Anglo-Saxon freedom, Anglo-Saxon free bibles and free religion, Anglo-Saxon progress on all lines of human advancement, Anglo-Saxon individual liberty of movement, of growth, of education, of spiritual, intellectual, moral and physical culture, and all that makes the true glory of the English-speaking world—shall this go on to the progressive conquest and blessing of the eastern continent and of the earth, or shall the Russian, opposite of all this, prevail? To you, Canadians of to-day, this is a vital question, infinitely more important than the sale of your surplus eggs and hay, barley and potatoes, codfish and lumber. As you loyally help to settle it right, or disloyally help to settle it wrong, so will your sons and daughters of future generations bless or curse you.

By its development, under the fostering protection of the British Government, and the building of the world's greatest railway across its continental expanse, Canada has become a great highway of the Empire between the east and the west—between England and Asia and Australasia—a highway whose value in the present condition of eastern and the world's affairs cannot be measured or approximately estimated. Sever Canada from the British Empire and you cut the Empire in two, close this highway and antagonize the world's best interests.

Not the union of Canada with the United States, with its attendant disintegration of the British Empire, but the loyal union of Canada with the whole British Empire, and the union of the whole British Empire and the United States of America in one fraternal, world-wide, Anglo-Saxon Confederation, offensive and defensive, should be the watchword and political rallying cry, not only of Canada but of the English-speaking world. Until this larger union comes let Canada stand with England.

CANADIAN ADVERTISING is best done by THE E. DESBARATS ADVERTISING AGENCY, MONTREAL.

Subscribers wanting goods or special quotations on anything anywhere in Canada at any time, can get them by mail or wire by corresponding with THE CANADIAN GROCER, Toronto or Montreal.

(AND VERY TRULY SO)

The world is divided into two classes:

Those who go ahead and do "something"—and those who sit still and enquire why it wasn't done the other way.

has gone ahead and done something, inasmuch as it has revolutionized the tea trade of the country.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

The Press Clipping Bureau, Board of Trade, Montreal

Caution

We would ask our customers and friends to beware of package coffees put up to imitate our Famous SEAL BRAND Coffee in 1 and 2-lb. tins. Our label can be imitated up to a certain point without infringing upon our rights and might deceive the public, but a comparison of the contents will easily prove that SEAL BRAND Coffee cannot be imitated.

See that COLEMAN'S BUTTER SALT

—Is Used.

No butter-maker can produce the best results with coarse, lumpy, or in any degree impure salt. It does not dissolve quickly enough to penetrate the butter evenly, and the result is, that part of a churning is too salt and the rest does not contain enough to keep it. Coleman's Butter Salt is specially made for the purpose. IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE. It works quickly and effectively, and produces butter of the same color and flavor throughout.

A Trial Carload might contain :

10 sacks Coleman's Butter Salt, 50's (a choice package—fine linen with outside paper wrapper to keep it clean). 5 bbls. Coleman's Butter Salt, 20's (a good seller—fifteen in a barrel). 1 bbl. 3's and 1 bbl. 7's (for family trade). The balance assorted in Common Salt, coarse or fine, barrels or sacks. WE SHIP PROMPTLY.

R. & J. RANSFORD - CLINTON

We quote "The Grocer":

"OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
"ST. JOHN, N.B., June 27, 1898.
"SALT—The large quantity of Canadian now used for dairy purposes has had the effect of very much lessening the sale of the Liverpool factory filled."

This is a report from a district where we are doing a good business in Coleman's Dairy Salt. We are shipping there regularly in carloads, also to Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec. In getting this business we have to compete against the prejudice in favor of English salt—and it is good salt—also against transportation by water, which often costs next to nothing. Coleman's Dairy Salt is simply selling on its merits.

Do you buy butter from farmers?

Most country dealers have to take more or less in trade, crediting it at the market price, although the quality may be very uneven. Anything that improves the quality increases the dealer's profit. The difference between good and bad salting, for instance, may mean a difference of a cent or two a pound on the selling price.

TALK THAT TALKS.

EVERYBODY who knows the grocery trade of St. John, knows that W. A. Magee has one of the handsomest retail grocery establishments in the city, and that his trade is of a character that will not tolerate poor goods. Here is a word from Mr. Magee:

ST. JOHN, April 6th, 1898.

We carry 28 lines of Biscuits manufactured by the Queen Biscuit Co., and the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT is the quickest seller of them all. All their goods give excellent satisfaction to our customers. The sales of the BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT have greatly increased with us. We think most highly of them.

W. A. MAGEE.

Mr. Magee believes in patronizing lower province industries if they produce good goods. So do you all. Give us a chance to prove our claim that BOSS LUNCH MILK BISCUIT, of which we are the sole manufacturers in Canada, possesses the same unsurpassed qualities that have sent the annual production in the United States up to 30,000,000 lbs.

We have given you just one testimonial. We could fill pages with them, from pleased customers as well as from merchants.

Remember—A delicious Lunch Biscuit at a popular price. Only the best materials go into our goods.

"As Pure As Windsor Salt"

It is remarkable how many people firmly believe in principles which they neglect to practise.

"Just as good" is a threadbare argument that often drives trade away from the store—it seldom fails to disappoint the customer who asked for something else.

Every man was taught in his boyhood that "what is worth doing at all is worth doing well"—he believes it, but fails to practise it by falling back on that moss-covered argument, "here's something just as good."

This fails with Windsor Salt—because "it costs you no more"—your usual Salt profit IS ALL THERE. "Best" because purest—"as pure as Windsor Salt."

Quality, not quantity, wins trade and holds it—a new article sold on the basis of “more for your money” may catch the temporary customer, but who wants a man or woman to buy once and then stop?

Stower's Concentrated Lime Juice is the pure juice of West Indian Limes that are cultivated especially for “Stower.” It is all Lime Juice down to the last drop in the bottle. Years and years ago it was distinguished from all other Lime Juice because—no musty flavor—no free acid taste—its perfect keeping qualities after the cork is drawn—its great strength, because concentrated. “It holds trade”—it maintains its reputation of the past, steadfastly.

STORE WINDOW-WASHING.

By Prof. Wilbur L. Scoville, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

WHAT the eye is to the face, the window is to the store, and if the face or the store is to be attractive the eye or the window must be bright. To secure this effect, the plate glass, costing its scores or even hundreds of dollars, has entirely superseded the old window glass, costing as many cents. One is no more transparent than the other, but one possesses a cleanness and a lustre which was formerly lacking, and that is worth the added cost.

Still the problem is not yet wholly solved, and the weekly window-cleaning is usually a matter which is dreaded. So simple an operation is it that it is intrusted to the greenest tyro, yet so difficult of perfection that the most expert would hesitate to claim its attainment.

F. Foerster, a German chemist, has done a large amount of careful experimenting during the past five years, to ascertain the exact vulnerability of different kinds of glass under different conditions. His conclusions, which are very interesting, have been made upon plate and window glass, as well as glass for chemical ware.

In a series of experiments upon six different kinds of plate glass, Foerster found that at 20° C. pure water dissolved 1.65 grain to 1.11 grain of glass per 15.5 square inches (100 sq. Cm.), while a 1 per cent. solution of sulphuric acid dissolved 1.325 to 1.54 grain, 1 per cent. nitric acid dissolved 1.90 to 1.35 grain, 1 per cent. hydrochloric acid dissolved 1.325 to 1.40 grain, and 1 per cent. acetic acid 1.325 to 1.58 grain, each per 15.5 square inches of glass.

In a series of elaborate tables he has demonstrated the action of different strength solutions of acids, and of water, upon glasses of different compositions, and under different conditions of time, temperature, etc., but the above facts are sufficient for our purpose.

Now for the application of the facts. In window-washing, the first consideration is to remove the dirt, and the second, to polish the glass. From a scientific point of view, these two are antagonistic. One aims to remove matter, the other to prevent the removal of matter. But, since the matter in consideration is not the same in each case, the problem is easily solved by keeping the proper sequence.

For the removal of dirt, a weak alkali is the most generally efficient. It is the liberation of alkali, by the decomposition of soap when dissolved in water, that the detergent properties of soap are, in part, due.

Glass is undoubtedly more easily cleaned by the occasional use of weak alkali than by pure water, though the latter is both sufficient and efficient if used frequently enough. Since ammonia has less action on glass than soda or potash, it is to be preferred, and, further, the water should not be hot. But, at best, the alkali will attack the glass, suspend some of the silica, and cause the dreaded streakedness.

Then, to correct this, after the removal of the dirt, an application of weak acid is desirable. Either hydrochloric or acetic acid is to be preferred here, on account of their volatility and absence of corrosive properties, and hydrochloric acid has the advantage in point of cost.

Then the sequence is, first, an alkali to remove the dirt, and then an acid to polish the glass. If to these we add another factor, a polishing agent in the shape of some substance which will produce a mild friction without scratching, we have combined all the virtues of the commercial preparations for this purpose, without their defects, and with an added virtue.

I would recommend the following procedure: First, wash the glass in the usual manner with water containing about half an ounce of concentrated ammonia water to a pailful of water—not more, for fear of removing the paint or varnish from the woodwork.

Then, while the glass is wet, and without rinsing, go over the entire surface with a weak solution of hydrochloric acid, prepared by adding to a pailful of fresh water two or three ounces of strong muriatic acid. This neutralizes the ammonia and the alkali in the glass, and forms some soluble chlorides which aid in the polishing. Finally dry and polish with a clean cloth.

The acid will have no ill effects upon paint or varnish upon the window frames, nor even upon unpainted woodwork.

If metal window frames hold the glass the acid is liable to attack these, and should be avoided or used cautiously. A weaker acid would be advisable in this case.

Some have tried this plan and are pleased with the result. They think that the time taken to go over the glass with two successive waters is more than compensated in the saving of time in the drying and polishing, and then the window is brighter.

But if you wash windows so frequently that they do not get really dirty, the alkaline water might be omitted, and you may be pleased with the result if the hydrochloric solution is used in place of pure water. The addition of a little salt to this might prove a further pleasure.—American Druggist.

ICED TEA IN THE GROCERY.

There is no more refreshing summer beverage than ice-cold tea served with lemon. One pound of tea, says an exchange, will make from five to fifteen gallons of beverage, as to the sort used. What better advertisement for a store than to serve, on a hot day, ice-cold tea? It would tend to increase the popularity of the store and the sales of the tea, cracker and fruit sections. Make the experiment.

LONG STRING OF GEM JARS.

The Galt Reporter has been hunting up information in regard to fruit preserving, and has given out the following estimates for that town: "Some 20,000 glass sealers arrive every year. Distributed among 1,800 houses gives an average of 11 to each house. Taking into consideration the stock each household has on hand, besides this, and the figures run up to 60,000. If all these jars were placed close together and hung on the trolley wire, it would take the length of the road entire, from the termini at Galt and Hespeler, to contain them all, while if they were laid end to end they would reach from Galt, along the Stone Road, to Berlin."

"JUST A LITTLE UNDER."

"Most city grocers," said a wholesale butter dealer to American Grocer, "want butter just a little under the very finest grade." Such a policy leads to bankruptcy, because it does not secure the confidence of consumers in the absolute reliability of the dealer. As a rule, more fault is found when the quality of the article is "just a little under" than when the price is regarded high. A perfectly satisfied palate is apt to seek its gratification, even though the price is regarded too great.

"Just a little under" in butter is particularly unwise, for no one article in the store has such power to win or repel trade as butter. A store with a reputation for keeping butter or any other sort of food just a little above in quality, is assured a good patronage. In Spring street market, this city, is a man who deals exclusively in butter, cheese, and eggs. His inflexible rule is to offer only the best. The result is that patrons crowd his stand, while competing stands are without customers. He has built up a large business in a very poor neighborhood, and largely with the poorest classes of buyers. He has made a fortune, and has never known what dull trade means. The secret is open, for everyone who patronizes him is always satisfied. "Just a little under" kills a large proportion of retail grocers, while "A little higher in price, but—" leads to prosperity and public favor.

Will Make Their Fortune

This is what Duff & Son, of York Street, say of the proprietors of T. & P. Pickles, adding, "If they have capital and energy; we never saw finer goods." This speaks for itself.

THE TRIUMPH OF PROMPTNESS.

IT WAS enough to send Napoleon to St. Helena. It is a well-known truism that has almost been elevated to the dignity of a maxim, that what may be done at any time will be done at no time.

"The fact is," says the Rev. Sydney Smith, "that, in order to do anything in this world worth doing, we must not stand shivering on the bank, and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances. It did all very well before the flood, when a man could consult his friends upon an intended publication for 150 years, and then live to see its success for six or seven centuries afterwards; but at present a man waits, and doubts, and hesitates, and consults his brother, and his uncle, and his particular friends, till, one fine day, he finds that he is 65 years of age—that he has lost so much time in consulting his cousins and particular friends that he has no more time left to follow their advice."

The African Association of London wanted to send Ledyard, the traveler, to Africa, and asked him when he would be ready to go. "To-morrow morning," was the reply. John Jervis, afterwards Earl St. Vincent, was asked when he could join his ship, and replied, "Directly." Colin Campbell, appointed commander of the army in India, and asked when he could set out, replied, without hesitation, "To-morrow." "Every moment lost," said Napoleon, "gives an opportunity for misfortune."

The energy wasted in postponing until to-morrow a duty of to-day, would often do the work. How much harder and more disagreeable, too, it is to do the work which has been put off. What would have been done at the time with pleasure or even enthusiasm becomes drudgery after it has been delayed for days and weeks. Letters can never be answered as easily as when first received. Many large firms make it a rule never to allow a letter to remain unanswered over night. Promptness takes the drudgery out of an occupation. Putting off usually means leaving off, and going to do becomes going undone. Doing a deed is like sowing a seed; if not done at just the right time it will be forever out of season. The summer of eternity will not be long enough to bring to maturity the fruit of a delayed action. If a star or planet delayed one second, it might throw the whole universe out of harmony.

"There is no moment like the present," said Maria Edgeworth; "not only so, there is no moment at all, no instant force and energy, but in the present. The man who will not execute his resolutions when they are fresh upon him, can have no hopes from them afterward. They will be dissipated, lost in the hurry and skurry of the world, or sunk in the slough of indolence." Cobbett said he owed his success to being "always ready" more than to all his natural abilities combined.—Pushing to the Front.

A CHEAP LIGHT.

The acetylene gas plant installed this summer in the Algonquin by the Hamilton Acetylene Gas Machine Co., improves on acquaintance and is giving better satisfaction every day. There are 160 lights, including a row around the gallery, which, when lighted at night, make the place as bright as day and give the effect of an illumination. The light is especially brilliant and penetrating, it being found that half the jets provided are sufficient to give all the light needed, showing that it is twice as brilliant as ordinary gas. It is safe to say that no summer hotel on the St. Lawrence is as well lighted as the Algonquin, and it is estimated that the cost of the light is little more than the wages of servants required for cleaning the lamps and breakages. The machine is automatic, requiring very little attention, and is admirably adapted for detached buildings.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8, 1898.

THERE is little change in any line to report this week. Business in groceries is good, but there is no rush. In produce, dealers seem to be trying to secure all they can, and there is considerable difference of price in the quotations of the various houses, for butter particularly. Butter is being brought here for speculation, as the markets, both west and east, are not encouraging export at present. In flour, dealers report that business has not been so quiet for years during July and August. This is attributed to the idea generally prevalent that prices for wheat will drop still further with the coming of the new crop. Millers say that where they formerly placed 10 and 15 carload lots, they are now selling single cars only. With regard to the crop, the weather has continued favorable throughout the entire week, and the returns both to Government and to the railway companies indicate that, as already stated, there will be a rather more than fair average crop over the Province and in the Territories. The reports seen in some papers that the crop will exceed that of 1887 are not true and are utterly scouted by reliable grain men who are touring the Province, and have been at intervals of two weeks, since the season started. Barley cutting will be general this week. One small field of wheat was cut on the Portage Plains on Friday, and oats are being cut at a good many points. A large field of oats, just outside the city limits, was cut and staked last week.

The firm of Codville & Co., successors to Thompson Codville, are making extensive alterations in their office premises on McDermot street.

In prices there are few changes.

CANNED GOODS — There is really no change in the situation. Prices are the same and offers are being freely made, although a few factories are holding off on futures in tomatoes. Prices for new goods are: Strawberries, $3.10; raspberries, $2.25 to $2.60; corn, $1.80, and tomatoes, $2.15. In canned salmon, one factory has withdrawn all quotations from this market, on account of the run being smaller than first reported. This has not affected prices so far, and it is difficult to tell just how matters will turn.

CEREALS—Prices have again advanced 5c. per sack.

CURED MEATS—This market is reported without change for the week, except that rolls and shoulders seem scarce. Quotations are: Hams, smoked, 11½c.; breakfast bellies, ditto, 12c.; backs, ditto, 11½c.; shoulders, ditto, 9½c.; spiced rolls, 10½c.; dry salt long clear, 9½c.; extra short clear, 8¾c.; shoulders, cut square, 9c.; backs, 10c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — No change; buyers are still holding off on apricots on account of the high price.

TEAS—China teas have now passed into stock and are reported very good value indeed. Some Japans have arrived, but no report could be got as yet because they are still in cars on the track.

COFFEE—Without change, dull, and Rio 10 to 10½c.

DRIED FRUIT — In currants and raisins the market is just opening here and prices are not yet made. New Smyrna and Malaga figs are reported as coming in excellent condition.

SUGAR—Is still 5½c. for granulated, and has shown no changes during the week. Syrups, No. 1, 2½c. in barrels.

BUTTER—As already stated there seems some difference of opinion between local dealers as to price. The prices given run all the way from 16½ to 17¾c. Probably 17 to 17½c. is a fair average of the price paid last week, as four creameries sold their July make as follows: 17, 17¼, 17½ and 17¾c. A few factories are still holding for higher figures. Dairy butter continues to come in freely, and nets about 12½c. point of shipment, or 13c. Winnipeg.

CHEESE—Decided tendency to hold, with price at 8c. Factorymen are unquestionably making a mistake in holding June and July cheese, but at present they will not listen to advice along that line.

EGGS—Supply just about meets the demand, and nothing over price, 12c. Winnipeg.

GREEN FRUIT—This market shows some changes. Early southern plums are practically over, and so are Minnesota tomatoes, and it will probably be a week or ten days before fresh crops of Oregon and Washington plums are in. Next tomatoes will come from Dakota and Ontario. Nominally, plums are $1.35 to $1.50. Peaches are plentiful at $1.35 to $1.50, and are good in quality and arriving in perfect condition. Watermelons, $3.50 to $4 per dozen. Grapes, southern Concords, are in, and are selling at 75c. per 7 lb. basket. Blueberries are up to 7c. per lb., after a drop to 5c. The crop is most abundant. On the other hand, raspberries are scarce indeed, and retail at $2.10 per pail for wild fruit, and not approaching a supply even at that figure.

New peanuts are in, and are very fine stock; 10c. per lb. for green and 12c. for roasted stock.

LARGE WHEAT YIELDS.

"John Dickenson, M.P.P., for South Wentworth, Saturday, threshed 900 bushels of wheat off 30 acres." That may be a good yield for Wentworth, but it is not in it with Essex, "The Garden of Canada." Messrs. Ainslie, of Tilbury West, threshed 617 bushels and 35 lb. from 14 acres. The acres were honest acres, being measured, and the weight was that of Mr. Stevens, of Chatham, who bought the grain.—Windsor Review.

According to reports the wheat yield this year will be enormous. McDougall Bros., of Erin township, last Wednesday, threshed 400 bushels from nine acres. A farmer in Puslinch claims that his wheat will yield 50 bushels to the acre. Oats, owing to the dry, hot weather, will be below the average.—Guelph Herald.

SALES AT CHEESE BOARDS.

London, Ont., August 6—1,712 July cheese offered; none sold by auction.

Cornwall, Ont., August 6—1,082 Canadian and 220 American offered; American sold at 7½c., and Canadian at 7¾c.

Ingersoll, Ont., August 9—1,685 boxes offered; no sales; 7 9-16c. highest bid.

Belleville, Ont., August 9—1,240 boxes white offered; no sales; 7½c. highest bid.

Campbellford, Ont., August 9—970 boxes white offered; 500 sold at 7½c.; 225 at 7 11-16c.; balance unsold.

Madoc, Ont., August 9—815 cheese offered; 250 sold at 7¾c.; 100 at 7 13-16c.

L. Woolverton, secretary of the Ontario Fruit Growers Association, and Prof. H. L. Hutt, of the Agricultural College at Guelph, were recently sent to the Algoma district of Ontario to investigate the possibility of growing fruits there. They report that hardy apples, such as Transparent, Duchess, Wealthy and Gideon brands, can be successfully grown. A few kinds of hardy pears and cherries can also be grown.

TORONTO PATENT AGENCY.

In another column of this issue is a card of The Toronto Patent Agency, Limited, Toronto, Canada, incorporated and chartered under the Ontario Companies' Act, to do the general patent agency business. This is the only incorporated company of its class in Canada, although in England there are many and very prosperous concerns of this class. It is composed of many of Toronto's leading citizens, and on its list of stockholders are many well known inventors and patentees. Those having business to do with the company can depend on honorable treatment and on having their business well looked after. The managing - director, Mr. J. Arthur McMurtry, is a man well known to the business community of Canada. The company has established offices in all the principal cities of Canada and the United States.

The fruit evaporating factory now being erected in Norwich will probably be finished this month, when operations will be immediately commenced, giving employment to about 75 hands. A large proportion of the apples exaporated will be brought from west of London, Ont., as the crop near Norwich is light.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. T. Miles, with Boeckh Bros. & Company, has returned from his vacation. He says fishing is good at Jackson's Point, and that the place is very popular this season.

Mr. A. H. Ewing, of S. H. Ewing & Sons, Montreal, was in Toronto this week, and called on the trade in company with Mr. Fred Dane.

Messrs. J. Ito and T. Mizutany, of the Central Japan Tea Association, were in Toronto on Tuesday. Mr. Ito has been appointed one of the Japanese commissioners at the Paris Exposition.

A SUGAR POSSIBILITY.

THE possibility of some good resulting from the conference of the representatives of the European powers interested in the beet sugar bounties is not yet beyond hope.

The conference, it will be remembered, was convened in Brussels on June 7, and, although sessions were held extending to June 25, it adjourned sine die, without apparently any progress having been made in the direction of abolishing, or even reducing, the troublesome bounties.

Germany, Belgium, Holland and Austria all practically desired the removal of the bounties because of the pretty penny they are costing them. Great Britain wanted them abolished in the interest of her refining industry at home, and in the interest of her languishing sugar-producing industry in the West Indies. The sticking point was the opposition of France and Russia, who are pulling together in sugar as well as political matters, although it is said France was willing to abandon the direct bounties, reserving, however, the question of the internal regulation of her excise regulation.

While unable to arrive at an agreement the members of the conference unanimously declared in favor of entrusting the Belgian Government with the task of carrying on diplomatic negotiations.

The wisdom of this is already being manifested, for negotiations are now pending with a view to abolishing the war bounties which have existed since 1896. In pursuance of this plan it is proposed that Germany shall decrease her present export bounties to about what they were before 1896. Austria-Hungary is to retain her present export bounties, but to reduce her home bounties. Belgium is to grant a bounty equal to the new German one. Holland is to do much about the same. France is being asked to abolish direct bounties, but to be allowed to retain her other legislation, which appears to be practically what her representatives proposed at the recent conference. Russia's part in the programme is for that country to fix beforehand the amount of sugar which its factories are allowed to produce for home consumption. If agreed upon, the proposition is to go into operation September 1, and is to be binding for three years.

Should the reductions in the bounties take place, which is quite possible in view of the evident desire of the nations interested to inaugurate some measure of reform, the tendency would naturally be to increase the cost to purchasers outside the producing countries.

In view of Canada's preferential tariff on sugar produced within the British Empire, the process of events will be watched with greater interest than would otherwise be the case.

FIXING THE TEA STANDARDS.

Minister of Customs Paterson is securing, through the secretaries of the boards of trade in the chief commercial centres, samples of tea of the lowest grades, which the wholesalers consider should be allowed to be imported into Canada.

There may possibly be a great difference of opinion as to how low a grade of tea should be brought into the country, but, if we are to have standards, the Minister of Customs is wise in consulting the trade as to the constitution of these standards.

A YEAR OF GROCERY IMPORTS.

IMPORTS of groceries into Canada for the fiscal year ending June 30 last, were about $3\frac{1}{4}$ million dollars less than the preceding year.

This loss is more than accounted for by the decrease of over $3,500,000 in the importations of the two staples of sugar and tea. In other lines there was, as a rule, an increase.

In dried fruits and nuts there was quite a material increase. Provisions, such as lard, meats, etc., were $643,419 larger than in 1897. Oranges, lemons and other green fruits, were in excess of 1897. The same is to be said of rice, pickles, soap, spices and coffee. In addition to those enumerated, the lines which were imported in less quantities were molasses, syrups and salt.

The following tables give the imports of dutiable and free goods respectively appertaining to the grocery trade:

DUTIABLE EXPORTS.

	1898.	1897.
Rice, all kinds	$ 297,311	$ 203,234
Fruits and nuts, dried	1,152,003	835,721

Tobacco leaf	16,989	2,046,626
	$4,562,783	$6,813,310

The imports of sugar for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, were exceptionally large, and were due, it will be remembered, to the expectation that an increased duty would be put upon sugar when the tariff of that year was being revised, the refiners having anticipated their wants. The imports for the fiscal year which recently ended are, on the other hand, the smallest for ten years, although the figures from which our information is taken are subject to revision.

The factor which caused the increase in the imports of sugar in 1897 and the decrease in those of 1898 was also the cause of the like conditions in the imports of tea for the two years in question.

A PARTIZAN COMMISSION—WHY?

THE suggestion that Sir Charles Tupper be one of Canada's representatives at the coming Quebec conference does not meet with the approval of certain influential political newspapers. This is to be regretted.

In urging the appointment of the leader of the Opposition as one of the commissioners, the motive was not a party one. Concern for the best interests of the country and for a calm and just consideration by Parliament of such treaty as the conference may agree upon were the only motives.

In the composition of the Canadian delegation as it is to-day are elements which weaken the interests of Canada at the conference, and threaten to damn whatever international instrument the conference may construct.

In the first place, each appointment is a political one. There is no question about that. The political faith of the appointees proves it. Consequently, there is grave danger that some of the questions which come up for consideration will be looked at through the spectacles of one political party. This is something that is to be deplored, whether the spectacles be Conservative or Liberal in their composition, for they are colored of whatever kind they are.

As far as the gentlemen themselves are concerned their ability is not questioned. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Louis Davies are properly assigned to the commissionship, the first being Premier, the second Minister of Trade and Commerce, and the third Minister of Marine and Fisheries. But there should have been a place on the commission for Sir Charles Tupper, in the first place, in order to avoid giving it a partizan complexion, and secondly, in order that the Canadian members of the conference might be made as strong as possible. And none but a partizan will deny that Sir Charles Tupper, with an experience in diplomatic matters exceeding that of any other Canadian of to-day, would materially increase the strength of the delegation which is to represent this country at the conference.

The British Government has appointed a political opponent as associate with Sir Julian Pauncefoot, and even that protectionist of protectionists, President McKinley, has given a free trader a place among the delegates who are to represent the United States at the "Ancient Capital."

Surely, when the Administration at Washington shows that it is not altogether consumed by partizanship, the Administration at Ottawa cannot afford to allow the idea to go abroad that it is less magnanimous than the rulers at the United States capital.

THE CANADIAN GROCER urges the Government to deviate from the narrow course it has pursued in this matter; to deviate for the sake of Canada; to deviate for the sake of the treaty which may be agreed upon at the conference.

The faith of THE CANADIAN GROCER in the wisdom and business ability of the average politician, both Conservative and Liberal, is even smaller than the proverbial grain of mustard. With the average politician the cause of party is more precious than cause of country.

If by stabbing a measure advantageous to Canada a political opponent can be maimed he seldom has any hesitation in doing so. We had more than one instance of that during the last session of Parliament.

THE CANADIAN GROCER would like to see this avoided as far as possible at the next session of the House of Commons, when, it is possible, some kind of a treaty between the Dominion and the United States may be submitted for consideration. And it is because of its desire to see this instrument considered with as little political animus as possible that it urges the appointment of Sir Charles Tupper as a member of the Quebec Conference.

THE NUT SITUATION.

Anything other than high prices are improbable for at least some descriptions of nuts this season.

Tarragona almonds, particularly, will be dear. Some shipping-houses in Spain are submitting figures which are almost 100 per cent. above those of last year, and all quotations are established on a high basis.

Walnuts are later than usual, while the crop is estimated at from 30 to 40 per cent. smaller than last season. No figures appear to have yet been named, but higher prices than those of last year appear inevitable. The fact that the crop will be late is a bad feature, as far as the Canadian market is concerned.

Filberts, unlike other descriptions of nuts, are easier than they were. They can now be bought at about the same price as last season, but, as most of the Canadian orders were placed some time ago, when values were higher, the figures now ruling do not afford much satisfaction to importers in this country.

BRITISH TRADE WITH THE PHILIPPINES.

ONE of the problems arising out of the war with Spain which awaits solution in the United States is the disposal of the Philippine Islands.

The commercial interests appear to think that the retention of the Islands is demanded in order to facilitate the extension of the United States' trade in the east.

As far as the trade of the Philippine Islands themselves is concerned, Great Britain is far more interested than the United States.

Of the total exports of the Islands, the British Empire takes nearly 32 per cent. of the whole, and the United States less than 22¼ per cent. Then, of their total importations, 28 per cent. is from the Empire, and but a little over 1 per cent. from the United States. Taking the aggregate trade of the Philippine Islands, over 32 per cent. is with the British Empire, and but a little over 15 per cent. with the United States. The aggregate trade of the British Empire with the Islands exceeds, by nearly $2,000,000, even that of Spain itself.

NO SECOND GRADE GRANULATED.

No Canadian granulated sugar of No. 2 grade will be obtainable for some time, at least, the refiners having decided to discontinue its manufacture, an announcement to that effect having been made this week.

This grade of sugar, it will be remembered, was only put upon the market a year or two ago, when the competition of foreign made granulated began to be keenly felt. Now that the wholesalers no longer import the foreign article there is no need of the refineries making a sugar below the standard grade to compete with it.

THE ACTIVITY IN CHEESE.

THE cheese market has displayed considerable excitement and strength during the past ten days or so, due largely to speculative purchases by one or two of the large Montreal operators.

These gentlemen appear to have made up their minds to carry on the deal into August make without allowing any radical break in prices, and, so far, they have been successful.

What the ultimate outcome will be is another matter that it is unnecessary to discuss at the moment, as no one is prepared to say what it will be. Of course, there are pessimists who predict serious disaster to the parties who are carrying along the present deal, but in their case the wish is father to the thought. However, apart from their opinion, it is undeniable that the British buyers have responded very reluctantly to the rise on this side, but that they have so responded to a certain degree is also certain.

Another fact that stands in favor of the optimists is the generally admitted fact that several large shippers are short of cheese for August and September shipment. The persons in question offered goods spread over six to eight weeks at a low price, and, naturally, competitors who took the other side of the market are determined to make them pay sweetly if they can before these short sales are filled.

The result of these different conditions has been the recent activity, and the farmer has got more for his product than he otherwise would have done.

So far as the statistical position is considered, it is certainly in favor of the bulls. The declared stocks in Liverpool on Aug. 1 were 48,900 boxes, against 52,565 boxes at the same time last year, and the accumulation at other points in Great Britain is also reported to be less.

At Montreal the total quantity marketed this season to date falls behind that of last season by 132,000 boxes, which is no inconsiderable quantity.

During May, June and July, this year, offerings have been lighter at the country boards. For instance, during the past month (July), the aggregate offerings at the different boards in Ontario, Quebec and Northern New York, were 163,000 boxes. Last year, in the same month, they were 213,000, leaving a shortage this year of 110,000 boxes.

The exports to date from Montreal are away behind those of last year, 693,297 against 885,360, a decrease of 192,063 boxes.

All these figures, of course, are construed favorably by the bulls, while another and important influence in their favor is the low price of the staple this year, which has largely increased the consumption in Great Britain.

Last summer, at this time, cheese cost fully $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. more than it does to-day in Montreal, so that, relatively, present values are low.

THE ABUSE OF MR. MULOCK.

WHEN politics lead one party to try and deprive the other party of the credit it is entitled to for some judicious action, politics may well be described as at a low ebb.

This is about the condition of politics in Canada to-day. And one of the latest evidences of it is to be seen in the matter of Imperial penny postage.

Postmaster-General Mulock did not originate the idea. Long before he probably ever thought of the matter the idea was conceived and given expression to by others. But no matter who conceived it or who propagated it, no one was more instrumental in bringing the thing actually about than the Hon. Mr. Mulock.

Had Mr. Mulock not championed the Imperial postage idea it would only have been a matter of time, and that a short time in all probability, before the desideratum would have been secured, but that does not alter the fact that the business men of the Dominion will in a few months enjoy a 60 per cent. reduction on the letter rate to Great Britain, because the Canadian Postmaster-General, at an opportune time, pressed the matter upon the attention of the Imperial Government.

Politicians have sins enough to answer for without attempts being made to discredit them when honor is due.

A DEMAND FOR JAPAN TEA.

THE past week has probably been one of the most interesting this season in regard to Japan teas. There appears to have been a sudden desire on the part of buyers to get supplies, even at the high values ruling, and there have been some large transactions as a result. In some instances, importers paid prices which three weeks ago they declared they would not pay even if this year they went without Japan teas.

As a result of this, teas costing 17c. and under are scarce, the supply not being equal to the demand. These are teas, which a year ago, were selling at $14\frac{1}{2}$ to $15\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. There is no scarcity, however, in the higher grade teas, running from 20c. per lb. upward, and these teas are showing relatively better value than the cheaper grades which are being so much sought after.

It is alleged that some wholesalers have booked orders for teas at $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. lower than they are now paying to fill these orders.

Mail advices from Yokohama, under date of July 15, state that the tea settlements this season up to that date were 141,480 piculs, against 148,753 piculs the same period of 1897.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Aug. 11, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE chief feature of the wholesale grocery trade during the week is the advance of 1-16c. per lb. in the price of granulated and yellow sugars, and of 1/8c. per lb. in cut loaf, icing, etc. The demand for sugar is not bad, and an improvement is expected. Canned goods of all kinds are firm, and for this time of the year a fair demand is being experienced. Wholesalers are withdrawing their quotations on tomatoes and corn for future delivery, and they are doing the same in regard to "Horse Shoe" brand of canned salmon. "Maple Leaf" brand was advanced 25c. per case on the Coast on Tuesday, and "Lowe Inlet," 15c. per case. Japan teas are receiving more attention, there having been a number of transactions during the week, and at the high prices, too. Quotations for new season's currants are to hand. They show a decline of 2s. per cwt. from last year's opening figures. The situation is fairly satisfactory in regard to foreign dried fruits.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods have a rather stronger appearance than a week ago. Most of the wholesalers appear to have withdrawn their quotations on tomatoes and corn for future delivery, feeling that the safer plan is not to book any more orders until something more definite is known in regard to the pack. An odd case of tomatoes of last season's pack is going out at $1.05 per dozen, and a fair trade for this time of the year is being done in canned peas at from 70 to 85c. per dozen, according to quality. Corn for immediate shipment is moving fairly well at 85c. Canned fruits, particularly peaches, are in fair demand, chiefly for shipment to the upper lakes. The market in regard to canned salmon is stronger. A telegram on Tuesday announced that "Maple Leaf" brand had been advanced to $3.75 f.o.b. Coast, a gain of 25c. per case. "Lowe Inlet" was marked up 15c. per doz. Wholesalers have withdrawn their quotations on "Horse Shoe" brand for future delivery, some fear being felt as to whether they will be able to fill orders for what they have already sold of this brand.

COFFEES.

The market continues dull. The market for Brazilian coffee is strong, deliveries in the country of production being light, while Europe is a buyer.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

We hear of some enquiry this week for syrup, but there appears to be none of the desired kind offering by the refiners. The market for New Orleans molasses is steady, but very little business is being done.

SUGARS.

The sugar market is stronger. The Canadian refiners, on Tuesday last, advanced the price of granulated and yellow sugars 1-16c. per lb. and that of cut loaf and powdered 1/8c. per lb. Montreal granulated is now quoted by Toronto wholesalers at 4 9-16c. per lb., and Lower Province granulated at 4 1/2c. per lb. No. 2 Canadian granulated has been withdrawn from the market. The lowest price yellow on the market is now 3 3/4c. per lb. Cut loaf and icing sugars are 1/8c. per lb. dearer, being now quoted at 5 7/8c. per lb. for 100-lb. lots,

*See pages 27 and 28 for
Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

and 6c. for 50-lb. lots. Business in sugars is not, on the whole, brisk, but a fair trade is being done, and it is expected to become better when plums and peaches are more plentiful.

In New York, the market is firm. The refiners appear to be more anxious to buy than they were, and the price of three grades of soft sugars was advanced 1-16c. per lb. on Monday. Importers' stocks are being reduced and supplies in the four ports of the United States are 60,000 tons less than they were a year ago.

Present and next month's beet sugar have advanced 3d. from the lowest point.

SPICES.

White pepper for direct shipment is cabled dearer. There is a stronger feeling in regard to cloves, owing to cable advices announcing that no supplies for shipment are being offered in Zanzibar. Locally, spices are quiet and unchanged.

NUTS.

As high as 100 per cent. above the figures of last year is being quoted for new season's Tarragona almonds. The crop of walnuts is 20 to 40 per cent. smaller than last year, and the outlook is for higher prices. Fliberts are lower than they were a short time ago for new season's crop.

TEAS.

The representatives of shipping-houses have been experiencing a brisk demand for Japan tea during the past week and some large transactions have taken place, buyers having realized they have got to pay the advance if they are to secure the teas. As high as 2 1/2 to 3c. per lb. over last year's prices have been paid by wholesalers, who, a few weeks ago, declared they would rather go without the teas than pay the price. Not enough teas at 17c. and under can be obtained to fill the demand. The market maintains its firmness.

Low and medium grade Ceylon teas are higher in London, where fair quality medium pekoes are somewhat hard to get. Locally, there is very little doing in either Indian or Ceylon teas. Shipments of Ceylon teas to the United Kingdom are about 4,000,000 lb. less than a year ago.

China black teas are small supply, and the demand is almost nil. Suitable green teas are hard to get.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—First quotations for new season's crop of currants are just to hand by cable. They are about 2s. per cwt. lower than last year, grade for grade. A fair business has been done in the way of confidential orders, but, at the moment, importers are inclined to hold off in the hope of seeing still lower prices. The demand from retailers is fairly good.

VALENCIA RAISINS — The demand for selected fruit for this time of the year is good. Prospects for new crop are still good, and advices from Spain say that prices throughout the season will be reasonable, although figures named for the earliest shipment are a little dearer than those of last year.

SULTANA RAISINS—Prices will again be high, probably ruling at about the same as last season, when they were 50 per cent. higher than in the preceding year.

FIGS—The outlook is reported by latest advices to be as bad as it can possibly be. One house that does a large share of the Canadian business states that it would prefer not to undertake the execution of any orders until buyers are thoroughly reconciled to the high values.

GREEN FRUITS.

The season for small fruits is rapidly ending, the drought in the principal fruit districts keeping much of this fruit from ripening. Red and white currants, red and black raspberries and cherries are all done. Lawtonberries are still coming in freely, with prices unchanged. Blueberries are also plentiful at $1.75 to $2 for 24 quart boxes. The earliest variety of peaches are done, but the second variety are now coming in freely and are selling at 40 to 75c. per basket. Canadian apples are arriving in abundance, and, though they are better quality than those arriving before, the price has fallen 10c., now being 15 to 40c. per basket. Canadian pears are commencing to come in well, but are yet quoted at 35 to 50c. Canadian tomatoes fluctuate in value as receipts vary. On Saturday, last week, they ran up to about $1 per basket, but are again down to 40 to 50c. Canadian plums are now coming in in good condition and are selling at 75 to 85c. per basket. California plums are about 50c. cheaper this week, now being quoted $1.50 to $2. California pears and peaches are unchanged in price. Watermelons are plentiful and in good demand, prices continuing about 12 to 18c. The frequently noted scarcity of bananas is not so noticeable at present, supplies increasing materially, lately. The demand is good, and prices are unchanged. The cool weather of the last few days has slackened the demand for lemons, stocks of which, however, are pretty low. Prices are unchanged. Stocks of oranges, too, are pretty low, but, as the quality of those held is poor, the demand is inactive, and sales are light. Quite a number of baskets of canteloupe melons are offered at 50 to 60c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a brisk demand for really first-class dairy tubs, for which prices have improved ½c. Poorer grades are not in good demand, however, and they have declined ½c. Creamery prints and tubs are in good demand, with prices steady. At country points the following f.o.b. prices are quoted: Dairy tubs, 11 to 11½c.; prints, 11½ to 12c.; creamery prints, 16½ to 17c.; tubs and boxes, 15 to 15½c.

CHEESE—The market is dull, for, though as high as 7¾c. has been paid at some cheese boards, it is considered that the condition of the market does not warrant more than 7½c. At Toronto, the jobbing prices are steady at 8 to 8¼c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Receipts continue liberal, and, as the consumption is light, a large number are being put in pickle. Complaints are frequent to the effect that eggs are held too long, resulting in large "loss off." At outside points 9¼ to 9¾c. f.o.b. is about the range. The price of fresh laid is steady at 10½ to 11½c.

POTATOES—Prices are easier, the lowest price last week, 60c. per bushel, now being the only figure quoted.

HONEY—Receipts are large, but as the demand has not yet opened, little business is being done.

VEGETABLES—Green peas are done. Onions and green beans are now offered for sale by the bushel. Corn is 2c. cheaper. We quote: Corn, 8 to 10c. per doz.; cauliflower, 50c. to 75c. per doz.; celery, 40 to 75c. per doz.; onions, seed, 10c. per doz. bunches; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 25 to 40c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 20 to 30c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.50 per bushel; beets, 25c. per peck; carrots, 25c. per peck; onions, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel.

PROVISIONS.

The sale of smoked meats continues large, with prices firm. The demand for long clear is good, but the packers here are rather anxious concerning the demand from lumber camps. It is early yet for orders, but at this time last year numerous enquiries had been received. It is considered that quite a number of lumbermen are awaiting the result of the international conference at Quebec before commencing operations. Lard has quietly eased up in price during the last few weeks, and a decline of ¼c. is now noted.

FISH.

The demand is fair, with receipts of whitefish sufficient for requirements. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to 6½c.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh black bass, 8c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Since our last report, an advance of 3c. in wheat was experienced, but prices have again fallen to the old figures. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 67 to 68c.; white winter, 66 to 67c.; goose, 60 to 61c. The street market is still quiet. Red wheat is from 1 to 1½c. dearer; oats have advanced 3 to 4c.; peas, 7c. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 73c.; red, 72 to 72½c.; goose, 60c.; peas, 58c.; oats, 33c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is quoted at 95c., Sarnia freights.

FLOUR—Prices are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba patents, $5.15 to $5.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.75 to $4.85; Ontario patents, $4.30 to $4.40; straight roller, $3.60 to $3.70, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is little trade being done. Prices are unaltered. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.60; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The feeling regarding cured hides is easier, a decline of ¼c. being noted. We quote: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.; cured, 9½ to 9¾c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—There is an excellent demand for lambskins and shearlings at 45c.

WOOL—The market is dull, with prices unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

SALT.

The quiet season has begun. Prices remain unchanged. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

MARKET NOTES.

Lard is ¼c. cheaper this week.

Good dairy tubs are ½c. dearer, and 2nd. grades ½c. cheaper than last week.

First quotations for new season's currants are to hand. They are 2s. per cwt. lower than last year.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, August 11, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a quiet one in wholesale grocery circles, and there have been but few changes to report. In fact, the only important change of the week has been the rise of 1-16c. in sugar, made by the refiners on Monday last. All other staples rule steady and unchanged. Some Japan tea has been moved, and there have been some contracts in new pack vegetables at firm prices, but, as a rule, packers are not disposed to urge business in these at the moment. Dried fruit rules quiet, and there has been a fair degree of activity in green. In produce, speculative activity in cheese and continued excitement and strength in creamery butter have been the features.

SUGAR.

The refiners have made another advance in the price of refined sugars, which are 1-16 to $\frac{1}{8}$ c. higher than they were a week ago, at 4 7-16c. for granulated, and 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ to 4 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. for yellows, as to grade, other kinds showing proportionate advances as quoted in our prices current. Demand has not been particularly active locally, the turnover being of a very moderate character, and the strength here is more from sympathy with outside markets than any urgency on the part of domestic buyers. In London cane was steady with only light offerings, Java quoted at 11s. 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. and fair refined 10s. 3d., while beet was cabled firm but quiet, present month 9s. 6d., and next month, 9s. 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ d. At New York raw was strong and tending upward, fair refining 3 $\frac{3}{8}$ c., and centrifugal, 96 test, 4 3-16c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market was quiet on account of the continued slow demand. Prices at the refineries are unchanged at 2 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. for sugar-house grade.

MOLASSES.

There is only a dull, dragging trade in molasses with some inquiry for cargo lots, but that has, so far, led to no transfers of any round quantities. Advices from Barbadoes quote the market there quiet and firm because there is little or no molasses to be had. According to report great variation is shown in the quality of the Barbadoes molasses this season, the early drawings being much superior to the later. New Orleans stock has been placed through brokers here at 18 to 20c., but solely on western account none being taken by wholesalers in this Province. In car lots, Barbadoes is held firm at 30c., and single puncheons are quoted at 31c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned vegetable market is still in an unsettled condition, and prices on new pack for future shipment are difficult to quote. Some agents have been quoting again this week, asking 75c. for tomatoes and 70c. for peas, and, it is reported, have booked 5,000 cases at these figures, but representatives of other brands are not urging sales, and speak of still higher prices than the ones mentioned. Reports from the Coast continue bullish on salmon, especially some sensational daily press despatches, but, so far, buyers here manifest no alarm regarding future supplies, and are not in a rush to place their orders.

COFFEE.

There has been nothing special to report in coffee during the week, and values are unchanged, as a rule.

SPICES.

Firmness is noted in pepper abroad, and other lines, as a rule, are steady. Locally, business is very quiet and values unaltered, as quoted in the prices current.

TEAS.

There has been no special activity to report, but jobbers who have had to procure new Japans were compelled to pay the advance for them mentioned last week. Business has included about 1,500 to 2,000 packages Japans, at prices ranging all the way from 13 to 19c., as to grade.

NUTS.

There is nothing doing in nuts on spot, and values are purely nominal.

DRIED FRUIT.

Beyond some speculative offers on currants that are not considered reliable, there has been little to report, and nothing of moment has yet been transacted here for fall importation.

Valencia and California raisins furnish no new feature, and other lines of dried fruits are without points of interest.

DRIED APPLES.

Both dried and evaporated apples are practically motionless at present.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair trade in green fruit during the week. Limited quantities of apples have been arriving, and are selling at $2 to $2.50 per bbl. Small quantities of Canadian peaches have also been offered, and sell readily at 15 to 40c. per basket. Bananas are not as plentiful as they were, and prices are steady as last quoted. Oranges and lemons are without change, but prices are steadily held under light stocks. California fruit of all kinds has been arriving freely, there being from three to four auction sales per week, but demand has kept the market well cleaned up.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fair business was done in eggs, there being a better demand from local buyers for small lots. The tone of the market was steady and prices unchanged. We quote: Selected new laid, 13 to 14c.; No. 1 candled stock, 11 to 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; P.E.L., 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 10c.; and culls at 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 9c. per doz. Receipts were 2,195 cases.

BEANS—There was no change in beans, business being quiet. We quote: Primes, 90 to 95c., and choice, hand-picked at $1 to $1.05 per bushel.

HONEY—Honey is plentiful, for which the demand is limited and prices rule easy. White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 10c.; dark, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 7c.; white extracted, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c.

MAPLE PRODUCT—There was no change in maple product. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., and in tins, 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

A steady trade continues to be done in smoked meats and the market is fairly active and firm. Lard is in fair demand, but pork is still dull. We quote: Canadian pork, \$16 to \$16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. to 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and compound refined at 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; hams, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. to 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and bacon, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

A new feature of the grain market this week has been the offer of new crop oats to arrive at 30 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 31c. afloat. Business in old oats was quiet at 32 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 33c. afloat. Peas exhibited a weaker feeling prices being quoted lower, sellers asking 63 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. afloat, with bids of 63c.

Flour has declined still further on Ontario grades since last report, and Manitoba brands also are lower than they were last quoted. Within the past day or so, however, an improved demand has been experienced, and business has been of much larger volume. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.50; straight rollers, $3.75 to $4; bags, $1.90 to $2; Manitoba patents, $5.10 to $5.20, and strong bakers', $4.75 to $4.90.

There was no change in the feed market. demand is fair for all lines and prices are fully maintained. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $13; shorts, $16 per ton

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The speculators have maintained cheese values on this side of the water, and it has now become a trial of strength between them and the British buyers, and only the future will decide which shall come out on top. All the way from 7 1/2 to 8c. has been paid lately for Ontario cheese at country points, which means 1/4c. more laid down in Montreal, so that the market here has been firm. Colored goods are at a premium of 1/8 to 1/4c. per lb. over white, the latter being held firm here at 7 3/8 to 8c. and the former at 7 1/4c. In eastern makes, values range from 7 3/8 to 7 5/8c., for white, to 7 1/2 to 7 3/4c. for colored, according to grade.

The excitement in butter has continued, and values are very firmly held at an advance of from 1/8 to 1/4c. per lb. on the prices quoted last week. Finest creamery, in tubs, is now being freely bought by experts at 17 1/4c., and, in 56-lb. boxes, at 17 1/2c. Dairy butter ranges from 13 1/2 to 14c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Refiners have marked up the price of sugar 1-16c. per lb. all round.

Butter is still higher, exporters paying 1/4c. advance. This is 3/4c. rise in a fortnight.

Some offers on new pack canned tomatoes and peas have been made recently, resulting in further contracts.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 9, 1898.

THE week has been but fairly active. In values there has been but little change. The one object in buyers seems to be to buy low with little regard to actual value, and often too little regard for quality. They seem to forget that often in their efforts to drive prices down before buying they are killing their chances for favorable selling. While during the past month quite large quantities of lumber have been shipped, particularly to the English market, business in this line is dull, values being low. Last year, the quantity shipped to the States was below the usual shipments. It is much smaller this year. In laths, so far only about one-fourth of last year's quantity has been shipped, and in shingles less than half.

OIL—While in burning oil demand is rather improving, there is no change in price, but market is firmer. A representative of a Montreal house sold some oil here at cut prices, but it has not yet been received, it is said, owing to an advance in that market. Paint oils are very firm, but lubricating, for which the demand is light, is, owing to competition, rather lower, and this in the face of reported advance in crude.

SALT—Our market is still without further arrivals from Liverpool. There is not, however, any shortage in the English coarse or fine. There is a steady demand at even prices, chiefly at this season from fishermen. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—The week has shown little of interest. Packers still withhold quotations on corn and tomatoes. Spot goods are, however, ruling lower in these

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apricots and Cherries, arriving twice a week per fast express. Domestic Fruit of every description arriving with every train.

lines as the season for new approaches. Some of our dealers have already bought fair stocks, but none seem anxious. While at a price new goods could be sold, our dealers are not yet prepared to pay high figures. In salmon, there is some enquiry for new goods, and perhaps a few sales made, but, as before reported, owing to stocks held and but fair business, the quantity of new goods to be placed does not promise to be large. Some packers have withdrawn prices, and rather higher values are expected; at least, they wish to know much more about the result of the packing season before selling many goods. Prices, at best, rule well above those of last season. In canned oysters, sale of which here is not large, Baltimore packers report light stocks and higher prices in the near future. Peaches are quoted rather higher.

GREEN FRUITS—Trade continues large. Apples are fair receipts and have good sale. Oranges, which at this season do not stand well, are light sellers, this is in fact the off season. Lemons rather lower and moving freely. Georgian peaches, which were a splendid stock, are about done. Californian have a good sale, but pears are the favorite and are quoted quite low; quality at this season good. Plums are but a fair sale at even prices. Delaware grapes are now arriving quite freely. Melons about out of the market. Bananas, large sale, but no change in price. Raspberries arrive but in limited quantities, shippers getting better prices elsewhere. Blueberries have a fair sale, American duty does not seem to effect shipments, owing, it is said, to light crops on the other side. Reports from Nova Scotia regarding apples are, on the whole, quite favorable; also plums will be a good crop.

DRIED FRUIT—This is still the dull line. Very few lines of new goods yet quoted. Spot goods are easy in tone. Raisins, it is thought, will show little change in values from last year. Loose muscatels, Californian, it is expected, will rule more steady and not go into the air as they did last fall. New figs will cost well above last year's prices. More American citron than usual will be used here, its introduction last season proving successful. Seeded raisins will also be a more staple article. New evaporated apples will find a bare market, and at fair prices a ready sale. This year the cheap apricots will not be here to take their place, and prunes will rule higher than last season.

SUGARS—While the recent importation of bag sugar has given fair satisfaction (it consisted chiefly of granulated, second grade) it is doubtful if it is largely followed up. Not only is our local refinery inclined to meet prices, but the length of time between purchase and delivery is a great drawback, particularly as sugar values change so quickly. The bag is a very unpopular package. Sales of sugar have been quite large, market, if showing any change, inclines easy.

MOLASSES—Market continues dull. The small cargo of Porto Rico spoken of some time ago was not all sold, part being put in warehouse. It is not that stocks are large, as they are quite small for this season, neither was the price asked particularly high, but country demand at present is light. Holder felt confident he would later get his price, if not more money, and would not accept offers made. Barbadoes keep low, and shows quite a range in quality.

PRODUCE—Eggs are light receipts and higher prices are asked. There is, however, no active sale. Shippers with a reputation for good quality have great advantage at this season. Butter moves more freely, but stocks are larger and values keep very low. While creamery butter would, of course, have a preference, there is no chance to get high prices. Cheese do not improve in value, competition between factories keeping prices low. There is fair sale.

FISH—This has been one of the dull lines. Usually, with fish as scarce as they are, values would be much higher. This is particularly true of dry cod fish. The war gets the blame, the Spanish West Indies being in the past one of our best buyers. Should the present American tariff rule there it would be a great misfortune for our fishermen. We mark dry codfish up and expect them to remain high. In pollock, demand is very light. Pickled herring, while showing rather better movement, are still dull. Smoked, low. In pickled shad we quote spring and fall caught separately owing to the latter being much the best quality. A few fresh shad are still offered. Salmon are done. Halibut, light receipts. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.55 to $3.60; medium, $3.50 to $3.55; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.40 to $1.50 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3 to 4½c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 10 to 15c., ½-bbl.; shad, $4 to $5.

PROVISIONS—Barreled meats have still but limited sale, and values are rather lower. Smoked meats at this season are quiet, but full prices are asked. Lard rules quite low and has fair sale.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, values continue to drop off. Business is very dull, particularly Manitoba, of which there is still quite a stock held, showing considerable loss. Our dealers steer clear of new wheat flour. Feed has light sale and is hard to get, chiefly coming in mixed cars. Oatmeal does not more than hold its price, and there but fair business. Oats, which showed somewhat of an advance, are again lower. Cornmeal, which continues to sell freely, holds its price. Hay, which is a good crop, is very dull, a great deal of last season's cut being carried over. Beans are quiet at even figures. Barley is scarce and high, with limited sale. Split peas are very scarce. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.65; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.70; medium, $4.25 to $4.45; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.20; middlings, $2.00 to $2.10; bran, $1.70 to $1.80; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8¾c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

F. S. Hutchinson, representing Ganong Bros., called on the trade this week.

The effort to establish a new pork-packing factory on a large scale here, spoken of some weeks ago, has been abandoned for the present.

THE GROCER is pleased to again see at their desks the following wholesale grocers who during the past few weeks have been taking their holidays: C. H. Peters, W. Frank Hatheway, and C. H. Dearborn.

Halifax has reaped more benefit from the war than perhaps any Canadian city, although not all the blockade runners from there succeeded in landing cargoes. A steamer for Cuba is expected to leave this week.

It is the intention of the St. John Board of Trade to send to the present American-Canadian conference a memorial regarding the readjustment of the American duties on dried fish, lumber, plaster and other raw products of this Province.

Close season for lobsters is being strictly enforced. Many traps have been destroyed, and many lobsters taken from boats returned to the water. The Government is determined to put a stop to illegal fishing. This is found to be very necessary from the decrease in size, as well as quantity taken from year to year.

TRADE CHAT.

Geo. M. Smith, grocer and hardware dealer, Cornwall, Ont., has built an addition, 18 x 55 feet to his store. It will be two storeys high. Mr. Smith has now a plate glass frontage of 44 feet.

The Nova Scotia creameries, at this time of year, can make more butter than the market consumes for immediate use, though, taking the year through, Halifax imports more than half its butter from the west.—Halifax Herald.

Over 30,000 boxes of strawberries were raised this season by four companies, on the Kennebecasis and Main Rivers, New Brunswick. Most of them were shipped to Boston, U.S., where 10 to 14c. per box was obtained. Shipping expenses amounted to from 4 to 6c. per box.

Mr. Graham, of Belleville, Ont., is starting an evaporating factory at Stratford, Ont., with a capacity of 700 bushels per day. He will employ 60 to 80 hands. He is also negotiating with Chatham and with Wallaceburg councils to start a factory in either of these towns.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Celebrated Owl No. 100

THIS is the proportion of its growth in two seasons, and it is not at all surprising when you consider the quality and style of this fine Japan tea.

THE BEST EVER OFFERED FOR THE MONEY . . .

We are now delivering 500 half-chests which have just come in. We will give each one of our customers part of his order now, and will keep on doing so as other lots come in until all are completed.

Those who have followed our advice and bought early are now rejoicing, because they have this choice tea at the same price as last year, though it is worth at least two cents per pound more.

We are pleased to have given our friends a great bargain, and we have already had proofs that it has been appreciated.

We have, as usual, in stock the Beaver Brand A 1 and other numbers, the choicest and earliest Japan May pickings.

The Bee Brand Ceylon Tea in sack packets, the best sold.

Also the Maharajah Blends No. 1 and No. 2, the sale of which is fast increasing, showing that the quality pleases.

Rely on us to give you the best values on all teas.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

H. P. ECKARDT & CO. report that their sales for Heinz's beans, pickles, etc., are increasing every month.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering Sultana raisins at low prices.

New lemon and orange peel is in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

Clark's Geneva sausage is in stock with H. P. Eckardt & Co.

T. Kinnear & Co. have received a shipment of currants in cases and half-cases.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, offer new Sultana raisins, 3-crown, at close prices.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, is offering sliced and grated pineapples in 2-lb. tins.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have some fine cod-fish in quintals that they are offering at a low price.

Another shipment of Gillard's new pickle and new sauce just to hand with W. H. Gillard & Co.

California prunes, 80-90's, and 90-100's, 50-lb. boxes, are in store with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

It pays dealers to sell goods that are well advertised, when backed up by quality, like "Enameline."

Clark's mackerel, "Sea Cow Head" brand, new pack, is in store with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

New pack Canadian kippered herring and haddies, ovals, are selling well with The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

The travelers of Boeckh Bros. & Company have started on their fall trip with a complete line of brushes, brooms and woodenware.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, is showing some fine olives, selected and mammoth, special pack now in stock.

L. M. & Co.'s rock lobsters, flat tins 1's and ½'s are scarce goods, of excellent quality, and are meeting with quick sale with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

A shipment of "Empire" Ceylon tea, direct from Colombo, is arriving with Lucas, Steele & Bristol; packages, 1 and ½ lb.; 10 and 20-lb. caddies; also chests; quality extra.

The Fairbanks Co., Montreal, is now showing a new line of butchers' scales, and THE CANADIAN GROCER understands that the demand therefor is at present in excess of the supply. All orders will, however, be filled as rapidly as possible in the order of their receipt. This scale is used extensively throughout the United States.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, have to hand this week shipments of Crosse & Blackwell and E. & C. Morton goods.

Full stocks of rice, comprising Arracana, Java, Bassein, "Grand Duke" and "Mandarin" Japan, fancy and polished Patna, are in store with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

In canned meats, The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, offer some specially desirable lines, among which are New Zealand compressed mutton, preserved rabbit and sheeps' tongues; Beardsley's sliced smoked beef, Cudahy's "Rex" brand Vienna sausage, besides a full stock of Clark's and Armour's meats, all at rock bottom prices.

The increasing demand for "White Moss" cocoanut has been the cause of a material improvement in the plant of the Canadian Cocoanut Co. Several new pans have recently been put in, thereby almost doubling the output of the works, and THE CANADIAN GROCER is informed that even with this addition it is impossible to keep up with the orders. The company's product goes to all sections of the Dominion, the Klondyke not excepted, and this fact alone is ample proof of its many estimable qualities.

Mr. C. P. Fabien, manufacturer of Aubin's refrigerator, reports an increase of over fifty per cent. in their business the last year, and the prospects are that another year will double it. They had two of their refrigerators at the Winnipeg exhibition, and their agents, Buchanan & Gordon, have written them that those they have sold are giving first-class satisfaction, and they have already had several enquiries for another season; in fact, they write that they expect their Northwest trade will keep them busy another year. Aubin's refrigerators now have a national reputation and are being used from Halifax to Vancouver. Mr. Fabien said that THE CANADIAN GROCER was the only trade paper that had brought him any business.

MR. MARCEAU RETURNS.

Mr. E. D. Marceau, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., recently returned from a very enjoyable trip across the water. He, together with some friends, visited the extensive docks at Liverpool, the ancient city of Chester, and Hawarden Castle, the residence of the late Hon. Mr. Gladstone. London and Paris were each stopped at and the many places of interest there visited. Dublin was also touched at, and it was with regret that the return journey was commenced. The trip was purely one of pleasure, and Mr. Marceau had nothing whatever to say about business impressions.

A GROWING BUSINESS.

The Silverine Manufacturing Co. is a good example of what pluck and business ability can accomplish. In October last, the company began manufacturing the "Silverine" stove polish, and it met with such a ready sale that it was decided to add several other lines to the list, viz., inks, harness polish and metalline. After putting the goods on the Quebec market it was decided to try for the rest of the Dominion, and it now has regular agents in Vancouver and Nelson, B.C., Winnipeg, Toronto, Quebec, St. John, N.B., and St. John's Nfld., and already the amount of orders received warrants the ultimate success of the undertaking, an order last week having been received from Newfoundland for 70 gross of "Silverine", and an order for 50 gross of inks from the west. The company has decided that the best way to build up trade is to give customers the benefit of low prices and good goods.

TRAFFIC AT PARRY SOUND.

A Parry Sound despatch states that since navigation opened, April 19, up to June 30, some 43 vessels arrived in that port, from United States ports, loaded to the gunnel with corn, wheat and other freight for distant points, while 37 vessels have arrived from Canadian ports. The total registered tonnage for all these boats was 76,298 tons, which shows the extent and capacity of these vessels. All of the boats have gone from here fully loaded with package freight for American and Canadian ports. It has taken 5,000 cars to deliver the freight which these boats have carried away, and yet this trade is only in its infancy, the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound railway being a comparatively new road.

HOME-MADE FIRE GRENADES.

It is always desirable to be prepared for an emergency such as an outbreak of fire, and the hand fire grenade often comes in timely, says an exchange. A form of hand grenade can easily be made at a very little cost. If 20 lb. of common salt and 10 lb. of sal-ammoniac are dissolved in 7 gals. of water, and the mixture afterwards put into quart bottles of thin glass, the grenades so made will be found very efficient for extinguishing small outbreaks of fire. The bottles should be tightly corked and sealed so as to prevent evaporation, and when a fire occurs they must be thrown in or near the flames so as to break, and thus liberate the gas contained, to effect the desired object.

A DREAMING MATCH.

AMONG the famous Indian traders of the past, says an exchange, was George Galphin, whose trading-station at Silver Bluff, South Carolina, was frequented by Indians from far and near. In Bench and Bar of South Carolina, a characteristic anecdote is related of Mr. Galphin and an Indian chief.

Chief Mogoloch from beyond the Savannah river spent the night at Mr. Galphin's. In the morning the Indian said: "Me dream last night."

"Ah!" said Galphin, "what did my red brother dream?"

"Me dream you give me fine big rifle"—in Galphin's possession at the time.

The trader instantly passed the rifle to the chief, saying "If you dreamed it, you must have it."

Next morning Galphin said to the chief, "I dreamed last night."

"What you dream?" asked Mogoloch.

"I dreamed you gave me the Chickasaw stallion"—which the chief was then riding.

"If you dream um, you must have um," said the chief, and the horse was straightway transferred to the trader.

The next morning, the Indian remarked: "I dream last night."

"What did my red brother dream?" was the enquiry.

"I dream," answered Mogoloch, "you gave me red coat you wear, and much calico."

"If you dreamed it you must have it," said Galphin, and the Indian received the red coat and calico.

Next morning it was Galphin's turn. He said to the chief, "I dreamed last night."

"What you dream?" was Mogoloch's enquiry.

"I dreamed," replied Galphin, "you gave me ten miles of land around the Ogeechee old town."

"Wugh!" said the Indian; "if you dream, you must have um, but I dream with you no more."

Lose this day loitering—'twill be the same story
To-morrow—and the next more dilatory;
Then indecision brings its own delays,
And days are lost lamenting o'er lost days.

—Goethe.

AND YET ANOTHER PRODIGAL RETURNED.

The SALADA Ceylon Tea Co.

Gentlemen,—In answer to your enquiry as to how it is that I have not ordered lately—the reason is plain, I purchased rather heavily of another packet tea, in order to get my waggon painted and my awning repaired, this being done for me "gratis," on a certain size order. Well, they painted the waggon and fixed up the awning as agreed, and they have also "stuck" me with a lot of tea that I can't sell at any price, so that I am going to be the loser by the transaction anyhow, and it will teach me a lesson for the future.

Send on a small case of the Blue and Green labels assorted.

TRADE AND MINING ACTIVITY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

IF anyone supposed that the activity in the Klondyke in 1897 was likely to have an unfavorable effect upon the mining industry of British Columbia, he would be quickly undeceived by reading the report of the British Columbia Board of Trade, published at length recently. The report, which is a comprehensive exposition of facts bearing on the development of British Columbia's commercial and industrial properties, shows that, with few exceptions, substantial progress has been made in all branches of industry. The report sets forth that the exports from Victoria for the year ending June 30, 1898, were $1,640,250, against $2,480,391 in 1897, and imports were $3,360,164, against $2,754,079 in the preceding year. The exports from Nanaimo in 1898 were valued at $2,679,024, against $2,609,097 in 1897, while the imports were $239,707, against $200,294 in 1897.

Taking up the matter of mining in the Province, it is shown that, notwithstanding the excitement incident to the Klondyke discoveries, mining in British Columbia was not neglected, the mineral output for 1897 exceeding that of the previous year by 40 per cent., as shown by the following table prepared by the provincial mineralogist:

	Amount.	Increase, per cent.
1890	$2,908,803	..
1891	3,521,102	35
1892	2,978,530	...
1893	3,588,413	21
1894	4,225,717	18
1895	5,643,042	35
1896	7,507,956	34
1897	10,455,268	40

Although it was expected that the salmon pack of 1897 would be large, the total pack of 1,015,577 cases, an increase of 58 per cent. over and above the previous highest record, exceeded the hopes of the most sanguine.

Oysters and lobsters brought from the east and planted in the waters of British Columbia for experimental purposes promise well. Halibut and sturgeon fishing continues on a small scale, but, until reciprocal trade with the United States is arranged, no great expansion of these industries is looked for. It is stated that the sealing industry continues to suffer from the restrictions placed upon it by the Behring sea arbitration of 1894, in which year the catch amounted to 97,574 seals, while last season's was only 30,410 seals.

Agriculture in British Columbia, according to the report, never appeared more favorably than at the present time. Good crops and the increased demand of the past two years have been instrumental in restoring confidence among the farmers. In 1897 the harvest was especially good, and, in consequence of the mining activity and the Yukon movement, good prices for all products were obtainable. The acreage this year has been considerably increased, and, the weather having been propitious, a good crop is promised.

Yukon trade requirements have had a salutary effect on all branches of industry in the Province, being reflected to a considerable extent in the increased activity at the shipyards and iron works. With the completion, in September next, of the Crow's Nest railway, from Lethbridge to Kootenay, a distance of 300 miles, considerable impetus will be given to the mining and other industries which are now retarded for want of improved transportation facilities. Surveys for other lines of railways have been completed or are contemplated. Dealing with trade and the outlook, therefore, it is asserted that increasing interest in and knowledge of British Columbia has resulted in unmistakable expressions of confidence. The opening of many branches of eastern Canadian banks, the extension of telegraph lines, and the regard in which the provincial securities and municipal debentures are held by the investing public, are all examples of the foregoing. Furthermore, the reports holds that the Province offers numerous and varied opportunities for profitable investment, requiring only investigation by competent persons to satisfy capitalists that there is in the Province a rich and paying field for the employment of surplus money. British Columbia's contribution to the Dominion of Canada treasury is stated as amounting to over $2,000,000 per annum, which compares favorably with the proportions contributed by the other Provinces, while the expenditures fall far short of this sum.—Bradstreets, New York.

A NEW NUT.

A few days ago we received sample of Cashew kernels, a new nut of exceedingly pleasant flavor. It comes from India, and is used both for dessert and confectionery purposes. The nut is a season's fruit, and can only be obtained at certain seasons of the year, viz: November to May.

The nut has found favor with the English consumers, as all imports up-to-date are sold to arrive, and orders have to be booked now for delivery next November and December. In a letter from the exporters, they say these nuts are taking the place of almonds by many of the best English confectioners.

Muir & Co., 1 St. Helen street, are the Montreal agents, and have already placed a large order with one of the leading confectioners of Montreal.

The price is much lower than almonds, and, with its high flavor, ought to be a favorite with high-class confectioners.

FAILURES AND FAILURES.

BY THE STROLLER.

SOMETIMES a retail merchant will fail and go to pieces from causes which he could not overcome. Often, some dealers in the same line with twice the capital and three times the native business ability will open a place near him and simply snow him under.

The snowed-under dealer couldn't help it. He might have tried honestly, and done the best he could. You take two men, one naturally strong enough to lift 200 pounds, and the other only able to lift 150. The first fellow will beat the other at lifting contests every time. There is such a thing, you know, as butting your head against a stone wall, and the harder you butt the sorer your head gets.

But there are other dealers who fail because of their own fault. They are lazy, or they think "things will come out all right," or something like that, and they don't hustle. They're not the sort of men who lie awake at nights scheming to get ahead of a competitor. I tell you, those fellows that scheme may get less sleep, but they will get more dollars.

I verily believe that at least 75 per cent. of the failures, especially in the grocery business, are caused by the bad business methods of the failers. You take these failures and look at them carefully. Ten chances to one you'll find mismanagement at the bottom, and I don't mean the mismanagement that comes from honest incompetency, but from pure shiftlessness.

Take a case that last week fell under my own personal eye. An old friend of my father's, in the grocery business for 25 years, failed about a month ago. He is an old man, over 60, and the blow came hard. With one or two other friends of the family I have been assisting in the settlement of his affairs. I didn't tell the old man so, but he might have been in business yet, if he had run things a little differently.

Still, I don't know whether he was altogether to blame. Things he might have done to help his business probably didn't occur to him. There are men who have ingenuity and those who have none. The men who have none should hardly be blamed for not doing things that would have occurred to the men who have.

One of the things that fell to my lot was the making of a partial inventory of the stock. And a great old stock it was, too. It was like its owner—behind the times. That stock was a melancholy illustration of the truth of the business adage that one of the foundations of a successful business is never to let old stock accumulate. Get rid of it somehow; at a loss if you must, only get rid of it. Fifty cents in cash is three times better than a dollar in dead stock.

Well, there were piles of these old, forgotten brands of things. Soap—I'll bet he had twenty-five old soaps that have long ago fallen by the wayside. And they were bought before the days of cutting and cheap soaps, and competition, so they represented a good sum of money. The old man couldn't buy the new brands, because it took money, and to get money he had to sell his old ones, which nobody wanted. It never occurred to him to hold bargain sales of soaps, so they stayed on his shelves. When people came in for some of the modern, newly-advertised soaps, he didn't have them, and they didn't want the old favorites, so he didn't sell any.

What applies to soap applies to other things. He had a great pile of old stuff that would probably have brought a tenth of its value—maybe a half of it if he had sold it at a bargain to close out. But he couldn't have done this without losing money on it, and in the old school of business to lose on anything was the unpardonable sin.

If only the manufacturers had stopped advertising their new brands this old grocer's stock would have been all right. But they kept on, and gradually the old things fell to the background, and the new took their places. And so the dealer who had the old things, but not the new ones, went to the background, too.

I suppose, in a way, this business was a very good type of the average country business, its methods, and, in some cases, its stock. I looked over this old grocer's books—such as he had. He had no more of a bookkeeping system than a cat. Some accounts would run along for weeks and weeks. The old man told me he very seldom asked anybody to pay up. Just so long as enough ready money came in to run the business, that was all he asked. If you had asked that old-school dealer if he had ever sent out statements, he would have laughed at your ignorance, and chucklingly explained that in a country business it wasn't necessary.

The condition of his books showed whether it was necessary or not. As I said a while ago, the grocer had been in the grocery business about 25 years, and his books showed uncollected money amounting to a trifle over $4,000. That is only $160 a year, it is true, but it got up to $4,000, all the same. Suppose all of that had been collected as it fell due, and put away; would that poor grocer be penniless and on his uppers to-day? No, indeed?

This is one of the failures that was unnecessary. If that old grocer had simply looked after two points—if he had cleared out that dead stock, which he could easily have done, at a price, and if he had looked after his collections a little better—he would probably have been independent now, coming gradually down to a green old age protected and comfortable.

Instead, what is he? A penniless, unwelcome pensioner upon the grudging bounty of a step-daughter.—Grocery World.

CHAT WITH A CHILLIWACK MAN.

MR. W. A. ROSE, one of Chilliwack's general merchants, has been spending a few days in Toronto on business and pleasure bent. Mr. Rose went to British Columbia 13 years ago, and this is his first visit to the east since he turned his prow westward.

"Trade," he said, in reply to a question, "is good, and we are looking for a nice business in the fall. The grain and fruit crops are excellent. We do not grow a great deal of wheat. Oats is our chief grain product."

"Your's is a good fruit growing district, is it not?"

"It is; there is none in the world to surpass it," proudly replied Mr. Rose. Then, in a tone expressing of regret, he added: "But you see our market for fruit is so small. We experimented in sending plums to the Northwest Territories, but the results were so unsatisfactory that shipments will not be continued."

"If railway communication with the Kootenay country could be secured it would be a good thing for Chilliwack and district, would it not?"

"Oh, yes. And we hope some day to have that communication. The proposed Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern railway would pass through Chilliwack and give us access to the Coast and the Kootenay country. Some surveying has been done in the neighborhood of Chilliwack, and when I left the surveyors were reported to be at work near Robson. But railway projects, you know, are uncertain."

"No mining operations are being carried on near Chilliwack, are there?" I ventured.

"Well, not in the immediate vicinity. An American syndicate is doing some mining in the Mount Baker district, and some nice specimens of gold-bearing ore are being shown, but I do not know anything as to the real value of the mines. When I left there was a little excitement at Chilliwack on account of there being some talk of a road being built by the syndicate to Mount Baker."

"Would you advise young men to go to British Columbia?"

"No, not if they are going to look for situations. It is already overdone. No one should go out there just now unless he has money."

Mr. Ross could give no information as to the salmon run. It was about two weeks since he left home, and then the fish were beginning to hover around the Gulf. But the question I asked regarding salmon set him descending upon the wealth which the Frazer river yielded. "It is enormous," he declared with vigor. "Look at the salmon that are caught there; and the sturgeons. Why, I have seen sturgeons caught there weighing eight and nine hundred pounds each! Some have been hooked there which turned eleven hundred pounds. The chief market for these fish is New York, where they are sent in a frozen state."

TRADE CHAT.

COWS in the neighborhood of Gananoque are not milking half what they did in June, owing to poor pasturage. This is more or less true of nearly all Ontario.

Over sixty stores and office buildings were recently burned in Bismarck, North Dakota, U.S.A.

The dry goods clerks of Nanaimo, B.C., recently beat the grocery clerks of that town at baseball, 14 to 9.

The Warwick Union cheese factory, near Sarnia, Ont., has been compelled to close down owing to the drought.

A farmer, near Cookstown, Ont., threshed 36 bushels of alsike clover this season from seven acres, all of excellent quality.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, with some of the officials of the I.C.R., was in St. John, N.B., last week to choose the site for the new grain elevator to be erected there.

Wm. Hand, of Port Dalhousie, caught 4,600 lb. of fish from the steam tug Nellie Bly. Among them was a 10-lb. sea salmon, the largest ever caught in Lake Ontario.

The Wiarton, Ont., Canadian says that yields of 35 bushels of wheat to the acre are numerous in that vicinity. A good deal of it has been marketed, and brought 63 to 67c. per bushel.

The Woodstock, N.B., canning factory has canned over 50 tons of peas already. It has put in a new machine for filling the vegetables into the cans, which considerably improves the facilities of the factory for canning.

In reply to enquiries from Niagara district fruit growers, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has stated its intention of taking charge of shipments to Great Britain of peaches, pears and grapes this season. It will not forward apples, however, stating that the growers could best serve their own interests by making direct and independent shipments.

DECLINE IN CANNED BEEF.

Another decline is to be noted in the price of canned corned beef.

It will be remembered that early in May last the price appreciated enormously on account of the demand for canned meats for rations for the United States soldiers. Now, however, the market is assuming more normal conditions, and quotations on both sides of the line are being reduced.

This week, the Canadian manufacturers have reduced their prices 15c. per dozen on 1-lb. tins, 25c. per dozen on 2-lb. tins, and $2 per dozen on 14-lb. tins, and wholesalers quotations are now as follows: 1-lb. tins, $1.40 to $1.50; 2-lb. tins, $2.50 to $2.60; 14-lb. tins, $17.50.

Mr. Fred. Dixon, of The Davidson & Hay, Limited, is holidaying.

Mr. Harvey Kinnear has returned from a trip to Great Britain and France.

Mr. John Magor, of Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, was in Toronto on Tuesday.

P. C. Larkin, of Salada Ceylon tea, Toronto, was among the visitors at THE GROCER office, in Montreal, this week. He has been to the seaside with his family.

Mr. J. W. Waddell, representing A. Waddell & Co., Toronto, was a visitor at the London, Eng., office of THE CANADIAN GROCER on July 26. He had a pleasant six weeks in Ireland and Scotland before visiting London, and had acquired quite an Irish accent during his stay in Dublin. He expects to be in London and neighborhood for several weeks.

THE WORLD'S EXPORT TRADE.

A translation of an article in The Antwerp Journal of Maritime Interests gives figures of the export trade of leading nations of the world for 1896, as compared with 1872, 000's omitted, as follows:

Countries.	Amount of Exports.			Rel. Rank.
	1872.	1896.	Increase.	1876.	1896.
England.....	$1,235,200	$1,422,000	$307,475	1	1
United States...	439,583	1,050,692	620,103	4	2
Germany.....	559,700	994,156	334,456	3	3
France.....	728,066	656,363	*69,673	2	4
Russia.....	270,586	513,908	261,222	5	5
Austria-Hungary	250,900	363,016	118,116	6	6
Belgium.....	193,000	283,324	93,324	7	7

* Decrease.

"The most remarkable feature of this statement," says Consul Morris, of Ghent, "is the decrease in the trade of France, which has fallen from second to fourth place. The trade of the United States, on the contrary, increased more rapidly than that of any other country, or nearly 150 per cent. in the 25 years. Besides the countries mentioned, Japan, Australia and the East Indies have, in greater or less degree, increased their exports. France alone sees its trade gradually declining in the volume of the world's commerce."

IT WAS A CLIFF-WARDLAW.

In the last issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER there was an item regarding the erection of an acetylene gas plant at the Algonquin hotel, Stanley Island, St. Lawrence river. It should have been explained that the machine was one of the Cliff-Wardlaw generators, made by the Safety Light & Heat Co., Dundas, Ont., and that Mr. Cliff superintended the construction and installation of the same. This explanation is made in justice to the Safety Light & Heat Co.

THE WHOLESALERS' DISCOUNTS.

SOME ten years ago, it will be remembered, the wholesale grocery trade decided upon shorter terms of credit. Those terms were: On 90-day goods, 3 per cent. off if paid in 10 days; on 30-day goods, 1 per cent. off if paid in 10 days, after which (if paid before due date) interest at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum for unexpired time, and if not paid when due interest to be charged at the regular rate for all overdue time.

For some time these terms were practically a dead letter, but recently the wholesalers have again put them into operation. As a result thereof umbrage has been taken by some in the trade.

It is to be regretted that this is so. Any legitimate movement on either the part of the wholesaler or the retailer, towards shorter terms of credit, tends to the benefit of all concerned.

The discounts offered are by no means illiberal. Take, for example, the 30-day goods. The discount on these is 1 per cent. if paid in ten days. This means that the merchant pays $99 instead of $100, the saving being $1, while, if for the twenty days he allows the $100 to lay in the bank and draw the usual rate of interest on the same, the earning power would be less than one-fifth of a dollar.

This looks small, but, if the purchase was repeated every twenty days, and the discounts taken at every purchase, over $14 would be saved as the result of the year's transactions, to say nothing of the profit on the goods.

Obviously, it pays the merchant to take his discounts, even if he has to go to the bank and borrow money in order to do so.

Your ability may be small, but industry will magnify rather than reduce it.

IT SHOULD BE STOPPED.

THE Conservative press is busily leveling charges against the Government officials in the Yukon, while the Liberal press is just as busily shielding these officials. And both are overdoing it.

Some of the officials up there are no doubt staking out claims for themselves and dreaming of the stocks of nuggets they will carry back to civilization, and of the wealth and affluence that will, during the balance of their lives, be theirs.

Government officials, like men who have less favored positions, are, no doubt, susceptible to the influence of gold; but it does not seem wise or prudent that they should be allowed, while they are Government officials, to gratify their desires.

These officials are in the Yukon to guard the interests of the Government and to protect the rights of the people in that part of the country. If they are interested in mining lands it is quite possible there will be a clashing of interests that will prevent justice being done. The possibility of the clashing of these interests should not be permitted, and the proper thing for the Government to do is to strictly prohibit Government officials from taking up gold lands. If it does not, there will be trouble for itself, to say nothing of the odium which may be cast upon the country.

If you have good goods do not put them under the bushel of obscurity, but show them to the public by the searchlight of the advertisement.

TRADING STAMPS.

A SUBSCRIBER asks for an opinion from THE CANADIAN GROCER regarding trading stamps. It complies with pleasure.

The opinion of this journal is not favorable to the trading stamps.

In the first place, the trading stamp scheme is contrary to the principles of business commonsense.

The proper way to build up a business is to keep good goods and to conduct the store in an efficient manner. Where the trading stamp is the tendency is to lose sight of true business conduct. New customers are attracted to the store, not because of the quality of the goods on the shelves or the ability of the merchant: They come to get trading stamps. And if the merchant hopes to keep these customers he must continue to give trading stamps or some other equivalent. This, in itself, should be sufficient to condemn the practice.

Another charge against the trading stamp is that it tends to an exaggerated idea as to the profits of the average merchant. Customers who secure trading stamps, coupons, street car tickets, or other similar devices, can come to no other conclusion if they give the matter thought.

Every coupon given out means a reduction in the price of the goods which the customer has bought. "Now, then," ruminates the customer, "I have been buying this article from Jones for a long time, but I have never paid less than I am now paying, but I received no rebate, either in the shape of a coupon or discount. Catch me paying as high price again. If he does not give me trading stamps he has got to give me something."

Then, the collateral which goes to the customer from the trading stamps, coupons, street car tickets, and other such schemes, comes from the pocket of the merchant. The merchant who gives trading stamps is practically acting as salesman of the products of the promoters of the scheme, while he is at the same time paying for them.

In several of the States across the border trading stamps have been made illegal by the Legislature.

A business that is not watched is likely to get around the corner and away.

SITUATION IN CANNED VEGETABLES AND SALMON

THE canned goods situation is becoming more interesting, because of its increasing strength.

Canned tomatoes are undoubtedly stronger than they were a week ago. The drouth is seriously interfering with the development of the tomato vines and their fruit, while, from enquiries made by THE CANADIAN GROCER of the growers, disease is attacking the latter. This disease comes in the form of dark spots on the tomato which gradually spread both internally and externally until the fruit is destroyed.

Many of the canners who booked orders freely are now alarmed, lest they will be unable to fill their contracts. No factory, as far as can be learned, will sell tomatoes under 75c., others will not accept less than 80c. per dozen, while others still will not quote at all.

Wholesalers have become alike, indifferent, as a rule. Some of them do not appear to want to book any more orders, and they are, as a rule, asking enormous prices compared with those which ruled three or four weeks ago. One house, on Tuesday, notified its travelers to accept not less than 90c. Some are asking 85c., and others 80c. But those who are willing to book orders at 80c. declare that they will only do so for limited quantities. It is the opinion of some that wholesalers who are demanding the maximum figures are those who have oversold, and wholesalers who are quoting minimum figures are those who have not purchased their usual supply. Be that as it may, some of the wholesalers who have oversold have lately been paying 5c. per doz. above the prices at which they agreed to sell the retailer, in order that they might fill their contracts. The price of canned tomatoes for future delivery is now 15 to 20c. above opening figures of a few weeks ago.

Some are now prophesying that by October packers' prices for tomatoes will be 90c. per dozen. And in view of the present crop conditions, together with the fact that the new pack will come upon a practically bare market, the prospects favor rather than otherwise this prophecy.

But, it must be remembered, there is yet the late crop of tomatoes to be reckoned with. Growers inform us that if rain is not withheld, and frost does not make its appearance, it is possible that the late crop may be a good one. If it is, it will, of course, relieve matters; but, in any event, those who bought early, provided their contracts are filled, are not likely to stand in need of any sympathy.

Corn is in the same position, as far as drouth is concerned, and the outlook is for a light yield, although, according to the crop report issued a few days ago by the Ontario Government, there promises to be a fair yield in the counties bordering on Lake Erie. The factories which are quoting corn are this week asking 70c. as a rule, while the wholesalers are quoting 70, 75 and even 85c.

The Ontario Government crop report, in referring to beans, says: "The crop was more or less affected by drouth and frost, but, despite these drawbacks, it will be almost up to the average for yield." From what THE CANADIAN GROCER can gather, the crop in the neighborhood of at least some of the factories is badly shrivelled up. One factory east of Toronto expects to be 2,000 cases short of its estimate. It is thought that the pack from the whole of Ontario will be about one-third short, and feeling is bullish in consequence. Wholesalers are quoting prices at from 70 to 75c. for future delivery.

Peas, of course, have been packed, and there does not appear to be any question as to its being smaller than last year. Sifted canned peas are already scarce, and efforts to buy some from the packers have failed. As in tomatoes and corn, there is this week a wide range in quotations on peas, 70, 75 and even 85c. per dozen being asked by different wholesale houses.

Canned salmon is decidedly stronger than it was a week ago. Latest advices from the Coast stated that it was improbable that the pack on the Fraser river would be even within 50 per cent. of that of last year. There is, however, some compensation in the fact that the pack on the Skeena river is about double that of last year, and that the pack on all the northern rivers shows a material increase over that of 1897. But, it must be remembered that none of the rivers in the north are like unto the Fraser, the pack on the latter last season being about 80 per cent. of the whole. The pack on the Skeena last year was nearly 66,000 cases, but, in 1896, it was over 100,000 cases.

The season on the Fraser closes on August 25, unless the efforts to get it extended are successful. In the meantime, the market is advancing.

Some of the packers have notified their agents in the east that prices have been withdrawn, while others are quoting 25c. more per case than a week ago, and 50c. more than two weeks ago.

SEVERELY COMMENTED ON.

THE press, generally, are commenting very severely on the condition of affairs in the office of the Canadian Commissioner in London. Some of them are inclined to throw the blame upon Lord Strathcona and Mr. Colmer.

It is not with these men but with the system we find fault. His Lordship, though his official duties are not of an important nature, is worth many times his salary, much more than which he spends freely in ways that bring Canada into prominence in circles where the Dominion has hitherto been little known. The secretary, a faithful, hard-working official, has done and is doing good work for this country in his position. But he has more than enough to occupy his time.

What is wanted is a strong man, with a thorough practical knowledge of the resources of Canada; a man who can not only answer promptly and intelligently enquiries, but follow them for months if they are likely to result in increased trade, and, most important of all, a man who will develop the sales of our natural products. This, no one in the High Commissioner's office at the present time is capable of doing. On the entire staff there is but one Canadian—a most painstaking gentleman, and he left the Dominion in his childhood days.

There is far more money for this country at the present time in its agricultural resources than in its gold mining. We can never get the full benefit of the British market for these until we have a man doing there what Prof. Robertson has done so well in Canada.

THE CONDEMNED BACON.

It is gratifying to learn that the Canadian bacon recently condemned in England was not through any fault of the bacon itself.

It turns out that the bacon was on a steamer which became stranded, and the bacon, like the rest of the cargo, became heated. This rendered it unfit for consumption, but it was not offered for sale.

Canada last year exported to Great Britain 59,522,464 pounds of bacon, valued at $5,058,074, while five years before the quantity was but 17,274,676 pounds, and the value $1,828,555, an increase in quantity of over 246 per cent. The fact, therefore, that the condition of the condemned bacon was caused by the stranding of the steamer should be given as much publicity as possible.

WHY SOME FAIL.

Many young men who promised well at the start of life have been failures at the finish.

The fault was not that they were lacking in ability, but that they lacked those forces of character which prevented their going away when they themselves recognize they have ability which is helping them to distance fellow competitors in the race.

They become puffed up, insolent and above their work. To use a slang phrase, they get "swelled heads."

"Swelled head" is much easier to prevent than to cure, and young men who would succeed in life should watch that they do not become inoculated with the disease, for those who suffer therefrom are of little use to themselves or anyone else.

SHIPPING INFERIOR EGGS.

Complaints are loud and numerous in Toronto to the effect that eggs are arriving on that market in exceedingly poor condition.

Some dealers go as far as to say that appearances justify the statement that Toronto is being made a dumping-ground for eggs not suitable for export.

One instance cited would lead one to believe there were grounds for such a complaint, for, in a shipment recently received, out of ten cases there were fully two unfit for consumption, to say the least. The poor condition of the eggs arriving is not the only trouble, for many shipments are composed almost entirely of small, No. 2 sizes, which are not in nearly as good demand in Great Britain as the large sizes.

This should not be, for, while it is desirable that our eggs should make a good showing in the Mother Country, it should not be at the expense of the home market.

STILL ANOTHER EVIDENCE.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER.—We are anxious to get into touch with shippers of Canadian dairy produce, viz., butter, cheese, bacon, eggs, etc. and think perhaps with your assistance we may be able to work up business to mutual advantage. Our firm has been established since 1830 and our principal business has been European, continental produce, but the taste of the trade is now most in favor of British Colonial produce which we are in a good position to handle, we having our own branch offices in all the largest towns in England and Scotland. We have made very successful arrangements with New Zealand, but, as that is only a winter trade, we require Canadian produce as the main supply for our customers, who number some thousands.

We have our own waterside premises in London which enables us to land goods cheaply and expeditiously. We of course, prefer to have shippers who are not already represented in this country, but they must be reliable, and fully understand the particular articles they ship us.

W. C. LAMING & Co.
5 Water street, London, England.

July 20, 1898.

Here is another evidence that the people at home are ripe for our products—will give them the preference. We are doing little to take advantage of it. It is most unfortunate that Lord Strathcona, our High Commissioner in London, and Mr. Colmer, the secretary, have taken the suggestion that Canada should send a clever business man to Great Britain to extend the sale of farm produce as a personal reflection upon themselves. None is intended. They have both done good work for the Dominion. They cannot possibly do the important work now necessary. Only a young, energetic and experienced man can. One who can develop the demand for our goods in the United Kingdom as Prof. Robertson has developed their production here. This trade is worth far more to the merchants of Canada than Klondyke ever can be.

A BAD FIG CROP.

The condition of the new fig crop is becoming worse and worse, and the yield will be an unusually small one.

At the beginning of the season it was estimated that the crop would be about 10,000 tons. Shortly afterwards the estimate was reduced a thousand tons. Now it is down to 7,000 tons, and the fruit is dropping off the trees.

How small the present crop is may be gathered from the fact that the yield in average years is from 18,000 to 20,000 tons.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Aug. 18, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE strength of the canned goods market is the chief feature in the wholesale grocery trade this week, particularly corn, tomatoes and salmon, all of which are dearer for future delivery. The volume of business is larger than it was a week ago. There is more tea moving, and a good business has been done in sugar. Inquiries for syrups are a little more numerous, but few, if any, transactions have taken place. Coffees are firmer, but business is quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a stronger feeling in regard to canned goods. Canned tomatoes are being held higher by both packers and wholesalers, and neither appear desirous of doing business. Packers are quoting as high as 80c., while some are refusing to quote. With wholesalers, the ideas run all the way from 80 to 90c. per dozen. Peas and corn, they are quoting all the way from 70 to 85c. The fact of the matter is, the future is so uncertain, that wholesalers scarcely know what to quote. Most of them, in fact, would rather not quote at all. Owing to the unsatisfactory run of salmon, prices on the Coast are higher, being in some instances 50c. per case above the figures of two weeks ago, while some packers have withdrawn quotations. Wholesalers report that a fair business is being done in canned salmon, both for present and future delivery. Canned meats are cheaper by 15 to 25c. per dozen on 1 and 2-lb. tins of corned beef. Wholesalers' quotations now, as a rule, being: 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; 2's, $2.50 to $2.60; 6's, $8; 14's, $17.50.

COFFEES.

Rio coffees are strong, both in the primary market and in New York. At present, buyers' views here are so far below those of holders that practically no business is being done.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

More enquiries for syrups are being heard, but there are very few offering. At least one of the refineries has nothing to offer. Molasses is quiet. Advices from New Orleans report the market firm.

SUGARS.

The local market is without change. On Saturday last, a large business was done, in anticipation of another advance in prices.

While since then the demand has eased off a little, there is still a good business being done.

There were some advances in the London market at the close of last week, but this week opened a little easier. Taken on the whole, however, the outside markets are, at the time of writing, firm. A New York authority states that the stock of sugar in importers' hands, in the United States, is becoming so low that it will soon cease to be a factor in the market, and will not again assume importance until shipments from Cuba are actively renewed and storing is renewed. "It is believed," says this same authority, "that the reason why the beet market has not improved in sympathy with ours is the approaching alteration in the French export bounty, which it is understood will be 6d. less per cwt. on crystals, and 4½d. less per cwt. on raws, after August 31. This, of course, induces French holders to part with their sugars so as to get

*See pages 27 and 28 for
Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

the benefit of existing export bounties, and it is affecting the markets in Europe, although our latest cabled advices state that the pressure of such sales is subsiding."

SPICES.

White pepper for shipment is cabled dearer. Cloves are firm. Locally, business is quiet and prices unchanged.

TEAS.

A cable received in Toronto, on Friday, reported the Japan tea market firmer and higher, and on Monday last a cable order was refused except at an advance of ½c. per lb. above previous quotations. The ranks of those who were holding off in expectation of lower prices are gradually being thinned out, a good deal of business at the advance having been done during the week, although the buying is still being done with much caution. The quality of the tea is gradually falling off in Japan, and, it is said, the third crop will be of very poor quality indeed. Mail advices from Kobe state that not so many teas are being turned toward Canada as a result of the United States tariff as was anticipated.

There are a few flavory Ceylon teas being offered, but there is not much doing, some good purchases having been made some time ago.

Quotations on new season's China green teas are higher than last year.

Local wholesalers report an improved demand for teas of all kinds, particularly Japans.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—The market in Greece is now about 3s. per cwt. below the figures ruling a year ago. In expectation of lower prices, buyers are holding off, although a good many confidential orders have been placed. However, prices are now low, while it might not be out of place to remark that importers last year held off for lower prices which did not materialize.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The market opened about the same figure as last year, but the question of exchange is so unsettled that it is difficult to determine what the actual price may be. Estrine & Co., referring to what it terms a new factor in the situation, says that while the nominal rate is 8 to 15 per cent. it was at the time of writing 85 per cent.

SULTANA RAISINS—Prices are firm, the opening figures being about 2c. per pound above what similar grades of old fruit could now be bought at.

FIGS—Prospects for the new crop are worse than ever, and 7,000 tons is now the estimated yield.

PRUNES—Bosnia prunes, for October shipment, are now being quoted. Prices are lower than last year, and considerable business has been done. California prunes are also being quoted, and, although they are earlier than last year, some business has been done. Quotations are in the neighborhood of ½c. per lb. dearer than a year ago.

CALIFORNIA DRIED FRUITS—The crop of apricots is almost nil, and, as prices are high, there is scarcely any business being done yet. Peaches are also higher than last year.

GREEN FRUITS.

California fruit, especially pears, has been very scarce, and as the demand has been good, prices are higher than last week. Canadian peaches are not as plentiful as they have been, and it is expected that, from this out, receipts will continue limited. Early native pears are now coming in freely, but none of the better qualities have begun to arrive. Plums have commenced to arrive in good quantities, and are of excellent quality. They are quoted at 50 to 75c. per basket. Watermelons are not numerous, but Canadian varieties are now sold at 60c. per case of six. This price, however, is liable to decline materially at any day, as the demand for these goods fluctuates greatly. Muskmelons are now on sale at 40 to 50c. per basket. Canadian tomatoes are offered in large quantities, and the price has fallen to 25 to 35c. per basket. Lawtonberries advanced to as high as 7 to 8c. last week, owing to decreasing shipments, but are again plentiful, and the price is back to the old figure, 4 to 6c. Sweet potatoes are not plentiful. The price asked is 50c. per basket. Duchess and Astrachan apples are offered in liberal quantities at $1.25 to $2. Bananas are now arriving in quantities sufficient to meet requirements. The sale of oranges is light. Lemons, however, show considerable activity. The first shipment of new lemons arrived on Monday this week. They were from Verdilla, Sicily, and sell at from $5.50 to $6.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Receipts are liberal, and the market is in bad shape, owing to a large proportion of those arriving being of questionable quality. Strictly fresh laid are in good demand, and are worth 11 to 12c.; but No. 2 stock is not wanted at 8 to 10c. At country points 9½ to 10c. per doz. is paid for cases.

POTATOES—A great many of the potatoes coming forward are poor, small stock, and are easy at 50c. per bushel.

HONEY—There is not much doing locally yet. Offerings are large. It is expected that a large quantity will be exported to Great Britain. The first shipments have been made, but as yet no reports concerning their reception have been received.

VEGETABLES—Seed onions are done. Cauliflower are scarce and high. Cabbage and celery, too, are not plentiful. We quote: Corn, 8 to 10c. per doz.; cauliflower, 75c. to $1 per doz.; celery, 50 to 75c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 40 to 75c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 20 to 30c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.50 per bushel; beets, 25c. per peck; carrots, 25c. per peck; onions, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, $1 to $1.25.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a scarcity of really first-class dairy butter. Creamery butter is in excellent demand. There have been advances of ½ to 1c. per lb. for every grade of butter on the market. At country points the following f.o.b. are quoted: Dairy tubs, 11 to 12c.; prints, 12½ to 13c.; creamery prints, 17c.; tubs and boxes, 15 to 16c.

CHEESE—The market is decidedly firmer, and in some cases, 8c. has been paid for selections at cheese boards. From 7¾ to 7⅞c. has been the general range, however. The price at Toronto is now steady at 8¼ to 8½c.

PROVISIONS.

There is a brisk demand for smoked meats and long clear bacon. The usual inquiry for barrel pork has not set in, but prices are steady. Lard is the only weakness in the provision market. In this article there has been a quiet, steady decline. Prices are unchanged from last week, however.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—As the offerings of wheat during the past week have not been up to the requirements of local millers, the prices have been advanced 2c., for both red and white, to induce freer delivery. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 69 to 70c.; white winter, 68 to 69c.; goose, 60 to 61c. The street market is easier than a week ago. New oats are now coming in in moderate quantities. We quote: Wheat, white, 70 to 71c.; red, 70 to 71c.; goose, 60c.; peas, 55 to 58c.; oats, old, 31 to 33c.; new, 29c. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat is quoted at 95c., Sarnia freights.

FLOUR—An all-round reduction of 25c. is noted this week. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.90 to $5; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $4.60; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.15; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is quiet, and prices are unaltered. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.60; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

FISH.

The demand has been moderate during the past week, and prices are easy, though

SHEEPSKINS—The price of lambskins and shearlings is firm at an advance of 5c., the price now being 50c.

WOOL—The market is dull, with prices unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

SEEDS.

There is a brisk movement in alsike clover seed, with a good export demand for strictly choice to fancy grades at $4 to $4.50 at outside points. Anything but the choicest, however, has to be sold in competition with the United States feed, which is unusually good, and, as the latter is offered at low prices, the medium grades have to be bought at prices much below those quoted.

SALT.

There is no change in prices and little movement in trade. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, August 18, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market, as a rule, exhibits considerable steadiness, the notable examples of strength being sugar, new Japan teas and canned salmon. Buyers have shown more desire to operate on teas and canned goods, but only in the former has any large quantity of business been put through. Canned salmon quotations are withdrawn, and sellers are not urging business, while in canned vegetables a good volume of trade is noted between first and second hands. In Japan teas, buyers are paying the advance, and values are apt to go still higher, as primary markets have advanced 4 yen this week. Sugar has ruled firm but quiet. There have been some negotiations in regard to California dried raisins, but no figures have yet been quoted from the Coast.

SUGAR.

There has been no change in the local situation, but the tone is very firm, and if the strength in raws is supplemented by any further advances higher prices are not unlikely on the refined article here. Demand is of a quiet character at the prices last quoted. The raw article continues strong both at New York and other points. At the former market fair refinery is stiff at $3\frac{3}{4}$ c., and centrifugal, 96 test, $4\frac{1}{4}$ c., while refined is firm. At London, beet is quoted at 9s. $5\frac{1}{4}$ d. for August, and 9s. $6\frac{3}{4}$ d. for September.

SYRUPS.

There has been very little enquiry for syrops, and prices are unchanged, $2\frac{1}{8}$ c. per lb. for sugar, house grade, at the factory,

MOLASSES.

No activity is looked for in molasses at this period of the year, and the market does not belie it, but, as soon as the demand sets in, it is believed that stocks will be found to be less plentiful than buyers anticipated. While there is time for fresh supplies to arrive before the close of navigation no large additional receipts are expected, because there is little stock to be had there. In round lots a few sales of Barbadoes have been noted at 27 to 28c. ex wharf. In a jobbing way values are firm at 30c. in car lots and 31c. in single puncheons.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been more activity during the past week in canned vegetables, as local jobbers have been operating with considerable freedom, and contracts representing possibly 10,000 cases of new crop goods have been placed for future delivery, consisting of tomatoes, peas and corn. The former sold at 75c. and the two latter at 70c. There has been more desire to operate in canned salmon also, but several agents this week had their quotations withdrawn by packers, owing to the state of affairs on the Coast. Recent advices in this connection state that the Fraser river pack is only 15 per cent. of last year's output. So far, possibly 10,000 cases of canned salmon have been sold here to arrive, and the buyers now consider that they were lucky. Late information from the Coast is to the effect that the Fraser river pack of salmon to August 4, amounted to but 80,000 cases, against 465,000 cases for the corresponding period last year. The entire Puget Sound pack of sockeyes to date has been 140,000 cases. Last year the pack of sockeyes for the season amounted to 360,000 cases. It is anticipated that there will be a shortage of 150,000 to 175,000 in the sockeye pack this season. The Columbia river pack so far shows an actual shortage of 100,000 cases.

COFFEE.

Reports on Brazil goods rule firm, but the local market is very quiet and values are entirely unaffected.

SPICES.

The same firm feeling is noted in pepper, but other spices are without new feature. Local business is exceptionally dull.

TEAS.

There has been remarkable activity in new Japan tea here since Saturday last, and a large quantity of stock has left first hands at values ranging from $12\frac{1}{2}$ to 19c., the great bulk of the sales being at 16 to 17c. Cables from Japan on Tuesday to houses here stated that the market in Japan had advanced 4 yen, which is equivalent to about 2c. per lb., and that the market was very strong. Buyers on spot have shown decided anxiety to procure tea and the tone is very firm as a result of this and of the strength at primary points.

NUTS.

The only change in nuts of moment is a firmer feeling in shelled walnuts, which are very scarce, and 16 to 17c. has been asked for them this week. Other nuts contribute nothing new.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been a considerable business done in California new crop raisins to arrive, but no figures have yet been specified, buyers simply placing open orders for considerable quantities. Practically little or no stock has been carried over, either of these or Spanish or other raisins. In the latter, also, no figures have yet been quoted on new crop fruit. Prunes, dates and figs are without new feature.

GREEN FRUIT.

Business in green fruit has not been so active this week, and a prominent feature has been the scarcity and firmness of all California fruits. Peaches, pears and plums, as noted in our prices current, rose from 25 to 50c. per package during the week, and are firm at the rise. Receipts of Canadian peaches have been chiefly clingstones, and they are a slow sale at 30 to 50c. per basket. A few small lots of early Canadian pears have sold at 25 to 40c. per basket, while Hudson River pears are offering at $2 to $2.25 per keg. Blueberries are easier at 90 to $1.40, under increased receipts, and lemons and oranges are steady.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was an improved demand for eggs to-day, and a more active trade was done, but prices are without change. We quote : Selected new laid, 13 to 14c.; No. 1 candled stock, 11 to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c.; P.E.L., $9\frac{1}{2}$ to 10c.; and culls at $8\frac{1}{2}$ to 9c. per doz.

BEANS—The market for beans continues quiet, and prices are unchanged. We quote : Primes, 85 to 90c., and choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel.

HONEY — The demand for honey is limited, and sales are slow. We quote : White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, 8 to 10c.; dark, $6\frac{1}{2}$ to 7c.; white extracted, 6c. to 7c., and dark, 4 to 5c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCT — Maple product is dull and featureless. We quote : Syrup in wood, $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{3}{4}$ c. per lb., and in tins, 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to $6\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There was a good demand for smoked meats, and the market in this respect was fairly active. Other lines rule quiet. We quote as follows : Canadian pork, \$16 to \$16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at $8\frac{1}{4}$ c. to $8\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and compound refined at $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb.; hams, $10\frac{1}{2}$ c. to $11\frac{1}{2}$ c.; and bacon, $11\frac{1}{2}$ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR. GRAIN. ETC.

There were no new features in the local grain market. The demand from shippers for all lines was limited, owing to weaker cable advices and the continued easy feeling in the American markets, consequently the volume of business done was small and the market was quiet, with no change in values to note. A few small lots of old No. 2 white oats changed hands at 31c., afloat. Peas were dull at 63c., afloat.

The demand for small lots of Manitoba grades of flour from local and country buyers were fair and a moderately active trade was done at steady prices. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.50; straight rollers, $3.75 to $4; bags, $1.90 to $2; Manitoba patents, $5.10 to $5.20, and strong bakers', $4.75 to $4.90.

There was no change in the situation of the feed market. The demand continues fair for all lines and prices are maintained. We quote as follows: Ontario winter wheat bran, $13; shorts, $16 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $13; shorts, $15, and moultrie, $17 per ton, including bags.

The meal market was quiet, the demand being only for small lots to fill actual wants at $3.65 per bbl. and $1.77 1/2 per bag, for rolled oats.

The demand for hay continues slow and the market is dull, with no change in prices to note. We quote: Shipping hay, $4 to $5; good to choice, No. 1, $8 to $9, and No. 2, at $5.50 to $7 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese rules firm. Demand over the the cable is inactive, but there is sufficient current business passing to establish prices, and anyway the sentiment across the water cuts little figure in regard to values. These are, and have been all along, governed more by operations on this side than what was bid over the cable, and, as most of the leading exporters are carrying quite large lines of cheese, and the factorymen are disposed to hold for full prices, no material decline in values is likely in the near future. Of course, bargains can be picked up, but with conditions as they are, efforts to support value will hardly be wanting. Reports regarding the make vary. In many sections in Ontario the pasturage is admitted not to be up to last year, and the flow of milk much less. In Quebec the conditions are not quite so bad, and the output during the past fortnight is considered to be fully up to the average. Trading on spot today was largely confined to eastern makes, and, in some cases, sellers accepted 3/8c. less for white cheese than they held for early in the week. In the main, however, values were steady, sales of eastern white ranging from 7 3/8 to 7 1/2c., while the premium on colored is increased rather than decreased, as no finest eastern colored is obtainable under 7 3/8 to 7 3/4c. Western cheese are largely nominal on spot, and, while some bargain sales have been reported at inside figures, a buyer cannot go out on the market and get a straight line of goods unless he pays the price. For white, 7 3/4c. is quoted, while colored is held stiff at 7 7/8 to 8c., and the inside price is more the exception than the rule. The cable on white cheese declined 6d. We quote: Finest western colored, 7 7/8 to 8c.; finest western

In butter, while the demand was not quite so brisk, the market is still steady as to value. Reports from the country spoke of further purchases at full prices, particularly in the Eastern Townships, and, naturally, the payment of the comparatively high figures tends to stiffen factorymen's views, irrespective of what the quality of their butter may be. Extra finest creamery in boxes is scarce, and quite firmly held at $17\frac{1}{2}$ c., but there is good butter in boxes offering all the way from $16\frac{3}{4}$ to 17c. Tub creamery, where it is choice, commands $17\frac{1}{4}$ c., but it has to be so to realize this price. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, $17\frac{1}{2}$ to $17\frac{3}{4}$ c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, $17\frac{1}{4}$ to $17\frac{3}{4}$ c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17 to $17\frac{1}{4}$ c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, $16\frac{1}{2}$ to $16\frac{3}{4}$ c.; dairy butter, $13\frac{1}{2}$ to $13\frac{3}{4}$ c.; Liverpool cable, finest, 8os.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables from Japan, Tuesday, stated that teas there had advanced 4 yen, or about 2c. per lb.

Shelled walnuts have exhibited a materially firmer tendency lately and are now held strong.

Agents for the salmon packers here had prices withdrawn this week and the market is excited.

So far, about 10,000 cases of new pack canned salmon have been contracted in this market for future delivery.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 16, 1898.

THE past week has shown rather improved business, and dealers are looking forward with confidence to a good fall trade. Payments are reported good. Crop prospects were never better. The one drawback is the low price for hay which has ruled this summer, and that the immediate future shows no brighter prospect. Quite a quantity of old hay is being carried over, and the crop of new is large and of extra quality. It is said that some farmers have not cut their full crop, on account of the poor demand. Oats and wheat are being harvested. The latter is a much larger crop than ever before in our Province. Barley is also being more freely grown. In markets, there is little change. Cream of tartar continues to grow in strength. Pepper and cloves are both costing rather higher; other spices show little change. In vinegars, there is no change in prices, but a better sale is noticed.

OIL—While business is still dull in burning oil, the fall demand is beginning to make itself felt, and toward the latter part of the month sales will begin to materially increase. The lower prices in Canadian did not arrive and are not now expected.

SALT—While some English coarse salt must be quite near, there were no arrivals during the week. Demand, however, is readily supplied, from stocks on hand, at even prices. There is a good demand for Canadian table salt, and that for butter and cheese continues to be quite active. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—Packers still withhold quotations, particularly on corn and tomatoes. There have been reported quotations by some packers, but further than a report nothing could be found. Advices continue to point to higher figures than those quoted earlier. This has strengthened the feeling regarding spot stocks. They are, however, held well below the prices of a few weeks ago. Fruits are not very largely sold here. Peaches and apples have the largest sale, and there is a fair sale for pears and strawberries, but raspberries, plums, etc., are very light demand. There is quite a sale for pineapples, but it is largely supplied from Baltimore. Blueberries have quite a free sale, being largely packed in our own Province. Salmon tend higher, particularly best grades. Quite a proportion of those brought here are not the highest priced fish. Oysters tend to higher prices. There is quite a demand for sardines, both oil and mustard at even prices. American packers quote meats rather lower.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples begin to have considerable attention. Quality continues to improve, and prices are rather easier. A few Nova Scotia apples are already to hand, but quality is poor. Some fine New Brunswick apples should soon be on the market. They are splendid fruit, but have to be handled quickly. Oranges are out of season. Pears are chiefly in demand. Prices of the Californias are higher this week. Eastern Bartletts are coming to the market, but are only just becoming a feature. California peaches offer more freely at firm figures. Plums, just fair sale at even prices. A few California grapes have been received. Delewares are scarce and quite high. Bananas are not an overstock. While wild raspberries have been plentiful, and large shipments have been made to the American market, the receipts of cultivated berries continue light. Blueberries are also rather less freely received than last year.

DRIED FRUIT—It is difficult to make this line one of interest. Spot stocks are not large, but are held easy, as dealers wish to be cleaned out before new goods arrive. Quotations on dried fruit seem late. Prices of currants received point to lower values than last year. Nuts and some Valencia raisins have been ordered at open figures. Prices on California are daily expected. It is said foreign prunes will rule rather lower than last year. New American citron has been received. Citron is being sold in smaller packages than usual, and the peel is cut up and mixed with lemon and orange. These are English peels. As before noted, American peels are being quite freely sold. In dried apples, market is dead; in fact, at the best they are now out of date. Evaporated are scarce, and, as new are likely to be low, a good sale is expected. Onions rule easy. In peanuts, while still quite high, shippers quote rather lower.

SUGAR—A good sale is reported, particularly in the different grades of granulated, no doubt somewhat helped by the slight advance and continued firm market. The Montreal refineries are not trying to sell here, not wishing to meet the prices at which sales are being made.

MOLASSES—There is little life, but holders are confident higher prices will rule, as stocks are light. Some Porto Rico was bought in Halifax for this market during the past week at rather lower prices than St. John importers ask. New Orleans is dull.

PRODUCE—Butter is still unsatisfactory, market being overstocked, particularly with fair to good. This keeps values low, making it difficult to get a fair price for best stock. There is really no sale for creamery, except in a retail way. Eggs improve in price, showing a steady sale, and in quality they are better than usual at this season. Cheese is still low. Our factories are making larger quantities than usual, and the local demand takes but a small quantity. Quite large consignments have been shipped to the United States, but reports are not encouraging.

PROVISIONS—There is a weak market and a dull demand. For barrelled pork and beef, the past year, has shown very light sale, and, during the past few months, smoked meats have sold less freely than is usual at this season. Lard has fair sale.

FISH—There is fair business. Receipts of dry fish continue light, and, while prices are firm, were it not for light sales values would be higher. Pickled fish showed improved sale and rather higher prices rule; receipts not large. Some fine rippling and wolves herring have been received. Smoked continue dull. A few fresh shad are still offered. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.35 to $3.50; medium, $3.25 to $3.35; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.50 to $1.60 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 10 to 14c.; salmon, 16 to 18c.; ½-bbl. shad, $4 to $5; rippling herring, $1.80 to $2; wolves do., $2.10 to $2.25.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The fact that stocks of Ontario flours are becoming light has caused some demand. Prices, however, continue to go off. The desire to get old wheat flour aids millers in making sales. Manitoba is rather dull. In oatmeal, prices are still low here, though oats are rather firmer; in fact, one buyer wanting a large quantity for the West Indies, found difficulty in getting order filled. Cornmeal is firm. Feed is still scarce. Beans show little change, but rather better values are expected. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.65; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.70; medium, $4.25 to $4.45; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.20; middlings, $2.0 to $2.1; bran, $1.7 to $1.8; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

C. & E. Macmichael received a shipment of Maconochies' lever stopper pickles this week.

Mr. Robert Greig, representing the Greig Manufacturing Co., Montreal; was in the city calling on the trade last week.

J. Harvey Brown, wholesale tea importer, with stores in both St. John and Halifax, went to England this week on a business trip.

C. Morley Pye, who for some years has been with Barnes & Halstead, Salisbury, intends opening a general store at Hopewell Cape.

THE GROCER is pleased to learn that Mr. J. Harold Lovitt, of Lovitt & Lovitt, grocers, Yarmouth, who has been south for his health, has returned with every prospect of full recovery.

Among other goods shipped by the last steamer for London were 813 cases canned lobsters from Chatham, 310 from Newcastle, and 112 from New Mills. There were also 615 boxes cheese, consigned from the Sussex cheese factory.

THE GROCER was pleased to receive a call from J. D. Meekison, of Strathroy, Ont., also to have the pleasure of meeting E. J. Burrell, who is connected with the firm of D. H. Burrell & Co., Little Falls, New York, which house controls the output of the seamless cheese bandage in Canada, and the output of Hansen's Danish rennet cheese and butter annato, etc., for America.

After a dull season, more encouraging reports are being received from Grand Manan. Five schooners loaded last week for New York and Boston with smoked herring and bloaters. Prices received were about 5c. for the former and 50c. for the latter. Sardine herring are also bringing better price, selling at $10 to $13 per hhd. Pollock fishing is also good.

The Charlottetown Board of Trade are moving in the matter of the telegraph tariff on the Island. The Anglo-American Telegraph Co. have a monopoly in respect to communication. Complaints have been forwarded to the management, London, regarding the high rates and the fact that offices close at 8 p.m. An effort at competition will be made if the reply is not satisfactory.

GROWTH OF MONTREAL'S FRUIT TRADE.

The development of the fruit trade in Montreal has been remarkable. Ten years ago, according to a correspondent of The Star, the first public sale of lemons, 2,250 boxes, took place on the wharf. Now, over 250,000 boxes of Sicily lemons and oranges are sold annually, and the good condition of the fruit landing in Montreal brings buyers from all the large centres of Canada and most cities of the United States west of Cleveland, except from the California fruit belt.

Five years ago, a car of California fruit would supply Montreal for two weeks. It was, too, so costly that only the rich could afford to buy them. Now they are so cheap and plentiful that all classes use them.

Ten years ago, 50 bunches of bananas would do Montreal a week; now, about 12,000 bunches arrive in the same time.

Grapes and other Canadian fruits are now so plentiful in season that they are sometimes sold in ton lots.

This trade is likely to show still greater development, and an agitation is on foot in favor of converting the St. Ann's market into an attractive fruit market.

This movement is a good one, and would be beneficial not to Montreal alone, but to all points in Canada, receiving fruit via Montreal.

WRITE FOR QUOTATIONS.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

August 18, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15, 1898.

BUSINESS continues good, and without much change for the week. The harvest prospects are the chief subject of interest and discussion at present, and the general opinion, by those sufficiently expert to give their views weight, is that the crop is advancing in the most satisfactory manner. Wheat cutting has commenced at a few points, but will not be at all general until the end of the week. Through the eastern part of the Province, which includes the Portage plains and Mennonite reserves, the crop is probably the heaviest in the history of the country. In the centre, the yield will be light, but in the Territories, from Sintaluta to Moosejaw, it is very heavy, and also along the Manitoba Northwestern to Minnedosa. The weather is all that could be desired.

In produce, such as butter, cheese and eggs, there continues a great deal of diversity of opinion, so that it is difficult to give reliable quotations. Markets are about as follows:

SUGAR—Prices are 1-16c. higher, with every indication that the price will remain firm until after preserving is over, with possibly a further advance. Granulated is now quoted at 5 3-16c.; bright yellows, 4 3/4c.

CALIFORNIA EVAPORATED FRUITS—The market has opened so high that fears are entertained that sales will be light. New goods cannot be laid down here under 13 or 14c. per lb., and old apricots are, perhaps, 1 1/2c. lower. These figures will certainly lessen the consumption of these fruits, although, of course, there will always be a certain demand. Those holding stocks of last year's fruit in good condition may consider themselves fortunate.

CANNED GOODS—The market is practically without change from last week. Many houses have bought freely, while others are still waiting for lower and more settled prices.

SPICES—There is a remarkably firm feeling all round in these goods, with prices still advancing in some lines. Peppers, white and black, show a decided and steady advance of about 1c a lb. per month. Just now, there is considerable movement in pickling spice, as the season for pickles is about opening. Nearly all spices for this market are brought in whole and ground and prepared here. The advance in pepper is attributed to the short crop last year and a bad outlook for this year.

CURED MEATS—The market is not strong, and now that the war is practically over, a decline may be looked for. In fact, this market is almost as variable as wheat. At present, last week's quotations are still holding, but are likely to lower within the week.

FISH—New codfish, sardines and scaled herring are offering freely by New Brunswick houses. The prices seem lower than last year, but, as the goods will not be delivered for three weeks or a month, it is early to quote actual figures.

CANNED SALMON—During the week another British Columbia house has withdrawn quotations from this market, and still prices remain unchanged. The run on the Skeena river was larger than usual, but that on the Fraser much smaller.

BUTTER—In creamery butter prices are very uncertain, quotations covering all the ground from 16 to 18c., factories. There is more readiness to sell than last week. Dairy butter is increasing in quantity, and is worth 12 1/2 to 13c., Winnipeg, for round lots of finest dairy butter.

CHEESE—Market is firm, 7 1/2 to 8c. being to-day's figures.

GREEN FRUIT—Plums, peaches and pears have been scarce all week, but fresh shipments arrived to-day. Plums and peaches run $1.25 to $1.50 per crate; pears, $3 to $3.50; oranges, $4.50; lemons, $6 per case; southern Duchess apples, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; western Duchess, in boxes, $1.50; quality very fine. Canadian apples are expected on this market next week, and will be lower. Bananas are scarce; nominal price, $2.50. Southern St. Ives grapes, 65c. for the 7-lb. basket. Very fine Missouri tomatoes are offering in bushel baskets at $2.75, but will soon be cheaper. Water-melons, $3 per doz.

DRIED FRUITS—This market opened lower than last year, but the advance of 3d. and 6d. (according to package and variety) in the primary market will cause a higher figure here. Price will not be definite until next week. Goods will arrive in about six week's time.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

H. P. ECKARDT & CO. report that wherever they place a tin of their "Molucca" coffee they are sure of repeat orders. "It is a delicious blend," they say.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering some exceptional values in Japan teas, all bought before the advances in the market.

Ceylon Pekoe Souchongs, Pekoes and Orange Pekoes, new teas, are arriving this week for The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

"Golden Oval," "Thistle" and "Diamond Jubilee" finnan haddies, new pack, are to hand with The Eby, Blain Co. Limited.

Some extra fine values in Japans at 18c. are being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. This firm also show great value in high-grade goods.

"Gold Medal" Japan tea, in 1-lb. packages, retailing at 50c. This is fine leaf tea, of delicious flavor, and is packed in Japan for The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

L. P. & Co.'s spices, sold for years by Lucas, Steele & Bristol, are of the very highest quality; the XX and XXX sugars have large sale.

Although salmon are advancing, George Foster & Sons state that they are still booking orders for several first-class brands, and will be pleased to quote prices on application.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have arriving some of their "Empire" Ceylon tea, packed on the estate in 10 and 20 lb. cads.; also in 1 and 1/2 lb. packets, and chests.

Gillard's new pickle (Gillard & Co., London, England) is finding favor with the trade generally, and a large sale is reported in them by the various wholesale houses throughout Canada.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., report an active trade in shoulder hams and backs ever since the commencement of their special sale in these lines, as advertised in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report an active demand for their "Diamond" baking powder, and state that trade is especially brisk for baking powders under the retailer's own label.

George Foster & Sons report having in stock an extra fancy "Golden Leaf" Japan tea, suitable for high-class trade; also have lately received consignments of Ceylons, Indians and gunpowders, and will be glad to send samples on application.

A TRIBUTE TO ADVERTISING.

Editor GROCER—Some time ago we inserted an advertisement in THE CANADIAN GROCER, asking for agents for our goods, and we received replies from St. John, N.B.; Vancouver, B.C.; St. John's, Nfld., and Winnipeg, Man. We have since received, through the St. John's, Nfld., agent, an order for 70 gross of our "Silverine" dust polish, and from our Winnipeg agent an order for 50 gross of inks.

Wall Papers

Our travellers are covering Canada, showing what we believe to be the finest range of papers for the Canadian trade it has been our pleasure to introduce.

We are receiving not only generous orders, all along the line, but many complimentary words from dealers for the high artistic effects, pretty colorings, and unique designs—the samples are their own best advertisement, and dealers will be slack in looking for the best should our samples be overlooked—but you never do miss them, and this season's lot is better worth seeing than any samples we've shown heretofore—prices are right.

JAPAN AND A TEA DUTY.

THE tea growers and planters in Japan do not look with favor on the proposal to impose a duty on tea imported into Canada. Mr. Itchihe Itan, the special commissioner of the Central Tea Association, of Japan, to the Paris exposition, who was in Montreal last week, explained why this was so to THE CANADIAN GROCER, in the office of S. H. Ewing, Sons & Co.

The association which Mr. Itan represents answers to our Canadian department of dairy produce, its object being the extension of the export tea trade, and the improvement of the average quality of such tea exported. The association has no interest whatever in the sale of tea, its duty being simply the regulation and control of the tea trade of Japan, and, as it has over a million and a quarter tea growers to look after, its duties are no sinecure. The chief, in fact the sole reason that the tea growers are opposed to the imposition of import duties on tea, is that year by year the margin of profit to the planters is becoming less. While their labor each year is costing more, the average price of tea is getting lower, so that if the process continues a large number of planters will perforce be compelled to turn their attention to some other branch of agriculture that will yield them more profit. If the Canadian Government imposes a duty it will mean that their margin will be cut still further, hence their objection to it.

Mr. Itan agreed that it was most desirable that the low grade tea should be kept out of the country. The discouragement of this low grade tea was an object that the Central Tea Association had long been striving for, but it could be attained quite as well by the adoption of a proper standard as by the imposition of a duty which would bear so hard on the struggling tea growers of Japan. His association desired above all things to increase the trade in tea with Canada, but he felt that a duty would act as a check. They had been expending money advertising the merits of Japan tea across the lines, and they were considering the advisability of paying a little more attention in this respect to their Canadian territory. This matter would be looked after by their New York and Chicago agents.

Mr. Itan left for New York on Wednesday night on his way to Paris. At the exposition he will superintend the Japanese tea garden which it is proposed to run there. In addition, he is to try and secure the more general introduction of Japan tea on the British and European markets, which have hitherto been monopolized by China, Ceylon and Indian teas. When he left Tokio the market was very firm, and the general expectation of merchants at Yokohama was for firm values. Mr. Itan was accompanied on his trip by Mr. T. Mizutany, who managed the tea garden at the Omaha exposition, and is the agent of the Central Tea Association at Chicago.

Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch is a sure winner. It pleases everyone that uses it. If you want to gain the good will of your customers persuade them to try this famous brand. Once you do so you are sure of repeat orders from them. We have never yet heard of anyone being dissatisfied with it. That's saying a good deal, but it's the truth nevertheless. Better order at once if you're not already supplied.

It Sometimes Happens

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

Order Salt Now

At present our stocks are unusually large, in anticipation of the heavy September demand. While our shipping facilities, distributed over several points, are equal to any emergency, we would remind customers that there is usually a difficulty in securing cars when harvest products begin to move. It is better to order ahead of immediate requirements and get salt shipped and stored all ready for fall business.

Keep Salt in a clean, dry place

Remember, that when we ship salt, it is neither wet nor dirty, but in every respect choice merchandise worth taking care of. The packages are always fresh and attractive, if kept clear of rain and dust.

Coleman's Dairy Salt

Dealers who have not tried to work up a trade in the higher grades of salt are recommended to begin with the 20-lb. sack of Coleman's Butter Salt. It is good value, retailing for a quarter dollar and paying the dealer almost as much profit as a barrel of common salt. Keep these well displayed, and, when a farmer asks for the customary "barrel of salt" for general purposes, sell him a sack in addition for dairy use. Next time he comes in with butter to sell, you will notice an improvement in the texture, color, flavor, and general appearance.

CATCHING THE SALMON.

FEW persons, even in Vancouver, have any conception of the magnitude of the salmon industry of the Fraser river. We have all heard, of course, that it is the greatest salmon river in the world, that the pack of last year, if put on cars, would make a train 20 miles long, and so on; and we delight in telling our friends from the east wonderful and possibly slightly apocryphal stories of the mass of fish that crowd our upper waters. But until one has paid a visit to Steveston, the "Fishing Capital," taken a trip on the river up to New Westminster, seen the fleet of fishing boats start out on Sunday evening after their 36 hours rest, watched the process of packing, and had conversations with men who have made the subject the study of years—until one has done this, one can have no idea whatever of the importance of the industry or of the fascinating interest attaching thereto.

It was with the object of learning something about the salmon and their fate, until they appear in the seductive half-pound or pound tins, that your correspondent went over on Saturday last. And it may be remarked that a bicycle ride to Steveston from Vancouver, on such an afternoon as that in question, the thermometer well up to the nineties in the shade, and dust three inches deep in the road, is not the most pleasant thing in the world. Not that the trip itself has no interest to offer. From the time one leaves Vancouver until one reaches Steveston, it is full of interest. There is the magnificent view of the city, the harbor, the bay and the mountains, from the ridge, or "Hog's Back." There is the ride through the forest road, with the sun shut out and giant trees on either side. There is the gradual descent to the Delta lands, with their pleasant homesteads and rich fields stretching as far as the eye can see.

There is the picturesque "bit" at the two bridges across the river, and on the "river road." There is the first view of the broad mouth of the Fraser river, with the open water beyond.

Steveston, which lies on the north side of the river, is the market town of a splendid farming country, and is most beautifully situated. Indeed, it is doubtful whether any other place in British Columbia has more magnificent views: On the one side the broad Fraser and the Gulf; on the other the great curve of mountains, from Mt. Baker, on the extreme right, to the mountains of the Island and the American shore on the left. It has, moreover, a fair proportion of good buildings, a fine school-house in course of erection, several churches, an opera house and some good hotels. According to the glowing description of an enthusiastic citizen whom your correspondent met, it is going ahead "with giant strides." Be that as it may, it has, no doubt, a considerable trade, even in its normal state. Even in its normal state, we say, for just now it is one of the busiest places in the Province, and its population is not four or five hundred, as it generally is, but five or six thousand. For this is the fishing and canning season, and the little village at the mouth of the Fraser is transformed into a cosmopolitan city of brick and frame and tent. A walk up and down its streets shows them thronged with men (and women, too,) of all conceivable races and tongues, and dwelling in all conceivable habitations. Indeed, it is gravely asserted that only one race is unrepresented, the Esquimaux. White, black, copper-colored, yellow—every possible shade of color is seen on the faces of the crowds, while the babel of tongues recalls the streets of Constantinople or Gibraltar. Perhaps the races more in evidence, apart from British and Americans, are the Chinese, the Japanese, and the Indians, the latter of whom are of various tribes, and come from far and near. But Greeks, Italians, Scandinavians and Spanish-Americans are found in considerable numbers, with not a few Turks and Arabs, and two or three negroes. It may be remarked in this connection that it speaks much for our Canadian laws and their administration under Mr. Peirson, the police magistrate, and his officers, that, notwithstanding all these incongruous elements, with their jarring interests, there is an almost entire absence of lawlessness. From 6 in the morning of Saturday until 6 in the evening of Sunday no fish are allowed to be caught. As a consequence, the streets are then at their best, as far as crowds are concerned. There is, of course, the usual quota of itinerant vendors and caterers to public amusement, while the regular wants of "the stranger within the gates" apparently are not neglected, as your correspondent noticed a band of street preachers and singers, who, by the way, were listened to with the greatest respect.

Unless the time is extended, the season, which begins on July 1, ends on August 25, when the fishermen and their helpers (or "boatpullers") disperse, the cannery employes remaining somewhat longer. Where they go and what becomes of them, is almost as difficult a question to answer as is that other, what becomes of the salmon when they go to sea. The Indians drag their high-prowed canoes, which now lie high and dry on shore, and seek their homes. Many of the fishermen find work in the logging-camps. Others seek the mills; some hire out as farm laborers. The Chinese and Japanese drift into the cities. At any rate they all disappear, and Steveston resumes its wonted peace and quietness until the next year's run awakens it again to life. Apart from the business aspect of the matter, apart even from its scientific aspect, a visit to the Fraser during the fishing season is, then, one of the most interesting experiences in the world. In fact, there is no such fishing scene in any other waters as that presented by the setting out of the fleet at 6 o'clock on Sunday evening.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of the trip from New Westminster to the mouth late in the afternoon of Sunday, and he will never forget it. The scenery itself forms an ideal picture, the "Royal City," sloping gently up its grassy heights; the broad Fraser, with its islands and banks covered with trees, and dotted here and there with buildings; the glorious background of mountains; glimpses of fertile farm land; the ever-widening mouth, and the open water beyond—all these set off by a perfect western sky. But when to this is added the moving panorama made by thousands of boats, each with sails and net, the scene is indescribable. Here and there and everywhere they are working their way by wind and oar to the best vantage points. As the hour for casting the nets approaches, the interest becomes more intense. At various points the banks and wharves are crowded with spectators of every hue and tongue; the sails are taken down; the nets held in readiness, and then as the signal is given and the flag runs up, as if by magic the nets fall away, and the unequal war begins. The whole surface of the river and far out into the Gulf is now covered with a mass of floats. As one watches, one sees these sink here and there, and the work of hauling in the treasures of the sea begins, calling to one's mind the words of old: "And have dominion over the fish of the sea and the fowls of the air." Richer treasures, indeed, than those of mines of silver and of gold are they, treasures which bounteous Nature has lavished upon man, and which an unerring instinct urges, from far away in ocean depths, ever forward to our favored shores. What this means for British Columbia, and Canada in general, may be gleaned from the fact that last year the salmon pack of the Fraser alone was 880,000 cases (a case contains 48 lbs.), and the pack of the Province was more than 1,000,000 cases, aggregating a value of $4,000,000. With what rapidity the industry has grown, moreover, may be seen from the fact that the Fraser pack was, in round numbers, in 1876, only 7,000 cases; in 1880, 42,000; in 1885, 90,000; in 1890, 308,000, and in 1895, 432,000.

When it is remembered that these 1,000,000 cases of 1897 represented only the British Columbia catch, and that to this must be added the Alaska, the Sound, and the Columbia river catch, we can well understand the interest shown in all that pertains to the salmon and its habits, by the government experts and scientists of the United States and Canada. In such studies and investigations the Americans are, it must be confessed, in advance of Canadians. This, perhaps, is only natural, owing to their greater wealth and population. Indeed, year by year the American government publishes voluminous illustrated reports upon the habits and life of the salmon, the result of patient investigation at various points and under all conceivable conditions. And yet, after all, he remains largely "an unknown quantity," and baffles research. Strange to say, what is known about him is remarkably little. Everyone, of course, has theories; why every fourth year is a good year, where he goes when he turns his prow—or rather his head—toward the west, upon what he lives while in salt water, how it is that he so unerringly returns to these shores, and so on ad infinitum. An epitome of what is known, however, and of his life while within our waters we shall endeavor to give in the next article.—The Province.

Promptness is the mother of confidence and gives credit. It is the best possible proof that our own affairs are well ordered and well conducted, and gives others confidence in our ability. The man who keeps his time (i. e., is punctual), as a rule, will keep his word.

A PICNIC WIND-UP.

IT WILL be remembered that in our report of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association picnic, at Port Hope, mention was made of the fact that part of the programme was not finished, owing to lack of time.

On Wednesday last, these events were run off at the Exhibition grounds, Toronto.

The first race was the bicycle team race between the Toronto grocers and the Toronto travelers. The grocers' team consisted of Messrs. Panter, Thorne, Robertson, T. C. Clarke, Manley, and D. J. Kelly, while the travelers were represented by Messrs. Farewell, McVicar, Pearson, Burns, Collins and Pepall.

The first five to cross the tape were Farewell, McVicar, Thorne, Panter, D. J. Kelly, and, as the result of the race was a tie for the two teams, it was decided to give the prizes to these five.

The other event was the named bicycle race (handicap), for members of the association. The following grocers started: J. Blood and F. Thorne, scratch; T. Holmes, R. B. Snow and T. Clarke, 20 yards; D. W. Clarke, D. Bell and W. J. Sykes, 30 yards; W. H. Marmion and A. R. Williamson, 50 yards. The race was an exciting one, Messrs. Blood and Thorne having a bad spill, and D. W. Clarke colliding with A. R. Williamson, doing material damage to his countenance.

The winners were: T. Clarke, 1st; A. R. Williamson, 2nd; T. Holmes, 3rd; J. Blood, 4th; F. Thorne, 5th.

After these events two ball teams were chosen, with Messrs. Boland and Parmenter as captains. Three innings were played, all of which were prolific of numerous runs, Boland's team doing the heaviest stick work, and winning by a score in the neighborhood of thirty to their opponents' sixteen.

EXHIBITING IN RETAIL STORES.

There are many lines handled by grocers in which the consumption might be naturally increased if consumers knew how to prepare them properly. Chocolate and cocoa is one of these. How seldom does one get a good cup of this delicious beverage! Actual exhibitions in retail stores of the proper method of preparing cocoa have done much good. A traveling show is generally too expensive. Walter Baker & Co., Montreal, have hit upon an effective plan. They have equipped a model kitchen which they will lend, without charge, for a couple of weeks to any grocer writing them for it. It is a most compact outfit in every respect. All a merchant needs is to pour water into the can, put a match to the heater and get a girl to serve the cocoa, an ample supply of which is placed in the cabinet. George Wenino, Sarnia, used the outfit for two weeks and it is now going out to Hugh Malcolmson, Chatham.

As the experiment costs nothing and may be the means of drawing customers it is well worth trying.

DEATH OF MRS. RUBLEE.

Readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER will be sorry to learn of the death, at the early age of 49, of Mrs. Rublee, wife of the manager of the Rublee Fruit Co., Winnipeg, and formerly Miss Savage of Montreal. Mrs. Rublee has been for many years a sufferer from Bright's disease, but her disposition was so bright and happy that few of her many friends thought of her as an invalid. Early this summer she was riding her bicycle when one of the cords of the skirt guard became entangled in the wheel and she fell heavily to the ground, straining one of the tendons of her right leg, just above the knee. Though for a time she seemed to rally from this injury the shock had been too much for her, and rapidly increased her malady. After weeks of suffering, she passed away on Wednesday, August 17. She leaves a husband, three sons and a little daughter, just 13 years of age. Their loss is no ordinary one as Mrs. Rublee was not only a devoted wife and mother but she was, in an unusual sense, the comrade and companion of her boys.

WHAT ABOUT RECIPROCITY?

WE assume that the Canadian Commissioners at Quebec, before discussing reciprocity with the United States representatives, have thoroughly posted themselves on the subject. They must possess not merely a general, but a special knowledge, of all the large branches of trade that may come under a reciprocity treaty—coal, lumber, fish, salt, etc. This special knowledge, of course, would be supplied to our Commissioners by specialists.

Now, during the only wide treaty on trade which ever existed between Canada and the United States (1854-1866) the Republic sold us $20,000,000 worth more than it purchased from us. Besides that, a great deal of freight was attracted away from the St. Lawrence river and other Canadian routes to the United States routes and ocean ports, to say nothing of the valuable fishing rights we gave them. Their mackerel fleet alone took $4,500,000 worth of fish in some years. Finally, a considerable business was secured by New York and Boston commercial houses acting as middlemen for Canadian products. On the whole, therefore, the Elgin Treaty of 1854 turned out one of the best speculations the United States ever went into.

Those who have read the memorandum of Sir Edward Thornton and Mr. George Brown (dated April 27, 1874,) know that the benefits derived by the United States from the old treaty were equal to, if not greater than, those enjoyed by Canada. There is no manner of doubt about that. The treaty was not terminated by the Washington authorities because it failed commercially. Hostile national feeling was the cause, and the debates in Congress during 1866 are conclusive evidence on these points. Besides, the Boston, New York and other chambers of commerce petitioned for a renewal of the arrangement.

Manifestly, therefore, the Canadian Commissioners should have ready and present to the conference a paper bringing Mr. George Brown's figures down to date. There is a good thing in reciprocity for the United States. Canada can show that even under present conditions the United States has every reason to cultivate Canadian trade. Look at the record, in round numbers, of the past five fiscal years:

CANADA BOUGHT FROM THE UNITED STATES.

1894	$53,000,000
1895	54,000,000
1896	58,000,000
1897	61,000,000
1898	86,000,000

Total for 5 years $312,000,000

CANADA SOLD TO THE UNITED STATES.

1894	$35,000,000
1895	41,000,000
1896	44,000,000
1897	49,000,000
1898	41,000,000

Total for 5 years....$210,000,000

During five years, then, we have purchased from them about $100,000,000 more than we have sold them. The United States may say they are quite satisfied with present arrangements. If so, the Canadian Commissioners should be chary in offering large concessions to secure a treaty.

We favor a treaty, but we are against paying too much for it.

It has not yet been determined whether the recent war between the United States and Spain killed the Silver Bug. It is to be hoped for Uncle Sam's sake that it did.

GO AHEAD, MR. ROBERTSON.

ONE OF THE most extraordinary evidences of extreme partizanship has been displayed by some of the Liberal papers recently. Prof. Robertson, the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, with Hon. Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, had been traveling in England, when opportunity afforded them, addressing meetings, and they lost no opportunity of having themselves interviewed by the leading papers. All this must do Canada a very great deal of good.

In the course of his remarks, Prof. Robertson said that if Great Britain would give Canadian goods a preference, by collecting part of her revenue from these same goods supplied by other countries, it would be a great help to Canada, and Canadians, in return, would buy a greater quantity of British goods.

It happens that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when Mr. Chamberlain suggested the consideration of the whole question of Imperial trade by means of a royal commission, very unwisely, as some think, did not respond to the suggestion. Mr. Chamberlain dropped it.

Liberals who are not bound by strong party lines agree that Sir Wilfrid might have, at least, gone in for a commission of enquiry. It is known that several members of his Cabinet hold the same opinion.

What would be thought of any sane man who is offered a preference and would not accept it?

It is to be hoped that Professor Robertson will continue to advocate this policy. It evidently meets with Hon. Mr. Fisher's approval, for he has not called Professor Robertson down, and Mr. Fisher is showing himself to be one of the best men who has filled the Department of Agriculture, and a great improvement on some of the ward politicians placed for political reasons by the late Conservative Government.

CURRENTS ADVANCE.

Cables received in Toronto on Tuesday announced an advance of from 9d. to 1s. in the price of currants in Greece.

Mail advices received this week stated that rains had done damage to the currant crop in some districts. The advance just cabled is probably due to this damage.

It was expected shipments would begin on August 25.

NO BOYCOTT ON BRITISH SUGARS.

JUDGING from the tone of our exchanges, both British and American, an idea is abroad that the sugar refiners and wholesalers in Canada are conniving to boycott British sugars.

The matter was brought before the attention of the British House of Commons the other day, when Mr. Chamberlain promised to institute enquiries, and a few days ago a New York paper, in dealing with the question, headed its article with the words: "To Boycott British Sugars."

This is a misconception of the facts. There was no such thing as even a thought of boycotting British sugars when the wholesale grocers and the refiners drew up their recent agreement.

As the trade well know, the wholesalers had for a year or more been trying to induce the refiners to assist them in establishing a more uniform price for sugar, with a view to putting a stop to the unsatisfactory conditions which had obtained for several years.

The idea was that the refiners should fix the price, giving a graded rebate to the wholesalers who kept faith with the agreement, and withholding it from those who did not.

After long considering the matter, the refiners fell in with the view, upon certain conditions. These conditions were to the effect that the wholesalers, in order to secure the rebate on Canadian sugars, must not handle foreign refined sugars. To these conditions, the wholesalers, it will be remembered, a few weeks ago, concurred in, and they are now in operation.

Of course, British refined sugars come under the ban, but the specific intention was not to boycott British sugars, as certain people and newspapers in Great Britain and the United States appear to think.

The specific idea was to keep out the bounty-fed foreign sugars of Germany, Belgium, Austro-Hungary, etc., which, for some months, had been making things rather unpleasant for the Canadian refiners.

Unfortunately, the Trade and Navigation Returns for the past fiscal year have not yet been issued by the Government, but those for the year ending June 30, 1897, show that nearly two-thirds of Canada's imports of refined sugars that year came from Belgium.

The total imports from all countries were 6,917,938 pounds, of which 4,469,487 pounds were from Belgium. Only 177,971 pounds of British sugar were imported for home consumption. From Holland and Austro-Hungary no sugars were imported, and from France only 26 pounds came. But, during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1898, a great deal of granulated sugar was imported from Holland and from Austro-Hungary as well as from Belgium. Of British sugars, as far as we can learn, there was little else but a few yellow or soft descriptions brought in.

Aside, altogether, from the joint action of the refiners and wholesalers it is yet to be determined whether the preferential tariff will lead to an increased importation of refined sugar from Great Britain.

The reduction of one-fourth in the duty could only be enjoyed by British refined sugars which had been made from purely British raw sugars. And something like 80 per cent. of the raw sugar used by the British refiners comes from the bounty-giving countries of Europe.

Furthermore, brokers in Toronto have written to several refiners in England and Scotland, with a view to doing business under the preferential treaty, and the reply is that, as nearly all their refined sugars are made from Continental bounty-fed raws, they cannot do business with Canada.

It is evident, therefore, that if the action of the refiners and wholesalers was a direct boycott on sugars made in Great Britain there would in any event be but few sugars coming from there. It is the sugars from Holland, Belgium, Germany and Austro-Hungary that will feel the effects of the so-called boycott; indeed, they are already feeling it.

EXHIBITION EXHIBIT ADVERTISING.

At last, the manufacturers who are exhibitors at the large Canadian fall fairs have recognized the absurdity of the "puff" reading notices of their exhibits which appear in the daily and some class papers, for which the advertisers pay from 10 to 30c. per line. Last week, four of the earliest and largest exhibitors at the Toronto Fair made an agreement among themselves not to spend one cent this year in this reading matter advertising. It is said that a number of other advertisers will follow suit.

Reading matter advertising of exhibits was, no doubt, of some value when first forced on the public. It was new, and the reader thought it a genuine editorial notice. The same notice day after day during each fair has disabused his mind, however. To-day the public know that these notices are simply paid advertising. If such is the case, the advertiser is paying too much for this class of advertising, as it is only worth the regular line advertising rates. In some instances it is not worth that much.

A SHORT PACK OF CANNED SALMON.

ADVICES received in Toronto this week are of a pronounced bullish nature. Not for some years have they been more so.

The season on the Fraser closed yesterday (Thursday) unless the Government extended the time. And there is no question that the pack is a short one.

Just what the pack is cannot be more than approximately ascertained.

On the Fraser river it is the smallest for six years, even allowing for a wide difference in the estimates.

One authority places it at 160,000 cases, another at 180,000 cases, and still another at 200,000 cases, while we notice by a New York paper just to hand that an American authority places the pack at 228,000 cases.

The pack on the Fraser during the six previous years was as follows: 1897, 860,459 cases; 1896, 356,984 cases; 1895, 400,368 cases; 1894, 363,967 cases; 1893, 457,797 cases; 1892, 80,215 cases.

The pack on the Skeena and Naas rivers and Lowe Inlet is 95,000 cases, and at Rivers Inlet and Albert Bay 110,000, or a total of 205,000 cases.

In 1897, the pack on the Skeena, Naas and at Lowe Inlet aggregated 97,418 cases, and that at Rivers Inlet and Albert Bay, 48,814 cases. This is a total of 146,232 cases, or over 58,000 cases less than the present year's pack.

There are yet one or two unimportant points to hear from, but, taking the figures as we now have them, and allowing for the couple of days' packing which there would be between the date of the latest advices and the closing of the season, provided no extension is given, the total pack of canned salmon in British Columbia for 1898 may be estimated at about 450,000 cases. This would mean only 44 per cent. of last year's pack.

The total pack, in cases, in British Columbia, during the past six years was as follows:

1892	228,470
1893	590,229
1894	494,371
1895	566,395
1896	601,570
1897	1,015,477

How short the present pack is may be gathered from the fact that of last year's output 777,000 cases went to Great Britain alone.

What adds further strength to the situation, is the fact that the pack in the United States is also short. The pack in Alaska is a failure, on the Columbia river 100,000 cases short, while at Puget Sound it is 235,000 cases against 400,000 last year.

OFFERS ON NEW DRIED FRUIT.

THE season for import business in new crop dried fruit is now opening, but, so far, very little of importance has transpired in the Montreal market, except in relation to California raisins.

On these the feeling is quite firm, but no definite values have been fixed, despite the fact that a considerable quantity of fruit has already been placed for forward delivery. In fact, one salesagent stated that his sales so far were fully 50 per cent. greater than last year.

As all the business so far has been done on open orders, no price being specified, it is impossible to say what values will be on the first arrivals, but, they are expected to rule firm. It is understood, also, in connection with this fruit that packers and growers will make an effort this year to prevent, or at least to restrict, the shipment of inferior goods from the United States.

They will have the good wishes of the trade generally if they succeed in this laudable effort.

It is the intention to absorb this surplus of inferior goods for distillery and other purposes within the State, and so elevate the average of California dried fruit sent to outside markets.

So far, the only business on Valencia raisins has consisted of a few unconditional orders for shipment by the first direct steamer from Denia. It is impossible, therefore, to give any reliable price for new crop Spanish raisins for direct shipment. By the way of Liverpool, however, some offers were made this week on new fruit, the range being 17s. 3d. to 17s. 8d., cost and freight, as to grade. This means about 4½c, laid down in Montreal for off-stalk fruit.

Last year, the early orders for direct shipment from Denia ranged from 14s. 6d. to 16s., cost and freight, Montreal. The comparison, therefore, infers a higher market this year if the difference is maintained.

Cables in regard to new crop currants have reported a higher market, but buyers in Montreal consider the figures unreliable and very little interest has been shown there regarding business for fall importation.

The advices from the coast, on California prunes speak of a firm market. Crops are fair, except in the Santa Clara district where they are light. There has been some business for early fall delivery in 40's and 50's and these will cost 9¾ to 10c. laid down in Montreal. These large size California prunes are expected to rule higher than last year, but the sizes from 60's down are not expected to exhibit any material alteration from the average cost of last season.

According to recent advices, evaporated apricots and pears will be much higher, but buyers are not paying much attention to them, expecting a modification later on when business starts in earnest.

On the basis of some of the prices named, at the Coast apricots should cost 4c. more than last year, and pears in the vicinity of 2c., but, as we have said, conditions are expected to alter.

AGITATION WILL BE KEPT UP.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce, of Great Britain, has become a most important organization. It is composed of representatives of the boards of trade in the United Kingdom. Their proceedings are now reported as fully in The London Times, and sometimes more so than the proceedings of Parliament.

The Government is beginning to pay special attention to recommendations and requests from this body. At the last half yearly meeting, six out of seven motions adopted referred to legislation or Governmental assistance in the development of foreign and colonial trade.

In Canada, our legislators are too busy with politics and pay little attention to the wishes of business men. It is the desire of many of our readers that an agitation should be kept up until the Government and Parliament consult the wishes of the merchants and manufacturers.

APRICOTS AGAIN ADVANCE.

Dried apricots, of California production, are not likely to cut much of a figure in the Canadian market the ensuing season if they continue to appreciate in price as they have done lately.

This week, according to telegraphic advices, there has been another slight advance in the figures, which were already too high to tempt buyers in Canada.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Aug. 25, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THERE is a little lull in business this week, but, for this time of the year, the volume of trade is by no means bad. The most interesting feature of the wholesale trade is the canned salmon situation, advices from the Coast indicating that the pack is a small one indeed. The sugar market is strong, with the volume of business only fair. Nothing particularly new has developed in the canned vegetable market. There is not much business being done, but prices are being well maintained. Spices continue firm. There is yet no appearance of any weakening in the price of Japan teas, and teas generally are steady. Currants are cabled dearer. Prices have opened for new season's figs, but they are high. The market for Sultana raisins has also opened high.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the canned goods market is the strength of canned salmon. Advices from the Coast state that the pack on the Fraser river will scarcely be more than one-fourth of what it was last year, while the total pack for the whole Province is probably less than half that of 1897. Most of the packers have, in consequence, withdrawn quotations. At the time of writing, those who are quoting are, as a rule, asking $4 f.o.b. the Coast, but some claim to be asking as high as $4.50 f.o.b. Those who are quoting $4 state that they would not, at that figure, book anything more than a limited quantity. Lowe Inlet salmon is being quoted at $3.50 to $3.75 f.o.b. the Coast. Cohoes have been offering at equal to $3.75 to $4 delivered, and some transactions are reported at the inside figure. At the moment, however, the market is so excited, that it cannot be said what a day may bring forth. Some of the packers will not quote goods at all. Wholesalers report that some business is being done in salmon on spot, but some houses are holding Cohoes at $1, which they had been selling at 85c., and red salmon at $1.25 instead of $1.10. "Horseshoe" on spot is quoted at $1.30 in some instances. Canned vegetables remain in much the same position as they were a week ago. Packers are asking 75 to 80c. for tomatoes, and 65c. for peas and corn. The selling price of wholesalers is 85 to 90c. for tomatoes, but they are by no means anxious sellers at these figures.

Nothing definite is known in regard to the pack beyond that it promises to be fair in certain localities and poor in others. An effort was made to buy a round lot of tomatoes at 72½c., but it was abortive. One wholesale house on the street paid 95c. per doz. for tomatoes of last year's pack to fill an order. The price to retailers for old tomatoes is $1 to $1.10. Corn is quoted by wholesalers for future delivery at 70 to 75c. Peas are quoted at 75 to 80c. for ordinary. Some interest is being taken in gallon apples, certain factories having taken good orders already for future delivery at prices said to be a little over $2. Strawberries are being held at the same prices as formerly.

COFFEES.

Business is quiet with the price of Rio coffee in the outside markets slightly fluctuating.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Further enquiries for syrups have been received, but we hear of no transactions. The molasses market is quiet, but firm.

*See pages 27 and 28 for
Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

SUGARS.

The sugar market has not been a very interesting one during the past week. Prices are being well maintained. In Europe, the markets are being influenced by the weather conditions. In New York, raw sugars are being held for higher prices. Refined sugars are quoted ¾d. higher on the European markets. The demand for sugar on the Canadian markets is fair, but it is not as good as it was a week ago. The wholesale price of standard granulated is unchanged at 4 9-16c.

SPICES.

Pepper and cloves show a further advance in the primary markets, and, in all other lines, prices are being firmly held. A good many transactions are reported in pepper, but there is not much doing in other lines.

RICE, TAPIOCA, SAGO.

Sago is 1s. per cwt. dearer than it was a week ago, and tapioca and sago are both firmly held.

NUTS.

The representative of a French house, who was in Toronto a few days ago, stated that the walnut crop would be about 50 per cent. lower than a year ago, and the price about 30 per cent. higher. Shipments will also be later than a year ago.

TEAS.

Japan teas still maintain their strong position, and all efforts to purchase at lower prices appear unavailing. A bid of ¼c. per lb. below the price asked for a lot in which some $10,000 were concerned was not entertained. There have been a few transactions during the week, but a good many buyers are still inclined to hold off.

Advices from London, Eng., state that the supply of common teas of Indian and Ceylon growth is less than estimated, and that the recent ¾d. advance is firmly maintained. A fair business is being done locally in Ceylon pecko schauchongs at from 15 to 17½c. per lb., and stocks are becoming exhausted.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS — The cable announces an advance of 9d. to 1s. in the price of currants in Greece, and there has been some business transacted at the higher figures. Shipments were expected to begin yesterday (Thursday), and the first samples of new season's fruit reached the Toronto market on Tuesday. The sample is excellent.

VALENCIA RAISINS — Some little business is being done in new fruit, but prices have not yet reached a figure to warrant important buying. The market opened in Denia on August 15, and prices quoted for August shipment are 6d. lower than last year. With the season for new fruit near at hand, local wholesalers who have stock are beginning to quote lower prices.

SULTANA RAISINS — Market has opened high, good to ordinary fruit costing as high as 33 to 34s. f.o.b. Smyrna, but no business has been done here except a few confidential orders. A cable received on Tuesday from A. Whittall & Co., Smyrna, stated that the firm had effected its early shipments.

MALAGA RAISINS — Rein & Co. advise favorably regarding the crop, which promises to be larger than last year's, though somewhat later. W. C. Bevan & Co., in their circular, say: "No boxes of raisins are expected to arrive at market until the end of August next. As yet, nothing can be forecast respecting prices, seeing that the growers and storekeepers have thus far given out no hints on the subject."

FIGS — A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday announced the opening of the market for Eleme figs. The prices are high and likely to remain so.

PRUNES—Both Bosnia and French prunes have sold for October shipment, and the prices are lower than for the corresponding sizes of California prunes. Crop prospects for Bosnia prunes continue good. Some business is also reported in California prunes. Crop prospects for French plums are good, and prices are likely to rule low.

GREEN FRUIT.

The anticipated scarcity of native peaches is now being realized when, instead of being more plentiful and cheaper, they are less plentiful and the price has advanced from 40 to 60c. to 60c. to $1. Pears are unchanged in price, but as the quality of those now marketed is higher than those previously coming in, they are practically cheaper this week. Plums are more plentiful, and though better qualities are now coming in, the prices have declined 20 to 25c., now being 30 to 50c. per basket. Grapes are offered in fair quantities at 25 to 50c. per 10-lb. basket. Tomatoes are considerably cheaper this week, a fair quotation now being 15 to 25c. per basket. California fruit is unchanged in price. The demand for it is now limited. Apples continue at $1.25 to $2 per barrel. The top price for baskets is lower this week, however, the range now being 15 to 35c. Bananas are unchanged in price. The demand has fallen off considerably during the past month, owing to the abundance of other fruit. Oranges are not selling briskly, and are unchanged in value. Verdilla lemons have declined 50c., and are now quoted at $5 to $5.50. Messinas are unchanged.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The protracted drought has necessitated a good deal of hustling on the part of jobbers to secure sufficient dairy butter to meet requirements. Creamery butter is also in excellent demand. At country points, the following f.o.b. prices are quoted: Dairy tubs, 12 to 13c.; prints, 13 to 13½c.; creamery prints, 17½c.; tubs and boxes, 16 to 16½c.

CHEESE—The improved feeling manifested last week is in even greater evidence this week. At factories, 8c. is now a frequent price. There is no question but the drought has greatly decreased the output in Canada, especially Ontario, this year, and, though the production in Great Britain is much larger than last year, and a large stock was left over from last year, this decrease is likely to favorably affect prices.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOOD.

GRAIN—The feeling in regard to wheat continues steady at the present figures. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 69 to 70c.; white winter, 68 to 69c.; goose, 60 to 61c. The street market shows a firmer feeling in wheat and peas and new oats. Barley is now coming in. We quote: Wheat, white, 72 to 73c.; red, 72 to 73c.; goose, 61 to 61½c.; peas, 55 to 60c.; oats, old, 31 to 33c.; new, 29 to 30c. Manitoba No. 1 hard shows a decline of 5c., and as the new crop comes in further declines will follow. We now quote 90c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba grades have declined 10c. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.80 to $4.90; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.40 to $4.50; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.15; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There is considerable improvement in the demand. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.90 in bags and $4 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.75 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.60; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

PROVISIONS.

There is a good business being done in smoked meats. Long clear also shows great activity. There is a moderate sale of barrel pork. Though lumbering has not been commenced as early as last year, the prospects point to a considerable amount being done this year. Lard is weak, and a decline of ½c. all round is noted.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is an excellent demand for "fresh eggs that are fresh," but held stock is not wanted. The price for strictly fresh stock has advanced 1c., now being 12 to 12½c., while held stock is quoted all the way from 7 to 10c. At country points 9½ to 10½c. is paid for cases.

POTATOES—Receipts are liberal, though no car lots have yet arrived. Prices continue easy at 50c. per bushel.

HONEY—The local demand is quiet, with prices unchanged.

VEGETABLES—Corn and celery are somewhat cheaper. We quote as follows: Corn, 7 to 10c. per doz.; cauliflower, 75c. to $1 per doz.; celery, 40 to 70c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 40 to 75c.; parsley, 10 to 15c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 20 to 30c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.50 per bushel; beets, 25c. per peck; carrots, 25c. per peck; onions, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, $1 to $1.25.

FISH.

Receipts vary considerably, and prices fluctuate to meet the demand. Our quotations are nominally true of the market this week. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to

SEEDS.

There is liberal movement in choice to fancy lots of alsike at about $4 to $4.50, while slightly more is paid for strictly fancy shipments. The market cannot be called a steady one, as it is dependent on the export demand, which is liable to fall off at any time.

SALT.

There is a slight improvement noted in the amount of business being done. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The feeling is weak, with the prospects of an early decline. We quote as follows: No. 1, 9c.; No. 2, 8c.; No. 3, 7c.; cured, 9½c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Lambskins and shearlings are in excellent demand at 50 to 55c.

WOOL—There is nothing doing, as the opinions of buyers and sellers continue too widely divergent for business. Prices unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

MARKET NOTES.

Sago is 1s. dearer.

Canned salmon is firmer.

Lard has declined ½c. per lb.

Dairy tub butter has advanced 1c.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, August 25, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has been a fairly steady one. This is particularly the case in regard to leading staples, such as sugar and tea, which, as noted in the following reports, are very firm in their disposition. Canned vegetables also are stiff, and canned salmon are unsettled, as offers have been withdrawn in some cases. First business in new crop California raisins and prunes is noted, and the former are quite stiff. In fact, all the goods so far placed here for forward delivery have been on open orders, as the shippers on the Coast refused to name definite prices. Large size prunes, according to advices, promise to be much higher, while the smaller sizes will rule the same. There has been nothing done in Mediterranean dried fruit yet, the only news being some offers on Valencia raisins for shipment via Liverpool, which have not resulted in anything as yet.

SUGAR.

The trade in refined sugar locally has been of a quiet character, prices ruling steady at the late advance. In fact, the limited nature of the demand at present is a surprise to many jobbers, whose reports indicate that stocks are small in dealers' hands throughout the country. For this reason, they expect a better enquiry in the near future. Granulated sells steady at 47-16c., and yellows, $3\frac{3}{4}$ to $4\frac{1}{8}$ c., as to grade. There was some reaction in the raw market for beet at London toward the close of last week, but since then it has ruled quiet and steady, present month being quoted at 9s. $5\frac{1}{2}$ d., and next month at 9s. $5\frac{1}{4}$ d. Cane was quiet and without change, Java being quoted at 11s. 9d. and fair refinery at 10s. 6d. In New York, raw is firm, fair refining, $3\frac{3}{4}$ c., and centrifugal, 96 test, $4\frac{1}{4}$ c. Refined is firm and unchanged also in that market.

SYRUPS.

There is only a limited call for syrups, and prices are unchanged on the basis of $2\frac{1}{8}$ c. per lb. for sugar-house grade at the factory.

MOLASSES.

There has been no change in this market, business having assumed a very quiet aspect, and no particular activity is expected on spot until the middle of next month. Prices are unchanged, as last quoted, cargo lots having offered at $27\frac{1}{2}$ c., while jobbers are firm holders at 30c. in car lots and 31c. in single puncheons. According to recent letters from Barbadoes, the shipments up to July 23 were 35,761 puncheons, against 32,850 puncheons last year.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned vegetables has been somewhat quieter during the week, as buyers, having contracted for a fair quantity of stock, are now disposed to hold off a bit. There are no indications of any change in prices, agents being firm at 75c. for tomatoes and 70c. for corn. Little is doing in canned salmon, because many agents have been intructed not to offer anything, for the time being. The range, so far as known, appears to be firmly held, on the basis of $3.60 to $3.65 f.o.b. Coast, but buyers here expect that they will be able to fill their wants at $3.50.

COFFEE.

The market is extremely quiet, the only transactions of moment noted being a few lots of Santos at 8 to 10c. and Maracaibo at 10 to 15c., between traders. Rio is quoted at 7 to 10c., as to quality. These figures are, of course, for straight invoice lots, and do not apply to ordinary jobbing trade, which is almost nil at the moment.

SPICES.

Pepper and cloves continue firm abroad. Local business is very quiet.

TEAS.

The firm feeling already noted in Japan teas is as marked as ever, and quite a fair quantity of new crop tea has been placed to arrive with the wholesale trade, costing chiefly 16 to 17c. The same tea cost last year 2c. per lb. less money. Congou teas have also been sold at 12 to 17c., and Pingsuey gunpowders at 9 to 13c. The crop of the latter is reported to be 80,000 half-chests, with only 60,000 available, for the United States under the present standard.

DRIED FRUIT.

The California raisin market is quite firm in its tone regarding new crop, and no quotations on new crop to arrive are yet obtainable. Reports from the Coast state that an effort will be made this year by the growers and packers to prevent the shipment of inferior goods, the intention being to use up surplus stock of this sort in the distilleries and other ways.

Advices from London state that sellers are not urging matters on Valencia raisins. So far, no offers by direct steamer have yet been quoted in Montreal, but, for shipment via Liverpool, from 17s. 3d. to 17s. 8d. has been quoted. So far, nothing important has yet resulted from these offers.

Currants are cabled quite firm this week on new crop, but no desire has yet been manifested here to place orders for future delivery.

California prunes are firm, and first offers on new crop fruit were quoted here this week. Based on these offers 40's and 50's will be from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ c. higher this year, while the smaller sizes, from 60's down, are expected to rule about the same. So far, forward contracts have only included a few lots of 40's and 50's, which will cost the importer $9\frac{3}{4}$ to 10c. laid down in Montreal. The crop of prunes, according to advices, is said to be a fair one, except in the Santa Clara district, which is backward.

Advices regarding California dried apricots indicate much higher prices, as the crop is a small one. According to some of the offers made, prices would be 4c. higher than last year, but buyers are disposed to hold off. An exceptionally small crop is the reason adduced for the firm prices asked. The same reports are received regarding pears, which, on the basis of recent advices, would cost 2c. more than last year.

NUTS.

Last week, an advance was noted in shelled walnuts. Since then, in consequence of the active enquiry, holders here have again marked up their prices 2 to 3c., the range now being firm at 18 to 20c. There is nothing special to report in regard to other sorts.

GREEN FRUIT.

Receipts of new Canadian fruit, peaches, pears, and plums have been the chief feature of the week, and in the face of small supplies of California sorts, they have commanded good prices as the figures quoted in our prices current will show. The only other changes were in bananas and apples, both of which are rather higher for the outside figure, owing to the wide difference in the quality of the stock offering. Oranges and lemons show no change and are neglected in the face of receipts of native and California fruit of other sorts.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was a strong undertone in the egg market this morning, some merchants even looking for another slight advance notwithstanding that prices are already too high to permit of exporting. We quote: Selected new laid, 14c.; No. 1 candled stock, $11\frac{1}{2}$ to $12\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 2 candled, 9 to 10c.; and P.E.I., 10 to $10\frac{1}{2}$ c.

BEANS—There is nothing new in beans, the market being dull throughout. We quote: choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; Primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—Honey is coming in well, and the quality is excellent, and supply large. Quotations are 8 to 8½c. for 1-lb. sections of white clover comb, and 6½ to 7c., for dark, 7 to 8c. for white extracted, and 4 to 5c. for dark.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Next to nothing is happening in maple product. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb., and in tins, 45 to 50c., as to size. Sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The local provision market was quite firm, with no new developments to note. The demand for bacon and hams continues good, and stocks all round are light. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8c. to 8½c.; and compound refined at 5½c. per lb.; hams, 11c. to 12c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

The grain market was quiet for all sorts. Corn was nominal at 39½c. in store, with a somewhat easier tendency, while oats were quoted at 30½c. for old and 29½c. for new, this being a falling off of 1c. from last week's prices. Peas were dull, but transactions were reported at 61c. afloat. Nothing was done in rye, but nominal quotations in store this morning were 47 to 48c. Wheat was also weaker to-day. Millers take everything offered, so that the local market has not seen much of it yet. The last quotations given were 90 to 92 or 93c. for Manitoba No. 1 hard laid down here. Ontario farmers are said to be holding for 70c. for theirs.

There was nothing to report in flour to-day, business being very limited. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $4 to $4.25; straight rollers, $3.50 to $3.75; bags, $1.70 to $1.80; Manitoba patents, $5 to $5.05, and strong bakers', $4.75 to $4.90.

Feed is in fair demand and values are firmly held. We quote as follows: Ontario winter wheat bran, $11.75 to $12; shorts, $14.50 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $11 to $11.50; shorts, $13 to $13.50, and moultrie, $16 per ton, including bags.

Trade in meal was very light, and prices were unchanged at $3.60 per bbl. and $1.25 per bag, for rolled oats.

There was nothing doing in hay. We quote as follows: Shipping hay, $4 to $5; good to choice, No. 1, $8 to $9, and No. 2, at $5.50 to $7 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues firm in tone and full prices were paid again this week. Shippers still complain, however, about the difficulty they experienced in getting buyers in England to follow the rise, but, though this is so, there is a steady volume of buying going on that maintains values. In fact, the only danger at present in sight is that the speculator may start in and run the price of fall cheese up to a point where the demand will be checked. Aside from this contingency the conditions appear to be favorable. Last year there was an output of fully 75,000 boxes fodder cheese. This year there was hardly 5,000. Last year from May right up to the end of the season the make of each month showed a heavy increase. This year May was rather heavier than last, but since then the output of each month has been less, in fact, the aggregate shortage at present is estimated by some authorities at 300,000 boxes. We quote as follows: Finest western, colored, 8¼ to 8¾c.; finest western, white, 8 to ⅞c.; finest eastern, colored, 8 to 8⅞c.; finest eastern, white, 7¾ to 7⅝c.; Liverpool cable, colored, 38s.; Liverpool cable, white, 37s. 6d.

Butter continued much the same to-day, but factorymen are disposed to bring out an extreme price which, of course, tends to check business. Business was noted to day within our range for finest, but the outside price is an extreme price, and the goods have to be fancy to realize it. Receipts of butter were 888 boxes. We quote: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 17¾ to 18c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 17½ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17¾ to 17⅞c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17 to 17¼c.; dairy butter, 14½ to 15c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables from Greece report a firmer market on new crop currants, but business here is light for forward shipment.

Reports state that the prune crop is fair on the Pacific Coast, except in the Santa Clara district, where it is not good.

There have been offers on new crop Valencia raisins here this week, for shipment via Liverpool, at 17s. 3d. to 17s. 8d.

Based on offers made this week, new crop large size prunes are going to be higher this year, while small sizes will rule about the same.

Growers and packers in California are reported to be making an effort to prevent the shipment of inferior low-grade raisins from the State this season.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 23, 1898.

THE past week has shown rather improved business. Canned vegetables for future delivery appear firm, and higher prices are likely to rule than were expected. The weather here has been very wet, and has affected crops, particularly hay and wheat. As regards the latter, it is very disappointing, the Government having been successful in getting the farmers to go into this quite largely, the first time for many years. It is said the cause why farmers had about given up its cultivation was the same as is preventing its cultivation being a success this year, namely, the rust. In tea, new Chinas are not giving extra satisfaction. Ceylons rule rather higher. In spices, there is little change.

OIL—As the season advances there is improved demand for burning oil, and dealers are preparing for fall business. There is a firm feeling, but no advance as yet.

SALT—Our market is well supplied. There is a good sale for Liverpool coarse at even prices. Further arrivals are daily expected, and buyers would do well to order so as shipment can be made from the ship's side, as a good profit can be saved between the price then charged and the ex store price. In fine salt the Canadian has a steady sale. A number of dealers have received shipments during the week. For table use, English bottled salt continues to hold a place with best retail dealers, but as regards quantity the Canadian leads. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 6oc. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—One is surprised when he finds at least between 12 and 15 cars of new goods, chiefly vegetables, have been placed already in this market. This is the more odd, as packers, in many cases, were not known to quote corn and tomatoes, or only quoted them for a short time. All packers hold peas firmer. They cannot be said to be pushing sales on any lines. Salmon continues to have little interest, in spite of the advices that prices will be higher. Canned meats are all quoted lower, and an improved sale is noted in American goods. Pork and beans, in tomato sauce, are having increased sale, and prices are quoted rather lower. There are practically no lobsters offering. Nova Scotia packers are offering gallon apples. New Brunswick packers are also in the market with these and other lines.

GREEN FRUIT—Ontario goods are now on the market, and divide the interest with Californian, plums, particularly, being pushed. In Californian fruits, receipts during the week have been light, and prices, particularly pears, which have the chief sale, have been high. There is some competition from eastern pears, but in price, not quality. The sale of American apples was smaller this year than usual. Good fruit from both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is being received, of soft, fall varieties. Shipments of wild berries to the United States, particularly blueberries, are large. Receipts of cultivated raspberries have not been large this season. A few melons are being sold, but the trade is light. Lemons show no change.

DRIED FRUIT—There is more interest being taken, and with the quoting of California fruits, this branch of the trade will rapidly come to the front in the consideration of wholesale grocers. California prunes will rule higher this year, but will be much lower in proportion than peaches and apricots, particularly the latter. Orders for currants are being placed with prospects of rather higher prices later. Peels, if showing any change, are easier. There are still a good many old muscatels on the market, particularly Malagas. They could be bought low. American raisins are now supplying the trade. The prospect for seeded raisins is toward higher prices, owing to some packers on the Coast losing their plant by fire. Coast packed fruits are preferred to those seeded east.

SUGARS—Prices are rather firmer. Regarding the imported sugars, there is a difference of opinion. Some of our larger dealers are not touching them, while others seem well pleased. Some would like very much to buy outside of local refining, but, of course, they buy where they can get the best value. Some yellows are not giving every satisfaction. In quality the imported has been all that was expected, but the fact that it is so long coming to hand, particularly yellows, is a great drawback.

MOLASSES—There continues little improvement, though it is still expected prices will have to go higher. There is a good city demand; in fact, it seems a growing one, while country demand continues to fall off. This latter is caused by the low price of sugar. The dulness in lumber is also a chief cause. Some good syrups are offered low here.

PRODUCE—Butter may be showing an improvement, but if so, it is slight. Commission men continue to discourage consignment. Poor grades are impossible to sell, and, even for creamery, but fair prices are obtainable. Eggs are quite firmly held, but during the week receipts have been rather larger. Buyers are particular about quality, and the strictly fresh eggs are sold well above the regular case price. In cheese, a light sale at even figures is reported.

FISH—Receipts of dry fish are larger, but there is no over stock. There is a good sale at firm prices, except for pollock, which is dull. Hake shows improved business, and, with the close of the war, much better prices are expected, as it finds its chief sale in the West Indies. Pickled herring also show improved sale; receipts are but fair, and prices are firmly held. There is improved sale for boneless fish. A few fresh shad are still received. The pickled offered are particularly good. We quote: Large cod, $3.35 to $3.50; medium, $3.25 to $3.35; pollock, $1.25 to $1.30; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.50 to $1.60 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4 to 4½c.; shad, 10 to 14c.; salmon, 16 to 18c.; ½-bbl. shad, $4 to $5; rippling herring, $1.80 to $2; wolves do., $2.10 to $2.25.

PROVISIONS—There is improved sale for barrelled goods as season advances, and the low prices also tend to aid business. Smoked meats have but fair business. Lard shows a steady sale at even figures.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour buyers hardly know what to do. Prices are low; much lower than before the advance, but crop is reported large, and there is a feeling that, at least for a time, new wheat may go below present figures. In order to get old flour many have lately placed small orders. Feed and grain are likely to continue scarce and high. Word from the west is that farmers will feed about every kind except wheat, and will need a large quantity. Hay is dull, the new crop will be much smaller than was expected, owing to the very wet weather. Oats, oatmeal and cornmeal, on this market, show no change, but are firm. Beans, while they show improved sale, are still a small business. Barley and peas are quite scarce, but lower prices are expected with the offering of new goods. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.60 to $5.65; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.70; medium, $4.25 to $4.45; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.20; middlings, $2.00 to $2.10; bran, $1.70 to $1.80; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A catch of 20,000 shad in one night is reported at Scotch Bay, Nova Scotia.

Counterfeit two dollar American bills have been found in circulation in St. Stephen.

J. M. Wiley, representing Armour & Co.,

Chicago, has been calling on the trade this week.

The Portland Packing Company, N.B., shipped 6,000 cases lobsters this season. Prices obtained were high.

The harvest excursion to the Northwest is attracting the attention of numbers of farm laborers and others, and many have already gone.

The St. John representatives at the Maritime Board of Trade, Truro, N.S., were W. M. Jarvis, D. J. McLaughlin, George Robertson and W. H. Thorne, a strong delegation.

Exports of Barbadoes molasses for this season, up to August 6, are much below those for the same time last season, being 29,131 puncheons as compared to 35,593 puncheons.

The annexation of Porto Rico to the United States will prevent Canadian vessels carrying cargoes between those places. This will be much felt by our shipowners, as this has in the past been a regular trade. Should Cuba also become part of the United States, it would be that much worse.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is pleased to welcome A. O. Hastings, representing the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, as a citizen of St. John. Mr. Hastings has for years regularly visited our city in the interests of the above firm. He evidently knows a good thing, for, lately married, he has brought his wife here and is now making this his headquarters.

NEW SCALE SELLS WELL.

The Fairbanks Company reports an increasing demand for its latest improved butchers' scale. This scale consists of a dial arrangement from which the platform is suspended by means of neat, curved, brass rods attached to a spring balance. It weighs up to 30 lb., and is guaranteed not to vary one ounce in that amount. The company's new warehouse on Craig street, Montreal, is now quite completed, and is well worth a visit by anyone interested in weighing machines, valves, cocks, etc.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22, 1898.

THERE is no change in the grain situation since last writing. The weather has been absolutely perfect for the ripening of grain. Prof. Foster predicted a cold wave for the 20th, but it proved the third hottest day of the season. The number of points at which cutting has commenced are, of course, increasing daily. The tension as to possible damage by frost is beginning to be relieved, although it will be fully two weeks, if not more, before all danger is over.

The perennial question of Ontario and British Columbia fruit is again with us. The fruit is arriving, as usual, in a most unsatisfactory condition. Your correspondent saw a carload of tomatoes and pears, in baskets, unloaded Saturday afternoon. The baskets had been piled one upon another and jammed down so tightly, with no passage for the air, that the whole layer of fruit on the top of each basket was all spotted and spoiled. Why Ontario fruit growers continue to pack in this way is a mystery. They have the example of the California fruit growers before them, with their beautifully arranged and carefully iced cars, packed so that the fruit is not crushed, and strapped firm to prevent jostling, and with plenty of air space between the cases. Crawford peaches taken out of one of these cars 19 days after leaving California were in perfect condition. The majority of the dealers here would prefer handling Ontario or British Columbia fruit, but the packing at present prohibits all idea of this market being supplied in this way.

Business is steady and very good for the season of the year. There is a good deal of stir in produce and some changes in prices.

BUTTER—Creamery is bringing from 17½ to 18c., the larger number of sales being effected at the latter figure. Some few factories are still inclined to hold. There is no doubt that the prices paid are purely speculative and depend wholly on how soon the dealers get all they want. The present outlook indicates a drop in the English market, and if that occurs there will be a glut in the western market. The same thing applies to dairy butter, which is held at 12½ to 13c., point of shipment, and for which country dealers have paid as high as 15c. Dairy butter is moving freely.

CHEESE—Very firm and factories holding, in some cases, even their June cheese, having refused 8½c. for it.

EGGS—Very firm at 13c., Winnipeg. The quality is improving.

CURED MEATS—Market is without change for the past week. Quotations are: smoked hams, 11½c.; breakfast bellies, 12c.; backs, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; spiced rolls, 10½c.; dry salt long clear bacon, 9¼c.; extra short clear, 8½c.; extra short clear, smoked, 9½c.; shoulders, 9c.; backs, 10c.; lard, pure, 20-lb. pails, $1.80; compound, $1.40; American canvassed hams, 11¼c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 11¼c.; backs, 11c.

DRIED FRUITS—California dried or evaporated fruits are so high that it looks as if the price would be prohibitive. Apricot

(new stock) cannot be sold under 15c. per lb. Pears are fully 2c. higher than last year, and will sell for 11c.; peaches (unpeeled) at 12c. No stocks are on this market yet, and the orders placed are not large, as the feeling seems to be that the goods would not be salable at such high figures. California prunes are also high, but, as the Bosnia crop is very large, it is thought the price of California prunes will not advance much. There is little movement in either dried or evaporated apples.

CURRENTS—Orders have been placed for these goods, but none will arrive before October. California raisins are higher than last year, but Spanish raisins are slightly cheaper. No sale price has yet been fixed for Winnipeg.

NUTS—All nuts are reported higher, and figs are scarce, particularly cooking figs.

TEA—Large shipments of Japan teas have arrived. The price is from 2 to 3c. higher than last year. The quality is about as usual.

PEPPERS—Both white and black remain firm, but cloves have lowered slightly.

CANNED GOODS—Seem somewhat of a problem just now. Several factories in the east have withdrawn their quotations for raspberries, tomatoes and corn from the Winnipeg market. Raspberries are now quoted from $2.75 to $3, and large orders were placed by Winnipeg merchants for raspberries before the price advanced. Gallon apples are quoted very high. It is believed here that the very large shipments of both green and evaporated apples to Germany will seriously effect prices here.

SUGAR—Price remains firm at the advance quoted last week. A good deal of German sugar is being sold here.

COFFEE—Market is dull at 9½c. for No. 5 Rios.

GREEN FRUIT—It begins to look as there might be some difficulty in getting all the California fruit wanted for this market, as both plums and peaches have been scarce this week. Prices have stiffened somewhat, though hardly so much as is warranted by the advance in the primary market. We quote: Peaches, $1.50 per case; pears, in 50-lb. cases, $2.50 to $3; plums, $1.25 to $1.40, according to variety; apples, Washington, in 50-lb. boxes, $1.75; Ontario, in barrels, $3.50; in baskets, 40c.; pears in baskets, 75c.; Concord grapes, 50c. per basket; oranges, $4 to $4.50 per case, according to variety; Messina lemons, $6; bananas, $2.50 to $3; watermelons, per dozen, $3; new dates, 6c. per lb.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Frank Britton has joined the traveling staff of The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Col. Davidson, of The Davidson & Hay, Limited, is taking a week's rest at the sea side.

Joseph A. Bird, a member of the firm of E. M. Dadelszen, Bordeaux, France, spent a few days in Toronto last week.

J. T. James, of Bridgeburg, was in Hamilton last week, looking remarkably well. His Hamilton friends were glad to see him.

C. K. Colson, of C. E. Colson & Son,

Montreal, was in Toronto on Tuesday en route home from a business trip to Hamilton, London, etc. He reported business good.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

THE Alpha Chemical Co. reports large shipments of its lines to the wholesale trade in Montreal and Ottawa this week.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are giving special value on Sultana raisins.

Warren Bros. & Co. have taken into stock a shipment of choice kippered chicken.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have now in stock new pack strawberries and raspberries.

T. Kinnear & Co. have received a shipment of "Crown" brand lobster, in ½-lb. tins.

The Snow Drift Co. are putting two dainty little oil jugs on the market filled with extract.

The Eby, Blain Co. have another direct shipment of medium pearl tapioca arriving this week.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have received a few Ontario maps. Same can be had on application.

Lumsden Bros. are opening this week great value in broken Orange Pekoe tea to retail at 25c.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering Port Hope Boston baked beans and baked beans in tomato sauce.

Attention is drawn to the basket-fired Japan tea being offered to the trade by L. Chaput, Fils & Cie.

T. Kinnear & Co. are offering a line of Valencia raisins at $1 per box for off-stalk, and $1.25 per box for fine off-stalk.

The Eby, Blain Co. claim that they are offering gem jars below the market to-day, and invite inquiry for quotations.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. are now offering Marshall's preserved bloaters, kippered herring and herring in tomato sauce.

Over 400 cases of New York ginger ale were sent out by W. H. Gillard & Co. last week, and almost every order a repeater.

Lumsden Bros. are particularly well pleased with their Toronto venture, and are talking of purchasing a warehouse there.

Assorted soups, to retail at two for 25c., are in stock with Warren Bros. & Co.; also a shipment of "Empress" salad dressing.

The Alpha Chemical Co. would like to remind buyers that it has added the household ammonia and liquid blackings of all kinds.

"Kiji" tea, new season's goods, will be in stock with Lucas, Steele & Bristol this week in bulk and 5 and 1-lb packets—quality equal to that of last year.

The sale for Boston Laundry starch and Toledo corn starch is 100 per cent. greater this month than last. The outlook on the corn crop is that if rain does not come to the corn belt of Ohio, Illinois and Indiana very soon the price of corn will advance materially.

MONTREAL.

FLOATING GROCERY STORE.

SUMMER visitors and tourists are a considerable source of revenue to many a retail merchant. The latter should do all they can to encourage the organizations being formed to develop this trade—i. e. to bring Americans into Canada for the summer months.

The Muskoka Lake district in Ontario draws hundreds of people every year. There is room for many thousands more. It requires judicious advertising in the United States. It is at present a poor man's resort. It draws a middle class American who often lives cheaper there than at home. We should aim to get the wealthy American who will erect houses costing from $20,000 to $100,000 and spend large sums annually, as they do at other places. One New Yorker is reported to have spent already on a place recently purchased in Quebec $125,000.

In Muskoka, the best and quickest way to get about is by boat. This is the way supplies are transported. There are now two regular "supply boats" on these most attractive waters. One is owned by Hanna & Co., Port Carling, and the other by Homer & Co., Gravenhurst and Rosseau. Both firms are enthusiastic readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Each steamer is a regularly fitted-up grocery store. They do a thriving and steadily increasing trade. Not long ago row boats supplied the demand. Canned and bottled goods have, of course, the chief call. Of these Heinz has the best display, a representative of that firm having personally spent some days at the beginning of the season making inquiry into the class of goods needed. There is a large demand for confectionery. Both firms sell much more on their floating shops during the two months of the Muskoka season than for the whole year in their three land stores. Strange to say, they carry more of Ganong Bros', from St. Stephen, N.B., than any other make. Stower's, Rose's and Montserrat lime juice seem to take a prominent place. Each boat also carries a good stock of packet teas, every one of which bears a Ceylon brand, showing the popularity which this British grown, machine-made tea has attained in this country. Each supply boat has also a butcher's shop attached, the space being leased to local butchers.

Everything is as clean, sweet and attractive as if sold from the best city grocery.

THE WORLD'S APPLE CROP.

M. H. Petersen & Co. have issued their estimate of the world's apple crop. They report the crop in Great Britain is heavier than last year. In Spain and Portugal early varieties are rather light, but later varieties will be heavier. There will be a fair crop of late varieties in France and Belgium. The crop in Holland and Germany will not be large, except the earlier varieties in Holland, which are heavier.

In the New England States, including Maine and New York, the crop will be about one-half the average, and the quality will be most inferior. Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Kentucky crops will be about one-third the average. Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Illinois and Indiana crop will be considerably less than last year. Michigan, California, Colorado and Oregon will likely produce more than last year.

The Nova Scotia crop is expected to be a fair one. The shipments are estimated this year at over 200,000 barrels.

In Ontario, east of Toronto, there will not be as many as last year, but west of Toronto the general estimate is that there will be many times more than last year.

Much of the crop in Ontario, as well as that of the New England States, is of inferior quality. It is hoped that Canadian shippers will not make the mistake of shipping inferior apples, the result of which must prove disappointing and even prejudice the sale of apples of good quality. The consumer in Great Britain does not object to pay a fair price for apples of good quality, but apples of inferior quality are not wanted.

The prospects are that the fall varieties will not be required in Great Britain, except in very moderate quantities, as their apples and those from the continent will almost answer their requirements until our winter apples are ready for shipment. It is, however, quite possible that the United States may require some of our fall varieties of good quality.

TRADE CHAT.

D. GILLESPIE, general merchant, Stayner, Ont., is taking advantage of the summer quietness in business to visit Chicago.

Warton, Ont., is dealing with a Toronto manufacturing company who employ about 20 hands all the year, with a view to having them locate in that town.

The first carload of fruit over the Grand Trunk for the Eastern Provinces consisted of 12 tons of grapes, peaches, pears, plums and apples from C. P. Carpenter & Sons, Winona. It was shipped last week.

J. J. Holland, formerly an employe in the grocery department of McArthur & Harper, Kamloops, B.C., has opened out as grocer at the corner of Victoria street and Third avenue, Kamloops.

Our exports during the first seven months of this year show a decrease of $6,313,847 as compared with the corresponding period of last year, while our imports have increased by $10,538,224.—London, Eng., Daily Mail.

At the meeting of the creditors of The Queen Biscuit Co., St. John, N.B., on Thursday last week, J. F. Merritt and I. H. Northrup were appointed inspectors. The liabilities of the estate are over $20,000, the assets about $7,500.

Chatham, Ont., is likely to have an evaporating factory started there soon. W. H. Tighe, a grain buyer of that town, is said to be completing arrangements for a factory to evaporate 1,000 bushels per day, and a Belleville expert, Mr. Graham, who was thinking of commencing operations in Wallaceburg, has, according to The Chatham Banner, decided to start in Chatham, if he can secure enough apples in the vicinity of that town.

CANADA'S COMMERCIAL AGENTS.

Following is the correct official list of Canada's commercial agents:

J. S. Larke, Sydney, N.S.W., agent for Australasia.

G. Eustace Burke, Kingston, Jamaica, agent for Jamaica.

Robert Bryson, St. John, Antigua, agent for Antigua, Montserrat and Dominica.

S. L. Horsford, St. Kitts, agent for St. Kitts, Nevis and Virgin Islands.

Edgar Tripp, Port of Spain, Trinidad, agent for Trinidad and Tobago.

C. E. Sontum, Christiana, Norway, agent for Sweden and Denmark.

D. M. Rennie, Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, agent for Argentine Republic and Uruguay.

In addition to their other duties, the undermentioned will answer enquiries relative to trade matters, and their services are available in furthering the interests of Canadian traders:

J. G. Colmer, 17 Victoria street, London, S.W. England.

Thomas Moffatt, 16 Church street, Cape Town, South Africa.

G. H. Mitchell, 15 Water street, Liverpool, Eng.

H. M. Murray, 40 St. Enoch square, Glasgow, Scotland.

Harrison Watson, curator Imperial Institute, London, England.

The above appears in a newspaper which claims to be in touch with the Canadian Department of Trade, and is, no doubt, authentic.

We have frequently pointed out the need of sending more business men to Parliament, and fewer professional men. We are a commercial people. We live by trade, whether we are farmers or merchants. The above list shows that our Governments—Liberal and Conservative—fail to grasp the business situation. Our best market is the United Kingdom. The possible sale of our goods in the other countries mentioned above is infinitesimal, compared with the British consumption. Yet, we engage men and send them to these unimportant centres to develop a demand for Canadian goods, while our Governments neglect to do the same in our most important markets.

BETTER THAN TRADING STAMPS.

A Chicago electric company builds a machine something on the principle of a cash register. It provides a method of giving five per cent. rebate to the customer that possesses many advantages over the trading stamp scheme. It has sixteen keys, representing various amounts, from twenty-five cents to six dollars. The cashier, upon receiving payment for any purchase, presses down the key which represents the amount of the purchase. The device is such that the twentieth strike of each key rings an electric gong. When this gong rings the money is refunded, with the purchase, to the purchaser. Thus the merchant gives away every twentieth purchase at fifty cents, at one dollar, etc. Some dealers using it place an immense gong on the street, connected by wire with the indicator on the inside, and when a customer receives a gift the fact is proclaimed for a block up and down the street.—Advertising World.

"SMOKING" TO "CURE" IT.

At Southwark police court, yesterday afternoon, Inspector Ashdown asked Mr. Paul Taylor to condemn some tons of Canadian bacon lying at Cotton's wharf. It being inconvenient to bring so large a quantity to the yard of the court, the magistrate proceeded to the wharf and inspected the bacon.

Dr. Younger, medical officer, said the bacon was wet, green, putrid and unfit for human food, but that a great deal of it was not in such a bad condition, and some might be fit for food after having been smoked.

It was arranged that the smoking process should be conducted by instalments.

At the end of the week, the magistrate is to make an order for destroying all the condemned bacon.—Star, London, Eng., August 11.

[Remarks: This is the bacon referred to in last week's issue, which had been damaged through the stranding of the steamer on which it had been shipped.—Editor, CANADIAN GROCER.]

CANADA'S BIG DISPLAY.

IN the International Hall at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, Omaha, the largest exhibit is that of the Dominion of Canada. It occupies 5,000 feet of floor space and 6,000 feet of wall space, covered with the best the country can produce. It is an agricultural, mineral, forestry and dairy exhibit combined. The location is first-class, taking in the main entrance to the building. C. H. Myers, commissioner from the Dominion of Canada, is in charge, assisted by W. V. Bennett, the resident Canadian agent, and his daughter, Miss June Bennett. The exhibit is viewed by ninety per cent. of the Exposition visitors, a vast proportion of whom are astonished by the great showing of the country's resources here made. Wheat that grades "No. 1 hard northern," and is produced to the amount of thirty-eight to forty-five bushels per acre all through the Dominion is the principal agricultural product shown.

The lumber exhibit is interesting as well as instructive, both on account of the numerous samples and the character of the exhibits. There are some oak, pine, poplar, birch, hickory, walnut, maple, cedar, and a score of other varieties of the woods of the forest. One of the most interesting is a slab cut from a log of hard pine. It is six feet across, and Mr. Myers vouches for the statement that the tree from which this plank came measured 150 feet to the first limb.

A great showing of apples, pears, plums and other fruits is also made.

In grasses there is no end to the display. There are all of the varieties grown in the United States, both tame and wild, and the assertion is made that some of them produce as high as three tons per acre.

In the centre of the court is the mineral display. Three large cases are filled with rich specimens of gold, silver, copper, lead, zinc, tin, iron and other metals from the gray sulphates to the most beautiful and delicate forms of crystallizations.

The low railroad rates now in force make it possible for many Canadians to visit the Omaha Exposition.

MONEY WEIGHT SCALE.

Computing or money weight scales are getting more popular every day with the grocers. Mistakes are not made in calculating the price of the goods and the weight and price is given at the same time, so that a boy can weigh on them as well as an expert with a big bump of calculation on his head. The scales will last a life time and are beautifully finished. C. Wilson & Son, of the Toronto Scale Works, Toronto, are the manufacturers.

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO., Manufacturers.

For sale by all wholesale Grocers in Canada.

A fortune will be spent this season to thoroughly advertise Monsoon ^{Indo Ceylon} Tea in every city, town and hamlet throughout Canada, and thousands of packages of Monsoon are giving trial—proof everywhere that it is the nectar among teas. It will pay you to handle Monsoon—because it is the best of the best advertised teas.

"The Scrubbers are Coming"

That great army of household workers (the women) are homeward bound from the summer vacation.
 Dust and dirt are going to catch it now!
 Think of the Brooms and Brushes they'll need —they'll want the best they can get for the money they pay. Are you stocked up for the onslaught?

Boeckh's Brooms and Brushes pay a grocer a good clean profit, and they never fail to satisfy. Our illustrated book will help you to decide — send for it, it's free to all grocers.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

“You can't eat your cake and have it too”—you've got to give up something in this world to get something. You can't make great big profits on a small article without sacrificing quality.

Isn't it better judgment to hold on to the trade of the woman who has confidence in you, than to juggle with that faith for a few cents extra profit?

A woman combines two unique operations in one, when she uses that Modern English Home Dye of highest quality—Maypole Soap. It washes and dyes at the same time. It is as sure as sunrise in the even brilliant color it yields. It never streaks.

And all women like the cleanliness and ease with which they handle it. It is absolutely fadeless.

THE TEA STANDARD QUESTION.

VIEWS OF THE TRADE IN REGARD THERETO.

AS the members of the grocery trade well know, at the last session of Parliament a bill was passed authorizing the Customs Department to fix standards for the regulation of tea importations into Canada. With commendable judgment, the Minister of Customs is enlisting the co-operation of importers in fixing these standards. About a month ago, he met a number of them in Ottawa, and, in November next, another conference will be held, when it is expected the standards will be fixed.

After the standards had been fixed in the United States, there was, it will be remembered, a great deal of irritation because of the unjust working of the methods and regulations. This should be avoided in Canada as much as possible, and, in order that it may be, THE CANADIAN GROCER proposes to print a series of interviews, giving the views of importers upon this important question, continuing it from week to week, until the subject has been sufficiently threshed out.

A BROKER'S VIEW.

Mr. George Musson, of Musson & Co., Toronto, in reply to a question, said: "While I believe all pure teas should be admitted, irrespective of price, yet, with standards in the United States and none here, Canada would be made the dumping ground for all kinds of trash. If we were to have reasonable standards here, not only would this be prevented, but, furthermore, the tendency would be to prevent the manufacture of trashy teas. Take Japan, for instance. If the people there found there was no market for trashy teas they would naturally stop making them. I do not say Canada should fix standards equal to those of the United States. And as far as Indian and Ceylon teas are concerned, it would be safe to be guided by the English practice, for teas that are fit for consumption there should be fit for consumption here. You can get, you know, some very nice Indian and Ceylon teas from London at from 6 to 6½d.," concluded Mr. Musson.

OPINIONS OF TEA PACKERS.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., said: "I am in favor of standards, and what is more I am in favor of the standards being real good teas—standards that would prevent all low-grade teas coming into the country. Not only would this be beneficial to the consumer from a point of health, but it would also be a good thing from the trade's standpoint. Everyone in the grocery trade knows that the lower the grade of tea the poorer is the profit per pound they receive. For instance, if he retails tea at 20 or 25c. his profit cannot be more than 4 to 6c. per lb., whereas if he retails tea at 40c. his profit is 10c. per lb. And, besides this, the better the tea the larger the consumption. Therefore, I would recommend standards which would be of good quality, and nothing under those should be allowed to come in. This, in the first place, would be beneficial to the public health, and, in the second place, it would be beneficial to the wholesaler and retailer."

"Would you favor the United States standards?"

"I would favor standards quite as high. Otherwise tea rejected there would be shipped to Canada. I know of 150 chests of tea in Toronto to-day which were rejected in the United States and brought into Canada a couple of weeks ago."

Mr. Robert D. Ross, manager of the Monsoon Tea Co., Toronto, had not given much consideration to the matter. "We have no interest in any teas that might be kept out, for the simple reason that we deal in teas that would pass any standard that might be fixed. If standards were adopted, great care would have to be taken that the persons appointed inspectors were not strongly prejudiced in favor of any particular tea. Take, for instance, a Japan tea man. He would naturally be in favor of Japan tea, and, if he had a chance to knock out a shipment of India nor Ceylon tea, it is possible he might do so, even when the tea was good and up to standard.

AN EX-TEA MAN'S VIEWS.

A gentleman who was at one time one of the best-known tea men in Canada, but who is at present otherwise employed, when solicited for his opinion, said: "I think the Government has no right to fix standards. Its duty is to prevent the importation of bogus or improper teas, and there its duty ends. I have seen in the old times, of 25 or more years ago, even good judges deluded into buying Canton-faced tea and paying for it 80 to 90c. per lb., when it was only worth 10 to 15c. per lb. What I would recommend is that the Government should follow the English rule. Great Britain imports ten-fold more tea than Canada, and what is good enough for that country ought to be good enough for this country. As you know, there are no standards in Great Britain. The question which decides whether or no a tea shall be admitted is: Is it fit for consumption? And cheap teas ought to be allowed to come into this country if they are sound."

FEW ADULTERATED TEAS IN THE WEST.

James Turner & Co., Hamilton: "So far as we know there are very few adulterated teas in the west. We have no means of knowing how many come to Quebec Province, but, certainly, in the west, people do not care for such stuff. So far as we are concerned, unless the tea inspector to be appointed is a thorough expert, and in no way connected with the trade, it would be better to our minds to let things remain as they are."

AGAINST STANDARDS.

W. H. Gillard & Co., Hamilton: "We are not in favor of tea standards for the following reasons:

"1st. The use of standards will prove a difficult method of regulating tea importations, as instanced in the United States, where a great deal of dissatisfaction is expressed, owing to good wholesome teas being prohibited by reason of the standards used being of too high a grade.

"2nd. If a good wholesome tea is received by the importer and not up to the standard in style, it would be a serious loss to the importer to have such shipment condemned.

"3rd. There are so many qualities and such a variety of styles of tea imported from the countries of production that to fix upon a standard of leaf would be an arbitrary measure, when it is well known that some teas, very unattractive in appearance, have superior liquoring qualities.

"4th. The tea trade cannot be regulated by standards without putting both the trade and the consumer to considerable loss, and subjecting the trade to what has proved to be, on the other side, unjust arbitration.

"Understanding, however, that it is the expressed intention to regulate the tea trade by standards, we believe that the fairest way would be to first submit the question to the trade of Canada, no opportunity having as yet been given to the trade as a whole to thoroughly discuss the matter and make a suggestion to the Government.

"If the standards are used, to facilitate business, an official with considerable experience, undoubted ability, and properly qualified, should be stationed in each wholesale grocery centre, and thus prevent the necessity of having to submit commercial transactions to Ottawa, such as is now the case with molasses, delay being serious to any mercantile house.

"Our opinion is: Leave tea alone: Very little poor stuff is imported into Western Ontario, and there are other articles of food and drink that require Government supervision more urgently than tea."

FOR STANDARDS.

P. S. Doyle, the well-known broker, Montreal, said: "I have not come across a single member of the trade, either wholesale or retail, who is opposed to the idea. All are in favor of it, and, though I believe myself that, even without a standard, the consumption of low grade tea is on the decrease, the adoption of a moderately high scale will accelerate this much desired result. I have collected a large set of samples from the trade in Montreal, and sent them to Ottawa, and I presume the other members of the commission—Messrs. Ince, of Toronto; Macpherson, of Hamilton, and Bates, of Ottawa—have done the same at their respective centres. The Government analyst is at present working on these goods, and those that don't meet the test to which he submits them will be entirely prohibited from coming into the country. From the remainder, the commission, of which I am a member, will select a standard by infusion, and upon this standard all teas will be entered into Canada afterwards. Of course, it is too early to speak definitely or give particulars, but I believe that the standard will practically prohibit the entry of all teas selling under 15c. per lb., as values now run. Of course, a material rise in cost at primary markets in the future would mean a proportionate advance in the minimum limit also.

Mr. Doyle, in concluding, added that the standard would probably be in working shape by the middle or end of November, and that then people would no longer be poisoned with rubbish selling at 11½ or 12c.

Mr. L. E. Geoffrion, of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, was strongly in favor of anything that would keep out the rubbish that was now sold as tea. The consumer gained nothing from them, unless it was dyspepsia, while there was no money in them either for the importer, the jobber or the retailer. He did not think there was anyone in the trade who would not joyfully welcome the introduction of a standard, and a reasonably high one; for instance, one that would let in no tea costing less than 15c., as values now rule.

KEEP OUT FACED TEA.

T. B. Escott & Co., London: "We are not in favor of excluding any tea from Canada, except faced teas, and all other teas in which poisonous coloring matter has been used. We believe all such adulterated teas should be excluded from this market."

NOT HARD TO DO.

The first letter, says an exchange, the answers to queries man opened as he sat down at his desk, contained this question:

"Please tell me the best method of preparing your onions so they will leave no taint on the breath."

"That's easy," he muttered, and seizing his pen he wrote as follows in reply:

"As good a way as any is to slice the onions, soak them for five minutes in pure cider vinegar, add a small carrot cut into pieces about the size of a pea, salt to taste, stir in a pinch of white pepper, put the mixture in a quart jar, screw up tight, and put away in the cellar for twenty years. Prepared in this manner they will not effect the breath in the slightest degree."

NEW EVAPORATING FIRM.

A new joint stock company is being formed for the manufacture of evaporated vegetables and apples, canned meats and fruits. The new company is to be known as The Canada Food Co., Limited. They have rented a large warehouse on Cote street, Montreal. The names of the promoters have not been given out, but, it is understood that some prominent Montreal capitalists are behind it.

A PROFITABLE DREAM.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR dreamed a dream and only Daniel could interpret it, and, from those distant days down to the present, people have been dreaming dreams and "seeing all sorts of things", some of which have been beneficial and many mere visions.

Anyone knowing A. G. Snowdon, of Snowdon & Ebbett, would not imagine him a dreamer. But, the fact has to be recorded that not only did he dream a dream, but he interpreted it like Abou Ben Adhem. "He awoke one night from a sweet dream of peace, and saw within the moonlight of his room"—a bottle.

Now, I do not presume he is the only person who has dreamed of bottles, and it may be that it is not the first time he has seen bottles in his dreams. Those bottles have invariably been of standard type and popular labels, whilst this one was so radically different as to startle him. Usually, when a person has emptied his favorite flask he can have it filled again, even if it is not of the genuine, but this bottle was unfillable. So real was the dream that when "Archie" awoke in the morning he was enabled to make a complete drawing of it. His first business was to interest some friends, and they now have it patented in twenty-seven different countries.

The model has been made and is a complete success. The bottle can be filled, sealed, and then emptied to suit the appetite of the customer, but by no possible means can it be refilled. Herein lies the value of it.

Mr. Snowdon is besieged by capitalists, but at present he is not anxious to sell. In fact, he would not at present exchange for a wood monopoly in Yukon.

Their present plan is to form joint stock companies all over the world for the manufacture of the bottles, and now all their dreams are of the golden hue.

TOO MUCH GREASE IN THE TEA.

THE country storekeeper was engaged in a lively argument with Colonel Bill Cottonhead as to the probable effect of the Bradley-Hunter split upon the future of the Republican party in Kentucky, when old Tom Moseley, one of the oldest mountaineers in Letcher County, rode up and dismounted.

"Hev yeuns airy bit of store tea?" he queried, as he rifled his yarn sock for an annoying cockle burr.

"Why, yes, Moseley, plenty of it," replied Brown; "would you like to have some to-day?"

"Well, I guess not terday, Frank; jess never hed seen eny, an' I thought ef yeuens hed eny I'd laik tuh look at hit."

Brown considerably took the old man back into the rear room, where a freshly-opened caddy of Young Hyson was standing alongside the counter. Running his fingers down into the depths of the lead-colored mass, he drew out a handful, which he held up to the old man's gaze.

The old fellow's eyes sparkled, and a strange quivering was noticeable about his lips.

"Wall, I swow; an' thet air store tea, air hit?"

"It certainly is," Brown asserted. "Better put up a pound for you?"

"Whut mout hit be wuth?"

"It's worth 75 cents a pound, Moseley, but, as you are an old friend, and have never tried any of it, you may have it for 50 cents."

"Yuh kin put me up er poun'."

Five days later the old man dropped into the store for a tobacco supply, and Brown, after a lengthy conversation touching on mountain topics in general, queried:—

"How did you like your tea, Moseley?"

"Fa'h tuh middlin, Frank; fa'h tuh middlin'; mouter bin bettah, but I guess laikly the ole woman used a leetle tew much grease in roastin' hit."—Louisville Post.

CATERERS' EXCURSION.

THE excursion of the Winnipeg Caterers' Association, to Rat Portage, Ont., on Tuesday, last week, was attended by nearly four thousand people, necessitating three special trains of ten coaches each.

The day had been proclaimed a holiday by both Keewatin and Rat Portage, and great numbers from both of these towns were at the station in Rat Portage about noon, when the Winnipeg crowd arrived, and a cordial welcome was given the visitors.

Flags were flying from all the public buildings, and the steamers and other water craft were gaily decorated. This, combined with ideal picnic weather, gave a regular holiday air to the town.

A great number of the visitors took advantage of the abundant supply of steamers making trips to different points of interest, to take a sail among the many beautiful islands which dot the Lake of the Woods. The steamer Keenora was a prime favorite with the city folk and on her trips to Keenora Park, she was loaded to her utmost capacity, about fifteen hundred in all taking passage. The steamers Edna Brydges and Shamrock plied between Rat Portage and Coney Island, and the Kennina and Phantom looked after the Norman and Keewatin route.

One of the most interesting events in the programme of attractions provided by the citizens of Rat Portage, was an Indian pow-wow. Fully fifty braves and squaws took part, and, if enthusiastic beating of tom-toms, singing and dancing contributes success, this pow-wow was indeed a most successful one.

An interesting lacrosse match was played between teams representing Winnipeg and Rat Portage, the team representing the latter place proving victorious by a score of six to one.

A baseball match between teams from the same places was more closely contested, the Winnipeg team ultimately securing most runs, getting eleven to their opponent's seven.

A boat race between Hackett and Charles

Gaudaur was with difficulty pulled off, Hackett winning, the time for the three miles being 20 minutes, 16 seconds.

All the excursionists were enthusiastic in their praise of the manner in which they were entertained by the Rat Portage people.

MAKE A SPECIALTY OF COFFEE.

Foran & Frost secured a good business when they purchased the grocery store of Wm. Templeton, Carroll street, Vancouver.

This store was established in 1885 by Mr. Templeton, and, though burned out the following year, was at once rebuilt, and has been steadily growing. Mr. Frost has been manager since 1894.

A full range of groceries are carried, but the specialty of the firm is coffee. It is well-known that good coffee beans improve with age, like good wine, and their flavor is refined as the years go by. The firm have now some on hand, the history of which they can trace back for twenty years in Canada. It is the last of the old Government-imported Javas, not handled now by any jobbing house in America. The shipment was bought five years ago by the late proprietor, and is ground fresh when ordered.

THE TOMATO PACK.

THE weather during the past few weeks has been favorable to the tomato crop, and packing operations have been going on briskly as a result.

Some of the packers are doing well. THE CANADIAN GROCER knows of at least one factory which has, so far, a greater quantity put up than a year ago, and, if the weather conditions continue favorable, it expects to maintain the increased proportion.

Packers are now beginning to look for a fair pack, but, while the prospects are rather better than they were a week ago, a great deal depends upon the weather. On Friday night last there was a little touch of frost. It was not, however, enough to do any damage, but there is no telling when a frost heavy enough to do serious damage might make its advent.

There have been some transactions during the week between packers and wholesalers, but, as a rule, the former are still unwilling to do business. One packer, who has so far put up more tomatoes than a year ago, informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that he would not book any more orders until he knew beyond all question that he would be able to fill the large orders he had already taken.

Last year, it was at one time thought that the pack would be a short one, and quotations were withdrawn, as they have been this season, but, it will be remembered, the weather during the fall was so favorable that the pack was the largest in the history of the industry in Canada.

Wholesalers are, as a rule, quoting 80 to 85c. for future delivery, but some are asking 90c., and one house that has made fresh purchases during the week is quoting 75 to 80c.

Even should the pack be as large as that of last year there is no reason why the wholesale price should rule lower than it now is. The figure is merely moderate, and a moderate price means a large consumption. Then, it must be remembered, the new pack will come upon a market more bare of tomatoes than for some years.

ELEVEN MILLION DOLLARS GOLD.

MAJOR J. W. WALSH, the administrator of the Yukon district the past year, and who is now on his way back to Ottawa, estimates this season's gold output in the Klondyke at $11,000,000, while the clean up of next year he places at $20,000,000.

Then, in addition to this there are the gold mines in the Kootenay, some of which are in full operation and yielding richly of the yellow metal, to say nothing of those in Ontario and Nova Scotia.

What Canada's total gold output will be this year no one at present can say. That it will be out of comparison with any previous year in the history of the country is a foregone conclusion.

Last year was a record breaking year, with a production of $6,190,000 for the whole Dominion, but for 1898 it is likely to be at least three times that much. In 1896, the yield was $2,287,328, and in 1895, $1,698,582.

Notwithstanding the enormous increase of gold during the past year, Canada only ranks fifth among the gold-producing nations, the United States coming first, Australia second, Africa third, and Russia fourth. The next year will most likely see her elevated to fourth position, while, with her possibilities, there is no reason why she should not ultimately take the lead.

BIG GROCERY IMPORTS FOR JULY

THE returns giving the imports of the Dominion for July are most interesting when we compare them with those of the same month of 1897.

The total imports, dutiable and free, exclusive of corn and bullion, were $16,745,781, against $9,056,894 in July, 1897, an increase of 84 per cent. Dutiable goods were $10,520,658, against $5,332,596, and the free goods $6,225,123, against $3,724,298.

The following are the imports relating to the grocery and provision trades for the two respective months:

DUTIABLE GOODS.

	July, 1898.	July, 1897
Ale, beer and porter.....	$ 13,188	$ 12,328

Tea	162,974	158,262
Tobacco leaf.....	415,670	16,989
Hides and skins.....	164,265	132,361

The increase in the imports of some of the articles enumerated in the above table is no doubt in the main explained by the 25 per cent. preferential tariff which went into operation July 1, and for that month applied to the products of Germany, France and a score of other countries.

It will now be interesting to know what the imports will be during the present month, compared with August of 1897. Should they be much less we should not be disappointed.

PRICE OF TARRAGONA ALMONDS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER recently predicted that the price of Tarragona almonds would be 50 per cent. higher than last year. This prediction has now been verified, a cable to that effect having been received in Toronto this week.

HOW THE U. S. VIEWED CANADA 30 YEARS AGO.

WHILE the present conference at Quebec may not result in an extensive or even a limited treaty of reciprocity between Canada and the United States, yet it is a source of gratification to know that a different view of the value of the trade and of the position of the Dominion obtains across the line than there did when the last treaty was abrogated 32 years ago.

Mr. Derby, the Commissioner of the United States Treasury, appointed to investigate trade with Canada, under the treaty of 1854, reported that the commerce of the United States with Canada had increased from $50,300,000 in 1856 to $68,000,000 in 1865, the year before the treaty expired; while he estimated that the United States mackerel fleet had in some years caught as much as $4,500,000 worth of fish in the St. Lawrence river and the Bay of Chaleurs. Then, there were the advantages that accrued to the United States shipping interests, which were most valuable. Furthermore, when the question of the renewal or abrogation of treaty was, in 1864, being discussed, one of the members of the House of Representatives at Washington declared that "with all the defects of the present treaty, the balance of trade for the last ten years has been in favor of the United States."

But, in spite of these facts, in spite of the report of the Commissioner of the Treasury, in spite of the protests of the Chambers of Commerce of Boston, Chicago and other places the politicians were determined there should be no continuation of the treaty. And the resolution which embodied their views was carried by a vote of 31 to 8 on Jan. 11, 1865.

In the majority, it is possible there were some who either did not or would not believe that it was to the advantage of the United States to continue the reciprocity treaty with Canada, but the bulk of those against reciprocity were actuated either with hatred of Great Britain or a desire to annex Canada, or both.

It was thought then, as it has often been thought since, until quite recently, that the United States was the very life and blood of Canada. Listen, for example, to what one

Congressman said when the treaty was under discussion in 1864:

God knows, I do not want to destroy that people (the Canadians) entirely. * * * I know they have nowhere else to go but to our markets. The Mother Country, as they call it, has failed to protect them. The markets there do not suit them, and are of no account to them; but they come to us for our markets. * * * What reciprocal advantages can they return to us? What benefits do they give us for those we confer on them? They tell us that we may come to their markets. Why, sir, they have no markets. If this resolution (resolution to appoint a commission) is to be provided for, I want its name changed to "a commission to arrange terms for continuing, in a dignified position, the wet nurse of the sick British colonies."

Of course, this was all a lot of twaddle, but lying twaddle was sufficient to do duty as arguments in those days.

It is quite true that the United States was then Canada's chief market, but, it by no means followed that we were dependent upon it. We turned our attention more to the British market, as did the McKinley tariff some 25 years later, with the result that by 1877, 11 years after the treaty had been abrogated, Canada exported to Great Britain $41,567,469 worth of goods, against $25,775,245 to the United States, while during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, our exports to Great Britain aggregated $104,787,554 and to the United States $41,122,556, not so bad for a market that did not suit us.

Then, away back in 1868, two years after the treaty was abrogated, the total exports to all countries were but $57,567,888; for the fiscal year 1898 they were over $100,000,000 larger, namely $159,485,770, while the aggregate trade—imports and exports—has increased from $131,027,532 in 1868 to $304,091,720 in 1898, a gain of 132 per cent. in 30 years.

Now, as to Canada as a market. "Why, sir, they have no markets," we were told in 1864. The Dominion then was no insignificant market. Four years later, it imported nearly $73,500,000 worth of goods, but whatever it was then there can now be no question regarding its importance, for, during the fiscal year of 1898, Canada imported $86,587,484 worth of United States products, while our total imports from all countries were $140,305,950.

It will also be interesting in this connection to note the relative value to the United States of its trade with Canada.

As we have already shown, the goods sent to Canada last year by the United States aggregated $86,487,484, or, according to the figures of the Treasury Department, Washington, $82,854,947.

As to the exports from the United States to other countries, we have only access to the figures of 1897. These show that Canada ranks third among the United States' customers, Great Britain being first and Germany second, while the trade with the West Indies, Mexico, Brazil, and all South American countries combined, did not, all told, equal the exports in 1898 to Canada alone. These are the figures:

West Indies.....	$24,807,450
Mexico.....	22,726,596
Brazil.....	12,406,785
Other South American countries....	20,538,032
Total.....	$80,478,863
Exports to Canada, 1898.....	$86,587,484

That the United States politicians of 30 years ago were wrong in their estimation of Canada is obvious, and it is equally obvious that those of to-day, largely through the influence of the business men, are beginning to acquire a right appreciation of the Dominion's worth. And it is to be hoped that, as a result of the conference at Quebec, closer and better trade relations will exist between the two countries.

THE RASPBERRY PACK.

Raspberries are one of the canned fruit staples. And, while some of the packers have put up a good quantity, the pack is on the whole light, owing to the drouth. There is no question about that.

Raspberry culture in Canada is, under normal conditions, an important one, and it is surprising that more are not attracted to the industry.

The amount paid out this season by one packer for raspberries was in round numbers $30,000.

TEA STANDARD QUESTION.

Another conference of tea importers and the Minister of Customs will be held in Ottawa on November 1, in regard to tea standards, and, in order that the subject might be fully ventilated, we propose publishing a series of interviews with the trade dealing therewith.

The first of the series is published in this issue, and we court not only interviews, but short letters upon the subject.

CANNED SALMON SITUATION.

NO strikingly new features have developed in the canned salmon situation on the Coast during the past week.

The packing season has closed, fishing having ceased on the 25th ult. The actual size of the pack is not yet known.

A private letter, dated three days before the season closed, stated the pack on the Fraser will certainly not be more than 200,000 cases, the whole of which will be required for the United Kingdom. The Province, Vancouver, of the date of August 24, stated that it was not, up to that date, greater than 190,000 cases.

The run during the last few days was as poor as it was during most of the season, some boats only catching eight to ten fish, and for this reason, at a meeting of the packers held in Vancouver on Aug. 24, it was decided not to ask the Dominion Government to extend the season.

An effort, however, is being made to induce the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to allow fishing for cohoes to open Sept. 15, which is about ten days earlier than usual.

If the fish can be caught, it is evident there will be a large pack of coho salmon, as many of the canners who closed down their factories before the sockeye season ended declared their intention of opening up for the coho season.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, of a recent issue, has the following: "Concerning the salmon situation, a well-known commission merchant, who did not want to be quoted, for reasons of his own, but whose position is such as to entitle his views to consideration, said: 'Parties here have been trying to buy Fraser river sockeye salmon in England for shipment to Canada, and a cable just received quotes 20s. 9d. c.i.f. to Montreal, for talls, which is equivalent to about $1.27 1/2 per dozen. A report from one of the British Columbia factories, I hear, is to the effect that where they packed 25,000 cases last year, they will have only 3,600 cases this year.'"

BUYING UP OLD SALMON.

Demand for old pack canned salmon in the Montreal market has been one of the features of the present week.

This enquiry has been almost solely from wholesale grocers in Ontario, and, as a result of it, some Montreal grocery firms have cleared out quite a quantity of the goods, one leading firm placing no less than 2,500 cases with brother jobbers in the west. It is understood that others disposed of smaller quantities.

The terms in all cases have been kept private, but it is surmised that the figure is $3.75 in Montreal.

No quotations are obtainable in Montreal on new pack this week. One agent had a quotation of $3.50, but before he could close any business, it was withdrawn.

THE SUPPLY OF MOLASSES.

THOUGH this is the dull season for business in molasses from second hands, the possibilities of the situation are, nevertheless, causing some thought on the part of both wholesalers and importers.

It is an admitted fact that the stock of Barbadoes molasses in Montreal is light; in fact, the stock is an unprecedentedly small one for this time of the year, considering the limited quantity to come forward, so that dealers, and the more conservative ones, not the speculators, are beginning to figure it out that a shortage of this staple is not unlikely this fall.

The consumption in the Province of Quebec was almost solely on Barbadoes, but if it turns out, as some expect, that there is not enough to go round, the void will be filled with other goods, chiefly New Orleans, for the quantity of Porto Rico offering appears to be even lighter than Barbadoes, and the values are much higher.

Demand for molasses commences to be felt in Montreal about the middle of September, when the lumbermen, who use large quantities of it in their camps, and others commence to arrange for their fall and winter supplies.

If there is to be any decided shortage, the fact will soon make itself known after that time by an advance in price.

Of course, there is time for some to arrive from the Islands between now and the close of navigation, but, as already stated, the stock left on hand there is so light that it is not believed it will have any influence.

Cargo lots in Montreal are quoted this week at 27 to 28c.

If a man cannot stand up for his rights it is no use sitting down for them.

Cheerfulness is a much more potent business-propelling force than brusqueness, even if it is less awe-inspiring.

A PICKLE FIRM'S EXPERIMENTS.

LAST spring, the H. J. Heinz Co., Pittsburg, Pa., distributed samples of cucumber seed among selected farmers in the vicinity of Toronto and Hamilton, for the purpose of testing the adaptability of the soil in Ontario for producing vegetables of this kind for pickling purposes, some farmers quarter of an acre, some half an acre, and others a larger portion, but aggregating in all some seventy-five acres.

The cucumbers from this seed are now being gathered and brought to the buildings in Toronto and Hamilton selected for the purpose, where they are being pickled in barrels, preparatory to being shipped to Pittsburg to be given the finishing touches and bottled.

Mr. C. E. Slanders, who has charge of the experiments which are being made in Ontario, informs THE CANADIAN GROCER that results so far are promising. As to whether a branch factory will be established in Canada, has not yet been decided upon.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 1, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE features of the wholesale grocery trade this week are the advance in sugar and the strength of the canned salmon situation. The advance in sugar is 1-16c. per lb., and the demand is improving at the higher figures. There is not a great deal doing in teas, but the market is as strong as ever. Canned vegetables rule steady to firm. The packing of tomatoes is going on nicely, but the future will depend a great deal upon the weather. Peppers are still tending upwards. A fairly good business for export has been done in currants, and further business is reported in prunes. First samples of new season's Sultana raisins were received in Toronto this week, and the fruit shows good quality. Coffees continue quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

Advices from the Coast confirm what was said last week in regard to the salmon pack on the Fraser river. The season closed on August 25, and advices of the 23rd stated the pack was then 190,000 to 200,000 cases, and that several of the canneries had closed down, owing to the lack of fish. Many of them will, however, again open up to pack cohoes, which begin the middle of September. There have been a number of transactions during the past week in canned salmon for future delivery, but the terms are private. Cohoes have been contracted for at $3.65 delivered. A 25-case lot of "Horseshoe" brand canned salmon, last season's pack, was bought from a retailer by a wholesaler at $1.15, but it is said this same retailer was subsequently offered $1.30 by another house. Second grade red salmon is being offered by wholesalers at $1.15 per dozen.

The peach pack will undoubtedly be light, with prices probably 30c. per dozen higher than a year ago. There is not much business being done in canned goods of any kind.

COFFEES.

The Rio and Santos coffee crops are estimated to be two-thirds less than last year, while the quality of the bean is not so good, being small and unequally ripened. Importers in Toronto would buy at a price, but their views are still away below those of the sellers.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There are a few syrups offering, but we hear of no transactions. Molasses are quiet and unchanged.

SUGARS.

Prices have advanced 1-16c. per lb. all round, and at the advance an improved business is to be noted. The consumption of sugar, however, is up to expectations. Beet sugars are cabled fractionally lower in London, with cane sugar quiet and steady. In New York, the market is firm, with refined sugars 1-16c. dearer. Last week, raw sugar advanced 1-16c. per lb. in New York. In Europe last week both cane and beet advanced 1½d. and refined 3d. Total stocks in Europe and America last week were 1,280,028 tons, against 1,349,863 tons the week before, and 1,416,910 tons a year ago.

SPICES.

According to a cable advice, the price of black pepper has advanced ½c. per pound during the past four weeks. Other kinds of spices are, as a rule, steady and unchanged.

NUTS.

Cable quotations received in Toronto this week show that the price is 50 per cent. higher than a year ago.

*See pages 27 and 28 for
Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

TEAS.

Buyers of Japan tea have been waiting with the expectation that quotations would be lower, but, instead of declining, prices have steadily advanced from the opening figures, and it looks now as if good Japan tea at a price will not be in evidence this year. Grades which wholesalers last year sold at 18 to 18½c., they will themselves now have to pay 19c. for. Better prices are being obtained in the United States than in Canada. We hear of one grade for which 1c. more was obtained. Nice "tippy" Ceylon teas, costing 20 to 25c., are scarce. Stocks of all grades of Indian teas on spot are said to be getting light. There is a little demand for Ceylon teas at from 13 to 18c. Generally speaking, the local tea market is quiet. Prices rule steady on the English market for Indian and Ceylon teas, although competition was less keen and prices somewhat irregular for poor Indian teas, according to latest mail advices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The first direct steamer for this market left Patras on Wednesday. The market for currants is firm, and a good deal of buying has been done for the direct steamer at 1s. advance on the opening figures. Still higher prices are named for indirect shipment owing to increased rates of freight.

VALENCIA RAISINS — Prices for importation are ruling about the same as a year ago. No sales of importance appear to have yet been made for direct shipment, but a good many thousand boxes have been sold for August and early September shipment via Liverpool. There are still a few boxes of old fruit left on the local market, but the wholesalers are buying from one another to clean up stocks. A cable received in Toronto this week from W. Rogers & Co. states that that firm's first shipment of new season's Valencia raisins had left Liverpool by the Parisian, and was due in Montreal about September 4.

SULTANA RAISINS—The first invoices of new season's, from Matteo Chrussachi, are to hand on the Toronto market. The fruit is fine and bright. A cable, received on Tuesday, stated that the price of this same grade of fruit, put up by the same packer, was now 39s. 6d., against 34s. when the fruit was bought. Shipments are due in two weeks.

PRUNES—Some further orders have been placed for Bosnia prunes, which, this year, as already stated, are a strong competitor of California prunes. California prunes are quiet and steady.

GREEN FRUITS.

Native fruits hold the attention of dealers now, and will do so for the next month or so. There are hardly any oranges held in stock, which is fortunate, as there is hardly any demand. Lemons, too, are in poor demand. A few Verdillas are held at $5 to $5.50. Bananas are about the only imported article arriving in large quantities, and recent shipments of these have been so over-ripe that sales were forced in some cases at less than 50 cents per bunch. Good green stock is firm at $1.25 to $1.75. A few California peaches are still coming in, and are selling at unchanged figures. Canadian Crawford peaches are now offered in large quantities, and prices have fallen about 30 cents. This week is the time to buy, as it is likely when the rush is over the fruit will be scarce. It is different with pears, which are expected to continue plentiful for some time. No material decline in prices is looked for, though the crop is a big one. Plums continue to arrive in large quantities. The demand just about balances with the receipts. Grapes are commencing to be plentiful. Prices are easier this week. Though many red peppers are offered, there is about enough to satisfy the demand. There are lots of muskmelons on the market, and as the demand is only fair prices are 10 to 15c. easier. Autumn and summer apples are offered in larger quantities than the demand calls for, and prices are easier, though no change quotable is noted. Receipts of blueberries were, towards the end of last week, greater than the demand, and prices fell somewhat, but, as there are smaller quantities now coming in and a better demand is noted, prices have resumed their former basis. Canadian tomatoes are 5c. dearer than last week, a result of smaller receipts. Sweet potatoes are moving quietly at unchanged figures.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is still an excellent demand for strictly fresh eggs. The receipts of this class of stock are moderate, but held stock is coming in too freely. From 11 to 11½c. is paid for choice farmers' lots, and from 9½ to 10½c. f.o.b. is allowed for cases.

POTATOES—The receipts continue to increase in proportion to the growing demand, and prices are steady at 50c. per bushel.

HONEY—Receipts are large. The demand has not yet fully commenced. Prices are unchanged. In fact, the figures quoted are likely to hold good for some time.

POULTRY—The demand is growing quietly. Turkeys are selling at 10 to 11c. per lb., 1 to 2c. higher than last quotations. There is a fair sale of chickens and ducks at unchanged prices.

VEGETABLES—Pumpkins and red cabbage are now offered for sale. Corn, cabbage and lettuce have advanced in price. Celery, radishes, cucumbers, beets and carrots have declined. We quote as follows: Corn, 10 to 13c. per doz.; cauliflower, 75c. to $1 per doz.; celery, 40 to 60c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, 15 to 25c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 75c. to $1; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 15c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, 75c. to $1 per bushel; beets, 20c. per peck; carrots, 20c. per peck; onions, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; red cabbage, 75c. to $1.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is still an excellent demand for all dairy and creamery butter which can be graded "choice". Creamery tubs are ½c. higher per lb. than last week. At country points, the following f.o.b. prices are obtainable. We quote: Dairy tubs, 13 to 13½c.; prints, 13 to 14c.; creamery prints, 17 to 18c.; tubs and boxes, 16½ to 17c.

CHEESE—The market is firm in sympathy with the feeling in Great Britain. The price here is 8¼ to 8½c., while 8c. is a frequent price at country board sales.

PROVISIONS.

There is an excellent demand for smoked meats, and for these goods prices are firm and unchanged. Long clear bacon is not in as good demand as this time last year, largely because the enquiry for timber camps is not nearly so great. A decline of ¼c. is noted. The feeling regarding lard is easy. Quotations are yet unchanged.

FISH.

The demand and receipts have both been good this week. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 6½c.; fresh whitefish, 6 to 6½c.; steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb.; fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh black bass, 8c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—As a result of the weak feeling noted last week, prices have dropped ¼c. all round. We quote as follows: No. 1, 8¾c.; No. 2, 7¾c.; No. 3, 6¾c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—An advance of 10c. is noted this week for lambskins and shearlings, bringing the price to 60c., as compared with 40c. a month ago and 20 to 30c. two months ago. This time last year the price was 50c.

WOOL—The situation continues as it has been nearly all season. Dealers quote prices unchanged, but holders persist that the market is worth more. Prices are unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat is a shade easier, a decline of 1c. being noted in red winter. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 68 to 69c.; white winter, 68 to 69c.; goose, 60c. The street market is more active now, larger quantities of grain being brought in. Wheat is 2 to 3c. cheaper. Rye is now coming in, and 43½c. is being paid for it. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 68 to 69c.; red, 68 to 69c.; goose, 60 to 61c.; peas, 55 to 59c.; oats, new, 27½ to 28½c.; rye, 43½c. Manitoba No. 1 hard is unchanged at 90c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba grades have again declined 10 to 15c. We quote: Manitoba

BREAKFAST FOODS—Rolled oats and rolled wheat have declined 15c. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.80 in bags and $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.60; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

SALT.

The improvement noted last week continues to be manifest. Prices are unaltered. We quote: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

SEEDS.

There is a free offering of alsike, and prices have declined about 30c. a bushel all round. There is such a wide range of values that from $2.50 to $4.25 is quoted. For extra fancy stock a little more than this figure may be received.

MARKET NOTES.

Turkeys are 2c. per lb. dearer.
Long clear bacon has declined ¼c.
Tomatoes are 5c. per basket dearer.
Creamery tub butter is ½c. per lb. dearer.
Manitoba flour is 10 to 15c. cheaper than last week.

Rolled wheat and rolled oats have declined 15c.

Lambskins and shearlings are 10c. dearer this week.

All refined sugars were advanced 1-16c. per lb. on Monday.

Alsike clover seed is worth about 30c. less than a week ago.

Tarragona almonds are 50 per cent. dearer than a year ago.

The first samples of new season's Sultana raisins have reached the Toronto markets.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 1, 1898.
GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery market has been a moderately active one during the week. Among the more prominent developments of the week was the advance of 1-16c. in the price of refined sugar, and considerable purchases of old pack canned salmon by western firms from wholesale grocers here. The strength of Japan teas is also as marked as ever, full bids having been refused by sellers, who wanted more money. Other lines have not supplied anything of a particularly striking nature.

SUGAR.

The firm feeling already noted in refined sugar materialized this week in an advance of 1-16c. per lb., and the market is stiff at the rise. Demand has been fair during the week, both for granulated and yellows, and a good volume of business transacted, as many dealers are beginning to feel that it is time to replenish stocks. In London, the market was cabled quiet but firm for cane, Java, 11s. 10½d., and fair refining, 10s. 6d. Beet rules quiet, with very little demand, August, 9s. and September, 9s. 6d. The latter is a decline of ¾d. On spot, granulated is now selling at 4½c. and yellows 3 11-16 to 4 3-16c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There has been little change in the syrup market, and, aside from an odd lot now and then, no trading is reported.

MOLASSES.

Business has been quiet in molasses, but prices are firmly held on account of the exceptionally light stocks on hand. Values are unchanged at 30c. in car lots, and 31c. in single puncheons.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand from western buyers for old canned salmon has been one of the features of the week, and some large quantities have changed hands, the terms being kept private. Nothing of importance has been done during the week either in new pack salmon or vegetables. Sellers are not quoting the former, and in the latter the only offers that we heard of were on peas, for which 70c. was asked.

COFFEE.

The market is quiet but steady, the only business doing being a few Rios at 9c. Santos at 8½ to 10c. and Maracaibos at 13 to 16c.

SPICES.

There is no news at all to report in this market, business on spot being nil.

TEAS.

The strong tone already reported in Japan teas is, if anything, more marked this week, and bids of 17c. have been refused within the past day or so for medium goods, the holders asking 19c., while sales have been made all the way from 17½ to 21c. as to grade. Blacks have sold all the way from 12 to 14c. and green teas are rather quiet, no business being reported in them between first and second hands.

DRIED FRUIT.

The strong tone in California raisins noted last week continues, but since the first few unconditional orders placed, nothing has transpired here.

Currants furnished nothing of interest either.

Valencia raisins are still nominal, so far as new crop fruit are concerned, but, so far, no business has resulted from the offers mentioned last week. For direct shipment from Denia no definite prices have yet been named.

California prunes and evaporated fruit contribute nothing new.

NUTS.

There is little doing in nuts, but shelled walnuts are held stiff at the advance quoted last week, 18 to 20c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair business in green fruits. Receipts of California fruit are still in limited supply, though rather heavier than the previous week. Receipts of Canadian fruit are on the increase, but prices have ruled fairly steady, the market being well cleaned up.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Owing to the unfavorable weather the local demand for eggs was somewhat quiet, but a fair trade was done on foreign account, and the market, on the whole, was moderately active with no change in prices to note. We quote: Selected new laid, 14 lo 14½c.; No. 1 candled, 12 to 13c.; No. 2 candled, 9 to 10c.

BEANS—There is no change in beans, and the market is quiet. We quote: choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—A fair trade is reported in honey, and prices rule steady. Quotations are 8 to 8½c. for 1-lb. sections of white clover comb, and 6½ to 7c., for dark, 7 to 8c. for white extracted, and 4 to 5c. for dark.

MAPLE PRODUCT—Maple product was neglected, and prices are nominal. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb.;

in tins, 45 to 50c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¼c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

There continues to be a good demand for smoked meats on export account, and trade in this line is active at firm prices. Lard is moving fairly well, and pork is dull. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½c. per lb., and compound refined at 5½c. per lb.; hams, 11c. to 12c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was an improved demand from local shippers for coarse grains this week and a fair amount of business was done. The tone of the market was about steady, and prices show little change. Peas are attracting exporters' attention at present, and there is an active enquiry for them, but at present prices deliveries are light, consequently only a few small sales are reported at 60c. afloat. Oats are moving fairly well, some round lots changing hands at 28c. afloat. There is a good enquiry for rye, and buyers are bidding 46c. store; but few lots have been obtained at this figure. In Ontario wheat little business has been done, owing to the fact that buyers and sellers are apart in their views. Holders ask 72c. afloat, and best bids obtainable are 70c. store.

The feature of the flour market has been the improved demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba grades, and the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. placed 1,000 sacks on London account at p.t. There was also a decided improvement in the demand from local and country buyers, and a large volume of business was done. The tone was steady and prices are unchanged. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.35 to $3.50; in bags, $1.65 to $1.70; Manitoba patents, $4.50 to $5; strong bakers', $4.60 to $4.70; and seconds $4.50.

Ontario bran and shorts are exceedingly scarce at present, and prices in consequence are firmly held. Demand for Manitoba grades is fair and the market is moderately active. We quote as follows: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12; shorts, $14.50 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $11 to $11.50; shorts, $15.

There was no change in oatmeal. The demand was slow and the market quiet, at $3.60 per bbl. and at $1.75 per bag for rolled oats.

There is no improvement in the situation of the baled hay market. Receipts continue liberal, and supplies in consequence are far in excess of requirements, as buyers are all well loaded up, and the market is dull. We quote as follows: No. 1 at $6.50; No. 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese has exhibited no striking change this week, but, despite the firm prices that have been paid in the country, the English buyer does not follow the rise, and, as a consequence, exporters here have shaded their bids. We quote as follows: Finest western, colored, 8½ to 8¾c.; finest western, white, 7½ to 8c.; finest eastern, colored, 7½ to 8c.; finest eastern, white, 7½ to

An easier feeling prevailed in the butter market, and holders showed a disposition to shade prices. We quote as follows: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 17½ to 18c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 17¼ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17½ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17c.; dairy butter, 14c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cheese and butter prices are rather lower this week.

Sugar refiners marked up prices 1-16c. per lb. this week.

Western grocers have been buyers of old canned salmon here this week.

The strong situation of Japan teas is unabated, and bids of 17c. for medium goods were refused this week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 31, 1898.

THERE continues to be increased business in grocery lines as the season advances, and outside buyers begin to think of buying fall supplies. But values of produce are low, and lumber shipments show little profit. One large elevator building, and another, with wharves, about to be built, aids somewhat. Some of the severest windstorms for years have been experienced through the Province. Hay, which promised a large crop, is being largely lost, because of the wet, and oats, potatoes and wheat are being injured by rust. Hops are quoted, by packers, rather higher. There is improvement in some lines, and increased values in sugar. Flour is still dull, and the market unsettled.

OIL—While there is little improvement in sales and dealers are not yet working for fall business, the market shows a change in favor of the buyer, and all lines of burning oils are marked down about 1c. per gallon.

SALT—There has been more activity in this line during the past week. A steamer landed some 4,800 sacks of Liverpool coarse salt, and a schooner unloaded a cargo of coarse and fine from a large cargo landing in Boston. There is a difference in quality in the English salt landed from time to time, and also a difference in weight of bag, caused by the effort to get a bag that can be sold at a low price. In Canadian salt there is the regular business doing. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—Values continue to increase in all lines. Gallon apples show quite an advance during the week. In salmon, some packers refuse to quote at the moment. The demand in this market for new goods will be light. Oysters are rather higher, and some Baltimore packers are out of stock. One of our New Brunswick packers made a large sale of corn to a western house last week, which, we think, shows we pack good corn and that values are firm west. A few tomatoes will be packed in this Province.

GREEN FRUITS—Continue active. Apples are freely received, but, as is usual at this season, there is a large quantity that is poor. Even for best stock values are low. Oranges are scarce and quite high. Lemons are held firm at full figures. Early Malaga grapes are on the market, and good stock. California grapes are also more freely received. Peaches also show improved quality. Pears, which have the best demand, keep high. So far, plums head the list of fruits received from Ontario, but some grapes have been received, and the quantity of this fruit arriving will soon be large. Melons are fair sale. Sweet potatoes are on the market. Some few oranges and pineapples were received last week by the West Indian steamer.

DRIED FRUIT—Little has yet been done in raisins. The bulk of the currants have been bought at rather lower prices than last year. Values, however, are higher. New Sultana raisins have been received. The sale in this market is limited. New evaporated apples are quoted for future shipment, but dealers are not yet interested.

SUGAR—There is a good sale and prices are firmly held, inclining to rather higher figures. Competition of bag sugar is not much felt. As local refinery is inclined to meet their prices, many dealers do not care to take hold of it.

MOLASSES—The market is unusually dull, but it is still early. Should the regular demand be forthcoming there are likely to be higher figures, stocks being light. The lower prices asked, as compared with Porto Rico, tends to increase the sale of Barbadoes.

PRODUCE—Butter shows little improvement, but best quality is scarce, and would bring rather better figures than general market quotations. There is an overstock of fair quality. Eggs are indifferent in quality and sales are light. Cheese shows a fair demand, but prices work up slowly.

Factorymen have quite large stocks on hand.

FISH—There is an improved business and higher values rule. In pickled herring there is marked improvement. Receipts are as yet not large. There are quite a number of grades quoted. In dry fish, prices are very firm, particularly mediums. Even pollock, which have been quite dull, show improvement. Hake show better business; mostly for West India trade. Smoked herring hold their price, but do not have the life of either lines. A few fresh shad are still received. We quote two grades of the pickled smoked haddies rather higher. We quote: Large cod, $3.50 to $3.60; medium, $3.45 to $3.55; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.60 to $1.75 per ½-bbl.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canso, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; shad, 10 to 14c.; rippling herring, $1.80 to $2; wolves do., $2.20 to $2.45; spring shad, $4 per half-barrel; full, ditto, $5.

PROVISIONS—There is rather better enquiry. In barrelled goods the past season has been a dull one. Values show little change. In smoked meats, there is light sale at rather higher prices. Lard is firmer; in fact, packers will not duplicate orders except at higher figures.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—The flour market is still unsettled. An effort to advance prices did not succeed, and values keep low. The chief sale is for Ontario grades. Stocks are not large, though there is still considerable Manitoba here. Oatmeal and oats hold their price, but there is no large business. Cornmeal is rather lower and continues a large business. Feed is still scarce and no improvement is expected. Beans are quiet at even figures. Barley, light stock; for new, rather lower prices expected. Split peas keep high. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.30 to $5.45; best Ontario, $4.30 to $4.40; medium, $4.15 to $4.25; oatmeal, $3.80 to $3.90; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $2.00 to $2.10; bran, $1.70 to $1.80; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The Canada Drug Co. this week received a shipment of Robinson's patent barley.

Barton Gandy received a shipment of both coarse and factory filled Liverpool salt this week.

T. S. Simms has added a mill for the manufacture of broom and brush handles, to his plant.

Yerxa & Co., grocers, Fredericton, have assigned to Sheriff Sterling; liabilities, rather over $3,000; assets, about $1,700.

Last week the schooner Mary discharged a cargo of Barbadoes molasses at Charlottetown. She is loading a return cargo of oats.

The Newcomb Company, who were about to put a line of steamers on between New York, Maine, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia when the war broke out, are now preparing to carry out their plans. They already have a steamer running as far east as Eastport.

The Maritime Pure Food Co., of Woodstock, this week, sold 1,000 cases of their "St. John Valley" brand corn to The Davidson & Hay, Limited, Toronto. This is perhaps the first shipment west of canned vegetables from our Province, and as the sale was made at the regular price it speaks well for the quality of the goods.

ESTIMATE OF COFFEE CROP.

A New York coffee house, in estimating the coffee crop in Brazil for the present season, express the view that the total quantity exported will exceed 10,000,000 bags, counting in Santos, Rio, Victoria and Bahia, about 1,500,000 bags less than last season.

It is not expected that any material change in prices will take place, however. The firm conclude expressing as follows: "Prices below the ten cent level have ruled since January, 1897, and, on the basis of supply and demand, we think present values are likely to continue for years to come, and perhaps go lower in the immediate future."

FREE TICKETS FOR MERCHANTS.

THERE are two commendable characteristics in the wholesale merchants of Hamilton. The one is their enterprise and the other is their generosity.

They know that a large number of country merchants visit Toronto during the Industrial Exhibition, and they know that they are largely abroad for sightseeing. With a view to enlarging the opportunity of these merchants for sightseeing, they have, in their generosity, adopted the unique method of offering a free ticket from Toronto to Hamilton and return during the time the Exhibition is open.

In pursuance of this plan, the Hamilton wholesalers have made arrangements whereby the tickets can be obtained from Mr. J. J. Meffer, at Knox, Morgan & Co.'s sample room, Merchant's Building, 50-52 Bay street, Toronto.

"We don't want to keep the country merchants when they visit Hamilton," said a well-known wholesaler of the "Ambitious City." "Neither is it our intention to try and sell them goods. We merely want them to see our pretty little city, have a good time and go back to Toronto."

A POLITIC TRAMP.

Raggles—"Dere's only wun fault I hez ter find wid yer pie, mum."

Lady—"What's that?"

Raggles—"It's so blame good dat Ise afeard I won't be able ter eat common grub enny more."

Lady—"Wait a moment, my good man, and I'll get you a lunch to take with you."

—Judge.

That is diplomacy, tact, shrewdness, policy. How hard it is to learn to be wise, which is being politic. A grocer, tired of listening to the excuses of a delinquent customer, took the account to the Justice of the Peace and gave instructions to have it collected by law. "See here," said the judge, "you have still to learn that you can catch more flies with molasses than with vinegar. Leave your account and I will coax it out of Smith, but if you insist on suing, he will get angry and the chances are you will not collect a cent. The latter course was taken, the account saved and a customer retained.

Taffy is a great thing, whether used by a tramp, a diplomat or a trader. Try it!—American Grocer.

The Hartland, N.B., Advertiser is advocating a canning factory for that town, claiming that one could be easily supplied with stock without interfering with the Woodstock factory, which is said to be paying finely. All the product of the Woodstock factory has been sold to one firm.

Tillson's Pan-Dried (Registered) Rolled Oats

You've tried those Rolled Oats said to be "just as good as Tillson's"—price satisfactory, quality not. You've tried those Rolled Oats that looked so nice and white and flaky—looks satisfactory, taste not. How about those "Pan-Dried" Rolled Oats where quality meets price every single time—where looks do not deceive the taste.

No hulls, no dirt, no black specks in Tillson's brand, with its rich, nut-like flavor that folks know so well. As ever, the Rolled Oats of highest quality, but at a fair price to you.

THE PRESS CLIPPING BUREAU

Reads every paper in Canada and clips therefrom all articles of a business or personal nature of interest to subscribers in this department.

Politicians can obtain from it everything the papers say about themselves on any subject in which they are interested. Business men learn of new openings for trade, pointers to sell goods, addresses of people likely to become buyers, tenders wanted, stocks for sale or wanted, reports of new industries or stores, etc.

TERMS—$5 per hundred clippings; $40 per thousand, payable in advance; but a yearly contract will be found the most satisfactory.

We have also lists of firms in every branch of trade in the Dominion, the professions, club members, society, etc., and we are prepared to address and mail circulars or letters to these at any time.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 29, 1898.

THE weather has been cooler and with more rain than was desired by the farmers. Still, harvest operations are going forward very rapidly. Fully 60 per cent. of the wheat in Manitoba is cut, and probably 25 per cent. of the crop in the Territories. There will be a yield of at least 35,000,000 bushels in Manitoba and the Territories combined. Under favorable conditions threshing will be general in about ten days. Some threshing gangs are out already, and new wheat has been delivered at two points, Myrtle and Stockton. The sample, so far, is very good, there being no sign of smut, and, so far, no sign of frost. The yield is specially heavy in the western Mennonite district which lies along the United States boundary.

There has been a drop in flour in the last ten days of 20c. per sack on patent and strong bakers', and 15c. per sack on Algoma and XXXX. Business in this product is extremely quiet. Quotations: Patent, $2.35; strong bakers', $2.15; Algoma, $1.60; XXXX, $1.15. In groceries proper, there is no change to report. Canned goods, particularly tomatoes, are a little stiffer, and factorymen are not eager to quote; in fact, some have withdrawn their quotations from the market entirely. Evaporated fruits are ruling higher, which is preventing sales on this market.

GREEN FRUIT—The market is liberally supplied with plums, peaches, pears, grapes and apples. Ontario fruit still arrives in unsatisfactory condition; ditto, British Columbia. If growers from either Province could be introduced to one of their cars, while in process of unpacking at this point, they would probably mend their ways. The California fruit, being grown under irrigation, is naturally drier and easier to transport without damage, yet, every attention is paid, down to the smallest detail, to the careful packing of this fruit, while British Columbia and Ontario, with their moister climates and softer fruits, seem to think any way will do. The demand for fruit is active and carloads are sold very rapidly. The housewives of Winnipeg and Manitoba generally seem to be making more than usual provision in this line. Very fine crab-apples are now on this market, selling at 75c. per pair.

BUTTER—This market is still peculiar; 18c. point of shipment is the ruling price for creamery, but even at this figure men refuse to sell. Eastern dealers are quoting eastern creamery at almost identically the same price as is being paid for local manufacture. Dairy butter continues firm, not so much from any demand as from local competition, 13c. being paid f.o.b. point of shipment, for straight lots of number one dairy.

CHEESE—Are firm, and so far as local market is concerned factorymen are not inclined to sell, and the situation is much the same as with butter, as eastern dealers are offering eastern cheese at the same price that is being paid here for Manitoba. The present indication is that both creamery and cheesemen will be badly bitten if they continue the present policy.

EGGS—Very firm at 13c. f.o.b. Winnipeg. They are coming forward freely, and the quality is excellent.

"ON TIME"

WEBSTER was never late at a recitation in school or college. In court, in Congress, in society, he was equally punctual.

Amid the cares and distractions of a singularly busy life, Horace Greeley managed to be on time for every appointment. Many a trenchant paragraph for The Tribune was written while the editor was waiting for men of leisure, tardy at some meeting.

The comet which visits our atmosphere but once in a thousand years is never a single second behind time.

Punctuality is the soul of business, as brevity of wit.

Every business man knows that there are moments on which hang the destiny of years. If you arrive a few moments late at the bank, your paper may be protested and your credit ruined.

During the first seven years of his mercantile career, Amos Lawrence did not permit a bill to remain unsettled over Sunday.

Punctuality is said to be the politeness of kings.

Some men are always running to catch up with their business; they are always in a hurry, and give you the impression that they are late for a train. They lack method, and seldom accomplish much.

One of the best things about school and college life is that the bell which strikes the hour for rising, for recitations, or for lectures, teaches habits of promptness.

Every young man should have a watch which is a good timekeeper; one that is nearly right encourages bad habits, and is an expensive investment at any price. Wear threadbare clothes if you must, but never carry an inaccurate watch.

"Oh, how I do appreciate a boy who is always on time!" says H. C. Brown. "How quickly you learn to depend on him, and how soon you find yourself intrusting him with weightier matters! the boy who has acquired a reputation for punctuality has made the first contribution to the capital that in after years makes his success a certainty."

"Better late than never" is not half as good a maxim as "Better never late."

A conductor's watch is behind time, and a frightful railway collision occurs. A leading firm with enormous assets becomes bankrupt, because an agent is tardy in transmitting available funds, as ordered. An innocent man is hanged because the messenger bearing a reprieve should have arrived five minutes earlier. A man is stopped five minutes to hear a trivial story and misses a train or steamer by one minute.

Grant decided to enlist the moment that he learned of the fall of Sumter. When Buckner sent him a flag of truce at Fort Donelson, asking for the appointment of commissioners to consider terms of capitulation, he promptly replied: "No terms except an unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works." Buckner replied that circumstances compelled him "to accept the ungenerous and unchivalrous terms which you propose."—"Pushing to the Front."

A NEW PACKAGE TEA.

Another package tea has been put upon the market. It is named "Sailor" brand, and Perkins, Ince & Co., Toronto, are the proprietors. The tea is packed in the gardens at Ceylon, "which," said a member of the firm, enables it to retain its original flavor." The packages are halves and pounds, and have a rich and attractive appearance. The trade mark of the sailor boy climbing a mast, with the flag floating in the breeze, which has for so many years done duty on Perkins, Ince & Co.'s Japan teas, is much in evidence on the new package. The tea will be sold at popular prices.

NEW EVAPORATING FACTORIES.

Every indication points toward a rapid development of the evaporating fruit industry in western Ontario this year.

A large factory has been established in Wallaceburg, Ont.; another, and possibly two, will be built in Chatham.

Pintler & Payne, who have factories in Brantford and Tilsonburg, intend commencing a factory in St. Thomas. They will employ 20 to 30 hands.

Town & Griswold are placing an extra kiln in their factory at Clinton, Ont., thus increasing their capacity 100 bushels.

Mahler Bros., of Wingham, are doubling their capacity for apples.

The Simcoe Canning Co. is starting an apple evaporating factory at Port Rowan, Norfolk County. The machinery is of the newest and most approved style, and Mr. Innes claims it will be one of the best equipped evaporating factories in the country.

There is a growing demand for Canadian evaporated fruits, and if care is taken to manufacture a uniformly good article, the possibilities of the industry are indeed great.

FIRMS COMMENCING BUSINESS.

Mrs. Charbonneau is commencing business as grocer in Sault au Recollet, Que.

L. H. Marchand has opened out as provision dealer in Montreal.

B. Dalmage has opened out as general merchant in Selkirk West, N.W.T.

John W. Kyte has started up as general merchant in Port Hawkesbury, N.S.

B. Powers has commenced business as dealer in grain and seeds in Trenton, Ont.

Fire caused $300 damage to Mrs. John Mathieu's gum factory at St. Henri de Montreal, on Thursday, last week.

Four eggs, the weight of which totalled an even lb., were recently brought into the store of J. A. McCrea, grocer, Guelph.

Owing to ill health, E. Blair, general merchant, Althorpe, Ont., was compelled to sell his store, Thos. Munroe, Maberly, being the purchaser.

The new evaporating factory that Mr. Ellis is erecting in Wallaceburg, Ont., is expected to commence operations this week. Already 40,000 bushels of wheat have been purchased.

On the 1st of September, John Garvey, London, Ont., ceased doing business as retail grocer and liquor dealer. He will henceforth confine his energies to his wholesale department.

One more article has been added to the list of Canada's exported products. A. Haaz & Co., vinegar manufacturers, Kingston, shipped 600 gals. of vinegar last week to Glasgow, Scotland.

The Listowel Banner says that a Chatham township farmer recently found a five-foot snake roosting with his chickens, and that, after killing the reptile, several unbroken eggs were released from its interior.

A Carrick, Ont., hen laid a new style of egg the other day. Instead of being of the usual oval shape, it bears a close resemblance to a peanut, being 2 1/2 inches in length, 2 1/2 inches in circumference at one end and 2 3/4 inches at the other, while in the centre the measurement is only 1 3/4 inches.

Montreal can boast of its "gold" train, but it remains for St. Andrews to be able to brag of a "sardine" train. Four cars of Eastport sardines went west recently. The arrival of sardine vessels at St. Andrews of late have been very numerous. Since the first of the month there have been landed here for shipment to western points no fewer than 18,905 cases of sardines.—Woodstock, N.B., Despatch.

CANADIAN PRODUCTS IN BRITAIN.

IN his annual report to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Prof. Robertson states that an experiment regarding shipping apples in cold storage to Great Britain was made, 337 packages being sent in cold storage and 116 packages as ordinary cargo.

The apples shipped were of the Baldwin, Ribston Pippin, Cranberry Pippin and Northern Spy varieties, and were wrapped in paper. It was found on arrival that those shipped in cold storage arrived in sound and firm condition, while those shipped as ordinary cargo were not so solid, showing signs of decay wherever a spot or scab existed.

The apples in cold storage showed moisture on the surface, a result produced by condensation from the air by the sudden change of temperature. This can be overcome by keeping the cases closed, when taken from cold storage, until the fruit has become gradually warmed to near the temperature of the air.

Great Britain imported, last year, $256,-960,404 worth of breadstuffs—wheat, flour, oats, barley, etc. Of this, Canada sent $14,928,170 worth.

The following table shows how Canada's exports of breadstuffs compared with that of other countries:

Countries,	Flour.	Other Breadstuffs.
Canada	$ 3,973,570	$10,954,600
Other British Possessions	2,448	310,556
United States	33,028,120	84,402,528
Russia	24,513	50,120,282
Germany	321,010	3,710,337
France	3,544,105	500,527
Austrian Territories	3,739,498	212,736
Argentine Republic.....	57,052	20,695,303
India		3,445,293
Roumania		15,431,218
Turkey.....		9,369,856
Chili		4,656,304
Other foreign countries.....	218,621	8,241,882
Total	$44,928,982	$212,051,422

It will be seen that Canada stands second among the nations as an exporter of flour to Britain, and fifth as exporter of other breadstuffs.

Canadian wheat has an excellent reputation, but Prof. Robertson expressed the opinion that much of the wheat, especially from Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, is degraded in transit through the United States, inferior wheat being mixed with it. It would be of undoubted advantage to Canadian wheat-growers, if the bulk of the wheat crop could be handled through Canadian channels. Not only would the profits which arise from transportation be a direct source of revenue to Canadians, but the matchless quality of our wheat for bread-making, if kept unmixed with lower grades, would soon win a more decided preference and a relative advance in price.

Canadian flour is steadily gaining ground as flour from which bakers can make not only the best quality of bread, but also the largest quantity per barrel. Prof. Robertson is of the belief it would be advisable to have Canadian wheat ground into flour at home instead of being shipped in its natural state. This would furnish employment to a large number of persons, and would leave in Canada the bran and shorts, which will be wanted in greater quantity as our production of cattle and hogs increases.

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Summer Business in Toronto.

It is interesting to note the differences in the reports given by various grocers of the effect on trade of the coming and going of people during the summer months. In some parts of the city the reports indicate that the exodus of Torontonians has been so great that business is quiet even to dullness. Another section reports that the influx of summer visitors has created demand sufficient to compensate for all loss to trade because of the exodus. The reports of a few grocers in various sections of the city should prove interesting.

W. H. Marmion, 1,178 Queen street west, and, by the way, president of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, stated that this summer's business had surpassed that of any summer during the seven years he has been in business in his present stand. He found this summer that, added to the fact that he was doing a greater volume of business, his customers wanted less credit and paid cash down to a much greater extent than ever before. This last remark led to a question regarding "schemes" to develop cash trade, and Mr. Marmion expressed his decided opinions that such "schemes" were not necessary, and that, moreover, they were injurious to the business of those adopting them.

Swan Bros., King street east, are now experiencing the biggest rush of business they have at any time of the year. They cater to trade at the island, the various beaches, etc., and to yachting parties, etc., and the business derived from these sources is so voluminous, and demands so much special attention, that the summer season is, with Swan Bros., a busier one than the winter season. An illustration of the attention necessary to this business is given in the fact that, frequently, orders are received for all the meat, vegetables, fruit, as well as general groceries, desired by a yachting party. As Swan Bros. are general grocers, and not butchers, much of these orders have to be filled outside of their own shop. They have not tried any "scheme" to improve business, and state their belief that there is no necessity for so doing.

At R. Barron's branch store, Wellesley street, I had a talk with Mr. Barron, jr. Business in this neighborhood has been affected by residents there going away for the summer months. This summer, more than usual have been away, and the volume of business shows the effect of their departure more than usual. But the business being done is being done on a better, more substantial basis. This store commenced to give coupons to its customers, but found such a method to be unsatisfactory, so stopped offering them, and now will have nothing to do with such a "scheme."

T. Holmes, 990 Bathurst street, has found this summer's business the best he has experienced in seven years. The number of families leaving from the section of the city in which he does business is limited, and though this year as many as usual went holidaying, the volume of his business has increased. Beside this, the percentage of cash business has so increased that the condition of trade is much better than in past years. Mr. Holmes has not given any discount inducements to encourage cash trade.

Clancy Bros., corner of Harbord and Major streets, find every summer that at all time during June, July and August fully half of their customers are out of the city. The result naturally is that their volume of trade is much smaller during the summer than throughout the winter. This year, their summer business has been better than usual. They state that they have never tried coupons or trading stamps, and that their ever-increasing number of customers never ask for them.

PROFITABLE GOODS.

W. G. Dunn & Co., mustard manufacturers, Hamilton, have the most complete machinery for manufacturing mustard and claim to make all their brands direct from the imported seeds, extracting all shell in the manufacture, making a mustard that is highly pleasing to the taste. It will pay dealers to handle these goods, as they pay a good profit.

The Canadian Manufacturing Company has been formed for the manufacture of self-raising flour and baking powder. Wm. Angus is the manager. Their office will be on Bleury street, Montreal.

The Dunkley Celery and Preserving Co., of Kalamazoo, Mich., intend erecting a branch in Chatham, Ont., providing suitable arrangements can be made.

Order Salt Now

At present our stocks are unusually large, in anticipation of the heavy September demand. While our shipping facilities, distributed over several points, are equal to any emergency, we would remind customers that there is usually a difficulty in securing cars when harvest products begin to move. It is better to order ahead of immediate requirements and get salt shipped and stored all ready for fall business.

Keep Salt in a clean, dry place

Remember, that when we ship salt, it is neither wet nor dirty, but in every respect choice merchandise worth taking care of. The packages are always fresh and attractive, if kept clear of rain and dust.

Coleman's Dairy Salt

Dealers who have not tried to work up a trade in the higher grades of salt are recommended to begin with the 20-lb. sack of Coleman's Butter Salt. It is good value, retailing for a quarter dollar and paying the dealer almost as much profit as a barrel of common salt. Keep these well displayed, and, when a farmer asks for the customary "barrel of salt" for general purposes, sell him a sack in addition for dairy use. Next time he comes in with butter to sell, you will notice an improvement in the texture, color, flavor, and general appearance.

A True Profit means

A Quick Sale

A constant demand means quickened profits—half the true profit is lost on a slow seller. Standard goods that are widely advertised increase confidence and make far more business, and confidence is the foundation stone of successful storekeeping—you'll agree to that. "A true profit means a quick sale."

Maypole Soap Dyes.

You can make a true profit here—this English Home Dye sells quickly, and it keeps on selling. It is widely advertised in the newspapers. It washes and Dyes at one operation. It is the dye of confidence and brilliancy, and it won't fade. Don't forget that women like to dye in the Fall.

"Hand in Hand" Brand Bi-Carb. Soda.

You rely on the merit of the goods you sell, but you don't like to have goods accumulate. The "Hand in Hand" brand of Bi-Carbonate of Soda sets the standard (98⁵⁰/₁₀₀ of Pure Bi-Carbonate of Soda in it) and makes true profits from quick, sure, sales.

Stower's Peptonized Sauce.

Peptonized—thus, it differs from all other appetizers in its peculiar, yet very healthful, stimulating properties. It aids digestion—a strong selling point.

And it is advertised to help and to stimulate trade for you and for us. "True profits" (and good ones) from the quick sales of Stower's Peptonized Sauce.

Fry's Pure Cocoa.

Concentrated—hence its unrivalled purity and great strength. You see the name "Fry" everywhere—on Cocoa. An easily soluble Cocoa that is very economical to use. A Cocoa that has taken over 200 medals and awards at World's Fairs. "True profits from quick sales" in this Cocoa of highest quality—Fry's.

THE TEA STANDARD QUESTION.

THE following is another instalment of the views of importers in regard to the tea standard question :

AGAINST TEA STANDARDS.

"I am not personally in favor of standards," said R. Tasker Steele, of Lucas Steele & Bristol, wholesale grocers, Hamilton, "I cannot really see the necessity for same. Good Indian and Ceylon teas are now so cheap that it will not pay either China or Japan to send in their inferior grades. What they have to do, I think, is to improve their standards rather than deteriorate them. The British-grown teas are making headway all over the country, and an additional impetus is given them, this year, on account of high prices for China and Japan teas. The latter, particularly, will get a black eye without fail, and it will be quality not quantity that will hold the trade they have left. Tea is the poor man's friend, and I think no restriction should be placed on it.

THE MATTER OF EXPERTS.

"I have never heard what proposal the Government intended making about this matter, but it would entail great expense. Experts would be required at all importing centres, and, as their opinions would certainly vary, there would be no end of trouble. Why, take the molasses question. Molasses is an article one would think an equal test could be made of. Well, instead of that I have seen the same goods entered at Montreal and Kingston and refused here. And so it goes.

"The fewer restrictions we have in business the better. There is enough red tape to bother one now. So, I do hope the Government will do absolutely nothing in this tea business.

"I think that legislation of the tea question, such as is proposed, is an innovation and for the purpose of providing offices for partisans. The necessity of the times and the intelligence and education of the people is curing intemperance without legislation, and I think that almost the same thing applies to the drinking of wholesome tea.

"I may add that there are a variety of poor products which the Government would do well to tackle before interfering with teas. There are laws to regulate most of them now, but, like many laws, they are seldom enforced. Would it be a good plan for the wholesale and retail trade to talk the matter over and report their views to those in authority?"

AN IMPERFECT SYSTEM.

Says W. G. A. Lambe, of W. G. A. Lambe & Co., Toronto: "It is quite evident to all connected with the tea trade, that the present system, adopted by H.M. Customs, is very imperfect, and is the source of much unnecessary and unreasonable annoyance to importers of tea.

"It is a very unreliable plan to endeavor to arrive at the quality of a tea by testing the ash. The best way of deciding as to whether a tea be fit for consumption, is to submit the sample to a disinterested tea expert, or experts. The inspection might be performed by either a Government inspector, or, by a board of inspectors chosen from men in the tea business. To decide upon the quality of a tea, (1) by the ash; or, (2) by the appearance of the dry leaf; or, (3) by the cost of the tea, are all likely to lead to mistakes and injustice, especially so in regard to the first plan. I regard that mode as nothing less than a comedy.

STANDARDS NOT ESSENTIAL.

"Standards may or may not be adopted. I do not regard them as essential, except it be desired to simplify the work of the inspectors.

The desideratum of the Government is, it is presumed, to keep out trashy teas that are either unfit for consumption or so poor as to offer opportunities for imposing on the public. As to the first objection. To-day there is scarcely to be found a tea so poor as to be detrimental to health, and, as to keeping out any tea under a certain standard, the only way to do it is to appoint an inspector who knows his business. The inspection of teas in United States ports often degenerated into a farce through the incompetence of the officers. There are records in United States of the good teas in certain invoices being condemned, whilst the poorer lines in some invoices were passed as being all right.

INSPECTION OF CEYLON TEAS.

In the case of Ceylons, especially, is it necessary that the Customs officers called upon to decide upon the quality of the tea should know their business, as the appearance of Ceylon teas has nothing whatever to do with the quality.

The practice at present in vogue, at this port, of submitting samples to Ottawa of every tea entered, whether of high grade or not, is, if I might be allowed to express my opinion, ridiculous.

Some of the finest teas imported into Canada this year are at the present moment being held at the Customs here and delivery delayed pending a reply from Ottawa as to whether the said teas are fit for consumption or not! It is unnecessary to dwell upon the inconvenience and sometimes loss caused to the importer by this cumbrous procedure.

DUTY OF THE GOVERNMENT.

J. Lockart Watt, of Lockart Watt & Scott, Toronto, when asked for his views, said: "In my opinion, the duties and functions of the Government have nothing to do with regulating the grade of tea to be imported into the country. Their duty should be limited to seeing that no spurious, adulterated, or injurious articles of food, whether tea or anything else, be admitted into Canada for the purpose of sale; in other words, their duty is to protect the public against fraudulent traders or fraudulent tea packers. But they have no right to discriminate against low-priced tea and in favor of the high-priced article."

"Then you are against standards altogether?"

NO RIGHT TO DISCRIMINATE.

"Yes," replied Mr. Watt with emphasis. "The Government, or any other body of men, have no right to tell a man he must pay more than 25 cents per pound for his tea; but that is practically what the adoption of standards involves."

"This I do believe: I believe that the adoption of standards would result in benefit to tea importers, as it would naturally tend towards the importation of higher grade teas, on which the profits are relatively higher than on low grade teas."

DOES A FINE GROCERY TRADE.

Mr. Green, Bradford's live grocer, said to a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER the other day: "I started in business here about six years ago with the determination to work up a large trade in fine groceries. To-day, I can say with pleasure I have accomplished it. Of course, I have to do a limited amount of business on credit, but the farmers around here are all pretty well-to-do and as good as gold."

Any one going in Mr. Green's store could tell at a glance the up-to-date way the business is managed.

"BLUE LABEL" CATSUP.

This well-known brand of catsup is seen throughout the United States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Some of our Canadian merchants have handled it with satisfaction for years. No canning house is better known in the United States than The Curtice Bros. Co., Rochester, N.Y., both for reputation and quality of goods. Their "Blue Label" brand of catsup is now being advertised in THE CANADIAN GROCER, and can be safely recommended to the better class of trade for its quality.

HINT TO PICKLEMEN.

Editor GROCER,—Seeing the interest you take in Canadian industries, I thought I would write you in reference to an article in daily use which as yet has not been thoroughly grasped by Canadian manufacturers, viz., pickles. Pick up a bottle of foreign pickles and examine it carefully, and you will find it is composed of all kinds of vegetables, the different colors of which make a very showy appearance, besides adding much to the quality of the goods. Our home manufactured pickles are composed entirely of cucumbers, cauliflower and onions, with now and again a red pepper to give color. If red peppers add so much to the value from an artistic point, why not go further and add currants, cherries, crab-apples, etc. All these vegetables are grown in abundance in Canada, and can be bought far cheaper than in Europe, and, seeing they are so wholesome in other ways, why not as pickles? All our high-class pickle trade is monopolized by foreigners, when a little care on the part of Canadian manufacturers would change it all, and, instead of sending thousands of dollars out of the country for these goods, the money would go into the pockets of our own farmers, and, in return, help to build up our manufacturing centres. Another fault with our pickles is the poor quality of vinegar used. I have discussed this question with grocers in different places, and invariably they have said the reason why foreign pickles have sold so much more readily than home-made was the milder quality of vinegar used. I believe most foreign manufacturers use grape and wine vinegars.

In talking this over with a large manufacturer the other day, he admitted to me that this was the only reason why so many foreign pickles were being sold in Canada, and when I asked him why he did not get better vinegar, he said: "Oh, the price is too high." Our Canadian manufacturers are paying too much attention to price and not enough to quality and variety, and, in the meantime, foreign houses are getting the best trade.

Quebec, Sept. 1, 1898. OLD GROCER.

QUEER FOODS.

JAPAN is a heavy shipper of outlandish foods to the new world. It has a practical monopoly of the nests which are used in making birds' nest soup, which, by the way, when prepared by an American chief, is the most delicious dish of its class in the world. It also catches and dries armies of devilfish, which are as popular in the East as the dried codfish in the West. In fact, says the Philadelphia Times, the two sea foods are very much alike in flavor, and differ chiefly in their texture, the flesh of the devilfish being hard, compact and more like muscle than that of the familiar cod. Tree mushrooms and sea mushrooms are two other famous Japanese edibles that come to us across the Pacific. They resemble mushrooms in their contour and structure, but in nothing else. The tree mushrooms have a flavor of wood bark, while the sea mushroom boils away in cooking, very much as if it were made of marine glue. In fact, it is used in Japan for making vegetable gelatine for thickening stews and soups, in very much the same manner as we convert the bladders of sturgeons and other fishes into animal gelatine for a similar purpose. Dried fishes are another important export from the land of the Mikado. Unlike us, the Japanese dry almost every eatable fish, from minnows and whitebait up to marine animals as large as the sturgeon and the swordfish. Their drying appears to be conducted upon a different system from our own. When ready for the market, their fishes are so dried as to suggest kiln-dried timber. They apply the same process to the lower forms of sea life, and desiccated clams, mussels, oysters, prawns, shrimps, crawfish and crabs, until they resemble stone. In this condition the foods will withstand any climate, and may be kept in the open air without spoiling for an entire twelve month.

COLD STORAGE.

THE purpose of agriculture is to produce foods. The surplus foods, above what are consumed on the farms, form the basis of commerce in Canada. The carrying on of commerce is the exchanging of something for something else. It has come to be mainly the exchanging of some product, or article, or service for money. In such transactions, from the production of a crop of wheat to the serving of bread on the table of the consumer, and from the care of a pasture field to the filling of the butter dish on the table, different interests are concerned. In considering how the original producer and the ultimate consumer can both obtain the largest measure of value and service, for their labor and what else they have to give in exchange, the interests of other laborers must be recognized.

Besides the producers—those who grow cereals, fruits and other things, those who make butter, fatten cattle and swine, keep poultry, etc.—there are those who buy and collect those products. The interests of the buyers or collectors of farm products are not identical with those of the producers, but both can obtain larger profits when all the commodities sold by the one and handled by the other are of excellent quality, and in the very best condition.

When food products become spoiled, to any extent, the value is lessened, and, consequently, a loss falls on somebody.

The interests of the carriers or transportation companies are directly concerned in the quality, condition and value of the products to be handled.

The interests of the wholesale dealers, who are sometimes a separate class from those who buy and collect the products, and also sometimes a separate class from those who retail or sell the products in small quantities, are relatively large, and the business chances from them also are improved when products are of good quality, with the least possible risk of deterioration while in their possession.

The interests of the retail merchants—the distributors—are most important in the development of agriculture. Where these merchants—provision merchants, fruit merchants, greengrocers, butchers, bakers and others—can obtain a steady supply of Canadian products of first-class quality, not likely to spoil in their possession, they have a chance for fair profits and are likely to push the sale of these goods with their customers, more than they would push the sale of goods of irregular quality which are liable to create fault finding, or goods likely to go out of condition, increasing risk of loss.

Finally, there are the interests of the consumers. When they obtain a fine quality of farm products in the best condition, larger quantities of them are consumed. The class of customers who live in towns and cities, and who are well able to pay high prices for such products, select only those which are to their taste, in composition, in condition and in appearance.

In planning to provide or assist in providing a system of cold storage, regard must be had to all these interests. Men are concerned with the production of wealth and the progress of the country in those different capacities. The middlemen, the buyers, the collectors, the transportation companies, the wholesale merchants, the retail distributors, are quite as essential to the carrying on of the nation's or country's business with profit, as are those who are called the producers or the consumers. The laborers who are producers of commodities, or render service in any capacity, become the consumers in relation to those who do likewise in another capacity. The farmer is a consumer to the manufacturer of furniture and clothing, as much as the carpenter and the shoemaker are consumers in relation to the farmer.—Extract from report of Prof. James W. Robertson.

THE GROCER GOT EVEN.

A certain well-to-do housekeeper in West Chester discovered one day last week that there wasn't a grain of pepper. She always had her groceries sent to her from a big Philadelphia firm, but on occasions like this she was in the habit of patronizing a West Chester grocer, whose store was near by. Therefore, she condescended to call up the local grocer by telephone and place with him her order for a quarter of a pound of pepper, to be delivered at once. The grocer is a patient man, and he talked very politely over the telephone. Afterward, however, he swore; then he laughed. He laughed loud and long, and remarked to himself occasionally: "Good idea! That's rich!" About half an hour later the well-to-do housekeeper was somewhat surprised to see a great clumsy dray drive up before her door and back up to the curb. In the middle of the dray was a tiny package done up in yellow paper. The drayman, after taking particular care to get his huge wagon in proper position, adjusted the board from the tail-board to the steps, and, with a thick stan-chion proceeded to slowly pry the tiny package off the dray. With infinite care he rolled it onto the step, the amazed housekeeper meanwhile watching the proceeding from the doorway. Then the drayman soberly presented the grocer's bill for the quarter pound of pepper and drove off.—Philadelphia Record.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC IN CANADA.

The Dominion statistician has made an interesting report on railway statistics. It shows that the steam railways in Canada, last year, carried 26,000,000 people. The electric railways carried 83,800,000 people, as compared with 73,900,000 last year. There are 35 electric railways in Canadian cities, with 58.3 miles of track. These lines ran over 26,500,000 miles during the year.

ETERNAL PRINCIPLES.

There are certain eternal principles that enter into the wise conduct of business—certain lines that must win out. Get your business on these lines and hold strictly to them, regardless of what this one or that one may say, regardless of what is or what has been, and hold to them with the faith and the grasp that know no weakening, and you will win out.—Frank A. Munsey.

SEEDED RAISINS.

Several years ago, consumers had to seed their raisins themselves, or else eat them seeds and all. To-day, so great has been the progress of events, the wholesale grocers, and even large retail dealers, are using the seeding machines, and pretty soon the unseeded or whole fruit will find a market nowhere. The capacity of the seeding machine is between 100 and 400 lb. an hour; these are one horse-power machines. Almost as late in making an appearance as the seeding machines were the fruit-cleaners, which turn out between 500 and 2,000 lb. of currants or raisins per hour, these also being single horse-power machines. It is strange that the factory-packed small parcel of sugar should have made its first appearance at the same time as cleaned and seeded dried fruits. It is difficult to decide which is the greater boon.—Merchants' Review.

MERCHANTS MAILING MONEY.

A WELL-KNOWN manufacturer has called the attention of THE CANADIAN GROCER to the practice of many merchants sending money through the mails without taking the precaution of either registering or procuring a post office order.

A merchant, or anyone else, who sends money through the mails as he would an ordinary letter, is taking a risk that is unwarranted. It is like a man swimming a dangerous rapid when a few cents would take him down in a boat, for a letter goes through a number of hands, and, if it should be stolen or lost, there is no recourse for remuneration.

The expenditure of an extra 5c. on a registration stamp will take a letter to any part of the Dominion. And while, of course, a registration stamp does not make the letter with its contents proof against being lost or stolen, it does make the stealing of it more risky, to say nothing of the fact, that in the event of theft or loss, the money can be recovered.

The money order system, however, affords greater protection than the registration scheme, and for sums not over $5 is even cheaper than the latter. The following are the rates:

	Cents.
If not exceeding $2.50.....	3
Over $ 2.50 and up to $ 5.....	4
" 5 " 10.....	6
" 10 " 20.....	10
" 20 " 30.....	12
" 30 " 40.....	15
" 40 " 50.....	20
" 50 " 60.....	24
" 60 " 70.....	28
" 70 " 80.....	32
" 80 " 90.....	36
" 90 " 100.....	40

No single money order, payable in the Dominion of Canada, can be issued for more than $100; but as many of $100 each may be given as the remitter requires. Limit on American orders, $50; on English and foreign orders, $50.

In view of the cheapness of registration and post office orders, there is no excuse for any one sending even one dollar, much less larger sums, through the mails, as he would an ordinary letter, and he is a wise man who will discontinue what has perhaps hitherto been a practice with him.

Success may be a long way off, but perseverance can usually find it.

CHINA BLACK AND GREEN TEAS.

THE China tea situation is not without interest. Up to Sept. 1 the exportation of Congous only aggregated 1,992,433 lb., against 3,055,327 lb. the same period last year, while prices range from 1 to 3c. per lb. higher than in 1897.

China Oolongs are not of much interest to Canadians, but it is worthy of mention, as showing the statistical position of the market, that the exportation of these teas up to Sept. 1 was but 1,385,424 lb., against 3,542,239 lb. last year. This is a decrease of 2,156,915 lb., or 60.64 per cent.

Another season of scarcity is promised in China green teas, and some expect it to be as pronounced as it was a year ago. Prices are 1, 1½ and 2c., and even in some instances, 3c. higher than the opening figures last year, and teas which sold in Toronto, two or three years ago, at from 7 to 7½c. per lb., cannot be bought this season for less than 14½c. per lb.

In green teas, the strength is particularly in the lower grade descriptions.

SITUATION IN JAPAN TEAS.

JAPAN teas maintain their firm and interesting position, the tendency of prices being towards greater rather than towards diminished strength.

The shortage at the middle of last month was estimated to be 30,000 piculs, and a Yokohama advice states that the market was then higher than at any time this season, while the quality of the tea was poor.

One of the evidences of the poor quality of the tea was that nothing under $24 to $25 per picul would pass the standard in the United States, whereas, last year, teas costing as low as $18 per picul would pass inspection.

Settlements at Yokohama, up to August 18, were 167,937 piculs, against 174,318 the same time last year. This is a decrease of 3.66 per cent.

A more interesting statistical statement still is that referring to the exportation of teas from Japan to the United States and Canada, from the beginning of the season to September 1.

These were but 17,040,608 lb., against 24,587,483 lb. during the same period of 1897, a decrease of 30.6 per cent.

Medium grades of Japan teas are so scarce that shippers cannot get enough to supply the demand, while it is asserted that 75 per cent. of the orders placed on Canadian account, for all grades, will not be filled.

Importers in Canada are gradually becoming more reconciled to the high prices, and are buying more freely. During the past week, some transactions in which large lots were concerned have taken place for import, and there has been some business in spot teas at from 15½ to 19c.

It will be remembered that THE CANADIAN GROCER, a few weeks ago, stated that the Japan Government proposed prohibiting the picking of the third crop. The Government does not, however, appear to have put its proposition into practice, for advices just received from Yokohama, under date of August 18, state that the third crop leaf was making its appearance, and that the quality was satisfactory.

If you want good clerks you want to be a good merchant. Like begets like.

WASTING MONEY ON COMMERCIAL AGENCIES.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT, the Minister of Trade and Commerce, stated a few days ago that he was considering the advisability of appointing five or six commercial agents in different foreign countries.

It is to be hoped there will be no haste in the matter. Commercial agents cost money, and, unless they are sent where profitable trade is likely to eventually result, money is wasted. This, Canada cannot afford.

Before a business man ventures upon another market, he devotes his energies to that which he already trades in, provided, of course, that the market has not reached the limit of its possibilities as far as he is concerned personally.

At present, Canada's chief market is Great Britain. There is no question about that, for, out of a total export of $159,485,770 the last fiscal year, $104,787,554 worth, or about 65 per cent. of the whole, went to that country.

But large, relatively, as is the exportation of our goods to Great Britain, it is possible of much expansion. We have not the complete British trade returns to hand for later than 1896, but these will serve to illustrate this point.

In 1896, the total imports into Great Britain were £441,808,904, of which Canada only contributed £16,047,263, or about 2½ per cent. of the whole.

The possibility of expanding the export trade of the Dominion with Great Britain is seen still more strongly when a comparison is made of the value of certain articles which the latter imports and the proportion thereof which Canada supplies. Take the following table as an illustration, based upon the lines of farm and dairy produce, in which Canada has such large possibilities :

	Value of Articles imported by Great Britain.	Amount sent by Canada.
Cattle	$ 45,284,601	$ 6,816,361
Bacon	38,225,306	3,799,428
Beef, fresh	24 473,629	3,402
Mutton, fresh	22,963,737	75
Butter	74,667,537	958,649
Cheese	23,848,749	14,251,700
Eggs	20,364,892	704,768
Oats	18,120,863	112,704
Wheat	109,651,723	7,891,874
Flour	37,371,196	347,685
Fish	13,913,347	3,710,378
Apples	7,701,359	1,306,204

In view of these facts, it is the duty of the Minister of Trade and Commerce to bend his energies, first, in developing trade in a market that is unquestionably possible of further development, instead of spending his energies and the country's money in establishing agencies in countries whose trade is not likely ever to amount to much.

THE PRICE OF PROVISIONS.

THERE has been a reaction from the high prices for dressed hogs ruling for the past month or two. In April, dressed hogs were worth from $5.25 to $5.75, but at regular intervals since then, the price was advanced by packers in order to increase receipts, till the figures ruling were $7 to $7.50, where they remained stationary until within the last ten days, when the reaction occurred and the price fell to from $5.50 to $6.

When the prices of hogs were advanced, packers did not follow closely with the prices of smoked and dry salted meats, so, now that the reaction has taken place, there will not necessarily be a decline in these goods.

At present, smoked meats are steady, with prices unchanged. The export demand for bacon and hams is now so good that, except in case of a decided slump in the British market, there is little probability of decline here.

Barrel pork has declined, but this decline is due to other influences than the reduction in the value of hogs. In the first place, it is anticipated that the demand for lumbermen will not be as large as usual this year, as the United States tariff on lumber is expected to effect the lumbering industry somewhat. This, combined with the fact that the production this year is in excess of previous years, and the fact that a considerable amount of United States barrel pork has been imported, has naturally resulted in a decline of 50c. to $1 per bbl.

Lard, too, shows up decidedly weak. This is due to the fact that the production has increased greatly. Frequent mention has been made of the growth in the demand in Great Britain for Canadian hams and bacon, and of the increased production of these goods. This increase has naturally resulted in a larger production of lard, though the production of this article has not increased in proportion to the increase in the pack of provisions, for the reason that the demand has turned towards long, lean hogs, which do not produce as much lard, proportionally, as the fat breeds. The increased production of lard, however, has been sufficient to create a weak feeling, and cause a decline of 1 to 1½c. per lb. within the last couple of weeks.

As the production of lard is likely to continue to grow, and as the export demand cannot be counted on to absorb the increase, the probability is that lard will be proportionally cheaper than it has been in past years, and this cheapness will materially affect the sale in Canada of shortening compounds, etc.

EARLY COHOE SALMON PACK.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at the request of the canners, has decided to allow the coho fishing season on the Coast to open on September 15. This is about ten days earlier than usual, and is in order to partly compensate the canners for the failure of the sockeye pack.

Daily papers from Vancouver and Victoria to hand, state that large numbers of sockeye salmon were then in the Gulf, and that they were expected to enter the Fraser river in about a week or ten days.

In consequence of this late run of sockeye, fishermen and canners, according to reports from the Coast, expect a good many of these fish to be caught with the cohoes. One Vancouver paper remarks: "September 15 the fishermen will drop their nets again. And then all will be fish that comes to their net, whether it be coho or sockeye."

FAVORABLE BANK CLEARINGS.

Bank clearings in Canada continue favorable.

During August, the aggregate clearings of the six chief cities in the country were $103,043,105, an increase of nearly 7 per cent. compared with the same month a year ago.

The showing for the eight months ending Aug. 31 is still more favorable, the increase being over 24 per cent. compared with 1897, the aggregate figures being $901,839,738 and $727,039,237, respectively.

IMPORTANT CUSTOMS RULING.

A POINT of interest to importers of certain lines of fruits from Austria and Spain has just been decided by the Commissioner of Customs at Ottawa.

The Customs authorities at Toronto, it appears, had ruled that the privileges which certain articles imported from Spain and Austria enjoyed under the treaty between this country and France had ceased with the abrogation of the German and Belgian treaties and the coming into operation of the preferential tariff on British products only.

The Customs Department, at Ottawa, was appealed to against this decision, and this week Mr. Watt, of J. L. Watt & Scott, received a letter from Mr. McDougall, the Commissioner of Customs, setting aside the ruling of the Toronto authorities, on the ground that Great Britain's favored nation treaty with Spain and Austria entitled the products of these two countries, which were the same as those enumerated in the French treaty, to come in at the same rate of duty as the products of France.

This means that nuts and almonds from Spain will continue to come in under a 2c. per lb., instead of a 3c. per lb. duty, and prunes from Austria at two-thirds of 1c. per lb., instead of 1c. per lb., as under the regular tariff.

COLD STORAGE FOR P.E.I.

Another advance has been made in the dairy industry of Prince Edward Island by the introduction of an Atlantic freight service with the best cold storage facilities. Eight years ago there was practically no dairy industry in that Province.

The next year, cheese factories were established by the Dominion Government, and in two years, eleven stations, with 1,187 patrons, were in full working order.

The development of the industry has been retarded by inefficient steamship service, and, now that this cause is being removed, further growth of both the cheese-making and butter-making industries will be a natural result.

DOING BUSINESS IN MEXICO.

W. C. O'Brien, of Mexico, is spending a holiday in Canada, the guest of Hon. Mr. Justice Wurtelle, Montreal. He represents several American firms in Mexico, and is looking into the possibilities of handling Canadian manufactures and products in that country. He thinks Canada should do more business with the south. Mexico buys many products from the States that could be laid down by water just as cheaply from Canada.

Mr. O'Brien remarked, in conversation with THE CANADIAN GROCER, that last year, for the first time, Mexico figured as a wheat exporting country, and, as they have large areas of uncultivated land, suitable for wheat growing, and as labor is cheap, the production of this cereal was likely to increase enormously.

BUTTER FOR THE WEST INDIES.

A HALIFAX butter firm has placed in its factory a machine for packing butter in hermetically sealed tins for the West Indian trade.

Some weeks ago, a shipment of butter in small crocks was made to the West Indies, the return netting 25c. per lb. at the factory, and much encouragement was given concerning the reception of future shipments.

The creameries of the Maritime Provinces might profitably follow the example of the Halifax firm, for there is in the West Indies a market for Canadian butter which can be greatly developed.

Bermuda, Trinidad and Barbadoes alone import over 1,220,075 pounds of butter, a large proportion of which comes from France and the United Kingdom in hermetically sealed one pound tins, and sells at from 40 to 48c. per pound.

Canada has demonstrated her ability to make good butter. It will be but a secondary matter to land it in the West Indies in the manner of package preferred there.

The tinning machine installed by the Halifax factory cost but $125, and is worked with the power formerly employed under the old method.

ONLY 6,500 CASES "HORSE SHOE."

A private letter just to hand from J. H. Todd & Son says: "Owing to the short pack of salmon this season on the Fraser river, we are only able to send Canadian customers about 6,500 cases of "Horse Shoe" salmon, as against orders generally received for from 15,000 to 20,000 cases."

AMONG TORONTO RETAILERS.

Transient Fruit Trade.

It is interesting to note the efforts of some of the various dealers to catch a share of the transient fruit trade, especially those on Yonge and Queen streets. Some make a large and varied display, yet do not seem to do the business; others show but a moderate quantity of fruit, yet they have an almost continuous demand for one kind of fruit or another.

Conversation with one of the latter class generally brings out the fact that in the past they have had difficulty in reaching the demand, but that experience and close observation have taught them a few lessons that have been of great use. The majority of dealers who do a really large trade have a clerk, and, in some cases two, whose duty is to be at the door or on the street ready to give any information, or sell or tie up anything desired by the passing pedestrian. Other dealers, who get a fair share of this class of trade, have their goods well displayed, and in, or near each variety of fruit is a plain card stating price. These dealers keep a watchful eye on the front, and should anyone stop and examine any of the wares, one of the clerks is out in an instant ready for business.

It is noticeable, on the other hand, that, in the case of a large number of dealers whose trade is not what it should be, that their display at the front does not get the attention it deserves; they seem to expect that all desiring fruit will come into the store and ask for it, as they do other goods. This sounds reasonable, too, but a business man, like any other person, must govern himself by the circumstances in which he is placed. And, in this case, the circumstances are that other dealers sell their fruit outside, and if a dealer desires to compete with them he must do likewise.

It is not a usual occurrence, but I have noticed, in some cases, a nice display of fruit almost completely offset by a basket of over ripe stuff that none would care to buy, and that would deter many from buying from the dealer displaying it. There is no question but that to do a good fruit business, a nice, fresh display is necessary, and that an attendant should be ready to wait on outside customers at all times.

CHANGE IN GROCERY FIRM.

The old firm of Carter, Hall & Baker, Victoria, B.C., has been dissolved, the business being continued by Mr. George Carter, under his own name. He is making a specialty of hams, bacon, lard, etc., being sole agent, for Victoria, for the Frye-Bruhn Co., and appears to be doing a good business for them.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 8, 1898.

GROCERIES.

THE past week has been a busy one in the wholesale grocery trade of Toronto. Being the second week of the Industrial Exhibition there has been a large influx of country merchants, and, if anything, the number is larger than usual. The travelers are all in the warehouses assisting the sample room staff to attend to the wants of the various customers. The demand for sugar has been decidedly brisk, and the market is just as strong as the demand is active. Canned goods remain in much about the same position as a week ago. Teas are fairly active at firm prices. There is not much being done in foreign dried fruits, but, as a few small shipments of new season's Valencia raisins are now on the spot, a little more interest may be looked for.

CANNED GOODS.

There is very little doing in canned goods, and no material change has taken place in the situation. The market for canned salmon is firm. "Maple Leaf" brand has been advanced to $4.50 f.o.b. the Coast, and the price is now $1 above the opening figures. Some of the Lowe Inlet packers have, during the past week, cleaned out their stocks at $3.75 f.o.b., an advance of 50c. per case on the opening figures. Wholesalers are quoting Fraser River fish, for future shipment, at $1.25 to $1.30, and Lowe Inlet at $1.20 to $1.25. Cohoes, for future delivery, are being quoted, by wholesalers, at $1 per dozen. The coho pack will begin on the 15th inst., the Minister of Marine and Fisheries having decided to allow fishing to begin ten days earlier than usual, and the canners expect, therefore, to catch sockeyes with the cohoes.

A little business is being done in canned vegetables, but, as the retailers have bought pretty freely, as a rule, there is not much doing. There is not, however, any disposition on the part of either packers or wholesalers to push business. One or two wholesale houses are quoting as high as 90c. for tomatoes, but they acknowledge that they are naming this figure because they do not want to sell. The ruling quotations for future delivery are from 75 to 85c. for tomatoes and 75 to 80c. for corn. Peas are quoted at from 70 to 75c. An odd case of old season's tomatoes is going out at $1 per dozen.

COFFEES.

The retail demand is almost nil, and the views of importers and holders are so far apart that no transactions are taking place.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is no material change in the situation. In syrups, the few being offered are not wanted, and molasses is quiet. Advices from New Orleans report a firm market with a fairly good export demand.

SUGARS.

Trade has been more active during the past week than for some time, a large quantity of sugars having gone out. The market is strong, and, while no quotable change has taken place, one is possible any day, in sympathy with the outside markets. Some grades of refined sugar have advanced $\frac{1}{8}$ c. per lb. in New York, this week, and others 1-16c. per lb. During the past month

*See pages 26 and 27 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

prices have advanced $\frac{1}{4}$ c. per lb. on some grades of refined sugars.

NUTS.

Advices indicate that the price of all nuts will be much higher than last year. A few orders are being placed by importers, but they are not on firm offers; they are on a confidential basis. No quotations have yet been received on walnuts, but they are expected to be about 30 per cent. higher than last season.

TEAS.

Quite a few large transactions in new season's Japan teas have taken place, and the operators are chiefly the larger importers. The market continues firm, with an upward tendency. China green teas will be scarce again and dear, while the crop of Congous and Oolongs will be much greater than last year.

A little is being done in Ceylon teas. Some good values, below 16c. per lb., are being shown by shippers' agents. Among the samples of Indian tea arriving are some showing good style and draw, while the quality of Indian and Ceylon teas generally coming forward are showing an improvement in quality.

Mail advices from London, under date of August 26, stated that Indian teas were beginning to arrive in quantity, but, in spite of this, teas of really good quality continue to command high prices with a strong market. In Ceylon teas, although the auction was heavy, bidding for all descriptions was animated and the market steady. Teas for price were wanted and sold at rates which were a shade dearer.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—Market is steady. There is a little business being done for importation. Some of the wholesale houses are booking orders for Filiatra currants at $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., in cases, to arrive.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Small shipments of new season's fruit are arriving this week, and some cable orders for pretty round lots have been taken since our last review. The Parisian arrived in Montreal on Sunday with Valencia raisins on board, but the shipment was not as large as expected, a considerable quantity having missed connection at Liverpool. Some of the houses have cleaned out the last of their old season's off-stalk at less than 4c. per lb. Off-stalk they are quoting at $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 5c. and selected at $5\frac{1}{2}$ to 6c.

SULTANA RAISINS—Are cabled 2s. dearer, making the advance from the lowest point about 6s. per cwt.

FIGS—Prices are about 4s. per cwt. higher than they were at the opening of the market, and this has curtailed business as far as this market is concerned. A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday, by Watt & Scott, stated that orders were being executed in Smyrna at 25s. per cwt. above the figures of last year.

PRUNES—The market for Turkish prunes is firm, and some business is being done at to-day's prices. Quite a number of orders for Turkish prunes have so far been taken this season, but they are by no means as large as they were a few years ago. There is a little business being done in California prunes. The first shipment of California prunes from the Santa Clara valley is expected in Toronto about the end of September.

CALIFORNIA APRICOTS—The market is still firm, and very few apricots are likely to be imported into Canada this year, the cost being about 15c. The Santa Clara valley crop is estimated at about 300 carloads, whereas last year it was 1,200 carloads.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market for Canadian fruits is at its height, the hot weather ripening fruit so rapidly that it has come in with a rush.

Tomatoes are arriving in good condition and sell freely at unchanged prices. Apples are plentiful. Some shown are good quality; the majority are only of moderate worth. Prices continue same as last week. Crawford peaches are offered at 50 to 75c., and are now about as plentiful as they will be. Common stock is sold freely at 25 to 40c. Bartlett pears are arriving in large quantities, and are worth 25 to 40c., while ordinary pears are not worth over 15 to 25c. Choice plums are worth from 45 to 50c., common grades from 20 to 30c. Grapes are even more plentiful than last week and are now quoted at 13 to 25c. for 10-lb. baskets. Red peppers are 5c. cheaper than last week. Sweet potatoes have declined 10 to 20c. Some of the largest and firmest muskmelons ever seen on the market are now coming in. They are worth 25 to 50c. per basket. Bananas are selling freely at the lower price, only the best green stock reaching the higher quotation given. Some Verdilla lemons are on the market, but, as stocks are scarce, there is little movement, and prices continue high. There is nothing doing in oranges.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is a good demand for strictly fresh eggs, and the price has advanced 1c. per lb. From 12 to 12½c. is paid for choice farmers' lots, and from 11 to 11½c. is allowed for cases.

POTATOES—The demand continues excellent, and prices are unchanged at 50c. per bushel. Receipts are fair, but no car lots have arrived.

HONEY—Receipts continue large, and much of the honey arriving is of clear, clover quality. Some comb honey is bringing 25c. per dozen more than our last week's quotations.

POULTRY—There is a small, steady sale of chickens and ducks. Turkeys are not offered freely. No geese are on sale yet. There is no change in prices, except an advance of 10c. per pair for ducks.

VEGETABLES—Corn, celery, cucumbers, lettuce and butter beans have advanced. Beets, radishes and carrots have declined. We quote as follows: Corn, 10 to 15c. per doz.; cauliflower, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 60 to 65c. per doz.; lettuce, 20 to 25c. doz. bunches; radishes, 15 to 20c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz., 75c. to $1; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 20c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, $1 to $1.50; red cabbage, 75c. to $1.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is still an excellent demand for choice dairy butter, both tubs and prints. Poorer qualities, however, are arriving too freely. Creamery tubs are not in brisk demand, but prints are in good enquiry.

At country points the following prices are obtainable. Dairy tubs, 12½ to 13c.; prints, 13 to 14c.; creamery prints, 17 to 18c.; tubs and boxes, 16½ to 17c.

CHEESE—The market in Toronto is firm at 8¼ to 8½c. The feeling at country boards throughout the Province shows a firm determination to get 8c. at board sales.

PROVISIONS.

The price of dressed hogs has fallen $1 to $1.50 during the past ten days, a decline which may be styled a reaction from the high prices offered to induce larger shipments to packers. Smoked meats continue steady at unchanged figures. Barrel pork has declined 50c. to $1, and lard is 1 to 1½c. per lb. cheaper than a week ago.

FISH.

Fresh ciscoes are now arriving in moderate quantities at $1 per 100. Fresh water herring are also coming in at 60c. per basket. Whitefish and trout are quoted ½c. dearer. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 7c.; fresh whitefish, 7c. steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb. fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh black bass, 8c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Wheat has again declined 2 to 3c. per bushel. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 66c.; white winter, 65c.; goose, 55c. The street market is fairly busy. Wheat is 2 to 3c. cheaper; rye and oats, ½c. cheaper than last week. We quote as follows: Wheat, white, 66 to 67c.; red, 66 to 67c.; goose, 57c.; peas, 55 to 57c.; oats, new, 27 to 28½c.; rye, 43c. Manitoba No. 1 hard is in good demand, and prices are unchanged at 90c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—Manitoba graded and Ontario straight roller are 10c. cheaper this week. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.20; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.15; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.40, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand has begun to grow throughout the country. The city trade has not yet opened. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.80 in bags and $3.90 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The feeling continues easy at unchanged figures. We quote: No. 1, 8¾c.; No. 2, 7¾c.; No. 3, 6¾c.; cured, 9¾c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins are firm at 60c.

WOOL—The market is unchanged, little doing owing to difference of opinion on the part of buyers and sellers. Prices are unchanged at 10c. for unwashed and 16c. for fleece.

SEEDS.

The alsike market is dull, both in deliveries and the demand. Prices are unchanged at from $2.50 to $4 for all grades, except extra fancy stock, which is worth slightly more. The receipts of timothy have been so light that dealers are not yet willing to give quotations.

SALT.

The demand is now excellent. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Carload lots, $1.05 per bbl., and 65c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.10 per bbl., and 70c. per sack. At the wells we quote F.O.B., barrels, 75c.; sacks, 45c.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs have advanced 1c.

Sultana raisins are cabled 2s. dearer.

Dressed hogs have declined $1 to $1.50.

New season's Valencia raisins are on the market.

Comb honey is quoted 25c. higher for the choicest grades.

"Maple Leaf" canned salmon has been advanced to $4 50 on the Coast.

Lard is 1c. cheaper than last week, and barrel pork is worth 50c. to $1 less.

Eleme figs are 4s. per cwt. dearer than they were at the opening of the market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8, 1898.

GROCERIES.

A fair distributing trade has been done in most lines, and the market generally continues to be moderately active. A feature of the week has been the activity in new pack salmon between local houses, and prices at the Coast have advanced 35c. per case. Sugar has been more active, and firm at the late advance. New crop Japan teas are firmly held. The market for dried fruit abroad has become unsettled, and prices are irregular. Other lines are without any feature of importance.

SUGAR.

There has been no material change in the situation of the sugar market during the past week, except that foreign advices on the raw article continue strong, and latest cables received from London, on beet, note a further advance of $\frac{3}{4}$ d. on the week, September now being quoted at 9s. $6\frac{3}{4}$ d., and October at 9s. $7\frac{1}{2}$ d. Cane has ruled steady with an upward tendency, but prices are unchanged at 11s. $10\frac{1}{2}$ d. for Java, and fair refining is quoted at 10s. 6d. The tone of the local market for the refined article has ruled very firm and prices have been fully maintained at the advance noted in our last report. The indications are that, if present prices for the raw article are sustained, a further rise in values for refined will be in order in the near future. There has been a marked improvement in the demand for refined, during the past few days, and refiners state that a more active business has been done than for some time past. Granulated is now selling at $4\frac{1}{2}$ c. and yellows 3 11-16 to 4 3 16c., as to grade, at the factory.

SYRUPS.

Business in this line continues exceedingly quiet, and, as the offerings from first hands are small, prices rule steady at 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb., as to grade, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

A fair distributing business is reported in molasses by wholesale grocery houses, on the basis of 30c. in car lots and 31c. in single puncheons. The demand for round lots is still slow, and importers do not look for much improvement until the middle of this month. Stocks are small, as compared with previous years, and the prospects are that, as soon as the movement commences, prices will improve. Round lots of choice Barbadoes, ex wharf, can now be bought at $27\frac{1}{2}$ to 28c.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature in canned goods again this week has been the active demand on spot between houses for new pack salmon for future delivery, and considerable business has been done. Owing to the great shortage in the pack this season, and the limited quantity of old now available on spot, the undertone to the market has been strong and prices have advanced freely, 35c. per case, with sales at $4 per case f.o.b. Coast, and at $4.50 delivered here. Agents here of some of the packing concerns state that they would not be surprised if some of the orders placed were not filled, on account of the shortage. Business in canned vegetables has continued quiet owing to the fact that buyers in most cases have filled their wants. Tomatoes are offering at 75c. per dozen, and peas and corn at 70c.

COFFEE.

The demand for coffee is very limited and the market is quiet and featureless. Rios are quoted at 8c.; Santos at $8\frac{1}{2}$ to 10c., and Maracaibos at 13 to 16c.

SPICES.

Advices from abroad on these lines are firm, but there is no disposition on the part of local dealers to operate at present, as they have ample stocks on hand.

TEAS.

The feature of the tea market continues to be the decided firm feeling in new crop Japan goods. There is some enquiry, and sales during the week of 500 packages were made at 17 to 19c. for future delivery, and a lot of 250 was sold at 16 to 18c. Some small parcels of old crop Japans have been picked up at $12\frac{1}{2}$ to 14c. In blacks and gunpowders business has been quiet, and chiefly of a jobbing character.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Denia market for Valencia raisins has become somewhat unsettled during the week, and quotations received for fruit for shipment by first direct steamers have been irregular, however, a firm offer from Denia was cabled, offering 2,000 boxes of fine off stalk at 15s. 6d., and 2,000 boxes of 4 crown layers at 19s. 6d., c.i.f. Another cable stated that the steamship Escalona would sail from Denia on the 10th of this month, and quoted Valencia raisins, 14s. 6d.; Caravel, 15s. 6d.; selected, 17s. 6d.; and four crown layers at 18s. 6d., f.o.b.

In regard to currants, cables received from Patras quote Provincials, 13s. 9d.; Filiatras, 14s.; and fine Filiatras, 14s. 3d.

The tone of the market for prunes is steady, and advices from the Coast state that a large number of orders have been placed for future delivery, by western and eastern buyers.

NUTS.

Business in nuts has continued quiet, but the tone of the market is still firm for walnuts at 18 and 20c. New crop Tarragona almonds are being offered at 33s. 6d., c.i.f., Montreal. The first shipment of new crop walnuts for this market will not likely reach here before November, owing to the lateness of the crop.

GREEN FRUIT.

There continues to be an active demand for green fruit, and all supplies coming forward meet with a ready sale. California Bartlett pears sold at $1.55 to $2.10 per box; Michigan peaches, 90c. to $1.30 per basket; Canadian pears, $1.80 to $2.30 per keg; apples, 80c. to $1.75 per barrel; plums, 20 to 22c per basket, and watermelons 16c. each.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feature of the egg market again to-day was the good demand for strictly new laid, and, in consequence, prices were firmly held at the recent sharp advance. The offerings were small and sales of such were made at 17 to $17\frac{1}{2}$ c. per dozen. We quote: No. 1 candled, $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $13\frac{1}{2}$ c.; No. 2 candled, 9 to 10c.

BEANS—Business in beans was slow and prices were unchanged. We quote: Choice hand-picked at 95c. to $1 per bushel; primes, 85 to 90c.

HONEY—There is a slight improvement in the demand for honey to-day. We quote: White clover comb, in 1-lb. sections, $7\frac{1}{2}$ to 8c.; dark, 6 to 7c.; white extracted, $6\frac{1}{2}$ to 7c., and dark, $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $5\frac{1}{2}$ c.

MAPLE PRODUCT — The demand for maple product is slow and the market is dull. We quote: Syrup in wood, 4½ to 4¾ c. per lb.; in tins, 45 to 55c., according to size; sugar, 6 to 6¼ c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

The feature of the local provision market was the weaker feeling in pork, and prices were reduced 50c. per bbl., which is due chiefly to the recent sharp decline in the price of live hogs. In smoked meats, however, a fairly active trade continues to be done, and, as supplies of such are not excessive, prices are maintained. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, in bbls., $16 to $16.50 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 8¼ to 8½ c. per lb., and compound refined at 5½ c. per lb. Hams, 11c. to 12c.; and bacon, 11½ to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR, GRAIN, ETC.

There was a good demand for coarse grains on spot, and a fairly active business was done. The undertone to the market was stronger for all lines, and prices show an advance of ¼ to ½ c. Round lots of No. 2 white oats sold at 28½ c. afloat, and peas at 61c. afloat. Rye was enquired for, and 47c. was bid, in store, but the offerings are still small.

There was no change in the situation of the flour market. The demand from local and country buyers was fair, and a moderately active business was done. In some cases, present prices for Manitoba grades are being shaded. There was some enquiry from abroad, but no sales were made. We quote: Winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; straight rollers, $3.35 to $3.50; in bags, $1.65 to $1.70; Manitoba patents, $4.80 to $4.90; strong bakers', best, $4.50 to $4.60; and seconds, $4.40.

The feed market was quiet, and without any new feature to note. We quote: Ontario winter wheat bran, $12; shorts, $14.50 to $15 per ton in bulk; Manitoba bran, $11 to $11.50; shorts, $15.

The demand for meal is limited and the market continues quiet and about steady at $3.60 per bbl. and at $1.75 per bag for rolled oats.

There was no improvement in the market for baled hay, the demand being slow, and trade dull. We quote: No. 1 at $6.50; No. 2 at $5 to $5.50, and clover mixed at $4 to $4.50, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The receipts of cheese from the French country districts were some 5,000 boxes. The demand was slow. Some 3,500 boxes sold at a range of 7½ to 7¾c., and the balance at 7¾c. Outside of the above the market has been very quiet. We quote: Finest western, colored, 8½ to 8¾c.; finest western, white, 7½ to 8c.; finest eastern, colored, 7½ to 8c.; finest eastern, white, 7½ to 7¾c.; Liverpool cable, colored, 38s. 6d.; Liverpool cable, white, 37s. 6d.

The situation of the butter market was unchanged. The demand for export account continues slow, owing to the fact that few orders are coming forward from abroad. The tone is steady, and prices show no change. We quote as follows: Extra finest creamery, boxes, 17½ to 18c.; extra finest creamery, tubs, 17¼ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, boxes, 17½ to 17¾c.; ordinary finest creamery, tubs, 17c.; dairy butter, 14c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Mr. Frank Magor reports an increase of over $1,000 in his sales for August over last year. This does not include import orders, which are much heavier than last year. Mr. Magor is about to secure the agency for another large English house, but said it was too premature to publish yet.

MEXICAN ORANGES.

The oranges now coming from Mexico are the summer crop, and not twenty-five cars of these will come to the United States, because of a home demand which has sprung up in some of the Mexican cities. The crop of winter oranges, which will begin to move about October 1, will consist of about 400 cars for American cities. It is hard to get at exactly what the crop will be, as last year not over one-quarter of the crop came to the United States, and owing to the aforesaid local demand not more than one-fifth will come this year. It is estimated, however, that about 400 cars will come into the United States.—Grocery World.

ADVERTISING WISDOM.

The hen that leaves her nest after a few days' setting, because she does not hear the chirp of chicks, is something like the merchant who quits advertising after the first few "throws," because his first calls haven't filled his store with clamoring customers.—Jed Scarboro.

WINDOW DRESSING.

The habit of filling a show window with all kinds of goods is questionable, as far as reaching, in the best possible way, the eyes of the public is concerned. The mixing of cheap with the better class of goods must necessarily suggest comparisons, and, while in some cases is very desirable, is oftener the very opposite, says the St. Joe Journal of Commerce. It is liable to unsettle the possible purchaser and promote dissatisfaction and indecision, all of which is fatal to the object of the dealer. Some people have the idea that anything will do in a window if it is only worth looking at, or if it is cheap, and the result is windows that look like a junk shop. A trial of this plan will convince any live dealer that the window that seems at one point like an advertisement and a shot gun does the best execution. Windows should be dressed as frequently as possible, and the changes, while radical, should not be such as to bewilder the passer-by. The best window dressers adopt this plan, and claim that when it is followed the result is handsome returns, and that is what all merchants are after. From some of the windows he sees, one often wonders how the store can thrive with such a manifest lack of ideas.

TRADE CHAT.

THE cheese factory at Winsloe, P.E.I., was burned to the ground last week. The building, plant and stock were insured.

There is an agitation for a pork packing factory now going on in Petrolia, Ont.

The Kingsville, Ont., evaporator is now running full time, employing nearly seventy hands, and turning out 700 bushels apples per day.

Mahler Bros. resumed operations in their evaporating factory in Forest, Ont., on Tuesday, this week, employing over twenty-five hands.

J. D. Moore, of St. Mary's, Ont., shipped 12,000 eggs to Great Britain last week, making the fourth shipment of this quantity made in four weeks.

T. S. Sims has purchased the Hayden mill property at Hardingville, N.B., and will install machinery for the manufacture of brush and broom handles.

There are now 15,000 dozen eggs in Ottawa, in cold storage, awaiting shipment to Great Britain, which shipments are to be made about Christmas time.

The Rigdetown, Ont., evaporating factory commenced operations this week. Over 35,000 bushels of apples, out of the 50,000 bushels desired have been secured.

Ira Chadsey, Wellington, Ont., the owner of the "Orchard of Eden," has sold his apple crop for $3,000. The buyers have since been offered $3,300 for the crop, but refused.

The Vancouver World is advocating for a milk condensing factory in British Columbia. It claims that over $123,000 have been paid from that Province to eastern firms for this commodity.

More coffee is used in the United States than in any other country, the annual consumption being not far from 450,000,000 pounds, for which American importers pay £18,000,000 to the growers.

The Climax cheese factory, near Kin-cardine, Ont., shipped 600 boxes of cheese to Glasgow last week. This was the fourth shipment made this season, and the company realized profitably on every shipment.

It is reported that the mackerel fishery will be almost a failure this season. There are plenty of fish and they are following their accustomed haunts, but they seem to be so well fed that they will not take the bait.

Kennedy Bros., of Syracuse, New York, have bought a building in Leamington, Ont., which they intend to convert into an evaporating factory. They intend to manufacture fruit syrups and juices and ship them to Great Britain. They claim they can use all the small fruit that can possibly be grown in the vicinity of Leamington and will be able to pay good prices.

A Moncton, N.B., grocer was fined $10 the other day for selling cigarettes to minors. He had been in the habit of opening packages and selling cigarettes in exchange for the cents to the small boys, which made the offence particularly aggravating.

The Stratford, Ont., council has granted exemption from taxation and guaranteed 4 per cent. debentures to the amount of $30,000 to The Whyte Packing Co., on condition that it will erect a pork packing house there at a cost of $40,000 or $50,000 and employ between 75 and 100 men.

J. R. Scott is putting in an up-to-date steam boiler in his evaporator at Camden East, Ont. It will now have a capacity of 3,000 bushels of apples per day. As soon as the fruit season is over he will commence to evaporate potatoes, turnips, carrots, cabbages and onions for foreign markets.

There are now four boats on the Manchester line of steamships running between Manchester, Eng., and Montreal. Five more are building. These are 8,500 ton boats, with a speed of 13 knots, and each is equipped with 20,000 cubic feet of mechanical cold storage. At the commencement of next season a regular weekly service will be established.

Dupuis Bros., grocers, Montreal, were fined $10 and costs, or one month in jail, for selling adulterated butter as pure. Dr. Edwards, the analyst, testified that the adulterated butter contained 90.75 per cent. of fat; water, 5.29; salt, 2.99, and curd, .97. It was nothing but meat fat. Mr. Prospere Massicotte, another Montreal grocer, was similarly dealt with for a like offence.

W. ROBERTSON'S NEW STORE.

The latest improvement to the village of Dunchurch is the handsome store just completed for Mr. W. Robertson, general merchant there. It is brick veneered, with stone basement and mansard roof. The building is 28 x 52, beautifully finished in walnut and oak. The basement is devoted to the crockery and glassware department. The main floor has groceries on the left, dry goods on the right, boots and shoes in the rear. The upper flat contains the clothing and millinery departments and a private office. Mr. J. Angst will be business-manager.

The style of the firm, which was formerly Robertson & Co., is now W. Robertson. The business of Mr. John Angst has also been taken over by Mr. Robertson.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

September 8, 1898.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. John, N.B., Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

Rolled Oats for breakfast—Rolled Oats give vim, vigor, life to body and brain. Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats (you hear this everywhere—"just as good as Tillson's") build up the strength and they build up business, too, especially in the "short days" that precede Fall and Winter.

Cleaner, richer, better than they have ever been—Tillson's Pan-Dried Rolled Oats are the oats of highest quality. They compete in quality, not in price. They win new trade, and when they win it they keep it. "Short days" suggest

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sep. 6, 1898.

THERE continues to be rather an improved volume of business doing, and in many lines. The strengthening markets promise satisfactory results. Flour continues weak, and this does not fail to have a somewhat depressing effect. In tea, prices tend higher. Low-priced congous are scarce. Ceylons also higher. In cream of tartar, values in first hands are again rather lower.

OIL—There is improved demand for burning oil. The decline of last week still holds, and, at some points, prices have been even further shaded. As suggested in a previous report, the American and Canadian continue to hold the same relation to each other where there is any change in price, the change affecting both at the same time. Cod oil continues scarce, with but limited demand. In the other lines business is quiet.

SALT—The price of coarse salt is rather higher, caused by ocean freights strengthening, and an advance in the salt at the producing points in England. Two sailing vessels are about due. A good demand is expected for their cargoes. Present stocks are not large. Some small lots continue to arrive here and at points supplied by our dealers, via Boston. Canadian salt, while perhaps hardly as active as earlier, still shows a good volume of business. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 45 to 48c.; English factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.50 to $2.60 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.85 to $3 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30; mineral rock salt, 60c. to $1.

CANNED GOODS—In corn and tomatoes there is a further strengthening. Packers continue to withhold prices. As, however, reported before, the demand has been quite well supplied, and our buyers are not particularly interested, except as they enjoy the prospect of another season of good profits, mixed with a little regret that they did not buy a little more freely. Peas, while firm, are still offered. Beans are also firmly held; in fact, there is no weak point. Salmon continue to show higher values. Our dealers have bought very lightly, but will make good profits on stock carried over from last year. Lobsters are not a feature in the canned goods trade. The price has killed the demand.

GREEN FRUIT—There is very active business, particularly in small fruits. In plums, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Ontario are offered. Those from Nova Scotia are preferred, particularly later, when the better grades come in. Grapes begin to have large sale. In all these, lower values will rule. Some California oranges are still offered; they have but light sale. Lemons are scarce and high. In pears, prices of all grades are lower for best trade; Californian are preferred, but both Eastern Bartletts and Ontario pears of good quality are being received. The California grape is not yet the quality preferred in this market. There is quite a sale for Malagas, but the Ontario grape has the large business. Quantity of apples coming to hand continue to increase. Demand dull and prices are low. California peaches are the only ones on the market, though Ontarios are soon expected.

DRIED FRUIT—In all lines prices are slow in being quoted. In prunes, the report that there would be but few Californias offered, is not likely to be borne out. Santa Claras are no doubt a short crop, but there are other good grades to be had, if they are not as well known. Raisins have had but little attention, but quotations are shortly expected on California and others, when there is likely to be some quick work if prices open low. Our dealers are not particular about the earliest shipments. Foreign prunes, it is thought, will rule higher. Currants are held firm. In onions, while those now offered are American, prices on Canadian are soon expected. Peanuts are rather lower.

SUGARS—While values are rather higher, prices here show no change, but are firmly held. There is a good demand, particularly for granulated.

MOLASSES—Stock, as previously reported, is not large, but values keep low. There is rather better enquiry, and an improved outlook is the result. The fact that American houses were offering Porto Rico had a rather depressing effect, but those offering are not inclined to shade prices.

PRODUCE—Cheese, while showing a stronger tendency, advances slowly, as there is but limited local demand, and our factories continue to neglect to bring their output, in any united way, upon the market, so as to invite the attention of those buying for export. The output will be large. In eggs, supply and demand both limited. This is a poor market for held stock. Prices show no change. Butter is still dull. Much complaint is heard regarding quality. Real good butter would sell at rather better figures than market quotations. For creamery prints, there is a fair demand at a fair price, but in tubs, there is no sale at prices creameries feel they should get.

FISH—There is improved business in all lines, except fresh fish, and of these, few, except cod and haddock are being received.

Dry fish are coming in more freely, but price is still held firm. Pollock are still a dull line, even at the reduced figures. Demand for this line years ago was large, but it seems to fall off each year. Smoked herring show improved business. Old fish are well cleaned up, and, for the new, there is an advance of two or three cents. Pickled herring show a number of grades. There is, as yet, but a small supply, which tends to hold prices up. Shad are in good supply. There is quite a sale for hake sounds, which are used for making glue. We quote: Large cod, $3.55 to $3.60; medium, $3.45 to $3.55; pollock, $1.35 to $1.40; Grand Manan pickled herring, $1.70 to $1.80 ½-bbl.; old smoked herring, 6 to 7c. per box; Canzo, pickled $5 per bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 5c.; cod, 7 to 7½c.; finnan haddies, 4½ to 5c.; rippling herring, $1.90 to $2; wolves do., $2.30 to $2.45; new smoked herring, 9 to 10c.; spring shad, $4 ½-bbl.; fall do., $5 ½-bbl.

PROVISIONS—As season advances there is a better demand for barrelled goods. Prices are quoted a little lower, beef showing the difference rather more than pork. Smoked meats have but light sale. Lard is rather higher, but there is quite a range in packers' prices. There is a good sale.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The decline in flour continues, and, though particularly marked in Manitobas, it has so far failed to give them the demand, the sale as yet being for Ontarios, and even for them there is not much sale, particularly outside of the best known brands. Oatmeal and oats are both quoted rather lower with a fair business reported. Cornmeal holds the reduced prices quoted last week. Beans are rather higher, though as yet there is no change in local markets. Barley is still high. Feed is scarce. Hay crop has been much less than expected, but prices keep low. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.00 to $5.15; best Ontario, $4.40 to $4.50; medium, $4.00 to $4.15; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2.15; middlings, $2.00 to $2.10; bran, $1.70 to $1.80; oats, 38 to 42c.; hand-picked beans, $1 to $1.10; prime, 90 to 95c.; yellow eye beans, $1.75; split peas, $3.80 to $3.90; round, $3.25 to $3.40; pot barley, $3.50 to $3.75; hay, $8. to $9; timothy seed, American, $1.75 to $2.15; do., Canadian, $2 to $2.40; mammoth clover, 7 to 7½c.; alsike, 7¾ to 8½c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Mr. Harry de Forest, of George de Forest & Sons, has returned from his visit to England and the Continent.

It is the intention of Furness, Withy & Co., Limited, the large steamship people, to in future carry on their business in their own name at this port, under the management of S. Schofield, who has represented them here for many years.

Mr. H. F. Price paid a short visit to our city, during the past week, in the interest of THE CANADIAN GROCER, particularly the fall number.

Mr. A. C. Jardine, who lately retired from the wholesale grocery business, being succeeded by Bowman & Angevine, has settled in Bear Gulch, Montana.

It is the intention of the owners of the Beaver Line of steamers to fit the steamer Winnipeg with cold storage accommodation and have her stop at Charlottetown, both going to Liverpool from Montreal and when returning. For this they get a $5,000 subsidy from the Dominion Government. This action will be much appreciated, as very large quantities of cheese and other produce are shipped from Prince Edward Island at this season.

Mr. Alex. Jardine, president of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., Toronto, passed through the city during the week. This company do a very large business in the lower Provinces.

PERSONAL MENTION.

MR. ENGLAND, Dunham, Que., called at the office of THE CANADIAN GROCER to renew his subscription, and, in conversation, said the crops in his section were larger than for years. Hay was so plentiful that farmers did not know what to do with it. Harvesting is all done, and many farmers are now busy threshing. Speaking of fruit, he said the winter crop would hardly come up to the average. Business, he reported, is good. His July trade is much better than that in June, and August beat both. The only matter the farmers have to grumble about is the price of butter and cheese. Dunham has no manufacturers and no railway, still it is a good business centre.

Mr. J. A. Stewart, Exeter, was in Toronto a few days ago en route home from a trip down the St. Lawrence as far as Quebec. He left Toronto for the Falls.

Mr. J. H. Magor, of Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, is in Toronto attending the Exhibition in the interests of Messrs. Cadbury Bros., cocoa and chocolate manufacturers.

Mr. Chas. Gyde, Montreal, has left on a business trip to the Coast and intermediate points. Mr. Gyde is Canadian agent for Carr's blacking, Cleaver's soaps, and Peek, Frean's biscuits.

Mr. John T. James, of Bridgeburg, Ont., was in Toronto this week. In addition to conducting a general store, Mr. James edits The Review and deals out justice as police magistrate of the town.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held on Thursday evening, Sept. 1, in the Monument National Hall, at 8 o'clock.

The treasurer gave a general report of the finances of the association's picnic, which was as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Contributions from the various wholesale houses.....	$431 00
For tickets sold, G.T.R.....	102 87
Banquet.....	131 00
Auctions.....	73 36

EXPENSES.

Railway committee.....	$ 26 00
Dinner.....	227 48
Printing and advertising.....	351 37
Music and dancing.....	47 00
Games.....	16 05
Prizes.....	500 00

Which leaves a net profit to the association of about $70. A general report for the year followed:

Contributions.....	$1,238 66
Expenses.....	1,110 07

Leaving a balance of..... $128 55

The report of the picnic was then adopted.

The president announced that the first business would be the nomination of officers for 1898-99.

It was decided that the voting should take place at the next regular meeting.

The question was discussed about the best means of strengthening the membership of the association.

Mr. J. P. Dixon said that it would be well to make some inducement to attract the grocers of Montreal to become members of the association.

Mr. Raby thought that the best way to secure more members was to divide each ward of the city between two or three members of the association.

Mr. Demers suggested that a present be given to the one who would be most successful in securing members for the association. After a long discussion, it was moved by J. P. Dixon, seconded by W. Raby, that the secretary be authorized to prepare a list of all the grocers of the different wards belonging to the association and send each of them a circular asking them to see the grocers in their respective wards, who do not belong to the association, and try to get them to join.

J. P. Dixon asked the members of the press present to put in notices when the meetings would be held, etc.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

ADVERTISING MONSOON TEA.

Some bright suggestions come among the many new ideas offered to The Monsoon Tea Co. for advertising their Monsoon Indo-Ceylon tea. The latest is the use of a horseless carriage or auto-motor, with carriage body designed to represent the original Monsoon tea package as sold in the stores, but enlarged about 100 times. And this novel vehicle is to serve as the Monsoon tea delivery carriage. The trouble with these new advertising suggestions is that they fail in the most important object sought. That is, they do not set forth the excellent qualities of Monsoon tea.

B. B. Brown writes from Vancouver that it was he, not R. D. Brown, who bought out R. D. Paterson & Co., of that place, as stated in THE CANADIAN GROCER of July 29. We take pleasure in making the correction.

New Brunswick's Canned Fish.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT!

The manufacturers of Enameline, the modern Stove Polish, inform the retail grocers of Canada that on and after September 1, 1898, they will manufacture Enameline in paste, cake and liquid.

Enameline THE MODERN STOVE POLISH PASTE, CAKE OR LIQUID

We want ALL your stove polish trade. In our new "Enameline Cake" and "Enameline Liquid" we give the largest quantities, best quality and lowest prices ever offered. If you are doing business for profit it will pay you to handle our whole line.

J. L. PRESCOTT & CO., NEW YORK.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

THE ALPHA CHEMICAL CO. has now ready for shipment a large stock of Moody's odorless stovepipe enamel, with brush attachment; also a large stock of "Quickshine" stove paste.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering Japan and Patna rice.

New Valencia raisins are arriving into store for The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

Barataria shrimps, ½-tall tins, are in stock at H. P. Eckardt & Co.'s.

A shipment of Barataria shrimps, 1's, is in stock with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have just received shipment of Crosse & Blackwell goods.

Buyers can secure a good Japan tea from Lucas, Steele & Bristol at 18c. Write for samples.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering extra choice, mixed pickling spices in 5-lb. packages.

New California prunes, 40-50 and 50-60, are in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Limited.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering early picked Japan tea at 18½c. The draw is excellent.

T. B. Escott & Co. have received a consignment of "Flag" and "Crown" Japan tea, and, although the prices are somewhat higher than last year, the firm is trying to meet its friends as far as possible.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are just in receipt of a shipment of crushed Java coffee; 10 lb. and 25-lb. tins.

An importation of Bonjeau (club) French sardines, ¼'s, is to hand with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report that their sale of "Ludella" Ceylon tea has greatly increased this month.

New pack strawberries, raspberries and peas, have been received by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's "Empire" Ceylon is packed on the estate for them. The various styles they offer the tea in are most attractive.

Sheet gelatine, gold, silver and bronze label, all grades, are to hand with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

A. P. Tippet & Co. are offering Moir, Wilson & Co.'s Aberdeen kippered herrings in oval tins; also herring in tomato sauce. These are new catch.

W. H. Seyler & Co., Board of Trade building, Toronto, have been appointed selling agents for the Cocoanut Cooking Butter Co., London, Ont.

The Davidson & Hay, Limited, are showing samples of new season's Ceylon and Assam teas arriving into stock. Buyers would do well to look into these teas.

T. A. Lytle & Co. are making for themselves a name. One can scarcely go into a village, town or city in any part of Canada and not see displayed their "Sterling" brand pickles, sauces, jams, etc., while their vinegar is said to be handled by most grocers of importance the country over.

"Diamond Jubilee" brand canned had-dies are selling well with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Warren Bros. & Co. are showing an extremely fine sample of golden tipped Ceylon tea, which they claim to be one of the finest they have drawn or had in stock for years.

The Snow Drift Co. report a big demand for pickling spice this season. Notwithstanding the dry weather in some localities, merchants are taking good-sized packages of their mixture.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "the introduction of quick shipping by us some years ago makes our customers exacting. Every order has to be sent out same day as received."

Of all imported infant foods, that well-known English standard, Robinson's Patent Barley, has gained great favor in Canada. Its sales are doubling up year by year. Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, are the Canadian agents.

The Alpha Chemical Co. ask intending purchasers of stove polish and stovepipe varnish to send their orders in now, as it will be remembered that for these lines last fall the orders could not be filled promptly, the demand being so great.

T. B. Escott & Co. are just advised of the arrival of a carload of "Lynx" salmon, and shall be glad to quote either "Lynx," "Oweekeynoo," "Maple Leaf" or "Bicycle." They say they have made large purchases and can offer at reasonable prices.

DEATHS.

A SHREWD ONE.

One of the grocers receives large quantities of eggs from his rural customers in exchange for merchandise, says a writer in a contemporary. I never knew him to get hold of the small end of a bargain, except on one occasion.

One day a meek-looking farmer came into his store and asked what he was paying for eggs.

"Twenty cents a dozen."

"What do you pay for nice large eggs?"

"Twenty cents."

"Do you mean to say that you pay no more for large eggs than you do for small ones?" asked the farmer with a surprised air.

"No, sir."

"Do you mean to tell me that you will not pay a cent more for nice, large, fresh eggs than you do for little eggs?" the farmer questioned, his apparent amazement becoming interesting to the grocer, who was even then gloating over the large eggs he would soon have to tempt the palate of his critical city patrons.

"No, my friend; I can sell the small eggs for just as much money per dozen as I can get for the large ones, so, of course, I can pay no more for the large ones."

"Well, I don't see any justice in that sort of business," he answered, in tones of abject disappointment.

He went to the wagon, however, and taking a half bushel basket from under the seat began his return trip, while the grocer took one laugh at the poor man's misfortune. It was fortunate for him that he laughed when he did, for on looking into the basket he saw it was full of the most diminutive bantam eggs; and as he counted dozen after dozen from the basket his soul was void of mirth. His high-class city trade would never buy such eggs as those, so he shared the benefit of his experience with his poor relatives.

AN UP-TO-DATE STORE.

PASSING up St. John street the other evening, my attention was arrested by the display of groceries made by A. Grenier, one of Quebec's most up-to-date business men.

The store has been recently enlarged, and now has a frontage of fifty feet on St. John street. It has three large show windows, all artistically arranged. The first displays samples of his large stock of choice liquors and cigars. But it is the centre window that attracts most attention. This is devoted entirely to the display of Italian goods. In the front is a row of canned goods of all shapes. In the centre is a large glass jar of pickled vegetables of all kinds and colors, all arranged in perfect diamonds, the centre of each diamond being white and the border colors. On each white centre is a red letter of tomatoes, making in all the words "A. Grenier, Quebec." At each side are arranged smaller bottles of pickles, etc. In the third window is a well assorted display of lunch baskets.

The inside of the store is arranged with the sole object of show and utility. Mr. Grenier has done away with shelving as much as possible, and substituted small stands and movable shelves in the centre of the store. Everything is fully displayed, and customers can be served with the greatest despatch. The whole store is one glitter of glass, and tastefully arranged packages. At one end of the store is a large and well lighted office, from which every part of the store can be seen.

Mr. Grenier began business at his present stand as a clerk in 1874. In 1882 he bought it out for himself. Last year he found his place so small and inconvenient that he had to enlarge it, and now he has the lightest and most commodious store in Quebec city, or, in fact, in Quebec Province.

Mr. Grenier, besides conducting a large city trade, does a business supplying fishing parties and summer residents down the St. Lawrence, as far as the coast of Gaspé. When asked how he found business this season he simply said, "Well, we are never idle, and I employ 7 men."

It Sometimes Happens

COW

when you are very busy a customer comes in for 5 or 10c. worth of soda. Well, it takes as much time to weigh and dig out of the keg as it does to sell a dollar's worth of something else. When you have "Cow Brand Soda" in stock all of this unnecessary trouble is done away with. It is packed in all saleable size packages.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO., Manufacturers.

For sale by all wholesale Grocers in Canada.

Little hard, sometimes, to induce a dealer to add another packet tea to the variety of brands in his stock—but wherever Monsoon ^{Indo Ceylon} Tea has once been received, it grows into permanent favor. It's a splendid tea to sell, because it gives the best satisfaction. Picked fresh, when the leaf is richest in sap, Monsoon tea is cured to preserve its matchless natural aromatic strength.

Tramping Home

Hear the echoing footsteps of the returning vacationists—they are coming home to dusty, dirty houses. Think of the Brooms and Brushes they'll have to buy to "tidy up things with."

Maybe it's a new Broom for the parlor carpet—a new whisk for the corners—a scrubbing brush for the kitchen floor or brush for the dingy stove. Whatever it is that's wanted, we have it—have you?

Better yet, whatever it is that's needed, is sure to be the best of its kind in Boeckhs' Brooms and Brushes. And prices are reasonable, too, for have been on the market for many years. They are known and appreciated throughout the universe. They are not a fad, but an article with a world-wide reputation for purity and strength.

Last year, over two-thirds of the tea consumed in the United States and Canada came from Japan. This speaks for itself. It must be Japan Teas the people want. Can you afford to handle other lines?

Stick to the old reliables and gain success.

GREIG'S CROWN

THE TRIAL BALANCE SHEET.

BY F. S. TERRY.

WHILE the trial balance serves a purpose in locating errors in a set of books, its principal use is to furnish information and from it we should be able to obtain a true analysis of the condition and results of the business.

As the trial balance is the basis for all other statements, it is important that it should contain those accounts, and those only, that are necessary to a complete knowledge of every branch of the business. The arrangement of the accounts seems to the writer to be important, although it seldom appears to have been given much consideration.

First, the detailed trial balance is taken, showing the balance of each account on the ledger. Accounts of the same character are then combined and the condensed trial balance is made up.

Below is given a specimen trial balance of a manufacturing business in which results of the factory or manufacturing department and the sales department are kept separate.

We would call attention, not only to the accounts that are included in this trial balance, but particularly to their arrangement.

The accounts are divided and subdivided according to the following plan :

1. Those representing property and having a present value :

- a. Quick items.
- b. Temporary items.
- c. Slow items.
- d. Investment items.

2. Accounts showing the accumulated profits and the disposition of the profits.

3. Those showing the result of the business :

- a. Factory items.
- b. Sales department items.
- c. General items.

It will be noted by referring to the specimen trial balance, that instead of placing together all assets and then all liabilities, that the groups are made up containing both assets and liabilities, where they are of the same character. This grouping of the accounts is of value in determining the financial condition.

Under the group "quick items" will be found all accounts that have an early cash will make it clear that these accounts should be considered together.

The groups "temporary items," "slow items" and "investment items" contain such accounts as their names imply. It will be entirely clear that notes that must be paid within a few weeks, and those that can be carried along indefinitely, are different classes of indebtedness, and that to show both together, in one bills payable account, would not be correct. In the trial balance given, the notes payable within a few weeks value, and also such liabilities as must be settled at an early date. If the balance increases on the debit (assets) side of this group, it shows an increase of the funds available for the everyday transactions of the business, and vice versa. If both the assets and liabilities have increased or decreased the same amount, it is manifest that the real condition has not changed. This are classified "quick items," and those payable at a distant date are classified as "slow items." Loans upon collateral, to be paid when the collateral is disposed of, are placed under the head of "temporary items."

Money loaned or advanced is not subject to the same rules governing its collection as accounts for merchandise sales. Both should not, therefore, be placed in the same account, and loans and advancements are included above under the head "temporary items." It is frequently found desirable to open a special account, that the expenditures in a special matter may be kept together, and, when completed, the total is transferred to the expense account, or to one of the investment accounts, or otherwise, as the case may be. In the trial balance here given such accounts, before being completed and transferred, are shown under the head of "special accounts," and are placed in the group of "slow items."

The purpose of every business is to make a profit that can be turned into cash. A book profit that does not ultimately increase the bank account is either fictitious or valueless. As cash is the desideratum, the cash account is placed first on our trial balance. Bills receivable as being the asset most easily turned into cash, is placed next, accounts receivable follow, and so on through the trial balance.

In the specimen trial balance the manufacturing plant is shown as one item, "factory plant," and may consist of lands, building, machinery, tools, etc. A separate ledger account should be kept for each, and they can be combined in the condensed trial balance as given here, or each shown separately as desired.

Following the accounts of the assets and liabilities are the general profit and loss items, showing the amount brought down at the last closing of the books as undivided profits, the amount declared in dividends, etc. It will be seen at a glance that these accounts should be considered together.

Next, are the accounts that give the results of the operation of the business. The factory output account shows the value (usually at practically cost) of the goods shipped from the factory, and this account should be given the same credit whether the goods are sold to customers or placed in the company's warehouse.

The sales department sales and purchases are kept separate, instead of including both in one merchandise account. Purchases account may include both factory merchandise and that bought outside. The journal entry for merchandise obtained from the factory should be:

Sales Dept. Purchase Acct.,
To Factory Output Acct.

It seems to me preferable to place all expense items in one expense account, and, if desired, make an analysis, showing what these expenditures consist of, rather than to have separate accounts, traveling expense accounts, etc.

Bad accounts account is for accounts that are considered uncollectable, and are charged off to this account, rather than direct to the profit and loss or undivided profits account, which seems to me preferable.

General expense account is to provide for those items of expense that are not properly chargeable to either factory expense or sales department expense.

In every business other accounts will be required to meet its special requirements.

Each item in the trial balance is given a number; these will be found convenient reference numbers in making up other statements.

It will add to the convenience, and be found desirable, to arrange the accounts in the ledger in the same order that they are to appear in the trial balance.

A trial balance, arranged as suggested, will, without doubt, enable one to obtain valuable information in reference to his business that would otherwise be overlooked.—The Bookkeeper.

Trade has already commenced to go to the Philippines, via Vancouver, two carloads of Milwaukee beer being shipped through that port last week.

H. B. Borbridge and Ed. C. Dingman have commenced partnership as dairy supply dealers and general commission and commercial agents in Ottawa.

The rapid growth of the frozen meat trade, between Australia and the Cape has led to the establishment of a regular line of steamships between those countries.

The Kent Mills, Chatham, are making a shipment of 2,000 bushels of beans to Havre, France. The same firm shipped 31 cars of flour to the Maritime Provinces last week.

The Oshawa grist mill is again in full operation under a new proprietor, Mr. Campbell. Modern machinery has been put in and about 100 barrels are manufactured daily.

The Mount Forest Holstein Creamery Co. recently sold its output for the last half of August, 11,424 lb., at 17½c. per lb. This sum, $1,956, is a good result for half a month's operations.

An oyster trust, capitalized at $5,000,000, has been formed in New York for the purpose of controlling the fisheries and oyster beds of the United States and Canada, and the largest fish and oyster houses of these countries.

The site of the new pork-packing factory at Harriston, Ont., will be at the junction of the C.P.R. and G.T.R., so that there will be efficient facilities for receiving live hogs and shipping cured pork by rail. RETAILERS AND THE WHOLESALE DISCOUNTS.

THE regular meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday evening in St. George's Hall, Elm street, a good attendance being present. The president, W. H. Marmion, occupied the chair.

The report of the chairman of the picnic committee, W. J. Sykes, was received, showing a surplus, after all picnic expenses were paid, of over $290.

It was moved by T. Holmes, seconded by A. G. Booth, that five prizes, to the amount of $25, should be given to the members who bring in the most new members by Dec. 1, but that no member be eligible for a prize unless he brings in five new members.

This motion opened a warm discussion on the desirability and the methods to be employed to induce grocers to become members of the association.

A suggestion in this connection, which seemed to meet general approval, was that, besides the regular monthly business meeting, a social evening be spent monthly.

As an experiment, it was decided that on Monday, September 26, a social meeting be spent, $10 being voted to the committee, Messrs. Sykes, Panter, Snow, Booth, Clark, Johnson and Bell, for the entertainment of guests. Among the guests invited will be the city travelers, who are to be challenged to a game of cards.

The secretary, Ed. Hawes, reported three names for admission to membership, F. A. Nettleton, corner Church and Queen streets; Scott Bros., 190 King street east, and G. Massen, North Beaconsfield avenue. All were admitted.

F. W. Johnson asked the meeting to declare itself in regard to the recent action of the wholesale grocers in shortening the terms of credit. This movement on the part of the wholesalers was not, he contended, in the interests of the retail trade, and, while it did not seriously affect the larger and stronger firms, it was a hardship for the smaller dealer. As the retail association is now a strong body, a firm protest from them might have the effect of causing the wholesalers to reconsider their action.

J. W. Sykes stated that, from what he had heard, he believed this new move was meeting with much opposition from the retail trade in the city.

R. B. Snow agreed with Mr. Sykes, and hoped that the protest of the association will be the finishing touch, the last kick, which would result in the removal of the obnoxious ruling of the wholesalers.

Benj. Panter expressed the opinion that if the retailers merely inform the travelers they are not buying, or if they just buy from hand to mouth, giving small assorted orders, the eyes of the wholesale dealers would soon be opened to the inconvenience they were putting the retailers to.

Other members of the association expressed disapproval of the wholesalers' action, and the following motion was moved by J. S. Bond, seconded by T. Holmes: "That this association, as a body, strongly condemn the action of the wholesale grocers in making such an arbitrary ruling as to shorten the term of credit from 30 and 90 days to 10 days."

J. S. Bond, in support of the motion, stated that the old terms of thirty days were really short enough, because, under them, a merchant buying once every month, had, on the average, for all the goods bought, practically only twelve days' credit instead of thirty.

D. J. Kelly considered that the principal objection to the new terms of credit was the inconvenience caused to the retail trade. When it was understood that bills were to be paid once a month a grocer could make provision to meet them, but, when they were being presented every week, and at all times, it was frequently difficult to get the money within the short time allowed. was a question in his mind, however, whether the matter was one the retailers could justly deal with, as a wholesaler had a right to make any terms he chose.

J. S. Bond, in reply, stated that the motion did not dictate what the wholesalers should do. It merely expressed disapproval of what had been done by them.

The president, W. H. Marmion, expressed the opinion that the matter would adjust itself, and, as the wholesalers saw the move was unpopular, they would go back to the old method. The new rules had not been enforced on him. He paid his accounts as he formerly did, and had never yet failed to get his discounts.

T. Clark had had the same experience. When the new rules were first shown him, he had asked for an explanation from the city traveler, and had been told never to mind them, they did not concern him.

The motion passed, two members opposing it.

D. J. Kelly brought forward his report on the new rules and regulations, but, as it was too late to go into it thoroughly, it was decided to leave the matter over till the next regular business meeting.

FISHING ON THE FRASER.

A leading Montreal broker, who has just returned from a trip to the Pacific Coast, has very strong views regarding the future of the canned salmon market, and predicts a strong market for the entire season.

He was on the Fraser while the catch was on, and said that the boats came in with from 15 to 20 fish, where, in former seasons, 90 to 100 was the customary quantity. In fact, the total pack on the Fraser will not, he said, exceed 300,000 cases, against one of 800,000 last year, and on the Coast the shortage of sockeyes is estimated to be 700,000 cases less than last year. With this deficiency in view, a strong market was quite natural. His correspondents on the Coast were not disposed to urge sales of sockeye fish, and were holding them for $4.50 to $4.75 f.o.b. Coast.

TARTAN TEA MAKES ITS DEBUT.

As announced in these columns some months ago, Balfour & Co., Hamilton, have been arranging to put upon the market a first-class package tea, and, at the Toronto Industrial Fair, Tartan tea made its first public appearance. The different grades of Tartan tea are blends of the choicest Indian and Ceylon teas, put up by the Tartan Tea Co. in lead packages of various sizes. The labels are particularly attractive, being handsome lithographed reproductions of Scotch tartans, from which the tea derives its name. The Royal Stuart, Gordon and Rob Roy tartans are being used at present, but as the firm's copyright covers all Scotch tartans, others will be used as occasion demands.

Balfour & Co.'s travelers are now booking orders, but it will take some time to cover all the ground. Balfour & Co., wholesale agents, Hamilton, Ont., will give all information as to prices, packages and terms.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Robert Greig, of The Greig Manufacturing Co., Montreal, visited Toronto last week.

R. A. Jones, one of London's progressive retail grocers, was in Toronto last week.

W. D. Stephens, manager for Peter Robinson, Port Hope, spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mr. George Quirk, of Quirk, Barton & Co., manufacturers of tea lead, London, England, is in Toronto this week.

C. R. Dixon, Lucas, Steele & Bristol's Northwest representative, speaks very highly of Seely's extracts. Lucas, Steele & Bristol are the Hamilton agents. Mr. Dixon makes the Alberta hotel, Calgary, his headquarters.

Travelers from Lucas, Steele & Bristol are now showing extra values in their Ceylon and Japan teas.

Morton's herrings and bloaters, fall importation, have been received by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Kipped chicken is a delicious article in fish that is being offered by W. H. Gillard & Co. in $\frac{3}{4}$ -lb. tins.

Laporte, Martin & Cie are offering a lot of fine, shelled walnuts, "1897," in perfect condition, at a very low price.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. consider their shoulder hams the best value on their list at present, and they court sample orders.

The Eby, Blain Co.'s specially selected whole pickling spice, blended exclusively for their trade, is meeting with extensive sale at present.

T. Kinnear & Co. report the receipt of a shipment of Morton's kippered herring, herring in tomato sauce and fresh herring.

A full supply of domestic kippered herring and "Golden" oval haddie has come to hand with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

Quotations can be obtained, from Laporte, Martin & Cie, for prunes and nuts of all kinds, for future delivery.

A shipment of choice New Orleans molasses, "St. Elmo" brand, has been passed into stock by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

One day last week, the "Salada" Tea Co., sent out 59 orders, in the city of Toronto. This means that 59 grocers in that city gave orders for "Salada" the day previous.

The Sale of LUDELLA Ceylon Tea is increasing each month, and it is growing more popular with the merchants as they become acquainted with its excellent merits. They find it most successful, pleasing their customers, because of its uniformity in quality and flavor. No stock complete without it.

COHOE PACKING STARTED.

COHOE salmon fishing began on the Fraser river yesterday (Thursday), and the question as to "What will he harvest be?" in view of the short pack of sockeyes, was never as interesting as at present.

Fishing has begun ten days earlier than usual, and an effort is being made to take all the advantage possible of the extended period. If the pack of cohoes, like that of sockeyes, should be small, it will cause a great deal of disappointment, and the result will almost certainly be a market even much firmer than at present for all descriptions of canned salmon.

In the meantime, a great many orders are being booked for cohoes for future delivery. During the past week there have been some transactions in large lots.

Quotations ruling this week have rather a wide range, being from $4 to $4.25 f.o.b. the Coast. The ruling packers' figure for Lowe Inlet fish is $4.65, and for Fraser river, $5 f.o.b. the Coast.

Wholesalers have marked their figures up, and the lowest price quoted for good cohoes is $1, and for sockeye the idea is $1.30 to $1.40.

The packers of "Maple Leaf" have advised the trade to the effect that they will only be able to fill 60 per cent. of their contracts for 1-lb. flats and 25 per cent. for 1-lb. talls.

The New Westminster Columbian computes the Fraser sockeye pack to have been as follows:

Cleeve Canning and Co'd Storage Co.....	7 500

According to the above figures, the pack on the Fraser river is approximately 193,000 cases, against over 800,000 cases last year.

VALENCIA RAISINS ARRIVE.

The first shipment of new season's Valencia raisins reached Toronto on Monday night, and was in the warehouses on Tuesday. As the trade is well aware, there is always more or less competition among the wholesalers as to who shall first get a few boxes into their warehouse. The honor of being first this year is claimed by Perkins, Ince & Co., who got part of a load to their warehouse about 9 a.m. The brand was Arguimbau's.

The fruit is of excellent quality and larger than last year.

THANKSGIVING DAY QUESTION.

AMONG business men, there is, every year, a great deal of discontent at the date fixed by the Governor-General-in-Council for the holding of Thanksgiving Day.

The men who are most concerned, financially, in the Thanksgiving Day are the merchants of the country. They close their stores on that day, and consequently earn nothing. With the farmer, it is different. His stock is fattening and increasing in value just the same.

But, important as are the interests of the merchant, he is, as it were, a nonentity, when the day is being fixed. His interests do not appear to even enter into the thoughts of the authorities.

The discontent of the business men, in the matter, has become so pronounced, that THE CANADIAN GROCER has decided to take the matter up, and, with this end in view, the opinions of the trade are courted, either through the medium of brief letters or interviews.

What is desired is an expression of opinion as to whether the last Thursday in November, the day on which it is customary to hold the holiday, is suitable or not, and if not, about what other time would be suitable.

How, for instance, would the first Thursday in November do?

JAPAN TEA SITUATION.

THERE is some talk of an easier tone to the Japan tea market, but the advices from Japan do not indicate any such condition of affairs. On the contrary, they indicate a stronger market.

On Monday, advices were received in Toronto denoting a further appreciation of half a cent per pound in prices. And these advices came from at least two distinct sources.

What is more, there have been transactions between shippers and importers in Toronto in which half a cent per pound more was paid than was a week ago for similar teas.

At the same time, there is by no means a strong disposition on the part of importers to pay the high prices, and most of the business that is transpiring is being done with some hesitation. Quite a little trading is nevertheless being on the whole done.

WHAT CANADA NEEDS IN LONDON.

A RECOMMENDATION in the report of the commercial intelligence committee of the British Board of Trade is to the effect that an office be established in London, whose function shall be "to meet the constantly and increasing demand for prompt and accurate information on commercial matters."

This recommendation is considered the chief one the report makes. And it in all probability is. But the thought which will, no doubt, arise in the mind of the average Canadian is that whatever may be the needs of Great Britain in this respect, the Dominion, at all events, needs an office in London, whose duty shall be "to meet the constantly increasing demand for prompt and accurate information on commercial matters," regarding this country.

Where, less than two years ago, the Dominion of Canada was among the least talked of in Great Britain of the colonies, it is to-day the most.

The exchanges which come to hand are continually making reference to Canada, and business men, tourists and emigrants are turning towards this country, who a few years ago would not have thought of doing so.

But the man, whoever he be, and whether to sell goods, travel or settle in Canada, naturally wants to know something about the country.

A knowledge of the history of the country, its geography, and its trade, he can acquire from the study of books, provided he gets authentic books, but, there are certain practical things he cannot thus get. The best way to secure the desiderata is, of course, to come to the country. But very few people can do this. And they would not if they could. There should, therefore, be some sort of a bureau where practical men, and men who are Canadians, are in charge.

It is true Canada has in London what is known as the High Commissioner's office. But, for the purposes in question, it is of next to no use. It may be all right for dealing with questions appertaining to the state, but there its usefulness ends.

Of the whole staff, outside the Commissioner and one other man, who has not lived in this country for a number of years, none are Canadians. Fancy an office of the British Government in Toronto or Montreal manned by Canadians for the purpose of disseminating information for intending settlers in England! The idea is absurd.

Not long since, a gentleman who intended coming to Canada visited the High Commissioner's office in quest of certain information. It was like asking the Sphinx who was its builder. The clerks were quite courteous, and they always are, but they did not know. They would mail him the information.

The information was never mailed. Some papers were. They were, to the disgust of the Englishman, merely Canadian Pacific railway literature.

What Canada wants is an officer in London who shall "meet the constantly increasing demand for prompt and accurate information on commercial matters" appertaining to Canada.

The High Commissionership need not necessarily be abolished. There are, in all probability, matters enough of state to warrant the office being continued, but, whether the High Commissionership goes or stays, one thing is certain: Canada needs an agent in London to furnish that information which business men, tourists or emigrants need regarding the Dominion of Canada. And the man appointed must not be because of his political influence, but because of his ability to fill the office.

IMITATING LABELS DANGEROUS.

It seems to be quite a common trick of makers to copy, as near as possible, goods of those already on the market, and to imitate their trade marks, labels, packages, etc. This is a serious and dangerous proceeding, as such parties are liable to be prosecuted and condemned to pay damages which the other manufacturer has suffered through such imitations.

Of course, most honorable makers will avoid such troubles, but, there is no doubt, that a number of unscrupulous makers and dealers work specially on the reputation of their better competitors, and the public should be warned against such goods.

It is unlawful to imitate labels, trade marks, packages, boxes, wrappers, advice notes, price lists, letter headings, invoices and similar articles generally used in the transaction of business of a well-known maker or firms, so that to the untrained eye, or ordinary buyer, they appear to be virtually the same well-known brands. Judges will take the general impression of the appearance, and render the judgment accordingly. Excuses, such as not being aware of having made a copy, will not hold good before the law.

THE SALE OF CALIFORNIA RAISINS

THE CANADIAN GROCER, some weeks ago, referred to the fact that a California Raisin Growers' Association was being formed. This association has now become an accomplished fact, and has established the following grades of raisins which will govern the market in future:

6-Crown Imperial Clusters.
5 " Dehesa "
4 " Fancy "
3 " London Layers.
2 " " "
4 " Loose Muscatels.
3 " " "
2 " " "
Seedless Muscatels.
Ungraded Loose Muscatels.
Valencias.
Sultanas Unbleached.
" Bleached No. 1.
" " No. 2.
Thompson's Seedless Unbleached.
" " Bleached No. 1.
" " " No. 2.

It is also the intention of The California Growers' Association to exercise the greatest possible care in establishing grades, so as to increase the popularity of the product, and, with this object in view, an inspector, appointed by the association, will be placed in every packing-house, with instructions to affix the association stamp on no goods which do not grade strictly choice. With this guarantee offered buyers, it has been agreed that it will be unnecessary that payment should be withheld, pending arrival of shipments.

As an extra inducement to the trade to accept sight drafts against bills of lading, a discount of 1 per cent. will be allowed where drafts are met promptly, terms being net cash, without discount, should buyers exact the privilege of awaiting the arrival of shipments before taking up the draft attached to the shipping documents.

Seeded raisins, whether packed in boxes of 36 1-lb. cartons or 50 1-lb. cartons, will be the same.

CROPS IN BRUCE COUNTY.

J. A. McKELLAR, one of Tiverton's enterprising merchants, paid THE CANADIAN GROCER a visit a few days ago. Mr. McKellar, like all country merchants these days, gives a good report of trade conditions. The crops in his part of the country were good.

"Wheat," he said, "runs as high as 40 bushels to the acre; sample is excellent. It is the best we have ever seen. In regard to peas, 35 bushels to the acre is quite common. Oats are also a good crop. The yield of hay is enormous. The potato crop is poor. Apples will yield about three-fourths of the average crop, but the sample is much better than last year, although not, perhaps, as good as that of 1896. The plum crop around the Georgian Bay is enormous." Mr. McKellar, who, it will be remembered, was last year burned out, has now in course of erection a new building which is 29 x 60 ft., and two storeys high. Dr. Chambers is building a block adjoining Mr. McKellar's, which is 34 x 54 ft. The two buildings together form a neat and modern looking block. Since the fire Mr. McKellar has been occupying temporary premises, and expects soon to be in his new building.

A PREFERENCE DISALLOWED.

The new United States bankruptcy law proved itself of value to shoemen the other day, when a shoedealer in Indianapolis, a woman, gave chattel mortgages of $1,500 or $1,600 to some alleged creditors, and thus made them preferred creditors. This is against a provision of the new law, and pressure was brought to bear, by which she was obliged either to pay each and every one of her debts or go into bankruptcy. As she had money enough to pay all her honest debts, she decided to do so, and thus her little game was nipped in the bud, and her merchandise creditors have 100c. on their claims.

WON PRIZES FOR CHEESE.

The Eldislie cheese factories, owned by McKellar, Cartney & Issard, carried off prizes to the amount of $165 cash at the recent Industrial Exhibition, Toronto. They received two firsts, one second, and in all, eight prizes. The cheese of these factories have quite a reputation in Great Britain, having recently sold at 40s. in Glasgow, while no other make reached more than 38s. 6d. This price, the agents in Glasgow said, was the highest price paid this year for Canadian cheese. The proprietors naturally feel gratified with the result of not only the competition at the Industrial, but at the favor with which their cheese is meeting with in Great Britain.

A FEATURE OF THE DATE MARKET

There is an interesting feature in regard to Halloween dates this year.

Early in the season, it appears, certain speculators came upon the market with quotations which were pretty low.

They took orders, but when the market opened it was found that the fruit could not be obtained on the basis at which the contracts had been taken. They had, of course, to fill the orders, and, while they stand to lose money, those Canadian importers who bought stand to make money.

OFFERS ON FIGS WITHDRAWN.

Figs promise to be a luxury, this season, which only the well-to-do can afford to purchase.

This week, a cable was received in Toronto withdrawing offers on this fruit, and importers declare that figs are now so high in price as to make them almost prohibitive, as far as this market is concerned. Some difficulty has been experienced in getting shippers to execute the confidential orders placed some time ago.

The fig crop, it will be remembered, is expected to be only about 7,000 tons.

HOW A GROCER GOT EVEN.

A certain retail grocer, so it is told in a country paper, became tired of being appealed to for an ad. for church publications, and finally furnished the following copy for space he had hired in a picnic souvenir:

BEVERLEY SKILES, Grocer, No. 537 Sparkland street pays $2 for the use of this space. He thinks it is an outrageous price, inasmuch as all the groceries for this picnic were bought at some other store.

The ad. was printed as written, and the grocer has always declared that it was the best $2 worth he ever got. The picnic season is about at an end for the present year, but the church fair season will soon begin, and, as many of these festivals boast of their own private journal, it might be well for other grocers to try the same tactics as Grocer Skiles, for it is safe to say that Mr. Skiles was never afterwards annoyed by appeals for an ad. from non-customers.—Merchants' Review.

U.S. SMOKED MEATS IN CANADA.

THE following is taken from The National Provisioner, New York and Chicago, U.S.: "Consul Martin writes from Amherstburg: 'At the present time, I believe, quite a trade in smoked meats could be had with at least this portion of Canada by the packers of the United States. Bacon and hams are being retailed here at 15 and 16c. per pound, and the retailers claim that they are paying 12½ to 13c. per pound. The duty is 2c. per pound. I notice the jobbing price in the United States is 8¼ to 8½c. per pound.'"

This extract was shown by a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER to some of the leading Toronto provision houses.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. considered that the danger of United States hams and bacon supplanting the Canadian article in any part of Ontario is extremely small. The extract was misleading. Canadian hams and bacon are sold to retailers regularly at 11 to 12c., instead of 12½ to 13c., as quoted, while the United States article quoted at 8¼ to 8½c. is an altogether inferior quality of goods. Canadians are like their British cousins, and are willing to pay the extra 2 or 3c. for Canadian hams and bacon rather than for the inferior United States article. That Canadian bacon and hams are a couple of cents higher in price than the United States goods is natural, for, while in Toronto from $4.50 to $5 is paid for live hogs, only $3.60 to $4 is paid in Chicago and other United States hog centres.

The Wm. Ryan Co., Limited, stated that no retailer in Ontario has had to pay 12½ to 13c. for hams and bacon, the prices ruling in Toronto all summer never being more than 11½c., the figure now asked being 10½ to 11c. There might be a few shipments of United States hams and bacon to some points, but, as the only goods that are sold at the prices quoted, 8¼ to 8½c., are salt cured or smoked, while the Canadian goods are sugar cured and are of infinitely better pork, there is not much chance of the United States packers ever interfering with the Canadian trade. The demand for Canadian hams and bacon in Great Britain is growing with remarkable rapidity, and such an article as this will never cause Canadian packers any worry.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 15, 1898.
GROCERIES.

WHOLESALEERS are experiencing a good, active trade, taking it all round. Sugar is in good request, and the market maintains its firm position. There has been no material change in the canned goods situation. Salmon is rather firmer, both packers and wholesalers asking higher prices. The lowest wholesale quotation on canned tomatoes, as far as can be learned, is 80c. Corn is quoted from 80c. up, and peas at from 70 to 75c. The coffee market is quiet and somewhat unsettled. Teas are firm, and there is some business being done, although the high prices are somewhat affecting transactions. New season's Valencia raisins are in stock with local wholesalers this week, otherwise there is nothing particularly noteworthy in regard to dried fruits.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned salmon is still the most interesting feature in the canned goods market. Prices on the Coast are generally held higher than a week ago, and the same may be said in regard to wholesalers' quotations, $1.30 to $1.40 now being the ruling figures. Representatives of the canneries have made some large sales of cohoes during the week for future delivery. Coho fishing began on Thursday, and, if the run is good, a large pack may be expected.

Canned tomatoes continue firm. There are but few, if any, transactions between packers and wholesalers. The packers, however, are still holding off. Wholesalers would readily pay 75c. for tomatoes, but there does not appear to be any offering at the figure. The lowest price, as a rule, being quoted by wholesalers to retailers is 80c., those who last week quoted as low as 75c., having now nothing under 80c. A bid of 70c. for a round lot of corn was refused. Wholesalers' quotations on corn are from 80c. upward. Peas are being quoted to the retail trade at 70 to 75c.

COFFEES.

The market is a little steadier, although it is not yet all that it might be. There is a little disposition on the part of local importers to do business, but their ideas are still below those of the sellers. Retail demand is dull.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

A few syrups are being offered, but there is no demand. Very little business is being done in molasses, either at home or abroad.

Advices from New Orleans report the market there firm.

SUGARS.

A good trade is being done in sugars at firm and unchanged prices. Both London and New York have ruled firm. The European markets advanced $1\frac{1}{2}$ d. on beet last week in sympathy with unfavorable crop reports, and Willett & Gray's Sugar Statistical says that "the conviction is growing daily that the crop will be smaller than the last." In New York, both muscovado raws and refined sugars advanced 1-16c. Total stocks in Europe and America were, last week, 1,254,832 tons, against 1,270,692 tons the previous week, and 1,389,524 tons the same time a year ago.

TEAS.

Advices received in Toronto, on Monday, announced another advance of $\frac{1}{2}$ c. per lb. in Japan tea in the primary market, and there has been some business done at the advance. A fair amount of trading is being

*See pages 29 and 30 for Toronto, Montreal, St. John,
and Winnipeg prices current.*

done in Japan teas, but there is still a great deal of hesitancy on the part of wholesalers to pay the high figures now ruling.

The local market is dull, as far as Ceylon teas are concerned, although for the low-grade descriptions there is a demand. Mail advices from London, Eng., report a fairly good business in Indian and Ceylon teas at steady to firm prices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRENTS—A little business is being done between wholesale houses, but otherwise there is practically nothing doing in the way of immediate business. Filiatras are being quoted by wholesalers for future delivery at $5\frac{1}{2}$ c. upwards and Amalias at $5\frac{3}{8}$ to 6c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—The first shipment of new season's Valencia raisins reached Toronto on Monday, and were in the warehouses early the following day. The quality is good, and the size of the fruit larger than last year. The idea as to price is 6c. for fine off-stalk and 7c. for selected fruit. The market is strong with an upward tendency.

SULTANA RAISINS—The market keeps firm at the recent advances, and the indications are, that the crop will be even smaller than recent estimates.

FIGS—Cables have been received this week in Toronto instructing agents to withdraw offers on figs.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS—First quotations on California raisins were received in Toronto on Monday. They came by wire, and are a shade lower than last year. The crop promises to be a good one.

CALIFORNIA DRIED FRUITS—There is nothing doing locally, prices being too high.

PRUNES—First orders have been posted, and buyers are now awaiting their shipments, which are due the first half of October.

GREEN FRUITS.

The past week has witnessed a stiffening in the prices of all fruits except grapes, which are unchanged in price. Receipts of pears have been large, but not more than the demand, which is excellent. The receipts of peaches have been larger than was expected, but a good demand has kept the price of choice Crawfords near the $1 mark. Plums of all descriptions are now coming in, and prices vary considerably. A few choice baskets have brought as high as 75c., but the general price is from 30 to 50c. Apples in better condition are now offered in barrels and prices are 25c. higher. Watermelons are practically done. Tomatoes are plentiful, and the demand continues excellent. The price has advanced 5c. Considerable quantities of Bartlett pears are sold at $3.50 to $4 per bbl. The over-ripe bananas have been cleared of the market, and prices have about resumed the regular figure, $1.25 to $1.65 being quoted. A few Messina lemons are on the market, the first of the new season coming in this week. They are quoted at $7.50 to $8. Verdillas are steady at $5.50 to $6.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—An advance of 1 to $1\frac{1}{2}$ c. is noted this week, the jobbers' price at Toronto now being $13\frac{1}{2}$ to 15c. This is a result of exporters advancing prices at country points. It is considered, from advices received from Great Britain, that the advance is unwarranted, and that it is likely that money will be dropped by exporters shipping at these prices. There has been considerable complaint regarding the quality of eggs received from Canada in Great Britain during the past week or two, and it is probable that more complaints will follow on account of the recent hot weather here. One of the most reliable dealers claims that the market conditions do not warrant more than 11c. for cases f.o.b. at country points, and $12\frac{1}{2}$ to 13c. for farmer's lots, but from 1 to 2c. more than these figures are being paid.

POTATOES—There is no change in price. The demand keeps good at 50c. per bushel.

HONEY—Dealers state that, from information received from farmers in Toronto during the Exhibition weeks, the prospects are that this season's crop of clover honey will prove to be the greatest ever recorded in Ontario. Comb honey is easy, at $1.35 per doz. for best clover honey in sections.

POULTRY—There is no change in quotations. The sale of all poultry continues quiet, but steady.

VEGETABLES—Celery and lettuce have advanced, and cabbage and pumpkins have declined during the past week. We quote: Cauliflower, $1 to $1.50 per doz.; celery, 60 to 90c. per doz.; lettuce, 30 to 50c. doz. bunches; radishes, winter, 30 to 50c. doz. bunches; cabbage, new, per doz; 50 to 75c.; parsley, 10 to 20c. doz. bunches; cucumbers, short, 10 to 20c. per doz.; Canadian butter beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; beets, 10c. per peck; carrots, 10c. per peck; onions, 75c. to $1 per bushel; green beans, $1 to $1.25 per bushel; vegetable marrow, 75c. to $1; butter squash, $1 to $1.50; pumpkins, 75c. to $1; red cabbage, 50 to 75c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The condition of the market is much as it has been for some weeks in regard to all classes of butter. There is an excellent demand for choice dairy and creamery, and a moderate enquiry for second qualities of dairy. At country points the following f.o.b. prices are obtainable: Dairy tubs, 12½ to 13c.; prints, 13 to 14c.; creamery prints, 17½ to 18½c.; tubs and boxes, 16½ to 17c.

CHEESE—The feeling is easy, with buyers at country boards refusing in many cases more than 7¾c., which means a decline of ¼c. if they are able to carry to points. At many of the boards, however, holders have, so far, refused to sell.

PROVISIONS.

There is a brisk business being done. Stocks of all sorts, except lard, are comparatively light, so the feeling is steady. Prices are unchanged throughout.

FISH.

There is no change in price, or in the condition of the market. Demand is fair to good. We quote as follows: Fresh salmon trout, 7c.; fresh whitefish, 7c. steak trout, 7c.; fresh pike, 5c. per lb. fresh perch, 4c. per lb.; fresh black bass, 8c. per lb.; fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.50 per bbl. and $3 per half-bbl.; Digby herring, 55c. per bundle of five; split herring, $5 per bbl. and $2.75 to $3 per half-bbl.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; fresh water herring, 60c. per basket; ciscoes, $1; haddies, 5½ to 6c. per lb.; fresh haddock, 5c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There is no change in the price of winter wheat. It is scarce in Toronto. We quote on cars outside: Wheat, red winter, 66c.; white winter, 65c.; goose, 55c. The street market is active. Advances of 1c. for all grades of wheat, and 3c. for oats, and declines of 1c. for rye and 3c. for peas are noted. We quote: Wheat, white, 68c.; red, 68c.; goose, 57 to 58c.; peas, 52 to 55c.; oats, new, 30c.; rye, 42c.; barley, 44 to 46c.; old Manitoba, No. 1 hard, is at a premium among Ontario millers, and as high as 96c., Toronto freights, was paid on Wednesday this week by a miller for this grain. The market value of the grain, however, is 90c., Toronto freights.

FLOUR—There is no change in the flour market. We quote: Manitoba patents, $4.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.20; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.15; straight roller, $3.25 to $3.40, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Standard oatmeal and rolled oats have declined 20c., rolled wheat, 10c. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.80 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.50; split peas, $3.50; pot barley, $3.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—A decline of ¼c. is noted this week. We quote: No. 1, 8½c.; No. 2, 7½c.; No. 3, 6½c.; cured, 9¼c.

CALFSKINS—We quote nominally: No. 1 veal, 8-lb. and up, 10c. per lb.; No. 2, 8c.; dekins, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c.

SHEEPSKINS—Shearlings and lambskins are firm at 60c.

WOOL—There is not much doing. Prices
